Mckay's Versatility Key to His Success

HALIFAX (CP) — In the often-troubled employment picture for Canadian actors Brian McKay, 25, is something of a phenomenon.

In the last 4½ years he has had only enough free time between jobs to recoup his energies or travel from one location to another in the Canadian theatre circuit.

His strong baritone voice with a tenor top has been heard on radio and television and in theatres from coast to coast and will soon appear on records.

His diverse roles at Halifax's Neptune Theatre include James Anderson in My Fat Friend, Marius in Jacques Brel and the aged Gepetto in Pinocchio. A few seasons ago he played the decrepit postman in the Charlottetown Summer Festival's smash international hit Anne of Green Gables.

He played that role so well with a stagger and a stoop that an elderly gentleman wrote to him and confided that he also had recently suffered a stroke and could Brian tell him what to expect.

Among his other credits are appearing with Richard Chamberlain, the TV "Dr. Kildare" turned Shakespearean actor, Pride.

whom he describes as a superperson, in the Seattle Repertory Company's Richard II.

He also spent a year with the Canadian Opera Company.

McKay thinks of himself as a Canadian but not as a diehard nationalist.

"Actors have to be allowed to work everywhere," he said. "All this red tape with work permits is just segregating the arts and that's destructive.

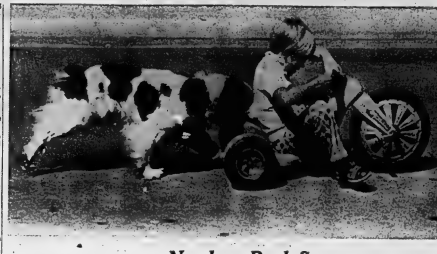
"I'm not a nationalist in terms of the theatre and feel we should be allowed to come and go to the United States and England."

McKay said it is unimportant to develop a national stage style.

"To develop a national system isn't important because an audience doesn't make that kind of judgment.

"There are variations in every play performed and one shouldn't be able to type a production as having a certain nationality."

In addition to his stage work, McKay is busy with CBC radio drama and has appeared on TV in four episodes of The House of Pride.



Need a Push ?

— Tommy Erskine, 6, has dog-power on his tricycle as he travels down the sidewalk near his home in China Lake, California. Cleo, Tommy's pet Spencer Spaniel, has been pushing his master for the past year now and according to Tommy's parents Cleo thought of the idea on his own. They say he was never trained to do this or any other trick. (AP photo)

Royal Ballet Company Marks 44th Birthday

LONDON (CP) — The Royal Ballet Company is 44 years old this year, and while most European national companies trace their ancestry back to royal patronage, the British troupe has grown from a private scheme.

It was born in 1931 as a result of the work done by the Russian innovator Serge Diaghilev, who turned ballet into an art form.

His sudden death in 1928 left a rich fund of dance talent unused—most of it in London.

The time was right and by a lucky chance the right person to take advantage of it was at hand—Ninette de Valois. She was only 33, inexperienced, but spurred by the lack of state support.

She had been a member of Diaghilev's independent company.

The tiny troupe, consisting of six girls and herself, was launched at Lilian's Old Vic theatre. The large and now prestige-laden company which has grown from it has earned its Royal charter the hard way—simply by deserving it.

Over the years its numbers have increased to nearly 150 and today it is an organization with a world reputation, a history of achievement and a style all its own.

Londoners were used to high standards of professional excellence and Miss de Valois made sure from the start that the technical tools value had been handed down from Italy through France ahead of the firm foundation of her company.

She engaged Nikolai Sergeyev, manager of the St. Petersburg and Diaghilev companies to insure that the classics he knew so well and two of Diaghilev's stars, Alicia Markova and Anton Dolin, to dance in town.

Then she discovered Frederick Ashton, a young British choreographer and with an associated troupe as engaged continuing and consistent supply of dancers the company grew at a considered rate.

After the interruption of the Second World War, the company moved into the Royal Opera House at Covent Garden, leaving behind at Sadlers Wells, a second, smaller company.

Apart from Le Sylphide, most of the surviving ballets from the 19th century have been put on by the troupe.

Miss de Valois, who steered the company through its first crucial 22 years, retired in 1963 and was succeeded by Ashton who had been her close collaborator almost from the beginning.

He was eminently qualified to carry on the policies she had inaugurated and when he in turn retired in 1970 was followed by a man who had come right up through the Royal Ballet school and company, Kenneth Macmillan.

The company is independent drawing a large subsidy from the state-financed Arts Council of Great Britain.

It lays great emphasis on puderimental integrity and on technical expertise, yet it is flexible and barely structured, permitting changes in organization.

Catholic in policy, it welcomes foreign choreographers like Leonid Massine, Jerome Robbins or George Balanchine, and great artists like Rudolf Nureyev.

Your Horoscope

By Bernice Reda Cosel
For Friday, Oct. 19

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's essential to keep your wits about you today. Frustrations will arise, but don't get by if you reserve judgment till you know you're on the right track.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you want to bring your budget into line, start now to trim off the fat. Spend only what you absolutely must for the next few days.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have a tendency to push fibers in order to accomplish what you want today. Don't extract them to do for you what you won't do for yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're overly touchy today in a insensitive way. Loosen up — no one is about to take what is blindly yours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you allow your first inclination to be your last, you'll settle for second-best. Be a bit more patient. You can get quality you really want.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be dealing today with several temperamental associates. If you let them dominate you, they will. Stick to your guns. You can, turn them around.

LIBRA (Sept.23-Oct. 23) Get a sensible pace today, or you'll make lots of mistakes and berate yourself out. Be thorough and methodical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Determine your priorities with a critical mind today. Otherwise you'll strive to meet goals someone else set up. They'll be of no benefit to you.

Liver Cirrhosis Hard to Diagnose

By G. C. Thosteson, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a friend who thinks he has cirrhosis of the liver. He isn't a heavy drinker. Is this always caused from drinking alcohol?

He says that if he has this disease there is no cure for it. I'm sure that it can be helped. Any information you can give me on this subject will be appreciated. I won't tell him to look him into going to the doctor. — Miss W

What makes your friend believe he has this disease?

It is not easy to diagnose from outward symptoms, especially in the early stages. Damage to the cells of the liver is the most really conclusive evidence, and this might require a biopsy and several liver function tests.

There are broad symptoms that can relax powerful suspicions though — loss of appetite, flatulency, nausea, vomiting, abdominal pain or tenderness, and weight loss that can't be otherwise accounted for. In the advanced state of the disease there may be a low-grade fever, foul breath odor, jaundice, edema.

While alcohol is known to have a role in the problem, this maybe as much a dietary factor as a toxic one.

Malnutrition is usually involved. Alcohol provides calories, but it is lacking in essential nutrients, so a heavy drinker can be a victim of this nutritional paradox. Certain drugs as well as hepatitis may be factors. Early detection is important. In later stages where actual damage involving loss of liver function occurs, treatment is less successful. However, diet and avoidance of alcohol can keep the condition under control. Let your friend read this. It may prompt him to end his posturing game.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have several questions.

After having an hysterectomy I must take hormone shots. Can I take vitamin E? If not, why?

Another question: A company sells vitamin C and claims the vitamins are coated with calcium because vitamin C does no good unless taken with calcium. Is this true?

After 3 hemorrhoids start to bleed, can they be controlled with a medication? — L.T.

No reason I know of why you cannot take vitamin E if you wish to.

In the vitamin-calcium matter, you may be referring to vitamin D, not vitamin C. The body requires D needed for proper absorption of calcium in the body. It has nothing to do with vitamin C.

Local ointments might help with the pain of the hemorrhoids, but the bleeding (multiple ulceration of the hemorrhoids) will cause inflammation. This would require surgical correction. The ointments will not control things.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For almost two years I have been having trouble with loose bowels. And I have a rash on my face.

I eat a lot of wheat cereal and wheat germ on it. I wonder if I AM ALLERGIC to so much wheat. You recently had a piece in the paper dealing with gluten. I was wondering if that could cause my problem. I am 67 years old. — Mrs. M. E.

It is possible that you are allergic to the wheat products, but at your age, one would expect that the bowel disturbance sooner than this. You can try omitting wheat products for from five to seven days to see if there is any improvement.

The gluten article you mention dealt with a specific disorder. Non tropical spruce is the name for that this is your problem. It would have appeared years ago in your case. Gluten is the protein substance of wheat and other grains and it is avoided in such disorders as sprue and celiac disease.

Possible allergy aside you may be overdoing the wheat bran. Especially for a person your age in whom a balanced diet is so essential to health. By avoiding wheat and altering your dietary balance doesn't help, you should get a thorough colon examination.

Gin and Squirt

LONDON (CP) — The squeeze is on in English pubs for the lemon. Traditional lemon slices are on their way out for drinks in favor of a new, bubble-free, pre-squeezed lime spray perfume from a Scottish firm that has the original essence of the lemon and is mixed with gin, vodka or tonic. Inventor Peter Wells says has no colorings, additives or preservatives, making it natural and pure.

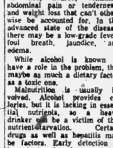
Finesse to the West is best



By Oswald (and) James Jacoby

Today's game would have been easier to bid if Homies Watson were sitting South. Jacoby transfer, but that bid had not been invented in their day.

Anyway, Watson found himself in three notrump and proceeded to demonstrate that he had learned about safety from the south. Duck deuces.

His lack of clubs won the first trick. A careless player would be delayed and high hearts. After that suit failed to behave he would have cashed three spades, stopping in dummy. With spades stopping in dummy, declarer's only mechaving also he would have fallen back on diamond finesse to wind up with only eight tricks instead of the nine he'd been on its toes.

Watson found a letter line of play. At trick two he entered dummy with the ace of heart and stock in his. When this worked he had 10 tricks in top cards and managed an 11th by end-playing West. If the finesse had lost he would still have made his contract since West would not have been able to run his clubs.

Ask the Jacoby's

A Nevada reader wants to know what action to take in second seat after dealer has bid one spade. You are vulnerable and hold:

♠ K 9 6 4 ♥ J 7 5 ♦ A K 10 4 3 ♣ K 10 4 3

The answer is that you should make a takeout double. You would like to have four hearts, but you just can't have everything all the time.

Britons Debate 'Fame Drain'

LONDON (Reuter) — In a gathering climate of economic distress, Britons are engaged in a fascinated debate on the plight of pop music stars driven from their homeland by the lure of riches.

The talk centres on popular idols who, in order to stay in the millionaire class, have forsaken such joys as the English pub and the game of cricket to settle instead among the less demanding taxmen.

The problem was highlighted in a recent speech by Sir Geoffrey Howe, economic affairs spokesman for the opposition Conservative party and no unlikely champion for pop stars.

Sir Geoffrey said the emigration of high-earning performers like the Rolling Stones, Elton John and Rod Stewart represented a "fame drain" which the British treasury could ill afford.

He suggested the treasury initially might make a profit by lowering its top rate of income tax in 50 per cent and thereby entice back those earnings which now find their way into banks in California, France or Spain.

The present top rate of British income tax is 83 per cent on all earnings exceeding £42,000 a year. If this income derives from investment, the tax rate jumps to 98 per cent.

The list of exiles is long. Rolling Stone Mick Jagger and actor Roger Moore live in the south-of France. Singers Elton John, Rod Stewart, and ex-Beatles drummer Ringo Starr live in Los Angeles. Cliff Richard has invested in the English Channel island of Jersey where taxes are levied at a fraction of the mainland rate.

"Of course," Jagger told London Daily Mail, "I miss not being able to stay in Britain as long as I like. I hate being bored only 30 days a year to visit my own country.

Ninety days is the maximum visit allowed if a non-resident Briton wishes to keep his tax of British tax.

Supporters of Sir Geoffrey's argument say that apart from losing the valuable income of the emigrants, the country loses the money and foreign earnings they generate from concerts abroad them.

Some critics suggested the British treasury should follow the example of overseas men in the United States and France who, in order to encourage the settlement of high earners, strike individual bargains under which the payer is accorded special tax advantages.

Roger Gale was told in a newspaper he was saving about $1 million a year in taxes by living in France.

Record Number Entered

NIAGARA - ON - THE - LAKE, Ont. (CP) — A total of 281 Canadian films have been entered in the seven categories of the 1973 Canadian Film Awards Oct. 7-12 at the Shaw Festival Theatre. This represents about a 200-per-cent increase over entries in 1972, the last year the awards were held. Those entered include The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz, We Rock the Boat and Recommendation for Mercy.

The Happy Hooker Asks for Compassion

TORONTO (CP) — Xaviera Hollander, known for her book about her life as a prostitute, said Wednesday she plans to appeal on compassionate grounds a Supreme Court of Canada decision upholding a deportation order against her.

In February, 1972, Miss Hollander, a 29-year-old Dutch citizen, was ordered deported from Canada after an immigration inquiry ruled she could not remain in the country because she was guilty of a criminal offence—keeping a common bawdy house and being an inmate of a bawdy house while a resident of New York City.

The Supreme Court decision Tuesday upheld the deportation order on the grounds Miss Hollander was a self-confessed criminal.

In an interview, Miss Hollander said she was not surprised at the decision.

She said she would hate to have to leave Canada and also has been "an upright citizen" since coming here three years ago.

"Since my marriage, I'm more the happy housewife or the happy cook than the happy hooker," she said.

Miss Hollander was married to Frank Allen, a Toronto antiques dealer, Oct. 21 last year.

"Now, I'm treated like a worldwide fugitive," she said.

Coroner's Jury Recommends Study of Hospital Doors

TORONTO (CP) — A coroner's jury recommended Wednesday a thorough reassessment of the open-door concept in provincial mental hospitals, especially concerning the 19 per cent of patients considered by doctors to be dangerous to themselves or others.

The jury, investigating the death of Douglas Lockie of Toronto made seven other recommendations to the ministry of health and 10 recommendations on gun controls to be sent to the federal government's standing group on gun control.

Mr. Lockie, 24, who had fled from four hospitals, committed suicide last Aug. 5 by shooting himself in the head.

The jury's recommendations included:

—A study to ascertain the needs of Ontario mental hospitals to ensure first-class care of patients, including a review of staff qualifications, provisions for security and recommendations to control potentially dangerous patients.

—All offences involving firearms be placed under the Criminal Code and convictions for such offences be subject to severe fines and prison terms.

—Gun control legislation be revised to include all fire-arms, increase the age for purchase to 18 from 16, and to require prospective buyers to produce a federal gun permit prior to purchase of weapons or ammunition.

—The mental and physical health of an applicant be considered prior to issuing a firearm permit.

—An order of return should be processed when a certified patient is running from hospital for more than 36 hours.

—The family be given comprehensive information on the treatment of a patient.

Coroner Dr. Margaret Milton said in her final summary to the jury Wednesday she believed that with better medical attention by the staff at the Whitby Psychiatric Hospital, the death of Mr. Lockie, a former patient, might have been prevented.

Dr. Milton charged that medical staff at the hospital were "passing the buck to someone else" during the five-day inquest.

"It was only when the Lockie family told us of their anguish and their battle to get the hospital staff to help them that we realized what a futile battle they had gone through," she said.

Dr. Milton said the six doctors called to give testimony were ill-prepared for the inquest and evasive.

She also criticized Dr. John Deadman, the hospitals medical director.

"He could have discussed this case thoroughly with his staff to sort out many of the problems but chose not to," she said.

"I have never before been faced by such a crowd of medical people who simply wanted to pass the buck over this death."

Earlier Wednesday, family lawyer John Weingal told the jury there was a general lack of concern for all mental patients in Ontario.

"We treat our mental patients as second-class citizens and as a result they get second-class and third-class treatment," he said.

"If this inquest has shown anything, it has been that the mental institutions . . . are a shame to our community and that when we send a patient to such institutions we send them in the knowledge that the facilities and treatment will be ineffective and inadequate."

Earlier, the inquest was told the Lockie family received a letter addressed to their son from his doctors at the Whitby hospital 48 days after his death.

The letter asked if Mr. Lockie was satisfied with treatment.

Pepin Pleads for Public Support

OTTAWA (CP) — Jean-Luc Pepin began his job as chairman of the new anti-inflation review board Wednesday by pleading for public support, which he said is essential to the government's three-year program of selective wage- and price controls.

"If people don't want it to work, there will be 10 ways of getting around it," he told a press conference.

Mr. Pepin said the guides, backed by cyst unspecified penalties, will not succeed unless Canadians can be convinced to accept personal responsibility for inflation.

"Let's call it an impossible task and we'll have to try to make it possible."

There was little clarification as to how board will actually administer the program except that it will have to be selective.

The legislation is due to be introduced in the Commons today.

With a staff not likely to exceed 200, Mr. Pepin said it would be impossible for the board to actively police a major portion of the economy. He said the board would make some symbolic rulings, which would set an example for other businesses, unions and groups.

Basically, the guides call for wage increases to be held to 10 per cent during the next 12 months and for prices to increase by only the amount needed to cover higher costs. The government hopes to reduce inflation to four per cent in 1976 from its current pace of about 10% per cent.

The bill establishing the program will provide for possible exemptions from the guides for workers whose traditional pay raises relate to other groups and for workers renegotiating contracts which were signed before 1974.

Finance Minister Donald Macdonald made clear in the Commons Wednesday that it would be up to the board to rule on such exemptions.

The board's role will be to identify wage and price increases which exceed the guides and attempt to negotiate compliance. If this fails the matter will be turned over to a special administrator, who will have the power to enforce the guides and in the case of prices, to order a rollback. Inaction in the courts could follow if an order is ignored.

Mr. Macdonald said that where a company is ordered to roll back its prices, every effort would be made to identify consumers and have an unjustified increase refunded. But in cases where this was not possible, the money would be forfeited to the government.

Basford Okays Abortion Study

OTTAWA (CP) — A committee studying changes in abortion was given a broad mandate Wednesday to look into the operation of the 1969 abortion law in Canada.

Justice Minister Ron Basford tabled in the Commons terms of reference requiring the three-member committee to determine whether the law "is operating equitably across Canada."

The results of the study, due to be completed in six months, are to be made public and may lead to modification of the controversial 1969 law.

The government has found itself caught in the last five years between groups who want abortion on demand and others who feel the 1969 law, under which possibly 200,000 legal abortions have been carried out, is too liberal.

Abortion was illegal before 1969, when Parliament amended the Criminal Code to enable hospitals to set up committees to determine whether an abortion was required on the basis that continued pregnancy would endanger the life or health of the women.

The abortion study committee was named last month. The members are Toronto sociologist Robin Badgley, the chairman; Dr. Marion Powell, also of Toronto and active in family planning groups; and Denyse Fortin-Caron of Montreal, who specializes in family law.

Their terms of reference include several specific questions about the availability of hospitals, the rules therapeutic abortion committees must base their decisions on, and "the timeliness with which this procedure makes an abortion available in light of what is desirable for the safety of the applicant."

Postal Union Talks Re-opened to Avert National Mail Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — The post offices and the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) today reopened contract negotiations in a final bid to avoid a national postal strike.

Before the talks resumed, chief union negotiator Jean-Claude Parrot said the 22,000 CUPW members have given their executive authority to call a walkout if negotiations fail.

Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey said the government has made contingency plans for the delivery of essential mail and "is prepared to sit it out for a long time" if necessary.

Both sides entered the new bargaining session far apart on wage proposals.

However, the renewed talks likely will be heavily influenced by the fact that the anti-inflation review board must approve any post office contract settlement exceeding the government's new selective wage controls which limit annual increases to a basic 10 per cent in the first year of a contract for more than four million workers.

Mr. Parrot could not predict how long the talks will last "but we hope they are serious negotiations this time."

The union, which represents mail sorters and postal clerks, has demanded a 75-per-cent increase of $3.36 an hour in a one-year contract. The average wage for CUPW members now is $4.50 an hour.

Mr. Mackasey said Thursday he was prepared to approach any new talks "in a conciliatory mood."

However, he refused to say whether the post office will budge from its offer to offer a $1.70-an-hour increase in four raises over a 30-month period.

"The union has set a good climate and I am not going to negotiate in public."

Mr. Mackasey said he still supports the proposal for a $1.70-an-hour increase contained in a conciliation report prepared by Judge Jean Moisan of the Quebec Superior Court. It would give inside postal workers slightly more than letter carriers, who signed a contract last spring.

The postmaster-general got into political hot water Tuesday when he said the CUPW would qualify for an exemption from the basic 10-per-cent wage ceiling set in the new federal guides.

Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Wednesday it is up to the anti-inflation review board, rather than the government, to decide which groups qualify for exemptions.

The board is empowered to give special consideration to groups seeking to replace expired contracts signed prior to 1974. It also can make exceptions for increases necessary to maintain long-established wage relationships between closely-related groups. The postal workers fall into both categories.

Mr. Mackasey said Thursday he is willing to go before the board if necessary to plead for exemptions on behalf of the CUPW.

It appeared that the union and the post office might reach consensus on at least one issue.

Both sides have announced general support for the Moisan recommendation that would require the post office to give the union 90 days notice of planned technological changes as consultations can be made. Unsettled disputes would be referred to binding arbitration.

The union's right to negotiate automation has been a major item in the dispute throughout negotiations, which began last winter. The CUPW also wants an end to the use of casual, non-union labor.

Administrator Unnamed

Tough Fines Back Wage Guidelines

OTTAWA (CP) — The toughest Thursday outlined sweeping powers for a special administrator over its selective wage and price controls system along with penalties for offenders of up to five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fines.

The administrator is yet to be named, but a government official translated Thursday night a civil servant will be tapped for the job.

Legislation tabled in the Commons Thursday shed little light on how guides are to be applied, but it did specify what the costs will be for defying them.

It will be an offence to knowingly avoid or conspire to evade the guides by any means, including by keeping false books. The penalties are:

—On summary conviction, a fine no less than $200 and up to $10 000, or both, or —On conviction on indictment, a fine to be set by the court, but no less than $10,000, and a five-year jail term.

Summary conviction cases can be dealt with more quickly since only a judge is involved along with witnesses. They are considered less serious cases because they carry lesser penalties than indictment cases.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, entering the Commons Thursday night, commented: "This should disabuse anyone of the notion that this is a voluntary anti-inflation program."

New Democratic Leader Ed Broadbent said he wanted to study the bill closely before commenting. But a spokesman for the NDP leader said his initial reaction was that some of the penalties are "pretty light."

By contrast, Combines Act amendments passed by the Cumnuss Thursday night provide for fines on summary conviction of $25,000 for a wide variety of misleading advertising and unfair business practices.

However, a government lawyer who has worked on similar regulatory legislation said the unusual feature of the legislation introduced by Finance Minister Donald Macdonald is the extraordinary powers given the special administrator.

The administrator has considerable powers to start his own investigation even after the four-line anti-inflation board has ruled the guides are being violated.

The lawyer points out that this leaves the special administrator power to bargain with the company or employees that may be in violation of the guides without public knowledge.

"These are extraordinary powers for one man to act without a public hearing," the lawyer commented.

The special administrator's reports are to be made public, but this will not necessarily reveal whether the administrator has bargained with the offending group, the lawyer notes.

Kissinger Overheard

Taped Conversation Causes Red Faces

OTTAWA (CP) — For U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger, his first official visit to Canada has ended with far more interest than it began.

Left red-faced was virtually everyone in the external affairs department who had anything to do with the arrangements.

The faux pas which had officials Ottawa both tittering and gasping Thursday was publication of intimate snatches from the personal secretary's private dinner conversation here Monday during his 24-hour trip.

The stories resulted from a technical oversight which left open banquet table microphone that were to have been used strictly to carry after-dinner speeches by Kissinger and MacEachen on closed circuit to reporters outside. Most were unaware of what was happening. But a few, through lack of foresight, turned in throughout.

Despite the ensuing turmoil, officials here insisted relations between the two countries now are better than they have been for years. But nobody denied acute embarrassment.

The taped contents of the dinner conversation, in which Kissinger referred to former President Nixon as a "very old man" who disliked meeting new people, first appeared in a Washington newspaper.

Deaf Students Untapped Labor Resource: Bemis

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Area industry is being asked to look at Sir James Whitney School (OSD) students as future staff and take advantage of the labor resource that so far has been left untapped, said city industrial commissioner Fred Bemis.

About 160 young people aged 14 to 18 presently attend the school gathering practical and theoretical experience in three general vocational areas, woodworking, metal-working and print.

J.W. Hodgson, vice-principal of the vocational school, said each student will have spent about 7,000 hours in his chosen specialty before he leaves the school to enter the labor market.

Thursday, a number of local industrialists met with vocational centre — part of the plan to show potential employers the type of equipment being used, the quality of student work.

"One of the biggest questions in the employer's mind has been how safe is a deaf worker," said Mr. Hodgson.

"The school has a rather impressive statistic that during the past 10 years of shop training and job work weeks for students, not one accident has been recorded.

While the school for several years has attempted to move its students into the industrial sector for jobs, only recently did the concerted effort begin.

"Now we're trying to find out what jobs might be coming available and then trying to tailor courses that will train specifically for the openings," said Mr. Hodgson.

"It is very important that we get our people into the labor market to illustrate what the handicapped students are capable of," said Mr. Hodgson.

"In future, if an employer won't believe us that he has little to worry about hiring a deaf worker, he might believe another employer who already has deaf workers on staff," he added.

Economic development committee member Fred Bemis said city is interested in developing any resource in the community which serves to benefit industry," explaining his participation in the scheme.

"The program here is a labor source that hasn't seriously been looked at," said Mr. Bemis.

Because of the extensive practical training each student receives in school, "there's more than a good chance that he will require only minimal orientation in a job situation," said Mr. Hodgson.

"The student doesn't go out on job training until there's a better than average chance that he will be successful" said Mr. Hodgson.

Nobel Prize Awarded

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The 1975 Nobel Prize in physics today was awarded to Prof. James Rainwater of the United States and Danish professors, Aage Bohr and Ben Mottelson. The Swedish Academy of Science awarded the three nuclear scientists equal shares of the $143,000 prize, citing them for "the discovery of the connection between collective motion and particle motion in atomic nuclei, and the development of the theory of the structure of the atomic nucleus based on this connection."

Confesses to 42 Murders

WALLACE, Idaho (AP) — Thomas Eugene Creech, former church sexton, confessed Thursday to 42 killings after taking the stand in his first degree murder trial. Authorities have said they doubt that all of Creech's claims are true, although they have found the bodies of at least two men Creech says he killed.

Postal Workers Walk Off

MONTREAL (CP) — About 25 inside postal workers, members of the Canadian Union of Postal Employees (CUPW) employed at post offices in nearby Joliette and l'Assomption walked off the job today to support contract demands. The walkout came one day after Postmaster General Bryce Mackasey said he was encouraged that inside workers had not walked out, following a rationwide vote by CUPW members in favor of strike action.

New York Near Disaster

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City was on the brink of financial collapse today, its treasuries virtually empty and a rescue plan foiled by the last minute refusal of a teacher's union to allow the use of its pension funds. State and city officials worked frantically Thursday to get the union trustees of the pension funds to change their minds, or failing that, to obtain more help from state pension monies or a loan from the Federal Reserve system.

Moroccan Civilians March

RABAT (AP) — Recruiting began today for a march of 350,000 unarmed Moroccan civilians into the Spanish Sahara to reinforce their government's claim to the northern part of the disputed territory. Announcement of the peaceful march, King Hassan II said in a broadcast Thursday night that he will lead the march into Morocco's southern neighbor.

Sunday Hours May Bring $10,000 Fines

TORONTO (CP) — John Mac Beth, Ontario solicitor-general, said Thursday the province's new law to restrict Sunday shopping might provide for fines of up to $10,000 for offenders.

He said he thought a fine of $10,000 would make it a tough law. Retailers now may receive a maximum fine of $250 for violating the federal Lord's Day Act.

Mr. MacBeth said the proposed legislation, to be introduced before mid-November and to go into effect by Christmas, will deal only with shopping on Sundays and some public holidays.

He added that the question of uniform store hours, affecting night shopping, will be left to the municipalities which now have the power to regulate hours.

Mr. MacBeth said that although many municipal councils have been reluctant to impose such controls, the province does not want to legislate in this area.

Leaving store hours under municipal control will allow for more flexibility in tourist areas, he said.

Phasing Dundas Project Shows Some Wisdom

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The sequel to a cost-saving proposals from city officials on the final phase of the Dundas St. widening project has shown results.

Last June city council was taken back when "low" bids on the project - including storm sewers and road reconstruction — ran as high as 38 per cent over estimates. The lowest bid was more than $1,200,000.

Then council accepted a staff recommendation to divide the phases, contracting sewer and road work as separate projects.

Tenders on the sewer installation have now been opened. The result: While the lowest bid was still 15 per cent over engineering estimates, new breakdowns strike a balance. Price of installing catchbasins and manholes were within a more "acceptable" range.

As a result there'll be an approximate saving of $12,000 over the previous total costs quoted earlier this year.

"We are far happier because that has brought the unit price down," said city manager Wilbur Purcell.

"This is expected to provide a financial cushion when bids are called on the roadwork phase.

City council Monday will probably accept the $83,467 tender of Kersan Ltd. of Cobourg for the sewer installation.

Plans are for the sewer work to continue through the winter so that reconstruction tenders can be called next year.

Subject to provincial government work on the sewer installati a road start in two or three weeks, said Mr. Purcell.

Quebec Considers Restraint Controls

QUEBEC (CP — The Quebec government is to establish its own pricing and incomes control board but Premier Robert Bourassa indicated Thursday the province is prepared to cooperate with the federal government in the fight against inflation.

Mr. Bourassa told a news conference the provincial board will be set up by legislation that will be presented to Quebec national assembly when it resumes Nov. 4.

Ottawa Has Alternate Mail Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has developed an elaborate contingency plan for the delivery of essential mail in the event of a national postal strike, Postmaster General Bryce Mackasey, said Thursday night.

Mr. Mackasey said in an interview on the CBC national news that the government is prepared to sit it out in the event of a long strike.

The CBC said the government has made plans to use rail express, bus and courier services to deliver essential mail if a strike is called by the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW).

Unemployment insurance cheques and other social service payments also will be picked up at local government offices.

However, both sides say they want to return to the bargaining table.

Hees Says Controls Needed

OTTAWA — A leading Conservative and Quinte district parliamentarian has called on Canadians to support the government's price-incomes controls program.

George Hees, MP Prince Edward-Hastings, says Canadians should get behind the plan in "the national interest."

Making the program succeed will not be easy, Mr. Hees told The Intelligencer Thursday.

At the same time he favored criticism of the government, for delaying action on controls, a means of curbing inflation.

He said it has been clear for three years that government action was necessary to halt a steadily accelerating cost of living rate.

In early 1973 the Conservative opposition urged restraints. But the government refused the suggestions and controls became a main issue in the 1974 general election.

The plan now introduced by the government differs in many respects from the original Conservative proposals.

But it has "the same objective in mind and must be given every chance to succeed" said Mr. Hees.

JOHN SKINNER
Sault Ste. Marie

A former Foxboro man, fatally injured in a freak hunting accident in Northern Ontario Oct. 4 will be remembered at a Belleville church service Sunday.

John Skinner, 34, was shot while hunting moose near Chapleau.

He died Wednesday in hospital at Sault Ste. Marie — where he had been living in recent years — eight days after he had been wounded.

Police allege he and a companion were cleaning a moose they had downed near a pond when a hunter driving nearby saw a dark object in the bush and opened fire.

Funeral service was to be held in Sault Ste. Marie Thursday for Mr. Skinner, member of a well-known Foxboro area family.

During the Sunday morning service at Christ Church in Belleville he will be memorialized.

Mr. Skinner was passenger sales representative with the Algoma Central Railroad.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Skinner of Foxboro.

He also leaves his wife, Diane, two sons, four brothers — Brian, a constable with the provincial police at Belleville; David, of Vancouver, Robert and William of Ottawa, and a sister Janet, of Southern, B.C.

Burial will be in Sault Ste. Marie.

MISS ANNIE ASHTON

The funeral for Miss Annie Ashton was held Oct. 13 in the chapel of the Thompson Funeral Home. Rev. John Utilley conducted the service with burial in Belleville cemetery.

Bearers were Pervel and Peter Baldkovich, Billy McGuire, Sam Simmons, Wayne Crofton and David Ashton.

JOHN BENJAMIN BRANT
DESERONTO

Funeral for John Benjamin Brant of Bayshore Rd., Deseronto, was held Friday from Wilkie and Morris Funeral Home to Mohawk Pentecostal Church with interment at Mohawk Pentecostal Cemetery, Rev. Fred Futers officiated.

Mr. Brant died Tuesday at Belleville General Hospital in his 18th year as the result of a car accident.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Brant, he was employed as a surveyor for Stewart Edson of Napanee - and attended Mohawk Pentecostal Church.

Mr. Brant is survived by brothers Richard, Darryl David, Clifford and sisters Norma and April, all at home.

Grandsons were Bob Burgess, Manson Brant, Ron Crawford, Larry Downer, Dean Bernhardt and Carman Lloyd.

AARON SCOTT BRIGHT

Funeral for Aaron Bright of RR 4 Campbellford was held Oct. 14 from Weaver Funeral Home, Campbellford.

He died suddenly at his home Oct. 8 as a result of an accident. He was four years old.

He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bright and was born in Campbellford.

He also is survived by a sister; Kimberly and foster sister Jane Meiklejohn and by the following grandparents; Mrs. Ray (Charlotte) Bright of RR 4 Campbellford and Mr. and Mrs. David Quackenbush of Campbellford.

Interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Bearers were: Leslie Bell, Gary and Greg Bright and Bruce Quackenbush.

JOHN L. FORSTER

The funeral mass for John Forster was celebrated Oct. 15 from the O'Brien-Steele Funeral Home to St. Michael's Catholic Church. Rev. Fr. Gilmore conducted the service with burial in St. James cemetery.

Bearers were Bernard Mancaro, James McGreevy, William Enright, Joseph Campbell, Cy Middleton and Cornelius Lynch.

Cousins Fined for Switch

Two Belleville cousins were fined $200 each in provincial court here Thursday after they pleaded guilty to a charge of personation at examination.

The two men are identified as Peter Zegocras of 24 Donald St. and Thomas Zegouras of 28 Donald St.

Court was told Thomas Zegouras wrote and failed a real estate examination in Belleville and sent Peter Zegouras to Toronto to write another one. Peter Zegouras also failed the second examination.

The offence was' discovered when examiners found the handwritings did not match.

Union Lottery Aids Area Handicapped

Three hearing aids and two pairs of glasses have been purchased for handicapped children through the Civil Service Association of Ontario, Local 338 president George Webster said Thursday.

The president said the fund, for which money is raised through a lottery, now is running short on funds, but he hopes to expand and find existing alternate sources of revenue.

To date, only one lottery has been run which drew a draw is being planned Nov. 7: and returns have not been so large that the union local can supply "appliances" to handicapped children outside of Sir James Whitney School.

The $40-member local supplies the fund with most of the money. Sale of lottery tickets is not generally made available to the public, said Mr. Webster.

"Most funds come from our own members, but there is some outside selling 'of lottery tickets,' he said. "It's not our policy to seek public donations."

One-tier Government Study Report Delayed

PICTON — Hallowell Reeve Keith MacDonald this week told Prince Edward County government appears to be "a bit of a joke" as delays persist in presentation of a report to council.

Reeve MacDonald, who is chairman of council's county government committee, said the proposal for a two-tier system possibly would be completed for council's study by Christmas time. Last July council was told the report would be presented in August and in August it was deferred until October.

At this month's council meeting reeve MacDonald said that further delays have been encountered.

"We are trying to compile information that will be beneficial to the people," asserted reeve MacDonald.

He said that his committee met this summer with a representative of the ministry of treasury, economics and intergovernmental affairs and material compiled for a county government report was reviewed.

Public meetings concerning the information have not yet been discussed.

Reeve MacDonald added that the county government committee discussed its dissolution after presentation of the brief now in preparation.

Error in Tender Costs Picton Store $1,139

PICTON — Prince Edward County council has refused to pay Mason's Department Stores an additional $1,139 for extra drapery costs incurred through "an honest error."

The Picton store tendered to supply the draperies for the H.J. Mumford Memorial Home last year but there was confusion in the specifications and more curtains were required.

Mr. Mason under-tendered through an error in measurements. It was an honest error," said Sophiasburg deputy-reeve Jack Sprague during a recent council session.

Ameliasburg reeve Arnold Wetherall argued that Mr. Mason's tender was subsequently lower than that of several other bidders because of the mistake. He suggested that this was unfair to others who tendered for the work.

"I am sympathetic but if it is an honest mistake its part of the system by which we operate," said Picton reeve Larry Richardson.

He added that if persons who tender for a job make a larger profit than is expected they do not rush the extra money back to those who hired them. Similarly, if a job is under-tendered the workman should accept the loss as his own.

Beavers Cause Problem

TRENTON — The Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has been told by the ministry of Natural Resources it had better learn to live in peace with its animal neighbors, Thursday.

Low water levels at the Tremor Lake reservoir prompted PUC manager Doug Manlow to approach the ministry for assistance in removing beavers the suspected cause of the problem, from the lake last month but the agency said it did not want to get involved and instead sent a pamphlet on how to live with the animals and still maintain water levels.

The commission also instructed Mr. Manlow to contact the ministry of the environment to clarify regulations governing five water taking permits held by landowners on Mayers Creek.

The PUC is concerned the permits are being abused by the holders and questioned how they are being policed, if at all.

To counteract the low water level in the reservoir as the winter month's approach a study has been requested to see if it would be possible to pump water from Fox's Pond, located below Tremor Lake, into the water basin to raise the level.

County Pays Taxi Fares

PICTON — Taxi fares for youngsters from needy homes who attend the Little Learners Nursery School here will be paid from the Prince Edward County Welfare budget to a monthly limit of $200.

The decision was reached during a meeting of Prince Edward County council this week.

The expenditure was questioned by Sophiasburg reeve George Fuller who suggested if the nursery school is a part of the education program transportation costs might be funded by the county board of education.

Picton reeve Larry Richardson explained the nursery school program is subsidized by the ministry of community and social services. About 70 youngsters attend and a number of them are retarded.

It was noted that 80 per cent of the taxi fare charges will be subsidized by the ministry.

Data Collected

Alexina Cameron, an employee of Environics Research, is busy making a random telephone survey soliciting volunteers for a meeting to discuss Trenton's Neighborhood Improvement Program (NIP). Phase one of the NIP project is designed to choose the area of town that will receive the $760,000 federal provincial and municipal grant for upgrading of neighborhood services.

NIP Study Now Under Way

TRENTON — A five-member research team has begun work in town collecting information, that will help council decide which neighborhood in the municipality will reap the benefits of a $760,000 Neighborhood Improvement Program (NIP) grant.

Environics Research, a Toronto firm, is conducting Phase 1 of the project under a $15,000 grant from the municipality, which is recoverable from the government, and will complete the study by mid-December.

NIP is designed to assist municipalities in upgrading the living conditions in older, deteriorating and predominately residential areas. $380,000 of the funding will come from the federal government with $190,000 each from the province and the town.

The first phase of the three-part program entails the research team collecting all available material about the town's social resources, recreation facilities and municipal services.

During Phase 1 the team will also meet with groups of 10-15 neighborhood residents in each of the five tentatively selected areas to discuss the ratepayers individual perceptions of that section of town and the services available.

"We are pleased with the response of the volunteers, so far, in our random sampling of the neighborhoods and also with the reception and cooperation given by municipal officials," said Michael Adams, project co-ordinator for Environics.

I have been meeting with various resource people, like the heads of the parks department, public works and social agencies to get an upgrading on outdated reports from them," Mr. Adams said.

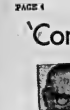
'Con Job' by Government Over 'Savings' One Reason for Turner's Resignation



By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — You will know the government is really serious about restraint if and when Treasury Board lays down guidelines on the cost of its own trappings of power.

These are the status symbols — the offices and what goes on in them — of the government's top spenders.

These are the senior executives — there are just about 1,000 of them — who draw between $30,000 and $50,000 a year.

They are the cats who get the cream.

They skim it as a reward from their political masters for dreaming up all those fine-sounding and high-costing "programs" the government finances with your taxes.

So when the government says it's buckling down to the business of restraint — not just for you and the guy next door — for itself with your money, don't look at the big fat figures it uses, look for the hidden numbers.

It talked in millions last June in the con job it did with the budget.

It boasted about saving an even billion dollars.

But that was a non-saving, made by simply deferring loans and investments and other commitments made for the future.

While doing that — and closer examination of the budget quickly unmasked the con — the government was increasing its real, current spending by nearly 17 per cent.

Some restraint. Some saving.

That was the one compelling reason behind John Turner's resignation from Finance — he knew that if the cabinet again forced him to such compromises, there would be nothing left of his credibility.

So with the rednuffled cabinet — same old faces in same offices talking restraint again examine the fine print.

Look for a crackdown on the life-style of the senior executive echelon of the public service, the mandarin-inventors of those big-spending programs their cabinet bosses prize so highly.

Right now, as far as Treasury Board non-guidelines are concerned, there is absolutely no limits on how much they spend in making their short working days comfortable.

The luxury of one of these public service executive suites can run an average $5,000 to $7,000, with a few of the really superlative ones — the decorating price tags in excess of $10,000.

Those are off-the-top ball park estimates of a couple of knowledgeable Public Works Department insiders who, with officers of the Supply and Services Department lay it all on.

So who should be surprised that some of the more extravagantly elaborate public service senior executive pads should come equipped with cocktail bars, colored television, fine teak furniture, rich carpets, sumptuous drapes, original and sometimes priceless works of Canadian art rented from the Canada Council's Art Bank, private four-piece (shower included) washroom, a few with electric towel-warmers, and refrigerators finished in wood to look like cabinets?

There is one — could be several, in fact — but one that has been seen and carefully examined, a suite complete with a fully-equipped kitchen and dining room.

These public service executive suites are located in the fewest and fanciest of Ottawa's office towers.

Many of these towers were built by private developers financed by long-term leases given them by the government when the buildings were in the planning stage.

The developers used the government's leases — signed even before there was a hole in the ground for the tower-to-be — to raise mortgage money.

Next time you are in Ottawa take the express elevators to the top floors of Place Bell Canada and Place de Ville where the public service cats purr.

It should hit you as an atmosphere more like a Hollywood movie producer's playpen than a government executive office. Even including the palms.

That's un-restraint. And when they turn it around, you will know the government is not kidding about cutting back.

PC Ousts Juneau

Are the federal Liberals on the way out as the governing entity in this country? Ottawa correspondent Richard Jackson has written about Prime Minister Trudeau's waning star which may or may not have plunged still further with the anti-inflation measures of recent days.

He has pointed to a variety of other setbacks, including the resignation of John Turner, that have beset the Government.

And now to top them all has come the stunning defeat of Communications Minister Pierre Juneau in the traditionally Liberal Quebec riding of Hochelaga. Juneau had been the Government's communications czar only a short time following his tenure as chairman of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission. In other words, he had been appointed to cabinet rank — by Mr. Trudeau — after the resignation of Gerard Pelletier, now ambassador to France.

The PC's man in Hochelaga, the personable Jacques Lavoie, won handsomely. Maybe he tried harder; indeed, he had been in the fight in the riding twice before. Perhaps his pitch that he was "one of them" appealed to voters, while Juneau's outsider image militated against the "parachuted" Grit.

In any event, it's a sign of rising Conservative fortunes, affirmed to some extent in a by-election in New Brunswick. The Liberals retained Resigouche, but by a significantly reduced majority.

The federal Conservatives are still hampered by the leadership hiatus occasioned by Mr. Stanfield's decision to step down, but the victory in Hochelaga nevertheless is a sign of shifting voter trends that almost certainly will be reflected in the next federal election.

Getting It Altogether

The Three R's. It's a subject that has been causing a good deal of agitation of late.

So many people can't spell, let alone express themselves properly, in "plain English," as the saying goes. Some of the young people coming out of our much-taunted school system can't spell. Who says? Well, business executives have been saying it; they speak of youngsters seeking jobs who are deficient in spelling and grammar.

But then, there are any number of adults who cannot get it altogether either. Their spelling is prone to error, and their grammar is sloppy.

There are other aspects of the communications field too which are subject to error. Take the text of a five-year-old's Sunday School reader — the U.S. published Bible-in-Life reader. Here's a story about a little girl who writes a note to God and her mother, replying in the role of one of God's helpers, writes in part: "Dear Margie — I thought God would like for one of His friends to answer your letter. . ."

So there is an error there, which readers may spot for themselves. Again, television viewers may shudder when they think of what programs such as All in The Family, Good Times, and Hee Haw — enjoyable as they are to many — are doing to the grammar and speech of young people.

Then there are errors of fact — as when anchor man Ted Baxter of the Mary Tyler Moore show says he is learning Spanish in preparation for an assignment in Brazil. But there the language is Portuguese.

A Bellevillian decided to take up this point. So he wrote to the producers and received a courteous reply from one whose name appears on the credits each week. He said in effect the error was deliberate, to tie in with the Ted Baxter personality — that of the bumbling anchor man who gets hand-me-down scripts from where it's at. It was an explanation, yet the error — even if deliberate — was one that very likely passed over most heads. Usually too, one or other of Ted's colleagues is quick to correct him — but not so in this case.

Again, there is Rich's old chestnut — "irregardless." Incredibly, it was used on the CBC's late-night news recently by an otherwise extremely articulate foreign correspondent.

When all is said and done though, and "regardless" of how knowledgeable we may all claim to be, none of us is perfect. And amen to that!

Stephen Lewis' Moment of Truth

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau
Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Now will we start to see the real Stephen Lewis stand up?

One of the most interesting facets of this new legislature will be observing the NDP leader and see what he does. We will emerge in his new eminence as opposition leader and number two man in the house.

In the past few years Mr. Lewis has been in an unique spot, quite a cozy one.

In the last house the Liberals were regarded as the main threat by the government and it concentrated its attention on them.

The NDP and its leader were relatively free from attack and this meant they could pretty well choose their own issues and their own pace. Particularly it meant that their leader, not being subject to harassment, could adopt a restrained public presence and a statesmanlike political position.

We saw this illustrated very markedly during the election campaign.

Lewis was able to choose the issues he wanted bouncing, energy, land and pensions and confine his campaign to them. Then he was able to remain removed from the hurly-burly and make statements such as that he didn't believe in personalities.

There was always considerable question as to how much of this was for real and how much an act, intentional or unintentional. A question particularly for those of us who had known the old rebellious, fiery and defiant Stephen Lewis.

Now there should be some answers for the Lewis honeymoon should be over.

In this House he and his party should be the main targets. Then also with the unexpected success in the election he and his supporters should be getting a taste of potential power.

Both should step up the metabolism of the leader and the party and move them into the arena of slings and arrows.

They will have to ride with attack and counter it and will be forced into positions on all issues, not just those they choose. Most importantly and he didn't discuss health costs during the campaign because it was "too complex" a topic.

Stephen should be forced into a position where he will have to show whether he can really deal it the know that he is admirably excellent at giving it.

Then also there could be some revelations from the NDP caucus. Indications are that among the new members may be those who need prompting. One of them has been accusing the government of "union busting"—shades of the '30s). And before they are groomed one can't say what might happen.

Bible Digest

by R. K. BEAN

"And Moses returned unto the Lord, and said, Lord, wherefore hast thou brought forth a plan to start dealing with ruinous inflation.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's temporary restraints on prices and incomes are not severe at all, when you look at them quietly — away from the anguished cries of the privileged ones that are being gored.

Income increases of eight, 10 or 15 per cent a year for a given level of work could only be described as "restraint" in the context of an inflation that has been running wild.

Such increases represent no real hardship and, in fact, guarantee a doubling of average Canadian incomes in less than a decade—probably much less.

But half a loaf, they say, is better than none.

Mr. Trudeau and his ministers have for too long relied on pious statements, dreams of voluntarism, sad don't-blame-us excuses, while the savings and living standards of millions of Canadians eroded—and while greedy and essential minorities grabbed all they could get.

By themselves, Mr. Trudeau's "severe restraints" won't cure the tables.

Obviously there are gaping holes in the government's program. Broad political support can never be totally effective when controls are in a crazy piece, modern economy.

Prices of basic necessary supplies, for example, will be exceedingly difficult to restrain. So, too, will the inevitable rise of monopoly unions in essential industries.

Given all that, it is nevertheless necessary that a start be made somewhere.

The prime minister's Thanksgiving Day proposals are that start, belated and mild as they may be.

Their greatest usefulness may be that they demonstrate that the Trudeau government is finally willing to act.

Even if that action won't eradicate the inflation that has been ruining our economy, the unaccustomed sight of economic leadership from Ottawa may be enough to jolt Canadians out of the expectation of ever greater price and wage increases, and restore some confidence in the relative stability of purchasing power.

The Trudeau government, once before, managed to psyche Canadians out of their inflationary expectations—in late 1968.

But when the government found that there were political disadvantages in such a course, it got cold feet and changed direction.

As recently as mid-1974, it was making political capital out of the Conservative opposition's plans for restraint on incomes and prices.

Now, with the value of money again eroding by more than 10 per cent a year, it has dawned on the federal cabinet that restraint is good politics as well as good sense.

So it has sought the co-operation of provincial governments and of opposition parties in creating a national consensus in favor of a plan that it was ridiculing just 16 months ago.

How long will the expanded "restraints" last?

"A considerable length of time," according to the prime ministerial word.

If the past is any guide, they will last until their removal is no longer the maximum political advantage to the government — in other words, probably until just before the next federal election is called.

With most economic signs pointing to an upturn in the business cycle over the next couple of years, chances are the Trudeau program will have done some good by then.

In view of the shortage of housing accommodation in the urban centres of the district and the necessity of building materials with which to build the needed houses, an urgent appeal for the cutting of logs into pulp by lumbermen was made from the board of trade meeting held lately. Throughout Ontario from eight to ten thousand cords are cut in this place as lumbermen while about 100 cords is cut in the Hastings district. During the war we had the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and the U.S. its Office of Price Administration.

Perhaps the Ottawa view is that since we're going to be hit, let's be hit in style!

editorial on the subject of privacy and the signing of letters — we would like to express very close when you mentioned egocentricity and your comments were very well considered.

On the part of the anonymous then known Mr. Anonymous: it is rather obvious that he commended the moral courage finally to fight fairly. But why then should he attack others who might still commit his cardinal sin of anonymity — he have forgotten his own past error?

Alternatively now he considers himself superior to those not possessed of courage to overcome that which he did not at the proper moment. It may be that he wishes that others overcome the fear as he has.

As to the decision of whether to act or not to act, it is obvious that the decision, is sometimes determined by the risk involved to the progression of the material gains. In the use of the written word, retaliation may come in the form of hate mail, physical attack or ridicule. I would think that the last would weigh most heavily.

And then there is another question — whether it is more worthy to stand still for injustice which one knows to exist and remain anonymous, or not to do so. In that event the evil will remain uncorrected.

Lead a Horse to Water

You can lead this horse to water but he is permanently on the wagon. The lifesize synthetic quarter horse used as an advertisement by Glen Flood of BB Tack Shop in Carrying Place prompts double takes from many motorists who think they have just spotted a runaway. The horse is positioned on the front lawn of the tack store with his head overlooking a split rail fence.

Civic Action Committee Works with Low Profile

One community service that doesn't need any attention or publicity is the Civic Action Committee headed by Margaret Doyle.

Mrs. Doyle works closely with a handful of volunteers in a confidential manner with people seeking guidance and assistance in a time of difficulty.

Mrs. Doyle said common grievances handled by the United Way agency are of the financial nature-unpaid bills, heat that was shut off in the winter, condition and temporary shelter.

Originating with the Catholic Women's League of St. Michael's Church, the 18-year-old committee was adopted in 1963 by United Community Services.

"We don't need the publicity," said Mrs. Doyle. "We've more work than money to pay for it."

She said word-of-mouth was how most people learned of their existence.

The volunteer staff operates on a small budget — $2,675 last year, that goes mainly to needy people. There's no overhead expenses such as office or full time staff, she said.

Swim-up Ceremony

Derek Lawday, one of the group leaders for the 1st Scouts of Canada Pat St. Thomas Church, explains the swim-up ceremony to seven-year-old Thomas Boyce of 173 Bridge St. east. The swim-up ceremony involves boys who are graduating from the beaver league to the wolf cub pack.

Construction May Cause Congestion on Bridge St.

Motorists can ready for heavy traffic conditions on lower East- Bridge St. next year.

The warning was sounded in city council's traffic committee this week.

Reason for the expected vehicle buildup is the final reconstruction phase of the East Dundas St. widening program. Rebuilding of Victoria Ave. to the other main traffic artery parallel to Bridge — also is planned.

The detours necessary could result in traffic on East Bridge being "something out of this world," said Mayor Ben Clarke.

Ald. Arthur Keegan agreed with the mayor — whose caution was evoked by a request from Bridge St. United Church.

A.D. Revill, the church's congregational board secretary, asked that a rush-hour parking ban on East Bridge outside the church be reviewed.

Lack of parking space in the area now presents a problem to congregation members during church work in the late afternoon, he said.

Villages Form Group To Get New Industry

MARMORA — The first step to bring industry to the Marmora area has been taken.

Acting on the advice of two representative from the ministry of industry and tourism given at a recent meeting with the councils of Marmora Village, Deloro Village and Marmora and Lake Townships, that the acquisition of industry should start from within the community itself, a new organization to be known as the Marmora and District Industrial Development Association is being formed.

Councillor David McLellan says it may take five years to show any results, Mr. McLellan said he hopes not only businessmen but all the people in the three municipalities will get behind the effort to bring industry to the area.

Repeater Station Altered

From The Ottawa Bureau Of The Intelligencer

OTTAWA — The CBC can change the frequency of its repeater station CBOD Maynooth from 1220 to 1400 on the AM radio band, the Canadian Radio- Television Commission ruled recently.

A CRTC spokesman said the low power relay transmitter station serving the northern part of Hastings County rebroadcasts the programs of CBL Toronto part of the CBC's English-language network service.

Builders' Executive Unchanged

The executive of the Quinte Home Builders Association came through the annual election of officers unscathed Wednesday as all were returned for another year.

Returning as president is Bob Marcelle, first vice-president Reg. Breault, second vice - president Don Keller, secretary treasurer Randy Loewen.

The board of directors is Bob Lambert, Gerry Joyce, Bob Michaud, Gary MacGerald, Al Horlock and Paul Sinnon.

Trucks Get Radios

MARMORA — Installation of two-way radios in the Marmora Fire Department trucks is expected this week, Councillor Bert Gray has reported.

The radios were obtained through Angus Duffy, director of Quinte Emergency Measurer Organization which has been disbanded.

A walkie-talkie type of radio is also needed, Mr. Gray explained, pointing out that it would have come in handy during a search recently for a missing boy.

Sander Approved

MARMORA — Marmora Village Council has decided to order a sander for next year.

"It's getting very difficult to get men willing to sand during a storm, Deputy-reeve Grant Aichart, chairman of roads reported during a discussion on the purchase of the $5,000.

New Signs on Order

MARMORA — Twenty new signs will be ordered for Marmora Street to replace some that were damaged during the sewage project and others that have rusted.

Deputy-reeve Grant Aichart has recommended ordering while on green signs, similar to those Marmora Township is using, because they show up well at night.

Sewers Prompt Complaints

MARMORA — Residents at the east end of Matthew Street here are not happy with the way their entrances off the highway have been left from the sewer installation.

Earl Clemenger has asked the village council when he can expect the contractor to finish the job. Several leads of gravel and fill are needed to restore the entrances and cover the area around the manhole which was left sticking up, Mr. Clemenger claimed.

Roads chairman Grant Aichart assured Mr. Clemenger council is working on his and other complaints.

Picton Painters Devoted to Art

The sign over the door of the little house says "fine painting".

Inside, Jan and Mary Russell work steadily at their art, producing scores of canvases in their different yet complementary styles.

The walls are covered with the paintings, his in acrylic and watercolor, hers in watercolor and oil, in all cases the natural world is the inspiration for their works.

Jan, who has been painting all of his life, has moved through what he calls "ghosts and goblins" surrealism to romantic paintings and miniature abstracts and finally into his current style, a kind of extended open plane painting which uses a limited amount of media on a pale canvas.

"It's been like a purification process," Jan says. "I feel closer now to the thing I need to express; I feel confident. The (learning) process still goes on and its enjoyable."

Jan, who has exhibited in Artsfest and travelling shows in the area, doesn't feel that commercial success is necessary to his art.

"Selling paintings isn't the thing that makes me paint. I need to express life on the terms I feel other people are feeling it."

Unlike Jan, Mary Russell is a relative newcomer to painting, having spent the earlier part of her life doing an amazing variety of things.

"As the Indians say, I have a busy totem," Mary says. She's been a tourist camp "slavey", homemaker, factory worker, sales clerk, fashion and Elizabeth Fry society worker.

One day, while home with the flu, she was chatting with her sister by telephone when she suddenly picked up a pencil and began sketching.

That was five years ago and she hasn't stopped producing since. Her pictures are mostly landscapes and paintings of children doing any one of the hundred of things that children do on summer afternoons.

"I think people understand children . . . when you put high heels on a person and add a purse, something happens to them."

One of Mary's paintings is on display in the Corby Library as part of the Eastern Ontario art show which opens there Monday.

Wallbridge — Doxtator

The Christian Missionary and Alliance Church was the scene of the afternoon wedding of Valerie Jane Doxtator and Ernest Wayne Wallbridge September 20.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Doxtator, Carrying Place; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Wallbridge, Belleville.

Rev. Stephen Tilley officiated at the ceremony where the bride's aunt, Nancy Weese, was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satteen peau featuring an empire waist, fitted sleeves, wedding band collar and watteau chapel train. Her ensemble was trimmed with lace and seed pearls. A scalloped edge dveil of silk illusion fell from a headpiece of embroidered chantilly lace and pearls. The bouquet was a cascade of red roses.

Deborah Doxtator, the bride's sister, was maid of honor in a blue gown with sheer set-in yoke and fitted sleeves, trimmed with lace. She carried a nosegay of daisies.

Angela Doxtator and Cathy Doxtator, the bride's sisters, wore green and pink gowns and carried nosegays of daisies.

Kelly Doxtator was flower girl in a high necked white dress and carried a basket of mixed flowers. Robbie Doxtator, the bride's brother, was ring bearer.

The groom's brother, Jim Wallbridge, was best man, assisted by Keith Brooks and Roger Townsend.

A dinner was held at Christ Church Hall.

After a wedding trip to the south, the couple took up residence in Belleville.

Books By And About Women

HER OWN "WOMAN" — By Myrna Kostash, Melinda McCracken, Valerie Miner, Erna Paris and Heather Robinson.

As a counterpart to "Women Today" by Greta Walker, highlighting the careers of ten American women, which appeared in this column recently), the above book includes the profiles of ten Canadian women. Five talented young writers contributed their efforts to find successful women in a variety of fields with whom they could experience provocative encounters worthy of an interesting book.

These are frank and discerning interviews and cover a wide range of careers: Judy La Marsh, with a retrospect look at her contributions to Canadian politics, among them acting up the Royal Commission on the Status of Women, as well as an up-to-date look at her life today.

Then there is Barbara Frum, the radio and TV personality; Margaret Atwood, writer and critic; Esther Warkov, Winnipeg painter; Abby Hoffman, the athlete; and Rita McNeil who has emerged as an integral part of the Toronto women's liberation movement with her "Singing it Like it Is."

This book is available in the Corby Public Library.

QMSA

The Quinte Medical Secretaries Association celebrated their 20th birthday at their October meeting held in Edwardian Hall. President Barb Lewis welcomed new members and guests and read a Thanksgiving poem.

Guest Speaker is the delegate to the area convention in Campbellford October 28-29.

Plans were made for various parties to continue at four week intervals throughout the winter.

Roberta Ramsay was in charge of the program, for which Moira Dennis was guest speaker. He talked about world affairs and the Cuts of Rome, formed for the betterment of world conditions.

Art Gough was also a guest speaker, giving a training demonstration about colostomies.

ST. JULIEN HOME

The regular monthly meeting of the Jalien Chapter I.O.D.E. was held at the Kinsmen Center on Tuesday, October 7, with the regent, Velma Bailey, presiding.

The members voted to donate two record players to "First Adventure", in response to an advertised request.

Zeta Hurst stated that St. Julien Chapter would be responsible for serving the refreshments at the Blood Donors Clinic to be held in the organization of Sir James Whitney School on Friday, November 17 and the required number of members quickly volunteered to assist her.

Mrs. Bailey introduced Margaret Hrabetsky who gave an interesting and informative talk on First Adventure. This included a brief history of the work to date and an outline of plans for the future. Loreen Ellis thanked the guest speaker.

Tea hostesses for the evening were Dorothy Mann and Doris Whittemore.

First Women's College Celebrates Anniversary

HALIFAX (CP) — Mount Saint Vincent University is 50 years old this year. When its charter was granted in 1925 it was the first independent women's college in Canada.

Today, Mount Saint Vincent can claim an even greater distinction. It is the only independent women's college in the Commonwealth. The history of "the Mount" actually began in 1873 with the founding by the Sisters of Charity of the Mount Saint Vincent Academy for young women.

For several years this academy fulfilled the need for educating young women but by 1914 the Sisters of Charity became aware of a need for educational opportunities beyond the secondary level.

In that year a contract was signed whereby the Sisters would teach the first two years of courses leading to the bachelor degree and Dalhousie University would teach the remaining courses and grant the degree.

In 1925 Mount Saint Vincent received a charter permitting it to grant its own degrees.

On Jan. 31, 1951 the school was destroyed by fire.

Everything was lost and the students escaped with only the clothes they were wearing. A few hours later firemen had to halt their work when the water in their hoses froze. By early morning the school was a smouldering ruin.

The city of Halifax responded to the needs of the college community.

Organizations found space that could be used for dormitories, schools provided class rooms, residents donated clothing, food, supplies and encouragement, and the school was back in business.

A new building to commemorate the centennial year of the Sisters of Charity in Halifax was opened in mid-1951. By the fall students were returning.

In 1966 the college became a university.

Mount Saint Vincent has retained its affiliation with Dalhousie University and has added an affiliation with the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design. Both affiliations are aimed at reducing duplication of courses, activities, and administration between schools.

Ann—Landers

He Drinks Every Night, She Worries

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in love with this boy and we plan to marry. We've been going together for six months but there's a problem I can't discuss with anyone—least of all him. Doug is about 5 ft., 10 inches, weighs 110 pounds and is not in good shape physically. I don't want to call him a young widow.

He eats the worst junk in the world, cares nothing about nourishing food or a balanced meal, and never gets enough rest. He was in a car accident two years ago and received multiple head injuries. The doctor told him he shouldn't drink but he gets loaded nearly every night and it worries me sick. I know this is harming him because he gets terrific headaches, has blurred vision and he's trouble remembering things.

I just found out Doug takes LSD, uppers and downers, and also pot. I've begged him to take care of himself but he says he has to stay on the booze and junk to keep himself going. He's working two jobs trying to save enough money to buy a house so we can get married.

When I try to talk sense to him, he says, "Stop nagging me. I'm doing all this for you." What can I do to help him see he's killing himself?—Alleg. N.M.

Dear Alleg: Nothing. He'll kill himself before he'll listen to you or anyone else. Doug's physical condition is the result of his mental condition. He's self-destructive and severely unbalanced.

Your only hope is to make it clear you'll have nothing more to do with him unless he goes to a doctor and gets straightened out. If he refuses, my advice is to stop seeing him. The fact that you tolerate such erratic behavior and would actually marry such a sick guy raises many questions in my mind about your mental health.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 35 years old, a housewife, and have three children. We have been married 18 years. Our eldest child is 13. My husband is born and bred that parents should go anywhere without their children. The two of us have never been out for one evening together in our entire married life.

Am I wrong to tell him I don't think this is fair to me? When I mentioned it a few times he said, "There will be plenty of time for us to go out together after the children are on their own." What about it? He's a good husband but I—Feel Trapped

Dear Trapped: According to my arithmetic you married this man when you were 17 years old. I'm betting he is several years your senior and has always considered you more of a child than a wife.

It is virtually impossible for a wife to change her husband's thinking about family life after 18 years—especially if it's part of his cultural heritage. You might attempt a breakthrough by asking a close relative to be host on your next wedding anniversary or birthday—whichever comes first. And good luck. I hope it works.

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday I walked into the kitchen and caught my mother steaming open a letter with the tea kettle. It was to my 17-year-old sister from her boyfriend.

Mom seemed embarrassed and then said, "I'm doing this because I don't trust Marie and a mother has the right to know what's going on." Is Mom right or wrong?—Miss Demee

Dear Miss: She's wrong. Such a mother will never know what's going on because her children won't trust her. Trust begets trust and it starts early. Your mom lost out a long time ago.

Dear Ann Landers: Last Monday I received in the mail a copy of your column about a married man who had been carrying on a nine-year affair with his secretary. The envelope was mailed from Fort Wayne, Mich. The following day I received the same column clipped from another newspaper. Yesterday the identical column turned up again.

My husband has never given me a moment's trouble. His secretary is a nice, respectable woman with a lovely man of her own. What does this sound like to you?—Baffled Plenty

Dear B. P.: It sounds like you know a needle artist with an air travel card. Forget it.

CONFIDENTIAL to Sonny (aka Us His Sleeve): Like what? His arm? I wouldn't put much faith in a man who has failed to keep his word as many times as he has.

OMA Disclaims Reports Of Doctor Demands

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Reports that Ontario doctors are seeking fee increases of between 35 and 50 per cent are not accurate, a spokesman for the Ontario Medical Association (OMA), said Thursday.

Dr. J. A. Todd, association vice-president, said figures attributed to OMA president Dr. Donald MacNeil should not be taken as absolute because the size of the increase sought will not be determined until December when it has been discussed by all 11 district medical associations.

Dr. R. B. Andrews, director of OMA District 1, said about 250 doctors from the district voted for fee increases of more than 50 per cent during a meeting Wednesday.

He said the vote should not be interpreted as an effort to disregard wage and price controls imposed by the federal government which limit wage increases to 10 per cent this year, with a maximum of $2,000, because the doctors were not sure as to how the controls affect them.

But Health Minister Frank Miller has said that there is no question the guidelines apply to doctors as well as other professional groups.

Rejected Metric

CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas Jefferson recommended that the United States adopt the metric system of measurement in 1790, says the World Book Encyclopedia. Congress rejected the idea. And again in 1821, John Quincy Adams made his proposal for metric conversion defeated by Congress.

Psychiatric Head Objects to Findings

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — Milton Fisher, administrator of Whitby Psychiatric Hospital, said Thursday he is outraged by the findings of an inquest into the suicide death last Aug. 5 of Douglas Leckie, 24, a former patient at the hospital, and by the conduct of supervising coroner Dr. Margaret Milton.

The inquest ended Wednesday with Dr. Milton criticizing the hospital's medical staff. The coroner's jury recommended a reassessment of the open-door concept—especially in regard to the 10 per cent of patients it said should be considered dangerous—practised by mental institutions in Ontario. The jury also suggested families be given more information about patients' problems and treatment.

Reacting to the criticism, Mr. Fisher said he has utmost confidence in the medical staff at the hospital and in the open-door treatment concept.

He said the purpose of the inquest was lost from the outset when Dr. Milton broke with tradition and refused to permit counsel to question witnesses.

Instead, counsel was forced to submit questions in writing to the coroner, who then decided whether to put them to witnesses.

Mr. Fisher said the hospital requested Mr. Leckie be returned for further treatment after he had walked out, and his family declined. This point was ignored by the jury in forming its recommendations, he said.

"To jump to the wild conclusion that we ought to lock up everybody is both simplistic and dangerous," he said. "To destroy a consistent program because one or two or three or four individuals are borderline dangerous or suicidal would be simplistic and, for the most part, thermare, the cost of locking people up would be astronomical."

Mr. Fisher said the hospital requested the inquest to deliver an emotion-charged speech to the jury before it had heard the first witness.

Some Seniors Should Not Be in Old Age Homes: Miller

TORONTO (CP) — A large percentage of the 35,000 persons in homes for the aged in Ontario should not be there, Health Minister Frank Miller said Thursday.

He told a news conference that such residents do not qualify for extended care beds in the homes in a medical sense.

A review by the ministry in July, 1973, indicated that many did not meet medical requirements for payment under the Ontario Health Insurance Plan (OHIP).

Mr. Miller said he would like to see a panel or an independent person look at applications to the homes to determine whether there is medical need.

The ministry is reviewing the problem and seeking solutions to prevent further abuse of the program, he said.

Asked about reports that Ontario doctors will meet federal wage and price guidelines, Mr. Miller said he believes the doctors "will live by whatever interpretation of them we get from Ottawa."

Former Air Base Undergoes Facelift to Draw New Industry

TYENDINAGA — The latest works project upgrading facilities for leasing to light industry and commerce on this Mohawk reserve will start next week.

Plans call for installation of a pipeline system that will pump water from the Bay of Quinte into a site where potential for development has long been recognized here.

It's the Mohawk airfield — built as a military facility during the Second World War. When the site reverted back to the reserve it came with buildings and runaway intact.

Some three decades later its a site that has "good potential" for commercial leasing, says Clifford John, the reserve's industrial commissioner.

A key feature is the landing strip, now licenced as a private airfield. Then there is the adjacent road centre — nearby Highway 49 links into Highway 401.

The facilities - including two high-roofed aircraft hangars and a drill hall - have been undergoing upgrading in recent years.

There already has been some leasing of space for warehousing and light industry.

To date, on the site, water has been supplied free mwells.

But the wartime installation already included a pipeline from the Bay. Much of the line remains and is still sound says Mr. John.

The reserve council recently let a contract - awarded to Tasham Co, Ltd. of Rossmore - to upgrade the line where necessary and link the various buildings flanking the airstrip. This will make available for industrial processes and fire protection, says the industrial commissioner.

Work on the project is expected to start Monday and up to 1,500 feet of line may be installed.

Suspect Remanded

A 25-year-old Belleville man was remanded in provincial court here Thursday to Oct. 23 to set a date for trial on a charge of assault causing bodily harm in connection with an attack on a 53-year-old city woman here Oct. 6.

In addition, a charge of rape against Floyd Johnston of 38 Centre St. has been stayed due to lack of a complainant, a city police spokesman said today.

Both charges had resulted after the woman was taken from the front of 28 Great St. James St., to the rear of 94 Station St. where the offence occured.

Builders Studying Controls

Manager of the Quinte Construction Association said Thursday he does not know yet how many of the associations 60 members will be affected by wage and price controls announced this week.

"It's bound to affect a percentage of members as some employ in excess of 20 persons," said Don Sutton.

The Quinte association is made up of general contractors, mechanical and electrical contractors and suppliers.

Henry de Puyjalon, president of the Canadian Construction Association (CCA) said this week the association will co-operate in the wage and prices control program.

"The construction industry had publicly advocated for the past two years that there be greater cost stability and restraint," said Mr. de Puyjalon in a message to member associations.

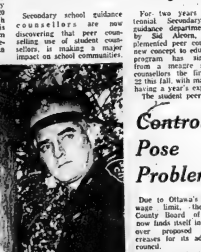
The federal government said earlier this week wage restraints will apply to firms in the construction industry employing more than 10 persons. A contractor with fewer than 20 employees is included if some or all of them are covered by a labor agreement negotiated by an association.

Aftermath

Tenants of 90 and 92 Victoria Ave, drift into the building to inspect their apartments following a fire early this morning. The second floor and roof were damaged extensively in the fire which forced 11 tenants to evacuate. The fire apparently started in a second floor apartment.

Student Counsellors Prove Worth in City High School

Secondary school guidance counsellors are now discovering that peer counselling use of student counsellors, is making a major impact on school communities.



For two years now Centennial Secondary School's guidance department, headed by Sid Aherne, has implemented peer counselling, a new concept in education. The program has since grown from a meagre six student counsellors the first year to 20 this fall, with many of them having a year's experience.

The student peer counselling usually involves a senior student meeting with a junior student to iron out problems related to the school functions. The counsellors help staff guidance people in orienting Grade 9 students to the school atmosphere.

Mr. Aikenn now says that the guidance department can reach all the new students for basic orientation. Centennial has a student population of about 1,200 with only three full-time staff counsellors.

The program is closely scrutinized and student counsellors are carefully screened prior to deal with his or her fellow students.

"It's basically kids helping kids", explained Mr. Aherne, who also added that any major problems, either personal or academic are referred to the staff counsellors.

Controls Pose Problems

Due to Ottawa's 19 per cent wage limit, the Hastings County Board of Education now finds itself in a dilemma over proposed salary increases for its administrative council.

On Oct. 8 the board's staff board relations committee (the academic and business arms) agreed to recommend to the board about a 12.5 per cent increase for its administrative, including the director, superintendents and other executive officials of the board.

Last Tuesday, the board met to discuss the increases which usually come about mid-October and are retroactive to Sept. 1. However, 24-hours earlier Prime Minister Trudeau announced the governments new wage and price restraint, limiting salaries to 10 per cent.

The increase if approved will give the director of education $40,000 a year an increase of $5,000. Salary ranges for the superintendents will be raised to $32,000 — $39,000 from $28,000 — $35,000.

Miriam Graham, vice-chairman of the board, said Thursday the board proved the increases subject to clarification from the new legislation expected this week.

Mrs. Graham said the problem should be cleared up in two weeks. Many other boards of education, currently involved with teacher salary settlements, also find themselves in a similar situation.

Chris Alexander, a third semester film and radio student at Loyalist College works with OPP officer Don Kuzyk on a hitch-hiking documentary. UCS Within Its Budget, But Will Take Close Look at Agency Spending

By SUSAN McCONNELL
Staff Reporter

With only 25% months left in the fiscal year for the United Community Services, director Gord Mullan reported Thursday the agency is spending less than its allocated budget for 1975.

The budget set at $28,775 for this year, includes salary and staff benefits, insurance, and costs of operating from the centre on William St., and miscellaneous items such as insurance, office supplies, telephone and auditing fees. Only $9,714, 33 per cent of the budget, has been used to date.

Mr. Mullan said the advertising and campaign expenses for the United Community Fund drive are included in the $140,000 goal set for this drive. He said $1,800 of this amount has been set aside specifically for advertising purposes.

Board members are planning to use the extra funds from the budget to repair the sidewalk and chimneys on the UCS' home.

Jeff Green, agency review and budget committee chairman, said an executive meeting will be organized soon to deal with establishing an earlier budget review for next year.

The UCS sponsors 15 member agencies.

Mr. Green told directors Thursday night — there are no policies set on regarding the submission of reviewing budgets.

He said the difficulty in creating a smoother running budget review system is because some of the agencies have different fiscal years.

Area MPs Plan Protest Against Riding Changes

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The interest of Hastings County communities and neighboring centres will be included for consideration as the federal Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario meets in Belleville next Thursday.

As a result, one local politician believes, the commission could be headed into a heavy session.

Political representatives from Quinte constituencies & adjoining ridings are lining up their appeals for reconsideration of proposed new voting boundaries that would transform their electoral territories.

Jack Ellis, MP Hastings, expects the revisions now proposed will prompt a "very heavy" agenda for the Commission session - set for 9:30 a.m. at the Hastings administration building main council room.

Aside from Mr. Ellis, other MPs who say they will attend include

Douglas Alkenbrack — Northumberland - Frontenac - Lennox and Addington. Proposed redistribution would revise the riding into a sprawling territory from northwest of Peterborough to northeast of Kingston - with southern Hastings County's township the core area.

Bill Scott, MP Victoria-Haliburton, whose current riding now includes the northern Hasting County townships would be abolished by the proposed redistribution.

George Hees, MP Prince Edward-Hastings, who would lose Prince Edward in a new riding of Northumberland, os not expected to be present. A spokesman at Mr. Hees' Ottawa office said Thursday he may not attend because of other commitments.

Mr Ellis said he will personally back up his suggestion that the commission review its proposed boundary lines involving the political jurisdiction.

These would abolish the riding of Hastings as presently known - which reaches from Belleville to north of Bancroft.

The suggested re-alignment would create the new riding of Prince Edward - to include Belleville - neighboring Thurlow and Tyendinaga townships with Prince Ed. County. Also included are Adolphustown, North Fredericksburg Townships from the southwest tip of Lennox and Addington County on the Bay of Quinte.

The new Northumberland riding would retain Sidney Township and Trenton.

But Mr. Ellis has registered a bid to include more Hastings representation in the new Prince Edward riding — an appeal for which he already has received the formal backing of Hastings County council.

Emphasizing strongly his preference "community-of-interest" ties more than a century old, Mr. Ellis has asked that the revised boundaries be extended to include Rawdon, Huntingdon and Hungerford townships. An "acceptable" quota of 79,000 could be met by excluding the Lennox and Addington municipalities.

Mr. Alkenbrack said he also wants Adolphustown, North and South Fredericksburgh townships retained in his area for the same reason - traditionally they're oriented to Napanee.

Instead, he said he'd like to trade an area on Kingston's city limits in Pittsburgh Township that includes big military installations at Barriefield.

Aftermath

Firefighter Collapses At Two-alarm Blaze

A 19-year veteran of Belleville Fire Department is in serious condition in the intensive care unit at Belleville General Hospital following a heart attack suffered during a two-alarm fire in the city early today.

Chief Leo Culhane said Capt. George Woodhouse collapsed at the rear of 90-92 Victoria Ave. A 100-year-old apartment block extensively damaged by fire of an unknown origin.

Six Meeks and his 17-year-old daughter, Ginger, of Lake Ambulance responded. Mr. Meeks said there was no sign of life when he first examined Capt. Woodhouse. He said he and Ginger began external cardiac massage and installed an airway before taking him to hospital.

A second firefighter Fred Ellis, was treated and released from hospital with a burned right hand.

Chief Culhane said the fire began in one of two apartments in the northwest corner of the building. The first alarm was turned in at 2:12 a.m. followed by a second 35 minutes later when flames broke through the roof and there was potential danger to surrounding structures.

He said 11 off-duty firemen were summoned to assist the regular shift. They had the blaze under control in about 90 minutes.

Chief Culhane said there was extensive fire and water damage to the top floor of the two-story brick building and water and smoke damage to the ground floor.

All 11 tenants escaped unharmed. The building is owned by Robert M. Sasby of 88 Selna Ave. in Belleville.

Variety Night Planned

Jim Gubb, vice-president of the United Appeal, sales and public relations chairman for this year's United Way campaign announced final plans Thursday for musical variety night.

Mr. Gubb said more than 10 people will be involved in the production, to be held Friday Oct. 24 at Centennial Secondary School at 8 p.m.

Performers include Arden's Dancing Accordion Orchestra, Nothing But Trouble-Barbershop Singers, Highland Dancers and Piper, Sweet Adelines, The Gad Guys, The Canadian Forces Base Singsat and Band and a short ballet by the Quinte Dance centre.

The $1.50 a seat performance will highlight fundraising for the United Way campaign.

Lip Grant Outcome Known By Next Month

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Local Initiative Program officials will be making a "big push" to process Hastings grant applications and announce the recipients of this area's $314,000 federal government allotment by Nov. 2, says LIP officer Barbara Heller.

Speaking from Toronto Thursday, Mrs. Heller said she is "pretty sure" the deadline will be met, but it will mean LIP officials will be working overtime.

In the federal constituency of Hastings, 44 applicants for funds had to be given a fair hearing, a process that took longer than expected and forced a four-day delay.

"We were late in sending up to Ottawa recommendations", said Mrs Heller, in referring to necessary work after a set of 3 meetings she attended, with a 19-member citizens advisory committee appointed by Jack Ellis MP Hastings - PEC.

The advisory committee culls all applications and sends them on to LIP officials in the regional office in Toronto. From there, applications move to Ottawa where, in the end, they are subject to final approval by Robert Andras, minister of Manpower and Immigration.

This year, the local committee has approved 17 unknown applications for final study in Toronto and Ottawa. And in 1975-76 more money is available for the eventually approved projects to use — $314,000 — as opposed to $149,000 the previous fiscal year.

Northern Earnings Rise

Northern Electric Co. Ltd. reports net earnings for the first nine months of this year of $53.3 million or $2.02 a share. Sales were $784 million.

This compares to 1974 earnings during the same period of $42 million after sales of $703 million.

Two Held While Police Check Mysterious Powder

Two Toronto men were to appear at a bail hearing here today on a charge of possession of property obtained by crime laid by Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville Thursday.

Police identified the two as Dennis Craig Moule, 24 and Michael John Freudhomme, 21, both of 48 West Lawrence Ave.

Police said they were arrested early Thursday during a routine traffic check on Highway 2 at Bayside.

Police said about 20 grams of a cream, plant-like substance and a white, powdery substance were seized and are currently being analyzed.

VON Acts as Bridge Between Patient and Doctor

By SUSAN McCONNELL
Staff Reporter

The Victorian Order of Nurses works behind the scenes, treating people who can't help themselves. In fact, this coast-to-coast nursing service has been serving people for the last 75 years.

It's a service that assists hospitals who can release patients early under their care. They works closely under their patient's doctors.

Covering Belleville, Trenton, Picton, Cobourg, Bancroft and Campbellford, a typical nurses day can involve everything from giving an insulin needle to a diabetic, changing a dressing or pushing health education diets and exercise.

One of the United Community Services agencies, the VON operates under a variety of funds. A sliding fee scale is used for patients — the maximum charge per visit is $3.00. Health plans, government funds under the Health and Welfare Act and reimbursment from agencies such as Home Care, Workmen's Compensation, Veterans Administration and welfare agencies make up the rest.

Jane McNish nursing director in Belleville and area, stresses the VON is a stepping stone between hospital and patient recovery. She said service augments the public health service.

"We give ourselves to active nursing care. And people enjoy the personal visits. We play a big role in co-ordinating the services for patients in the community," she said.

Mrs. McNish said during an average month the nurses put 2,500 miles on their car.

She said she now is trying to organize a screening process for senior citizens where a group can utilize one evening for a complete check-up by the VON.

"That's a big gap in the services in the community," she said. "I hope we can improve the situation."

Jets Spurred By Europeans

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Jets, with their European players leading the way, made it three wins in a row Thursday night with a 7-3 victory over Denver Spurs.

The victory gave Winnipeg a 3-0 record and first place in the Canadian Division of the World Hockey Association. Quebec Nordiques are second with four points on two wins and a defeat.

Veli-Pekka Ketola of Finland scored twice to highlight a six-goal first period for the Jets, who have outscored their opposition 16-6.

In another game, goalie Ernie Wakely stopped 30 shots for his first shutout of the season as San Diego Mariners blanked indomitable Ravens 3-0.

Other European players scoring for the Jets were Mats Lindh, Willy Lindstrom, who also had two assists, Anders Hedberg and Ulf Nilsson. Jets' Lesuk completed Winnipeg's scoring with his first goal of the season.

The Jets scored three goals in the first four minutes of play.

The Spurs took advantage of a Winnipeg letdown to score two goals within 14 seconds, one by Francois Rochon and the other by Larry Bignell.

Rookie Alex Elder scored twice to pace the Mariners before 7,707 fans in San Diego.

The Racers held a two-man advantage for one minute and 33 seconds early in the third period and managed a series of shots against the Mariner goal, but Wakely turned them away. Gene Peacosh scored the other San Diego goal.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Boston Red Sox find themselves on the critical list today after being hit and run over by the Big Red Machine.

After struggling through the first four games of the World Series, Tony Perez suddenly returned to form with two home runs as Cincinnati Reds beat the Red Sox 6-2 Thursday night and took a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The National League champions can finish off the Red Sox on Saturday in the sixth game at Fenway Park in Boston, where Jack Billingham will face Boston left-hander Bill Lee.

"I never get down on myself," said Perez, who had fought a torturous batting slump before breaking it Thursday night before the appreciative hometown fans in Riverfront Stadium.

Cincinnati's all-time RBI leader had gone hitless in the World Series appearances before smashing a banging slider from Reggie Cleveland into the left-center field wall to give the Reds a 1-0 lie.

In the sixth inning, Perez got another good pitch from Cleveland, a native of Scotia, Cal.rest. Sask., and the left-hander fired a fastball that got by Perez but not before the ball had caught the bat for a long foul.

Perez' next swing was a routine fly ball to Boston right-fielder Dwight Evans, who had entered the game as a defensive replacement for Carlton Fisk, who had been injured in the fifth inning.

Evans raced back to the wall, but the ball sailed over his head and bounced off the scoreboard for a two-run homer.

"I got a fastball inside and I got around on it," said Perez, who had driven in 109 runs during the regular season. "I was looking for a fastball and I got it."

Perez' powerful swing had reached such a point that manager Sparky Anderson tried some humor before the game to

Sox Credit Gullett

CINCINNATI (AP) — Boston Red Sox gave due credit to Cincinnati southpaw Don Gullett for his scoreless performance Thursday night but refused to concede anything else to the Reds.

"This puts them one up, but they still have to win four," Boston third baseman Rico Petrocelli said after the Reds defeated the Red Sox 6-2 to move to within one victory of the Series. It was Petrocelli's first World Series championship since 1967.

"Sure, we're behind 3-2 in the Series, but now we're going home to our own park," Petrocelli said. "We're just going to have to go back to Saturday.

"You can bet we'll be ready. We've come back all season all year and we can do it again."

Boston pitcher Rick Burleson was equally confident.

"Sure, I think we still can do it," he said. "Why not? We're going home looking to win two.

"Gullett pitched one hell of a game. But now their best is gone, and we still have our best ready for them in Boston.

"I'm not taking anything away from their fine pitchers. Cincinnati has a darn good pitching staff, but Gullett has been rated their best all year. We have Rick Wise, Luis Tiant and Bill Lee and Luis Tiant ready for Sunday."

Boston manager Darrell Johnson said Gullett was the main reason the Red Sox were beaten.

"Don Gullett dominated the baseball game," Boston Manager Darrell Johnson said. Until the ninth inning he was just overpowering. He threw the best out of the ball."

Clarke Still the Key

By GLENN COLE
The Canadian Press

Before the 1975-76 National Hockey League season got under way, someone asked captain Bobby Clarke, the heart and soul of Philadelphia Flyers, if the two-time Stanley Cup champions could make it three in a row.

"We're a better hockey club now than we were last season," said Clarke. "We are one, solid team. We still are hungry to win. Don't forget, we're in the toughest division in the league."

Clarke has been a key man once again for the Flyers as they have won their first four games of the young season, lifting them in the top of the Patrick Division. The latest triumph came Thursday night with Clarke scoring two goals as the Flyers edged St. Louis Blues 3-2 in one of three games played.

In other action, Buffalo Sabres crushed Chicago Black Hawks 7-1 and Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins battled to a 3-2 tie.

In Philadelphia, Clarke's second goal of the game and fifth of the season, on a power play with four minutes gone in the third period, proved to be the winner. He backhanded a shot through the legs of Yves Belanger after the St. Louis goaltender had made a good save on Gary Dornhoefer.

Dornhoefer gave Philadelphia a 1-0 lead with a power-play goal at 3:38 of the first period but Barry Unger tied the score with a power-play goal at 4:52 of the second period.

Clarke then scored with about five minutes left in the second period to give the Flyers the lead they never relinquished. Bob Kelly put the other St. Louis goal in the third period.

The Sabres, who lost to Philadelphia in a six-game Stanley Cup final last May, won their third start of the year before a capacity crowd of 16,433.

The Sabres jumped to a 3-0 lead in the opening period but Floyd Smith, Buffalo coach, said some muscle applied by defencemen Jerry Korab and Jim Schoenfeld had a lot to do with the win.

"Their bumping seemed to get Chicago off balance," Smith said. "Consequently, we were going our way after that. People say, 'we can't check.'

Peter McNab, Jocelyn Guevremont, Rick Martin, Rene Robert, Craig Ramsay, Gilbert Perreault and Danny Gare scored for the Sabres with Keith Magnuson getting the lone Chicago goal. Four of the Sabres first five goals were power-play efforts.

In Detr.'s a crowd of 8,582 saw Walt McKechnie score from a goalmouth scramble at 16:38 of the third period to give the winless Wings their third tie of the season.

Terry O'Reilly's second goal of the season was set up by Phil Esposito at 5:28 in the opening period after Danny Grant's power-play goal at 4:05 opened the scoring.

Esposito notched his second goal of the season with one assist to play in the opening session to put the Bruins, now 0-1-2, ahead 2-1.

Esposito then became the target of jeering and booing after he smacked his stick against the plexiglass in frustration before seven-minute Boston power play fizzled in the second period.

At one point, Esposito gave an obscene gesture to one fan and later pushed the fan, who created a scene, back into the stadium police.

"I'm apologizing because I lost my temper," Esposito said. "I shouldn't do things like that, but in the heat of the battle and all that ...

"The security isn't good here. We have been complaining to the league for years, but I guess they have to wait until somebody gets hurt."

Hull Apologetic Over Salary

TORONTO (CP) — Bobby Hull, World Hockey Association (WHA) superstar, said Thursday his $2.7 million contract is contributing to inflation and hitting hockey fans in their wallets.

"I'm sorry, genuinely sorry," he said in an interview from Denver, Colo.

Jean-Luc Pepin, chairman of Ottawa's new anti-inflation review board, said Wednesday he wants to take a hard look at the inflationary effects of the huge contracts signed by superstar athletes.

"Sure the contract causes inflation," Hull said, "but it's not my fault. It's the fault of the two hockey leagues."

He said the amalgamation of the National Hockey League and the WHA "would have an effect of bringing down prices."

Hull jumped from Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League (NHL) to Winnipeg Jets of the WHA in 1972 for a bonus of $1 million on top of the contract that gave him $65,000 salary for seven years.

Frank Mahovlich, forward with Toronto Toros of the WHA, admitted high-priced hockey talent is contributing to inflation, but said what can be done to control it.

"How can you tell a junior player making $90 a week he can only make $9 more when he comes into the league?" he asked.

Mahovlich said players would pack up and move to teams in the United States if the government imposed wage controls on athletes.

Tweed's Claude Leclair Is Going to Do What?

Evel Knievel attempted the Snake River Canyon. Now he'll time for more stunts on the local scene. Come Sunday, weed's Claude Leclair will be looking to set a new water record for snowmobiles.

The current mark, held by Timothea Lewis of Tweed, is 2,400 feet.

Leclair has his sights set on 2,600 feet.

He plans to rev his machine up in Tweed Park, cut the engine loose in the grass area, hit the water at 70 - 80 miles per hour and skim across the top of the water from the shoreline to an island a little under a half-mile away.

The 36-year-old Leclair isn't particularly concerned with the danger involved.

"As long as you hit the water on the level, there shouldn't be any problems," he said, "it's just that the lake is quite low and I may have difficulty making my entry."

All proceeds from the event are to go to the Tweed-Hungerford Kinsmen Club for charitable works.

This isn't Claude's first attempt at aqua-mobiling. His initial encounter with the hair-raising sport came a few weeks ago. It, however, was a flop. He only travelled a distance of 6 feet.

"I had the wrong kind of machine for that one," explained the daredevil, "and because of the streets I didn't get up enough speed."

Leclair was aboard a Rupp in his maiden try. Now, he'll be scrubbing a 650 modified Alouette.

The Alouette has a rubber track, which Leclair claims will have a sliding effect across the water. The Rupp had a metal track and he said, "it was too heavy and just chopped through the water before it finally sank."

The father of three claims if he hits the water at 90 mph he can make the run easily.

As a matter of fact, he claims he may not need the snowmobile to reach the island.

"If I hit the edge of the water with one side of the machine lower than the other it will flip and throw me most of the way."

Tickets to the grandstand event are available at the gate of the Tweed Park or from members of the Kinsmen Club. Enthusiasts at the event even have a chance of making themselves a few bucks.

If you don't think Leclair will accomplish the 2,600 foot stunt you can purchase tickets from the Kinsmen and estimate just how far you think he will get. The ticket holder who comes closest to the distance will win a share of the pot.

The dynamic feat is scheduled for 2 p.m. and with the anticipated crowd, seats may be in short supply. So get to the pack early.

Belleville Opens Season

Representative teams of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association are scheduled to begin Ontario Minor Hockey Association AAA Play on the weekend.

It's Belleville's third campaign in AAA after moving up from AA company.

This season, re-alignment of teams will see Belleville squads competing in a grouping which includes entries from Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa, Kingston Townships and Trenton.

The Township and Trenton teams will revert to their AA classification for OMHA play-offs.

Belleville will be represented by minor and major teams in all division except juvenile where Keith Kaine's club is carrying the load for the lone club.

At the Atom level, Ken Stafford will coach the McDonald's Pepsi Restaurant Minors while the Towers Majors are coached by Ron Crowder with team manager George Roberts lending his assistance.

Peewee Majors Bill Couch ils are coach and manager of the Uncle Ben's Belleville Coach of the Rollins Peewee Majors is Lionel Boldt and manager is Bob Howe.

Ted Soule handles the Memory-Makers Minor Bantams and the Kinsmen Majors will be led by coach Bob Cook and manager Gord Miller.

In Midget ranks, it's manager Gordie Bell and coach Floyd Crawford in charge of the Belleville Yachmen Minors while Robb Burrowes and Barry Murphy are back as coach and manager, respectively, of the Major Lions.

Plane Leads Reid's

Ralph Plane collected five assists Thursday night as his Reid's Dairy crew rolled to a 7-2 Quinte Hockey League victory over Belvedere Hotel.

Plane helped set up three goals for Gary Lazar and one each by Moe Hunter and Bob Boyle. The only two he wasn't in on were scored by Al Rap and Rick Rosebush.

Ted Waite accounted for both Belvedere goals and Doug Dafoe drew a pair of helpers.

The victory gives Reids sole possession of first place with two consecutive victories in two starts this season.

In the other Quinte contest, Devolin Motors, led by the two goal effort of Norm Pace, edged O'Brien-Steele 4-3. Phil Meeks and Roger Johnson were the other Devolin marksmen.

Kevin Allen had a goal and two assists for the losers. Don Goodfellow and Joe Clarke each scored once.

Thompson Keeps Cats Win Streak in Tact

JEFF MERRILL

Bob "Bubba" Thompson's first goal and assist on Thursday night's Metro Junior B game have against the Kingston Northern Mariners could not have come at a more opportune time, at least as far as the Belleville Bobcats were concerned.

Thompson's goal with only 1:57 remaining in the game broke a 5-5 deadlock and lifted the locals to their fourth straight victory in regular season action.

Belleville, playing only their second game in two weeks, "did not play well" according to Meehan Bonnar as Cats reflexed coach after the fact and furious closing minutes of the third period, Bonnar however was impressed with the winning goal.

"It was just a super play: Tony (Meagher) won the draw to our end and fed the puss to Leedham, who made a great play to get the puck to Thompson."

To make things easier for the Cats he set the winner, Kingston goalie "Steve Dine had come way out of his net, not expecting Leedham to be able to get the puck out to Thompson. Dine, on more than one occasion during the game, made the same mistake although no goals were scored.

Hearing Held Off

TORONTO CP — Delays could possibly be designed to cut interim injunctions allowing Wayne Gretzky and Brian Horsbeck to play minor hockey here, Ontario Supreme Court heard both boys to fall apart at the seams, says their lawyer, William Trench.

Gretzky, 14, formerly of Brantford, Ont., and Horsbeck, 13, formerly of Brighton, Ont., have moved to Toronto under legal guardianship and are attending Toronto schools.

Court action was instituted on the boys' behalf last week after they left appeals to the Ontario Minor Hockey Association to be released from their former OMHA teams to play for Toronto Nationals Hockey Club teams beginning Oct. 2.

However, the hearing Thursday was adjourned until Monday to allow W.A.W. Scott, lawyer for the OMHA, time to file information from his clients with the court.

Pearce said Thursday the boys haven't known whether they can play hockey since Sept. 19 when the OSHA first refused to validate the signed release forms from their respective OMHA teams.

Pearce said he is worried about the possible "irreparable harm" the boys may suffer if another adjournment is ordered next week. He said he feels the boys' hopes for a solution will

Women Victorious Over RMC

When the Belleville Squash Club opened a few years ago, it was originally conceived to be an all male establishment. But women of the area weren't going to stand for that and after some shotgun reconsideration the women were offered limited membership.

That move proved to be one tremendous foresight of the men of the club as Thursday night a women's team took the initiative against the Military College and came up with a 3-2 win.

Individually, Sandra Clawes defeated Jennifer Amittorf 9-2, 9-2, 9-0. Erica Hayes downed Edna Cooke 9-2, 10-8, 9-2; and Mary Lee Ross routed Donna Faulkner 9-1, 9-0, 9-0. Judy Woodley and Eileen McLaughlin, two other Belleville players were quite as fortunate as their teammates. Woodley lost to Jenny Ellis 8-10, 5-9, 2-9 and McLaughlin was defeated by Sandy Raymond 9-1, 0-9, 1-9.

The ladies will go again November 14 at the local club when they face a team from Queen's University.

Diane Jones Clears Hurdle in Leg of Pentathlon Event

Pan-Am Gold Not Satisfying

MEXICO CITY (CP) — For Diane Jones, even the walk to the winner's podium at the Pan-American Games was a distraction from the task at hand.

Most of the athletes in the Canadian camp would consider any kind of medal a reward for years of hard work, self-denial and occasional frustration. But the gold medal Diane wants is not to be found in Mexico City.

"I found this meet a nuisance because I lost two months of endurance and strength training," the 24-year-old University of Saskatchewan student said Thursday after her impressive victory in the pentathlon.

Miss Jones, ranked fourth in the world in the event, has her sights set on the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, where the faces stronger competition than the 12 girls she defeated in the Pan-Ams.

Even so, "it turned out to be a tougher competition than I thought it would be."

Her winning score of 4,672 points technically does not qualify as a Games record because Patricia Winslow of the United States scored 4,600 in 1967 under a more generous scoring system which was revised four years later. Debbie Van Kirkwyk of Toronto, who won the event in 1971, had a total of 4,290.

It was a good day for Canada in field events. John Beers of Burnaby, B.C., and Rick Cutell, Vancouver claimed silver and bronze medals in the high jump, won by Thomas Woods of the U.S. with a leap of seven feet 4¾ inches.

Both Canadians cleared 7-1¾ with Beers taking second place because he needed fewer jumps to get there.

Lacette Moreau of Vaudreuil, Que., took the bronze in the women's shot put, surpassing the former Games record with a heave of 55 feet 7¾ inches. The winning throw by Maria Tarrin of Cuba travelled 59-1¾.

The old mark of 51-6 was also exceeded by Maureen Dowds of Winnipeg, whose 54-foot throw was good for fourth place.

The Canadian equestrian team, surviving the dis-qualification of Jim Day of Hornby, Ont., for a rule infraction Wednesday, coasted to a silver medal in the three-day event behind the United States.

American riders also finished 1-2-3 in the individual competition, in which Jim Henry of Toronto was fourth, Elizabeth Ashton of Orangeville, Ont., ninth and Peter Heward of Woodbridge, Ont., 10th.

The Americans drew level with Cuba in gold medals as they won eight of the 13 awarded during the day to the Cubans' four for matching total of 26. The pentathlon gold was Canada's fifth, along with six silver and 12 bronze medals. Two countries came up with their first Games victories as James Gilkes of Guyana won the men's 200 metres and Dionisio Dibadinia of Colombia came up with a strong finishing kick that brought him a narrow victory in the 5,000 metres.

Canadians were not a factor in either event. Hugh Fraser of Ottawa ran the 200 in 21.09 seconds, finishing fifth behind Gilkes who was clocked in 20.43.

John Sharp of Toronto was a distant 10th in the 5,000.

Marjorie Bailey of Vancouver and Joyce Yakubovich of Victoria were fourth and sixth in the women's 200 as 16-year-old Chandra Cheesborough thwarted the bid of fellow-American Prinela Jiles for a sprint double in a photo finish.

The times were 22.7 seconds, a Games record, for the winner and 22.81 for Miss Jiles. The Canadian times were 23.24 for Mrs. Bailey and 23.34 for Mrs. Yakubovich.

Ianhan gold Wednesday, topping the field in the shot put and tying for first place in the high jump after a fourth-place finish in the 100-metre hurdles. Another first in Thursday's long jump added to her marvin and a fifth-place finish in the 800 metres did her no harm.

But the perfectionist from Saskatoon was not satisfied.

"My 200 metres is my downfall," she said before heading home for more strength and endurance training.

Diane's 20-year-old sister Joanne was eighth in the event, collapsing at the tape in the 200 metres because of lack of oxygen in the high altitude. Diane said her sister suffers from an asthmatic condition.

In Memoriam

CLAPP — In loving memory of a dear father Gerald, who passed away Oct 17th, 1971.
Today recalls the memory,
Of a loved one gone to rest,
God took dad home to be with today,
Only those who loved him know,
The honour we try upon his grave,
Many mother and sisters,
But the love for him who lies below,
Is deep.
Still never fade away.
—Ever loved by daughter Dolores and husband Kenneth.

WRIGHT — In loving memory of a wonderful husband, dear father and grandfather, Grand A. Wright, who passed away one year ago Night, October 17th, 1970.
Sad as the memory is,
Dear as the grief eternal,
The grief that we received that day,
We are could ever tell.
God gave us strength to meet it,
And courage to bear it well.
But there is one thing we can do,
We are will ever know,
You made us love it last farewell,
Your sad goodbye.
Your very last look we have it,
And your memory is ours.
And fondly loved and remembered by Wife, Daughter, Son-in-law, Grandson, Jim, Son Bob, Judy and Martin.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Fran-ces Mae Casey wish to thank their many friends, neighbors and relatives for flowers, donations and messages of sympathy, during the illness and death of their loved one. Special thanks to the nurses and staff of 3rd floor, Ann Dr. Macintosh, Dock-in, Emerson, Rev. Vicary of College Hill United Church. To Rev. Mrs. Fisher for her comforting words and kindness. Our heartfelt appreciation.

CP News Roundup

Cossitt Questions Martin's Secretaries

OTTAWA (CP) — Tom Cossitt (PC—Leeds) unsuccessfully sought information in the Commons Thursday on why it has been now necessary to publish, able to obtain three permanent secretaries to Mr. Martin, time to devote full time towards composing his political memoirs at public expense.

Mr. Martin, former external affairs minister in the Pearson cabinet, now is the Canadian high commissioner in London.

Mr. Cossitt didn't get the unanimous consent required to have External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen answer his questions.

Mr. Cossitt also wanted the minister to tell the House how many members of the Mackenzie royal commission staff previously helped Mr. Martin write his memoirs. He suggested this be tal at one time was six.

Three Die

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Duane Menard, 28, and her two children, Sean, 8, and Tina, 6, died Thursday in a fire which destroyed their home at Linden Beach, a community about 20 miles southeast of here. Darryl Robitet, Mrs. Menard's brother who was staying at the cottage overnight, escaped and broke a bedroom window. Firemen said they have yet to determine the cause of the fire which is believed to have started in the living room.

Refugees Return

AGANA, Guam (AP) — More than 1,500 South Vietnamese refugees, evacuated here last spring, were on their way home to an uncertain future Thursday in a ship flying the national flag. The 1,546 refugees set sail on a today journey in an undetermined Vietnamese port. A spokesman for the refugees called the American evacuation of South Vietnamese last April a crime against his people.

Sets Record

MANILA (Reuter) — An American grandfather and a Filipina woman rowed their way into Manila on Thursday after sailing a record 800 nautical miles in eight months from the southern Philippines. Frank Wendell Collins, 53, of Kent Falls, Me., and Nimfa Fuentes, 30, of Ozamis City, 490 miles southeast of Manila, sailed in a 20-foot bamboo outrigger with sails made out of fertilizer sacks. It was built by the crew of Miss Gomez's village out of ordinary plywood at a cost of 220 pesos—about $28.

Basford Proposes

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Ronald Basford said Thursday he hopes to proceed with tough gun control laws when a package of anti-crime measures are presented shortly.

The minister was replying in the Commons to suggestions from former prime minister John Diefenbaker that the government make possession of a firearm by someone guilty of a crime subject to a minimum of five years' imprisonment.

Investigate Service

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has ordered a full-level royal commission investigation of Britain's ailing National Health Service. Hundreds of doctors have said they are ready to quit the state-run service because of worsening conditions. Hospitals all over the country are being crippled by strikes staged by doctors disconcerted with new cost controls.

Sue for Negligence

CAMBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Five local lawyers are suing the city, police chief, the Grand River Conservation Authority and the Town of Paris, claiming negligence on the part of officials which led to their property damage during a flood last June. The suit is the result of efforts by local businesses in contact with the flooding of the Grand River in May, 1974.

Calls Inquest

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Crown Attorney John Takach has announced that he has asked coroner Dr. Edgar Lemieux to hold an inquest as to the Oct. 6 shooting death of Jacques Gamer of Capreol, 30 miles northwest of here. Police say Gamer was shot by provincial constable Mr. Derome forced open the door of a second floor apartment before he was shot with a 16-gauge shotgun. The apartment was occupied at the time by Sylvia Gervais and three children.

Raises Rate

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — North Bay Hydro has accepted an 18.5-per-cent increase in consumer rates effective Jan. 1. Frank Perkins, Hydro commission chairman says. The wholesale power rate increase of 21 to 25 per cent imposed by Ontario Hydro and the Ontario Energy Board was responsible for implementing the increase now. Mr. Perkins said. If the increase was delayed until Jan. 1, consumers would end up paying more, he added.

Opens Meeting

TORONTO (CP) — George Kerr, Ontario minister of environment, will open a two-day public meeting Oct. 20 to plan for next year's conference on human settlements. About 100 UN member countries are expected to attend the conference next June, to exchange information on improving the quality of man-made environments. The meeting is one of 16 held in Canada to enable citizens to express their views on settlement problems.

Vote Final

DALHOUSIE, N.B. (CP) — The final unofficial tally of ballots cast in Tuesday's federal byelection in Restigouche riding shows Liberal Maurice Harquail of Campbellton beat his election opponent, Progressive Conservative Roger Caron, by 2,151 votes.

The results of the 182 polls in Harquail's 16,105 votes; Caron 6,015; Edgar Dezan, NDP, 1,330 and Marc Andrew Audet, Social Credit, 1,103.

Chaotic Conditions

OTTAWA (CP) — A suggestion that pilots refuse to land at airports where chaotic conditions are said to exist because of inadequate communications seems "an unnecessary and dangerous step," Transport Minister Otto Lang said Thursday.

Juneau's Future

OTTAWA (CP) — A decision on Commissioner Pierre Juneau's future is expected next week, Prime Minister Trudeau said after Thursday's cabinet meeting.

Refugees Flee To Timor

ATAMBUA, West Timor (Reuter) — About 40,000 refugees from the civil war in Portuguese Timor have fled across the border into Indonesian West Timor, severely stretching emergency facilities.

Men, women and children are packed into camps in the rural district of Belu which is bearing the brunt of the refugee flood and relief officials fear the arrival of at least another 10,000 by the time the monsoon breaks in November.

The tapioli (chief administrator) of Belu, Marcus Dicidi, says: "We have no more room for refugees."

The population of Atambua, a small Dutch colonial town, has been swollen by 20,000 people with an influx of 8,000 refugees, many of them Timorese who have been living with relatives and friends.

Atambua is normally quiet agricultural town providing a storehouse for produce shipped down tricky mountain roads to the West Timor capital of Kupang.

It has somehow managed to absorb the influx without yet appearing overcrowded, although refugees can be seen the streets between the single-storey Dutch colonial-style bungalows of wood and stucco.

The authorities do not allow reporters to visit the refugee camps near the border with Portuguese Timor to see how the homeless are faring, but both Indonesian and foreign relief officials who have been to the camps in Belu say the real problems have not yet begun.

But their fears are manifold. One tribe has announced its refusal to bathe until allowed to return home, and it is feared that its members will not live in homes—preferring the outdoors regardless of the impending monsoon.

Vigorous vaccination campaigns have prevented serious diseases among the refugees. But a Jakarta-based official with the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) said some of the children who had covered long distances were suffering from advanced malnutrition.

Some men and women had contracted malaria, which is endemic on both sides of the border, the official said.

25 Air Cadets Roughing in Bush

ALONG THE WILD HAY RIVER, Alta. (CP) — Despite wet, freezing weather and only basic shelter, 25 air cadets who spent four days this summer on survival training in the rugged bush area had only one major complaint—they couldn't stay long enough.

The boys, all from the Maritime provinces, met by chance and in their middle teens, slept under lean-tos made from parachute material and tree branches. The outing was a reward for outstanding work in their home squadrons.

Capt. Chris Smith of Canadian Forces Base Edmonton, who instructs regular members of the course in survival at Jarvis Lake, about 175 miles west of Edmonton, and at Comox, B.C., said the cadets' survival training was moderated somewhat in comparison with what he puts the adults through.

After four days of lectures in addition to practical demonstrations at Jarvis Lake, the boys in the group march to their riverbank campsite, packing their rations with them.

They were taught map and techniques, signal-fire building, wet-weather fire lighting and food gathering, including berberries, roots and leaves are edible, Capt. Smith said.

Frank McLean, 15, of Westville, N.S., lamented that the cadets could have learned much more if they had had three weeks. But for him, like the other boys, the chance to make his first trip to Western Canada and acquire some basic skills in the bush was tremendously satisfying.

It was either threatening rain or raining and early-morning frost in the mountains but Steve Byrd, 15, of Moncton said one of the boys came into their sleeping bags—half the weight of the armed forces Arctic issue—they needed so fire to keep warm.

The boys had little fishing along the Wild Hay and rivers made scarce. But though they couldn't supplement their rations much the boys got "back to eat in comparison with the normal course," Capt. Smith said.

Tom Dahlel, 14, of Sidney, N.S., was the only cadet who could claim to have caught a fish. It got away, so he and his comrades were glad to see the next ration issue. Jam was not just rose hips only go so far in satisfying a teen-age appetite.

The lectures in Edmonton were the least enjoyable part of the experience for Wayne Remple, 16, of Port Hawkesbury, N.S., who said that after spending the winter in the bush the thing he wanted was more time in a classroom.

Capt. Smith said about 10 of the Quebec boys spoke little or no English and he insisted they be split up and paired off with English-speaking cadets so they could all get a chance to know each other.

Lieut. Ken Dorman, an air cadet officer from Sidney, B.C., said the most remarkable change in the boys was their loss of anxiety about the wilderness. They no longer feared getting lost because they were told to stay put and how to take care of themselves in unfamiliar terrain.

Capt. Smith said it is little unsympathetic about the cadets' home pasts, which after all are part of a survival experience, perhaps it was because he was thinking 20-the nations given regular forces personnel.

The adults, he said, are put in the bush in pairs for four days with the equivalent of three meals a day each of them. They are then given four days for themselves with eight candles, three rations of coffee and three tea, each with cream and sugar.

The candles look and taste like gumdrops but are actually concentrated energy rations which provide energy without requiring much water for digestion.

The adult course runs winter and summer, rain or shine, as well as testing the ability to look after oneself, it provides a chance to deal with loneliness.

Record Firms Pushing French Artists

MONTREAL (CP) — Record companies have begun giving wide recognition to French-Canadian music on the lucrative Quebec rock-music market.

Substantial promotional effort is being channelled into selling home-grown music alongside the popular imported sounds of British, American and European groups, on a market which companies describe as the most rewarding in Canada.

Support of French-Canadian music, through radio, television and written exposure, has led to the emergence of a star system in the province's rock-music field, a system which has helped numerous promising Quebec groups achieve some standing on their home ground.

Beau Dommage is one such group. After two years together, the group has established a firm footing in the province through concert appearances—lately top billings—and a promotional support from its record company.

Beau Dommage describes its music as "spontaneous and natural," a feeling especially conveyed on the group's debut album released in September, 1974.

Since then the group has been constantly in the public eye. A 50-town tour of the province between January and August, culminating in a home-coming concert in Montreal, brought packed houses at every stop. The album, titled simply Beau Dommage, meanwhile has sold more than 125,000 copies in Quebec.

A follow-up album, as yet untitled, has been scheduled for release this season.

Looking back on the hectic year, the five musicians and singers who make up Beau Dommage admit their popularity throughout the province came unexpectedly.

Michel Rivard, guitarist, singer and composer, remembers the feeling of surprise and confusion when the record caught the public's fancy almost as soon as it appeared.

"Even in Quebec, where local music is an important part of the general market, the success of a local group's first album is far from assured," Michel said in an interview.

"The sudden success scared us; we didn't know how to react to it. Six months earlier we were playing the Hotel Nelson (a music club in Old Montreal) and some nights the room was half empty. Shortly after the record came out we did another engagement there and the people were queueing up for a couple of blocks outside."

Beau Dommage was formed with a mutual inspiration to create "music that is individual, something that touches the listener in a special way," said pianist and composer Robert Leger.

"First of all we found we could work well together, there was little tension and the music came out easily and naturally," he said. "Then we were able to carry this through into the studio and I think the album soothes spontaneous and natural because we didn't force it, we just let the right sounds come along."

The easy-listening music of Beau Dommage's gentle ballads balanced by catchy uptempo soft-rock songs offers a new and refreshing sound, uninfluenced by musical trends and gimmicks.

During the first year the group spent together the seeds of the music were sown. Like many new groups, Beau Dommage struggled to survive, playing small clubs and discotheques and each member occasionally took odd jobs to keep the books balanced.

But, as singer Marie-Michèle Desrosiers remembers, "It was an exciting time; the music was just being born and we were beginning to realize there was something different about it, something special."

The group initially featured four musicians but later added drummer Real Desrosiers when it decided to branch out of a purely acoustic structure to include upbeat compositions.

Pierre Bertrand, guitarist, singer and composer, is aware of the limitations of making music in Quebec where, despite the accessibility of the market, "there is a saturation point . . .

"We are probably one of the top three bands in the province already," Pierre said.

"It doesn't worry us that before long we will reach a stage where we cannot get any more popular here. After all, writing, recording and playing our music is what we're concerned with above everything else and I don't see we'll tire of that just because there are no more goals to be achieved on the market here."

One of the major problems facing promotion of French-Canadian music outside the province, Pierre said, is the language barrier.

In general the potential market is limited to French-speaking countries in Europe, such as France and Belgium.

Beau Dommage has already opened up a channel into the Belgian market following the group's appearance at the French Song Festival in Brussels last July. Its performance impressed the Belgians and plans are under way to market some of the group's music there.

Beau Dommage is not discounting English-speaking audiences, though.

"We don't want to hide in Quebec," Pierre said. "If audiences in the rest of Canada are prepared to accept us as we are, then we'll come out and play. But we'll never prostitute our music by singing it in English, if they want to hear us in French, then we'll play our music for them just the way we play it here."

Controlling Traffic

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — New traffic control devices are to be tested soon by the Washington State Patrol in the Seattle-Tacoma area. Each control system consists of a sign mounted also a patrol vehicle which rests flat on the vehicle roof when not in use. When needed, it can be raised to more than five feet for viewing from the rear of the patrol car. Signs will include arrows and other directions.

Toilets Float

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Last year California installed floating toilets in five mountain lakes and they proved so popular with fishermen that more are being proposed. These restroom boats cost $14,000 each and are being tested in the hope they will help prevent water pollution and enhance fishermen's pleasure.

EICHMANN HANGED

Adolf Eichmann, sentenced by an Israeli court, was later hanged for his part in Nazi murders of millions of Jews in the Second World War.

Your Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Saturday, Oct. 18

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're likely to face opposition today from a source you'd least expect. Don't be too harsh. The person has some pressures he's loath to talk about.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your time won't be your own today. One who's done you a favor is going to call on you for help. Come through the way he did for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you show favoritism in your little circle of friends today, you could unknowingly wound another's feelings. Be balanced in all dealings.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) While you know what you should do today, you may yield to pressures and get off course. Follow your own compass for best results.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You are hypersensitive today, and you could read into casual remarks much more than the speaker intends. Ignore what you think you hear.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is the day you must look a gift horse in the mouth. What you feel someone is doing for you may be just a ploy to further his ends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You and your mate will be on different wavelengths today. Guard against embarrassing snafus by airing your differences in front of her.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Time and energy are not sufficient to permit you to accomplish all the tasks you've set today. Don't bite off more than you can chew and choke on it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Avoid those frictious today which include people whose company you don't enjoy. You say something sharp to them, then you wish you'd bit your tongue.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're an eager beaver to wrap up a deal that's been pending. You're not a good finisher, today. You may talk to much and lose everything.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't challenge a friend today on an issue on which he has very strong opinions. His feelings are already close to the surface. You could bring them to a boil.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Keep on top of obligations. You may wind up with a red face if others have to remind you of what is due them.

Opening lead — 3 ♥

By Oswald (and) James Jacoby

Even if Hoimes had elected to pass his 13-high-card points he would have wound up in three notrump.

As anyone can see a spade lead and heart return would beat him gross tricks. But no one can reasonably find fault with Scurry's choice of a heart.

After a heart lead it would have been a simple matter of the great detective to make four odd by means of successive diamond finesses, but he managed to wind up in the red by half.

It seems that Scurry led his deuce of hearts instead of his conventional fourth best. Holmes' queen covered East's 10 and he led a club to dummy's king. East took her ace and led back the five of hearts.

Holmes took his ace and went into deep thought. That five could have been the lowest from an original holding of jack-10-6-5. In that case the deuce of hearts would have been from King-4-3-2. Holmes decided that was the case so he led a spade to knock out the ace and insure his contract against the expected 4-4 heart break.

Scurry's little bit of deception had paid big dividends.

The answer is a very strong yes. In the ACOL system, opening bids of two in any suit except clubs are forcing for just one round and usually show a hand with tremendous playing strength. Just not enough high cards for the standard American two bid.

This hand has nine sure tricks. *Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacoby" care of this newspaper. To Your Good Health

An Apple a Day Is Not Enough

By G. C. Thacicon, MD
Dear Dr. Thacicon: Recent diet consisting of apples once a day and fish, is it harmful?

The reason for this diet is to stabilize my blood sugar. It's either too much or too low. A couple of years ago my doctor told me I was a mild diabetic. I used to take pills, but discontinued all medication.

At present I'm not under the supervision of a doctor. I'm 59-years-old and female. — A.A.D.

Your letter has confused me.

If you are not under the supervision of a doctor, how do you know your blood sugar varies? You certainly could not have the equipment necessary to conduct "kitchen" tests. And if you are going only on the basis of do-it-yourself urine tests, you don't know yourself.

The condition of the urine is not necessarily an indication of the condition of the blood. If you were once suspected of having diabetes, you should find out if there is still cause for that suspicion, and I'm afraid only a doctor can provide the answer to that.

Diabetes cannot be cured — only controlled.

Your apple a day may keep the doctor away, but, in your case, I'm afraid not for very long. The diet you mention is unsatisfactory.

I suggest you end the attempt to be your own diagnostician, dietician and chemist.

Dear Dr. Thacicon: Could you please print some informative item regarding tapeworms? I've heard so many pros and cons about it I am completely confused.

Just what causes them? What are the reliable warning signs? What does one remain of? I've heard curing them is a very painful process. — Mrs. M.M.F.

This is an intestinal infestation by parasites, mainly from improperly cooked or raw beef, pork or fish. The worm that develops is flat and large like, from which it gets the name.

The cause is the eating of eggs (larvae) or a part of a worm with the poorly cooked or raw meat.

Also, unclean fruits and vegetables — contaminated in handling or grown in an area contaminated by human waste — can be the source.

In the intestine, the head of the worm attaches to the bowel wall and its body grows in segments, the beef-type worm often reaching 15 to 30 feet in length.

There may be only mild symptoms of digestive disturbance, a mild diarrhea, for example, or there may be anemia but ordinarily appetite and weight are not affected.

The first conclusive symptoms are the presence of the worm segment in the stool, or there may be rings in stool specimens.

The treatment is not painful, but it can be lengthy — until the head of the parasite is removed. Atabrine quinacrine hydrochloride is the usual treatment, and it may be prescribed. The harsh treatment if you mention it, is a reference to aspidium oleoresin, which can produce toxic effects and is no longer used. Calbrine tablets are given for this therapy.

With closer inspection of meat and other food sources, the tapeworm problem has been reduced greatly in recent years.

Dear Dr. Thacicon: What would be the cause of a discharge from the nose? It looks like pus and has an odor. Would it be some infection? How would you get an infection in the nose? — Miss E.M.

This is usually a fungus infection. Some belly buttons are deep, and material can get into them and be retained by dry or sticky bathing. The area should be cleansed with a cotton swab.

There are preparations your physician may prescribe to clear up the infection. One is a hydrogen peroxide preparation. This liquid can be "puddled" for want of a better term) into the belly button while you are lying down. Another is a gentian violet solution which is painted on with a swab. This latter preparation stains the skin and would rule out bikini swimsuits for awhile.

You really should see a doctor to have him or her try to determine the exact nature of the problem.

Family Welfare Up 20 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States welfare expenditures last year 20 per cent in the fiscal year as the rolls of the biggest family assistance program climbed to a record high, the department of health, education and welfare reported Thursday.

The report said the number of persons receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) clipped slightly last June for the second straight month after being pushed steadily upward by the recession the previous nine months.

Total welfare spending in fiscal 1975 ending last June 30 reached $22.6 billion, up 20 per cent or $3.8 billion over the previous year.

Monthly AFDC payments averaged $94.36 per recipient last year, compared with individual payments averaging $87.35 in 1974 and $83.35 in 1973.

The report said the AFDC caseload averaged 11,013,000 persons a month, an increase of 331,000 persons, which wiped out the previous year's decrease of 196,000 recipients.

Last year an average of 3.3 million families were on AFDC, 3.4 per cent more than in fiscal 1974.

AFDC rolls last June, the latest month for which figures are available, topped 11.3 million persons and the cost of money payments, medical care and welfare social services set a new monthly high of $2.1 billion.

Development Incentives Will Now Be Extended

OTTAWA (CP) — The Regional Development Incentives Act soon will be extended for five years, to 1981, Regional Expansion Minister Marcel Lessard said Thursday.

Mr. Lessard told the Commons that he will introduce legislation to extend the act from December, 1976. There would be no changes in current provisions.

Outside the Commons, the minister said the regional expansion department is facing problems with companies who wish to locate in underdeveloped regions but feel they cannot get into production by the time the incentives act expires next year.

An extension of the program would enable these companies to benefit from the program, if their applications were approved.

Under the five-year-old program, industries receive loans and grants for establishing plants in underdeveloped regions.

Regions designated for incentives include all of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and the Atlantic provinces, parts of Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia and all of Quebec except for the Montreal-Hull corridor.

Ottawa, Alberta Can't Reach Price Accord

OTTAWA (CP) — With a deadline only two weeks away, federal and Alberta government officials have yet to reach agreement on the wording of an accord increasing domestic natural gas prices, Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie said Thursday.

Talks between the two governments are continuing on a formal document that will set the increases on Nov. 1 to 42 cents a thousand cubic feet, the amount they agreed to last spring and ratified in late-September.

Unless some government action is taken, say officials of the National Energy Board, the increase to customers Nov. 1 would be based on a provincial arbitration board award last spring boosting the price 70 cents a thousand cubic feet.

The government agreement on price would add about $65 to annual heating bills of consumers using natural gas for heating, while the arbitration board price would add $105 a year.

Although there is no disagreement between the governments on price, their lawyers are reportedly having problems wording sections of the accord dealing with the sharing of increases in gas export prices.

When Ottawa announced last spring that the export price on gas shipped to the United States would go to $1.40 a thousand cubic feet on Aug. 1 and $1.80 on Nov. 1 from $1 prior to Aug. 1, it said the additional money would be shared among all gas companies on the basis of how much they now produce.

National Gallery Gets Surrealistic Painting

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Gallery has acquired its first painting by the Spanish surrealist Salvador Dali, a tiny greenish-ochre work entitled Gala and the Angelus of Millet Immediately Preceding the Arrival of the Conic Anamorphoses.

Dali put much detail in the tiny painting — about 9½ by 7½ inches—while leaving room for large areas of architectural flatness. The painting was done in 1933.

The purchase price was not disclosed, in line with gallery policy.

Gala was the wife of the surrealist poet Paul Eluard when Dali met her in 1929. She now is the artists wife.

In the 1930s, Dali became fascinated by the Angelus, a sentimental painting by Jean-Francois Millet, showing a farmer and his wife pausing in a field to pray at the ringing of the angelus bell.

Dali found repressed sexuality in the 19th-century master's painting and reproduced it in increasingly surrealistic ways in some of his own paintings.

Hospital Union Challenges Controls

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A union representing 4,200 workers in southwestern Ontario hospitals and other health-care institutions urged the Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) Thursday to challenge the federal government's selective wage-and-price controls.

Local 220, London and District Service Workers Union, sent a telegram to CLC president Joe Morris, recommending that he call a meeting of CLC affiliates to prepare a plan opposing the guidelines.

The union said the meeting should include government employees, teachers and other labor groups not associated with the CLC.

Prime Minister Trudeau "arrogantly and deliberately used the workers of this country as a scapegoat by perpetuating the myth that workers' wages are the main cause of inflation," it said.

Ottawa Contributes $8.8 Million Towards Legal Aid in Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government contributed about $8.8 million to legal aid programs in nine provinces and the Northwest Territories during the year ending March 31, 1974, Gerard Laprise (SC—Abitibi) was informed in the Commons Thursday.

In a written reply, he was told the money helped pay lawyers in about 69,000 criminal cases across the country, including 175 murder cases in Quebec and 30 in Alberta.

Nearly $1 million in federal funds went to Ontario, where $1,230 of the 22,326 legal aid cases involved theft charges. The next highest category was narcotics charges at 7,308, followed by 1,409 assault cases.

Quebec drew about $2 million, where the catch-all category "other" was followed by theft, assault and drug cases. Altogether there were 10,389 legal aid cases in Quebec.

British Columbia was next with 11,196—4,022 on theft cases and 2,467 drug cases—taking $1.3 million in federal funds.

Theft, assault and drugs were the most common charges in almost every province. Saskatchewan was not included because it did not draw any federal funds.

The federal payment and the number of cases in other provinces: Newfoundland $75,372 for 279 cases; Nova Scotia $254,280 for 1,778 cases; Prince Edward Island $17,400 for 50 cases; New Brunswick $288,818 for 1,728|749 cases; Alberta $815,889 for cases; Manitoba $463,815 for 1,|1,134 cases.

Four Underworld Figures Murdered

MONTREAL (CP) — The bullet-ridding bodies of a young woman police say was "pecking for power" in the underworld, a male friend and his parents were found in an east-end tenement Friday.

Police said Colette Dupuis, 23, who had survived a previous underworld attempt on her life, was killed at the front door of a four-room, second-storey apartment.

Rene Ehler and his wife Alice, both 50, and their son Paul-Emile, 30, were then slain in their living room where they had been watching television, police said.

The shootings likely occurred more than 18 hours before the bodies were discovered Friday afternoon, a police spokesman said, adding that each of the victims had been shot several times.

Police believe that Dupuis, described as "the brains behind several robberies and blackmailings" committed by gangs in the city's east-end, died after letting the killer or killers into the apartment.

The bodies were discovered after a neighbor, glancing into the apartment's open door, noticed Dupuis' body in the kitchen.

The neighbor called police, who rushed to the apartment shortly after 3:30 EDT Friday.

A police spokesman said indications were the slayings took place some time after 10 p.m. EDT Thursday.

Only the elder Ehler was fully dressed, police said. Both women were wearing night gowns and the younger Ehler was clad in jeans and a bathrobe.

Police said tenants in the building reported hearing nothing.

"Colette Dupuis was the brains behind a lot of crimes," a police spokesman said early Saturday. "She was the one who rounded up the guys to pull the jobs."

Her ambition almost cost her her life last summer, one police source said, when she was shot in an east-end cafe.

A police spokesman said detectives believe the Ehlers were innocent victims, killed because they were present at the slaying of Dupuis.

The shootings raised to 29 the number of people slain in the Montreal Urban Community this year.

Earlier Friday, a shooting incident took the life of Jean-Claude Brigebois, 27, in front of his apartment in Pointe-Aux-Trembles home.

Postal Situation

Both Sides Contiune Despite Tough Talk

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiators for the post office and the 22,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) appeared headed to be settled in for a heavy weekend of bargaining.

"We feel these are serious negotiations," said chief union negotiator Jean-Claude Parrot after almost 12 hours of talks Friday.

The post office and leaders of the CUPW, which represents postal clerks and mail sorters, reopened contract negotiations Friday morning in a final bid to avert a national postal strike.

Both sides have taken a tough stand in the touchy bargaining session.

Mr. Parrot said in an interview late Friday that "the moment we feel it is not worthwhile we will use our (strike) mandate."

Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey said earlier in the day that the government has made contingency plans for the delivery of essential government mail in the event of a strike.

"I am not bargaining from a position of weakness," he told reporters.

Mr. Parrot would not comment further right on the progress of the talks, beyond saying that "we are still trying."

With the government's new selective wage controls in place, it appeared that the major bargaining points were the issues of premium pay for night and weekend shifts, union say in proposed technological changes and a CUPW demand for an end to the use of casual, non-union labor.

The newly-established anti-inflation review board must approve any post office contract exceeding the wage controls which limit annual increases to a basic 10 per cent in the first year of a contract for more than four million workers.

CUPW president Joe David-son announced his intention Thursday night of going into the new bargaining session with the union's original demand for a 71-per-cent pay increase or $2.35 an hour in a one-year contract.

Mr. Mackasey has announced his support for a conciliation board proposal that would give aside postal workers a $1.70-an-hour increase in four raises over a 30-month period.

The average pay now is $4.50 an hour.

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — "It was really funny," Christine Barnes, 16, said Friday describing the scene at Widdifield secondary school when she and her schoolmates learned she was co-winner of a $100,000 Wintario prize. The kids at school were telling me to scream or shout or something and I was just sitting there laughing because I felt so giddy."

Centres Want Change

VANCOUVER (CP) — A brief compiled by about 30 rape relief centres across Canada recommends that rape be classified as an assault rather than a sexual offence. The brief, presented to Justice Minister Ron Basford Friday, says rape fits within the existing assault sections of the Criminal Code but recommends the creation of two new assault offences to deal with rape and attempted rape.

Bricklin Has Hope

FREDERICTON (CP) — Financially troubled Bricklin Canada Ltd. still has a "superb potential" and discussions are continuing with groups who may want to invest in the sports car company, New Brunswick Premier Richard Hatfield said Friday. Mr. Hatfield told a news conference meetings have been held "almost every day," but no one has made a firm proposal to save the company, placed in receivership three weeks ago.

Egypt Withdraws Force

CAIRO (Reuter) — Egypt has withdrawn its air force stationed in Syria as a new development indicative of the strained relations between the two Arab countries. Sources say the move announced Friday night, followed criticism of Egyptian policy and leadership of Syrian Air Force Chief Nadji Jamil.

Civilians Use Arms

LISBON (Reuter) — Portuguese President Francisco da Costa Gomes has launched a tough campaign to stop civilians from arming themselves with thousands of surplus rifles from the former colonies. He issued orders Friday night for troops to shoot anybody using fire arms against civilians, police or soldiers. He also appealed to civilians to hand in any arms they possess illegally, and said they will not be prosecuted if they did so before next Friday.

Biologists Plant Fish Eggs in Lake

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Sometime during the Mackenzie summer a number of natural resources biologists are expected to be planting 100,000 fish eggs over Black Duck Island in Lake Ontario.

It's a new planting to determine if spake, dwarfed or speckled trout and lake trout, will survive in eastern Lake Ontario, said George Whitney, regional biologist based in Kemptville.

Although he describes the planting as a "small scale experiment" it's an organizational nightmare of waiting for proper weather conditions for diving and flying the eggs from Northern Ontario.

"We've planted spake in Lake Huron with great success," said Mr. Whitney.

He said this is the time of year when lake trout normally spawn and spake was chosen as they grow faster and mature earlier.

He said he's hoping the eggs will survive to hatch in the spring in waters where trout hasn't existed for 20 years: "We're not sure if the shoals are suitable."

Divers using video tape equipment will investigate the shoals around the island about 25 miles off shore near the U.S. border.

Algae and silt, he said, may interfere with the eggs and divers will be sent down now a month to check them out.

"Many years ago there used to be healthy lake trout but they're gone now, mainly due to the lamprey eel."

The lamprey population now is under control due to federal and provincial programs, he said.

There may have been a change in the animal life in the lake over the years."

Tru-Glass May Hire More Than Expected

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Tru-Glass Ltd. could hire up to 130 employees before it completes its first year of business in Belleville — compared with earlier, more conservative estimates of initially hiring 40 employees.

Company comptroller John Malwiy said the firm will immediately hire employees for training sessions to be held in December.

In light of current business trends, said Mr. Malwiy, "we are hopeful that we will double the initial employment before the end of the year."

Original plans were to have nine shift working the plant. These plans have since been changed to incorporate two shifts.

Cornerstone Builders Ltd. in charge of plant construction believe the building located in the city's northwest Industrial park should be completely finished by the end of December.

Mr. Malwiy said equipment is expected to begin arriving in November.

The plant will produce glass products such as windshields and windows for the transportation industry.

Teachers Save Financial Disaster in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City was another last-minute reprieve from financial default Friday, but officials say the city is still in grave trouble and only federal help can save it from collapse.

The city was rescued from possible fiscal disaster when the teachers' union agreed to use its pension funds to help refinance $453 million in debt obligations.

A complicated financial plan to meet about $1 billion in debts through November, however, is still not complete. And in December and January the city faces a total of $2.16 billion in cash shortages with no source of immediate help.

To consider possible ways the federal government might help with the post-November problems, the Senate banking committee resumes hearings today in Washington. Mayor Abraham Beame of New York is to testify Monday.

The decision by the teachers union to release the pension funds ended a day of concern in which the city's plight provided a legal the first taste of the possible economic repercussions which some analysts say would follow default.

Bond trading all but halted and stock prices were down sharply in light trading. In Europe, currency trading came close to a standstill, and world gold prices rose in a pattern which suggested that the value of the U.S. dollar could be hurt if default were allowed to occur.

Gov. Hugh Carey sent a telegram to President Ford declaring that New York is "exhausting its resources" to avert default through November and that after that "the security of our citizens rests in the hands of our federal government."

Carey repeated his call for federal guarantees of the city's borrowings to allow it to raise money in private financial markets.

But at the height of Friday's crisis, White House Press Secretary Ronald Nessen said Ford "will not take action to prevent a New York City default."

And Ford himself said in an interview that "nothing I have seen so far—and there must have been six or seven alternatives that have been suggested to me by a variety of people in and out of government—is an answer, and they all open potentially serious problems of one kind or another."

Budget cuts began earlier this week when Beame presented plans for trimming $300 million from this year's budget—an approach that could mean firing another 20,000 municipal employees in addition to 21,000 already dropped this year.

Pilots Misuse Locators

Forces Waste $1.3 Million On False Alarm Distress Calls

By JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — More than $1.3 million of the Search and Rescue (SAR) budget for Canada is being spent on responding to false alarms issued by emergency locator transmitters (ELT) since the devices have been made mandatory for all private aircraft, a spokesman for the Air Transport Command (ATC) said, Friday.

Statistics from a Department of National Defence (DND) survey indicate only one per cent of all ELT instigated search operations are legitimate air distress calls, said Peter Hyzber, a senior civilian operations research advisor with the ATC.

The figures, collected during a three-month study from April to June 1975 record 281 ELT cases of which only four were real air distress alerts. There were all of the signals traced and the remaining 216 died out or were turned off before a location could be made.

The problem has existed since their use was ordered in January of 1975 but the production of a more suitable consumer instrument has been limited by the companies and pilots desire to keep cost at a minimum Mr. Hyzber said.

ELT's and crash position indicators are more sophisticated and expensive models, have been used on military and commercial flights for years with a high degree of success.

There are 10,000 private airplanes and about 50,000 private pilots in Canada but the ELT equipment for light aircraft, which are 40 times more likely to crash than commercial planes, last far behind in quality, Mr. Hyzber said.

"Most of the problems we are having with the ELT's can be directly related to lack of education of the pilot, abuse of equipment and the efforts of the manufacturers to keep the cost of the unit at a minimum," Mr. Hyzber said.

"When the study to determine the range and durability of ELTs for private aircraft was done a prime consideration was that the civilian pilot would have the 'bear,'" Mr. Hyzber said, "Not many pilots want to go out and spend more that $150-175 and as it was there was a lot of complaining about cost from pilots when it was made mandatory," he said.

Most ELT's don't have a visual or audible indicator so the pilot does not even know when the device is transmitting if he is not tuned in the emergency radio band. Theoretically, the mechanism is triggered by a certain amount of G—force, or increased gravity, induced by a sudden pull like a crash.

Mr. Hyzber said of the alerts that go untraced most are accidental activation by pilot who turns the device off before he can be pinpointed. The ones that are traced have been triggered by rough landings, the pilot inadvertantly turning the ELT on or other human error.

Some of the units have been discovered emitting transmissions from a model on an office shelf and two girls in a canoe were once located playing with the device.

Use of the ELT to pinpoint crash locations increases the efficiency of search operations by 15 per cent. Searches can last anywhere from 18 minutes, Mr. Hyzber to weeks and months.

Buffalo Stations Want To Jam Signal to Canada

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the operators of three Buffalo, N.Y., television stations have asked the United States Federal Communications Commission for permission to jam their signals so they cannot be picked up in Canada.

In a Washington dispatch, the newspaper says the stations are WBEN, WKBW and WGR, affiliates of three United States networks—the Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Corp. and the National Broadcasting Corp.

The newspaper says this is the latest action in a dispute between the Canadian Radio-Television Commission (CRTC) and U.S. broadcasters.

The Canadian government also has ruled that Canadian advertisers no, longer can claim tax deductions for advertisements carried on U.S. stations.

Litterly Speaking

Picton fairgrounds was cleaned up by a work crew immediately following the Prince Edward County fair but litter has a recurring defaced the grounds with paper, bottles, cans and cardboard boxes. Carol Talley and her five-year-old daughter Louise gathered up some of the trash Friday near the fairgrounds barn where the family horse is stabled.

Education Beat

Agenda Might Attract Public

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

About every two months Belleville trustee Donald Thrush makes a concerted effort to find ways to attracting the public to regular meetings of the Hastings County Board of Education.

Last week he appealed to fellow trustees to place advertisements in the media notifying the public of the regular meetings held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

His concern is valid but misdirected. No doubt, there is an obvious attendance problem at board meetings. Normally, the audience consists of a few scattered people and a few representatives of education. Either they are present because of one particular item or they are there to lap up some gossip.

One notable exception is Pat March, president of the Hastings Council of Home and School Associations, who attends the meetings regularly.

First of all Mr. Thrush proposes the board meetings be advertised. A good point but not enough to entice the public. What the board should do is make an effort to advertise important issues or presentations that may be dealt with at each meeting.

To go back one step the board sends the media an agenda package several days prior to the meeting on the condition that its contents not be published prior to the meeting.

Trustees apparently get annoyed at being approached about a subject on which he or she has not done their homework. If pertinent material is released at the meeting the formality of parliamentary procedure avoids any embarrassment.

So it is quite simple. Until the board makes an effort to receive its upcoming agenda then a simple notice of the meeting time will not do.

A good deal of board meeting procedure is dull, complicated and often just requires a rubber-stamp from the trustees. It is little wonder the public is not interested. However, business is business and that's the board's problem.

There are some notable exceptions where the public would find the presentation interesting and informative.

Case in point being last week's presentation about the board's out of school learning program by Assistant director Wayne Brooks. Indeed an exceptional presentation and one that gave an accurate and honest portrayal of what the board is trying to do in this area.

The board room was also filled with displays depicting the out of school learning programs which by the way it often used by the Intermediate.

This would have been an excellent opportunity for the board to advertise this presentation in hopes of sharing the information with the public. A presentation of this type is difficult for the media to convey due to its limitations.

Another example of this pattern is that during the next couple of meetings the topic of electronic calculators in schools will be discussed and most likely a policy will be formed. There is much public interest in this matter.

Unless the public is aware of what is going to be discussed or deal with at board meetings the board's crusade Mr. Thrush will continue to be frustrated by public attendance.

Farm Machinery Demand Still High Say Dealers

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

It has been a better year for the sale of farm machinery than expected, creases in some pieces of about 30 per cent between Jan. 1974 and June this year.

"Farmers are funny. If they have money they'll spend it, they'll improve their equipment. Sometimes I wonder where they get the money from," said Mr. Thompson.

The busiest time of year for sale of farm machinery is May to November. The manufacturers year begins and ends in November.

John Orser of Allen Hadley Farm Implements Ltd., 371 North Front St., said it appears the new year will start out about the same as last year.

Due to the federal government wages and prices controls, he said: "We're going to see a lot of price increases one wouldn't normally have seen."

To ensure profits, said Mr. Orser, manufacturers will increase prices by the maximum allowed for the year and give farmers a cash rebate on purchases until production costs meet sale prices.

Jack Rushdell of Allis-Chalmers, RR 2, Belleville, said sales this year were ahead of last year's.

Farm income this year, said Mr. Rushdell, has been relatively good.

Most sales have been to milk and hog producers. Due to beef prices, beef producers have had a bad year, and were not a big part of the buyer's market, dealers said.

Western United States, Eastern Ontario gets only the surplus.

Russell Thompson of RR 1 Belleville said sales this year have been good despite in-

Shortage of Big Tractors

John Orser of Allen Hadley Farm Implements Ltd., 371 North Front St., inspects one of the newest tractors in stock. It's worth about $30,000. He said it's been a good year for farm equipment sales but there is a shortage in eastern Ontario of large, high horsepower tractors. Most go to Western Canada and United States where demand is greater, he said.

NDP Says Controls Threat To Farmers

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democrat Les Benjamin says he views the anti-inflation board's intention to investigate marketing boards as a threat to farmers' incomes.

Mr. Benjamin (Regina-Lake Centre) said recent statements by the chairman of the new board, former Liberal cabinet minister Jean-Luc Pepin, and his vice-chairman, Beryl Plumptre, "clearly are against agricultural marketing boards."

He sought confirmation in the Commons Thursday from Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan that "the government intends to allow the controls program to destroy the best mechanism which agriculture producers now have for ensuring that their prices are related to costs of production."

Mr. Whelan replied that a well-run marketing board has nothing to fear from anyone.

New Mall Might Teach Merchants

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — If a shopping plaza were built on the outskirts of Picton the downtown core would be blighted says Prince Edward County planner Rianddin Ahmed.

Mr. Ahmed made that observation during a public meeting held last night to discuss the Picton-Hallowell urban area study. The planner explained that plazas constructed on the fringes of small towns usually have detrimental effect on central business sections. It's a fact of planning.

Planning may protect Picton's downtown core from a plaza blight but the signs are already has attacked and, if unchecked, can only promote mall shopping in neighboring centres.

Plazas and malls are bright, clean and new with convenient facilities such as public washrooms. Downtown Picton looks dingy and dirty and there are no public washrooms.

Several Picton merchants take pride in their stores and offer customers attractive shopping atmosphere and well-maintained store fronts.

A handful has worked to provide patrons with the big city look in a small town. Windows are stylishly dressed and merchandise displayed with flair. The customer receives courteous treatment and leaves feeling that his trade was appreciated.

Other merchants ignore the niceties of the buyer-seller game. Picton's Main Street shrinks under more than one tattered awning and a number of store fronts have a peeling paint.

Several apparel shops accommodate their customers with fitting rooms obviously designed for midgets. The lighting is poor, the mirrors are small, there are no locks on the doors and no clothes hangers.

More than one Picton department store lacks air conditioning and in last summer's heat wave both clerks and customers wilted in the aisles.

The town of Picton offers customers no free public washrooms. In fact, this is one convenience that money cannot buy as there are no paid toilets either.

In contrast with Picton's Main Street dotted by several poorly maintained store fronts, plazas offer a uniform neatness.

The Main Street of Wellington village points Picton up as a town whose slip is showing. The stores in this neighboring centre all are in good repair and the look is clean and fresh, not "intermittently tidy" as in Picton.

If Picton merchants are concerned with avoiding blight on Main Street they will focus their efforts on a restoration of the town's store fronts. There is a distinction between rustic and rundown.

Head in Sand Won't Solve Any Problems

By JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

Trenton seems to be an ill-informed community. About local issues.

Nearly 40 people had to be polled during a recent mass-the-street study to find six who were aware that Trenton had the choices of remaining a separated town or joining Northumberland or Hastings Counties.

It is a sad situation when so few in an area destined for such tremendous growth are aware of the possible avenues of development open to the town.

It seems the only time a resident makes an effort and learns about a contentious issue is when it will personally affect his pocket book, seemingly not concerned about future generations or the effect on the municipality.

Can town council be blamed for this obvious lack of interest in municipal affairs?

Council meetings are broadcast over the radio and the results are carried in two newspapers in town. Perhaps when council is holding one of its many caucus meetings it is only conversing with the people's will which is saying we don't want to know?

Hiring vandalism which is being blamed on young people, if indeed they are the guilty parties, is only a reflection of the low regard their elders display towards possessions and responsibilities.

If adult residents showed an interest and pride in the municipality its workings and possessions and the future, rather than exhibiting an "it will work itself out" attitude, local youths would have an example worth following and become engaged in less destructive activities.

It is necessary and vital that some group, agency or just a single individual organize a program to show Trentonians what they are missing out on by not enjoying the satisfaction of being proud to live in this town.

Too long have the streets echoed with anti-Belleville sentiment, polluting the attitudes of the young and old.

Trenton is a good place to live, a strong and beautiful community with room for expansion and profitable growth.

It is not the Garden of Eden but neither are we, the residents, eternal innocents.

'Shortfall' Needs Close Watch

By ROSS HAWTHORNE

A few years ago, there was a subject that was reverently popular, epitomized by one word that was bastered about with great frequency. And that word was "ecology". Simply defined, ecology refer to the relationship between the organism and its environment. And in our case, man and his world.

Now, another term is currently popular — "short fall" — a state of affairs where supply does not or cannot keep pace. We're familiar with the expression in terms of the world supply of foodstuffs, oil or natural gas.

Now, let me pose a question. What would happen to our "ecology of as had a "short fall" in the world's supply of oxygen. And it's conceivable.

Because this vital life factor knows only two sources of origin: about 60 per cent — from the plankton of the sea and about 40 per cent from the green plants of the land. The plankton of the sea is being polluted out of existence at an alarming rate. Goodbye oxygen.

And every time we build a road, a plaza or a parking lot or lay waste to the earth's surface — we deplete the supply even more. By comparison, every time you germinate a seed and propagate it into a plant — you are contributing to the world's supply of oxygen. Now if that sounds like a minor contribution, let me say this. In a space of about 32 square feet you can grow to maturity about 1200 plants. If another people did the same, then those efforts would become a major contribution.

And every time you grow a vegetable plant, you're adding to the world's supply of food. And while you may be taking the bread out of the supermarket's mouth, you could be putting food in the mouths of those who need it.

And as Mark Twain was reported to have said: "One thing that can't be found or invented — they aren't making any more of it." And if what Will Leader David Lewis said to Premier Bill Davis is true, that arable land in this province is being gobbled up at the rate of 36 acres a day, then growing under artificial lights in a controlled environment is going to become even more important in contributing to our ecology.

And there's another contributory aspect to indoor light gardening that a young lady brought up the other evening in a lecture class. What more thoughtful gift is there than a plant that you germinated and propagated to maturity, on which you lavished time and attention.

It's a gift that is personally yours. And a gift that will keep on growing in value, literally and figuratively, for months or even years.

Political Opportunism and Next Election Factors in Anti-Inflation Moves

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs
Analyst
Thomson News Service

Inflation has beset mankind, in one way or another, ever since the Pleistocenes invented money to aid them in their domination of Mediterranean civilization.

In trying to check such an ancient and apparently inexorable process by imposing "severe restraints" on prices and incomes, the government of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau is setting itself a giant task.

Its critics would say its is like the task—that controls are like "a cork in a fermenting bottle" (in the words of Richard M. Thomson, president of Toronto-Dominion Bank and that a blow-up is inevitable once controls come off.

The history of anti-inflationary restraints is a checquered one.

Controls can cause enormous complications and disruptions in a free-market system, leading to black (and gray) markets and the waste of prodigious amounts of human time and talent.

On the other hand, they have sometimes worked—which nothing else seems to do where inflation is concerned.

Here, then are some of the reasons that may have led Canada's government to invoke the radically new restraint plan that Mr. Trudeau announced on Thanksgiving Day:

—There was a big burst of inflation this summer, especially in food prices. And there's no indication whatever that inflation will lose any steam on its own.

Energy costs are pointing sharply higher, and labor's wage demands are greater than ever before.

When prices of things as basic to the economy as labor, energy (including transportation) and food take big jumps, you can expect most other prices to rise accordingly—because of both necessity and opportunism.

Failure, too, slays a part. Bumper crops this year would have helped to keep the food prices of grains and other farm products. Now, no declines are expected in prices of meat, cereal or dairy products next year.

—But the political climate was right—and here Mr. Trudeau is an expert.

Last year, when he led his minority government into a general election, the course of political wisdom was to ridicule his Tory opponents for proposing that controls on incomes and prices be introduced for 90 days, to break the public's inflation psychology.

In the fall of 1975 inflation—plus unemployment, the foreign-trade deficit, labor productivity, capital investment and many other economic indicators—are much worse than in the summer of 1972.

That means that some sensible action to deal with inflation is politically acceptable now, especially when the Trudeau government has a comfortable majority in Parliament.

And the removal of controls just before the next federal election, a few years from now, would give the Liberals a great blast-off into that campaign.

—The governments of the United States and the United Kingdom have not fallen back on the limp excuse that inflation is an international problem that must be solved on the international level.

Instead, they have demonstrated that anti-inflationary strategies actually work, and don't lead to rioting in the streets.

John Turner's resignation may have jolted the Trudeau government into the realization that Canada, too, ought to be doing something to prevent the economy of this country from going down the inflationary drain.

That, of course, is speculation, since Messrs. Trudeau and Turner choose to maintain what they consider to be a gentlemanly silence about the underlying reasons for the former finance minister's resignation.)

The business cycle is in the ascendant. The economy has a strength of its own, not unlike the tides of the sea, and will eventually show that strength regardless of what the political leaders may do.

At this juncture, most indications are that the world economy is recovering from recession and—barring some unforseen disaster—will continue to expand.

As industrial production increases, certain industries will be alleviated and one of the causes of inflation will be removed.

Thus the government, by taking an anti-inflationary stand now, will be able to claim credit for the almost inevitable economic improvement that lies ahead.

Economists at Wood Gundy Ltd., Toronto-based investment dealers, predict that Canada's gross national product will be essentially unchanged in 1975, but will rise by six per cent in 1976 and five per cent in 1977.

What's in store for Canadians, as individuals?

You may not get the big pay increase that you thought you were in line for.

You could find yourself spending some—and perhaps a great deal—of your family's income for ways to get around the restraints. Some spent that way is time lost to productive effort.

If you must borrow money, you probably won't find much if any relief from today's sky-high interest rates until inflation starts to abate.

If you have financial assets, such as cash in the bank and an investment portfolio, you will eventually find your purchasing power eroding less than in the past few years. But don't expect a return to the golden age of price stability.

Watch for Government Economies

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau
Thomson News Service

TORONTO — There were a couple of things that Prime Minister Trudeau had to say in his talk to the nation which are worth sticking in the head and nursing a bit.

One was his explanation that wages and profits must be related to the increase in production of the country. If they are more than the increase they will be inflationary.

The second was his stress on the need for economy in government.

In these two points the prime minister could have been hitting at a good part of the gut question in inflation.

A key factor that a good many people don't appreciate today (including those in government) is that government spending now represents more than 40 per cent of the GNP and that insofar as economic improvement is concerned this is a weight.

As government spending contributes nothing to the national worth (it doesn't produce goods, or new services, with a real value) this means we are left with a maximum of the national effort with which to advance society.

Which, thanks to government spending, means our scope is severely limited.

And in turn this means that government should be very reluctant about starting new spending, which it should be anyway but certainly always isn't.

And a pertinent question now if will it really take a sharp look.

There are few, if any, big one-shot savings that it can count on.

The big proportion of government outlays are for education and health and it is hard to do any substantial surgery in these fields.

But there is either smaller spending now or later, or end and which, in total, could add to a good sum.

Last summer for example, the government cut back fired trees concerts on the lawn at the parliament buildings.

Only a drop, but really should government be doing it, particularly if it is talking of cutting down on spending. A few hundred thousand dollars would be involved and it could have been a few hundred thousand.

A close look at spending would probably uncover a good number of other examples of cheeseparing economies which might be cut out.

It will be interesting to see if the government now takes a look at these, and particularly if it delves from the exterior into the fringe spending in the future.

Its attitude will be a test of its bona fides.

The Rural Environment

A trend toward country living is reflected by the increasing number of new homes in the rural parts.

Hastings and Prince Edward counties are typical. New homes are springing up on country side roads.

But few if any of these are housing people who plan to engage in farming in any serious way. For the most part they are city folk who have decided to forsake the urban environment yet keep within easy distance and thus enjoy the best of both worlds.

Travel farther into the rural heart of this region and the real core and life of the farm community are revealed.

But here there are few new homes, only those that have housed generations of farm families. Dating back, in many instances to the last century, many show their age but reflect the pride, integrity, and, self-sufficiency of those who till the soil.

The names on rural mail boxes in this Ontario heartland indicate the European as well as Anglo-Saxon origins of many on our farms. And this is interesting in relation to a report that has been issued by the Canadian Council on Rural Development.

The Council's brief says problems related to urban congestion apply to all Canadians and immigrants alike. And it says rural revitalization must take place before "Canadians are encouraged to stay in rural areas or before the Government will be successful in attracting migrants to non-metropolitan areas."

Just what is meant by "rural revitalization" is not spelled out, but the brief goes on to say that should policies be adopted which lead to such an objective, "there will be both a need for and space for immigrants with appropriate skills and aptitudes."

The Council has as its "chairperson" a woman in Professor Jane Abramson of Saskatoon, and its publicity release, mentioning 18 recommendations on immigration policy, makes a curious observation. It says that immigrants "should not be required to live with hardships and restrictions which Canadians themselves are not prepared to accept."

It is curious for instance in light of the fact that immigrants (who for the most part become Canadian citizens too) usually "rough it" better when the going is hard than is the case with the native born. A case in point: the nurses from other countries who take jobs in the Arctic which their contemporaries here tend to avoid like the plague. And indeed the farmers too who have come from Europe and have made a success of their calling in a new land.

The concept of "rural revitalization" though is a valid one. There may be a preference for the older farm homes than the modern, but test of time, but the farmer, like his urban brother, should have the opportunity also to move with the times in housing as in other developments of the day. What about recreation for the young people, and opportunities to get together with other youngsters? There's 4-H of course, but there may still be gaps and needs to be filled.

Broadcasts in French

The prospect of a French-language radio re-broadcast station in Belleville is welcome news for the French-speaking community.

There has always been a sizeable French-speaking community here, of which the Club Alouette is a part, but this move permitting re-broadcast of CBC French-language programs is recognition of the broadening cosmopolitanism of the community.

English is still the main means of communication however, but the French fact exists too. There may also be those in Belleville's ethnic mix who are not necessarily French but who have learned the language in childhood or at school and therefore have an affinity for it.

Zambia's Economic and Communications Crisis

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Zambia last hit the headlines in Canada with the shooting of two Ontario girls by Zambian soldiers, allegedly for straying into Zambian territory along a very sensitive and heavily-guarded border between Zambia and Rhodesia.

But the country deserves our attention now for the kind of economic crisis she faces. This is due to the reduction in the world cost of copper and the growing difficulties of shipping out that commodity from her land-locked supplier.

Zambia's current balance-of-payment crisis is the classic one we have been told about many times in recent years which plagues the developing countries.

Many of them rely on a single commodity for most of their foreign income and often its price is at the mercy of world cartels over which the developing country has had no influence.

This is why so many countries—vailing cartels of the producing countries in bauxite, bananas, sugar, oil and copper have been formed.

Zambia is closely tied in with Chile and Zaire on the formation of a copper producers cartel. But it too has paid a broken tooth over stark political differences.

The Chilean military junta is anathema to Zambia's socialist society as is the semi-capitalistic one of Zaire's ambitious President Mobutu.

But Zambia's current economic troubles which have brought the usual clampdown of overseas use of foreign currency earned by Zambian tourists, seafarers and businessmen abroad, has as much to do with her geography as world political differences.

This interior state of southern Africa relied on white-dominated Rhodesia for the rail transport of its copper to Mozambique ports of Lourenco Marques and Beira.

The Rhodesians currently in a new conflict with Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda over racial policies, have sealed the border, forcing the Zambians to ship the heavy commodity either across southern Africa to the Angolan port of Lobita or via the even more costly route to Dar-es-Salaam in Tanzania to the north.

This latter route makes use of the new Tan-Zam railway built by Communist Chinese technology and labor. But Zambian copper then moves into a port already filled to overflowing with shipping supplying the pressing economic and industrial needs of Tanzania herself.

The African route is now politically secure with black African liberation movements dead to take over from the colonial Portuguese.

But even here the long-suffering President Kaunda faces the unpleasant that these politically sympathetic groups are engaged in a bitter civil war among themselves for ultimate control of the huge former colony.

The United Nations estimate Zambia's serious balance-of-payments will get worse not only because of copper export cutbacks, but also because the longer shipment-routes could add $200 million to the transport costs of exporting the vital copper.

Zambia's growing economic problems may seem distant to Canadians but these politically-sympathetic groups are engaged in a bitter civil war among themselves for ultimate control of the huge former colony.

The plight of this relatively large southern African nation indicates how difficult it will be to achieve any of these long-term goals, given the many local conditions over which international agencies and investors have little control in the developed states have no control.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

OCTOBER 18, 1955

A resolution seeking a ban on the sale of cigarettes in Ontario was thrown out today by delegates at the annual convention of the Ontario Farmers' Union meeting in Guelph. Introduced by a farmers' union local at Marysville, near Belleville, the motion urged the Ontario government to follow the lead set by the Quebec government in banning cigarettes.

The Belleville branch of the Canadian Red Cross has transferred its headquarters to the Kiwanis Centre on Dundas Street. Officials have been seeking suitable quarters for some time and they feel the Kiwanis Centre will fill their needs. Rooms had been provided for them in the Church Street Armouries which have been recently renovated by officials after inspecting the quarters felt the locality would not be suitable.

Complaints over the slowness of the traffic light on the four corners were shown to be justified this week following a test period of the lights. Constant wear and the formation of grime in the lights' workings caused the inefficiency. The unit will be replaced today by a brand new box which has been overhauled and cleaned.

Special Communicator's Girl Friday Does Whiz Job for Media

By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Correspondent

Ottawa — Guy calls from out of town.

Wants to know how deeply the federal government was involved in the restructuring of a certain labor-intensive manufacturing industry through the rationalization of a couple of multinational corporations.

Was it last year, or two years ago?

And did the figure for deficit-funds run $150 million?

Just like that.

What to do?

Call that section of Industry, Trade and Commerce doing business with that particular manufacturing sector, of course, and ask to speak to the Director.

"Sorry, he's at a seminar all day at the Conference Centre."

Then how about his assistant?

"Sorry, he's at language school."

Then perhaps the Number Three man?

"Just stepped out of his office. Sorry."

Well, was there anyone there who might have the answers?

"Not really, unless you want to leave your number or call back later.

But surely, there has to be somebody with a clue among all those people whose names are spread across two pages of the government telephone directory as experts in this particular industry and who might have heard about some five-a-me-a-s funding for rationalization?

"Oh, that's in the hands of a special task force — I'll give you the number — call Mr. So-and-So."

The call is made.

"Sorry but he's in with the deputy and won't be available all day."

Then perhaps his senior aide?

"He's on holidays."

Maybe one of his other assistants?

"On their coffee break."

Anyone then? How about you?

"The chief's nobody available, and I don't know anything about it."

But there must be 6,000 people on the staff over there; somebody's got to know something.

"Yeah, about that; but I'm not sure."

The department fills a new office tower and it lists 73 names in its information desk not counting secretaries and stenographers and office boys.

"Yeah, I know, but I can't think of who'll have your answers."

Try harder, huh?

"Well, why don't you give our Special Communicator (yes, they do have such a guy) a call. I hear his files are fantastic."

Might as well, nothing else has worked.

The Communications Specialist is called.

"Sorry, he's out."

So who's answering?

"But maybe I can help you."

Very pleasant-sounding young lady. Makes you believe she isn't kidding, that she isn't going to back you up a tree, that she is willing to see if she can help.

So the questions are asked.

"No problem. We've got the stuff right here. A couple of ministerial statements. One last June, the other a year ago. No, there's no reference to $150 million of federal money, but we did put something into the pot. Lite maybe $75 million or so."

This is unbelievable. Right off the top, not even is there somebody who knows the answers, but is willing to give them.

"Yes we have extra copies. You want one of each? Fine. I'll pull them out of the files for you. How do you want them? Right away, eh? Okay. I'll get a messenger and shoot them right over."

That was 11:50 a.m.

The messenger didn't go for coffee on the way, didn't take his lunch break, didn't spend an hour on the Mall ogling the legs. Didn't have twenty other drops to make.

He came straight over from the federal tower to the Press Gallery with the two ministerial statements.

Time: 12:10 p.m.

Fantastic.

Call up the Special Communicator when he returns to say thanks and he knows what's required, how to get it and how to move it fast. Move it not later, not tomorrow, not by mail, not after lunch. But now, in 30 minutes.

The special Communicator says as he puts the phone down and he and his staff know that's what he means now.

THE UNEXPLAINED

What's Impossible?

By ALLEN SPRAGGETT

For me, one of the most puzzling parts of the unexplained is why scientists go on making cocksure statements about what is and is not possible.

Every day, it seems, some noted custodian of the revealed truths of science knows that "healing miracles are impossible," or "ESP can't possibly exist" or "the positions of the planets can't possibly influence human life." And so on.

Well, it's profitable to consider similar pronouncements made by eminent scientists in the past. Such an exercise serves as an antidote to the trend toward know-it-all scientism — the making of science into a religion pretending to a greater infallibility than any pope ever claimed.

This column is devoted to famous and not-so-famous examples of men of science who were sure that what was unexplained in their day couldn't happen.

Seventy years ago Simon Newcomb, mathematician and astronomer, was considered by many the greatest scientist in the United States. He was the first American since Benjamin Franklin to be made an associate of the venerable French Academy.

In an article in The Independent magazine of October 21, 1903, Newcomb proved conclusively that heavier-than-air flight was impossible.

"The demonstration that no possible combination of known substances, known forms of machinery and known forms of force, can be united in a practical machine by which men shall fly long distances through the air, seems to me as complete as it is possible for the demonstration of any physical fact to be," Newcomb said.

Three months later, on December 17, 1903, Orville and Wilbur Wright made the first powered flight in the history of mankind, using a combination of known substances, known forms of machinery, and known forms of force.

Even the Newcomb hadn't learned his lesson. In 1920 he told a reporter who asked him if man would ever fly to the moon: "No, because to place rocket carry the weight of anyone besides the pilot."

Astronomers seem to make particularly loud prophets. In May, 1957, Britain's Astronomer Royal, Dr. Richard Woolley — holder of that station's top astronomical post — was asked if space travel was a future possibility.

"Space travel," said the great scientist, "is utter bilge!"

Five months later the Russians put the first Sputnik into orbit and today, less than 20 years later, man has walked on the moon and sent rockets hurtling past Jupiter to the stars beyond.

And speaking of rockets, on December 3, 1945, Dr. Vannever Bush, the high priest of all U.S. scientists working on the war effort, told a Senate committee that intercontinental rockets were nothing to worry about.

"Technically, I don't think anyone in the world knows how to do such a thing," intoned the great scientific adviser to presidents, "and I feel confident that it will not be done for a very long period of time to come, if ever."

Even a truly great scientist, in a real pinch, can be as fallible as the next man. Ernest Rutherford of Cambridge University was considered one of the fathers of atomic physics. He was one of the first to chart the intricate microcosmic universe within the atom.

Yet on September 12, 1933, Lord Rutherford told a meeting of scientists: "Anyone who expects to get a source of power from the splitting of atoms is talking moonshine!"

In 1945 — nine years later — Enrico Fermi, at the University of Chicago, initiated the world's first controlled nuclear reaction, paving the way for the atom bomb and ultimately the peaceful use of that stupendous power which Rutherford called "moonshine!"

Is it any wonder that as an explorer of the unexplained my motto is: "I never said it was possible; I just said it happened!"

Oswald: "Sherlock Holmes — Bridge Detective" will be successful that Frank Thomas has produced a sequel called "The Return of Sherlock Holmes — Bridge Detective."

Jim: "The hands are interesting and almost all show the great detective at his best. However, even Sherlock is not perfect and today we see him making a rare slip."

Oswald: "Sherlock deduced from the bidding that a trump lead would be the best defense. It turned out not to be."

Jim: "Betty Cattle, the lady expert sitting South, wasted no time and playing the defense. She won the trump, led a spade to dummy, ruffed a spade, led a second trump, ruffed dummy's last spade and led a diamond."

Oswal: "Holmes and Watson took three diamond tricks and then Watson had to lead a club. Betty played for the club honors to be divided and wrapped up the rubber."

Jim: "Had Holmes opened a diamond there would have been no end play and no way to make the contract."

Ashmead Jacoby

A Missouri reader wants to know if it is true that Bryant McCampbell of St. Louis invented the 4-3-2-1 point count.

The answer is that back in 1915 McCampbell wrote his friend Milton Work suggesting that for notrump valuation he should count an ace as 4, a king as 3, a queen as 2 and a jack as one point. Work adopted this and for many years it was called the Work count. Goren extended it to put bidding by adding one point for each doubleton, 2 for each singleton and 3 for each void. Today, it is called either the point count or the Goren count.

Family's Success Can Be Measured in Bushels!

Charlie Wendell demonstrates his newly-found skill picking apples.

By ISABEL BUGGAN

Thinking of trying something you've never done before but worried about taking a chance? Go ahead! With a little luck and a lot of work you can make your life turn out the way you want it.

Need proof? Take a look at the Wendell family, Charlie and Gail and their four children, Mary Lynn, 15, Carol, 14, Kelly, 12, and Lee, 11.

Until last year, none of them had so much as picked an apple off a tree. But they decided to take a chance and make a change, sold their home in Trenton, and bought a 149-acre farm on the Gallivan Road with an orchard of 300 trees.

Now they know more about apples than they ever dreamed was possible, and they're learning more all the time. In the process, they're turning an orchard that had long lain idle into a growing concern again.

They moved to the farm in July, 1974, and found the autumn yield of Macintosh apples was about 20 bushels — plenty for their first experience picking, they say. This year, however, they got 200 bushels of these apples, and a "couple of hundred bushels of Courtlands," says Mr. Wendell. The orchard also produced plenty of Duchess and Wealthy apples in early summer, plus Spies, and some older varieties such as Talman Sweets and Baxters later in the season.

The reason, of course, has been careful pruning and spraying, done by Mr. Wendell. A novice on the farm scene — both he and his wife grew up in Ottawa and have no background for the kind of life they now lead — he admits he's had a lot of help, and shows you a cardboard box full of papers.

"The provincial Department of Agriculture is just great," he says. "They've got free pamphlets on everything you need to know. Their soil maps helped me decide to buy this place, once I saw how good it would be for crops. Their booklet on wells helped me book up our well the 1200 feet to the house, something I'd never done before."

In fact, just about everything he's done in the past few months has been something Charlie Wendell hadn't done before. A meteorologist at the CFB weather office in Trenton, he still calls himself a "hobby farmer", but is becoming more and more involved with his new projects. Armed with his books, he's done re-wiring and re-plumbing in the old farmhouse, also put in 100 new apple trees, 1,000 strawberry plants, three acres of sweet corn and 10 acres of grain that he share-crops with a neighboring farmer.

From another book he got enough information to give him the confidence to start seven hives of bees. "I'd always been afraid of bees and wasps," he says, "but with the right equipment I feel a lot safer, and I like the bees now."

When the Wendell kids come home from school, they're able to dip into the family honey pot for a sweet treat before supper, since their father extracted more than 100 pounds of honey this fall.

Mrs. Wendell is just as busy as her husband, with a garden in the summer to take care of, and a house that is still being renovated. And of course, there's the apples. Baskets and baskets and baskets of apples, to be picked and sorted and sold, new jobs for all the family.

Hail damage to many of the apples this summer prevents them being sold at the Stirling market where grading and eye appeal is important to sales. But the apples, still in good condition, are sold by the Wendells at their farm.

There have been some problems and costs the Wendells didn't foresee but they are thriving in their new environment, although... the children find the adjustment to country life more difficult than their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wendell comment about the helpfulness and friendliness of their neighbors.

"When farm women I meet here say, 'Come and visit me,' they really mean it," says Mrs. Wendell.

Working on the farm means fewer fishing trips and other activities the family used to have time for. And sometimes it seems as if the work will never be finished.

But that's part of the reason Mr. Wendell is so happy about how things have turned out, "There's always something to do," he says.

Gail Wendell and her son Lee sort a bushel of "Macs" for a customer.

NFU Surveys Farm Women

Farm wives may not do more work than city wives, but they certainly do more work without pay.

Hoping to gather supportive statistics on this, and other related matters, the National Farmers' Union is conducting a survey across Ontario. Questionnaires, sent to 2,000 farm wives, will be collected at the end of October.

Heading the survey is Elva Kerr of Campbellford, NFU women's advisory member for the Ontario region.

"We hope, with this survey, to help push legislation through so that women can get paid for working for their husbands," she says. "As it is now, farmers are not allowed to declare their wifes as hired hands. Yet, since hired hands are harder to find now, more and more wives are doing this work."

With the help of a $6,000 federal grant from the Secretary of State and a smaller provincial grant, the NFU will publish the survey results and a brochure later this year. Mrs. Kerr, and the other women working with her on the survey, are also preparing an information program based on the survey results.

"We need colored slides of women doing work around the farm," says Mrs. Kerr.

Any kind of work at all, in the garden, fields or barns, is suitable for the slide program. Anyone having suitable slides they could lend Mrs. Kerr, should send them to her at RR 4, Campbellford.

ALPHA DELTA KAPPA

The Lambda Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, a sorority of women educators, met recently at Nelson Calnan's cottage on Consecon Lake.

Grace Anderson presented the various programmes outline for the coming year by the Programme Committee. It was decided that meeting nights be rotated in an attempt to give an opportunity to the members involved in various night courses during the week.

The evening featured a report by Clara Adams who attended the Alpha Delta Kappa conference held at the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles, in July. The theme of the Ninth International Conference was "Positive Approach and Continuing Action." Clara Adams bore greetings to her from Ruth Calhoun, Grand President of the International Sorority.

The keynote speaker, Dillon Neal, past-president of the A.D.K. Associates for business, elaborating on his theme "Wake up, make up and go" stated that the purpose of education is to educate the mind not stuff the memory. Further points raised were that man must rise above machines and learn how to think, he must lose or use opportunities; that everyone wants to be loved, admired and respected. He stressed the duties of humanity for security, stimulation, opportunity and identity.

Ann Colbourne thanked Clara Adams for her concise presentation and for representing the Lambda Chapter from Belleville in Los Angeles

NSA WORKSHOP

"Business Women: What It Their Role?" will be the topic of a Workshop sponsored by the Belleville chapter of the National Secretaries Association, Saturday, October 25, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Organized by the International Women's Year Committee of the NSA, the event is open to the public at no charge, at Centennial Secondary School. Coffee and refreshments will be served following the program.

Lin Good of Kingston, member of the Ontario Status of Women Council and assistant chief librarian at Douglas Library, Queen's University, will be guest speaker. Discussing the role of business women in contemporary society, and answering questions from the audience, will be a panel of five persons: Glora Delaney, chief librarian at Corby Public Library, Judge R.C. Hosey, county court judge; Marie Huffman, teacher of business Centennial Secondary School; Leslie Reid, deputy director of education for the Hastings County Board of Education, and Jean Smith, Belleville city council alderman.

STIRLING WI

Stirling Women's Institute met in the Community Hall on October 8. The roll call was answered by members telling what field they would choose if they were to continue their education.

Margaret Green was appointed delegate to the area convention in Campbellford October 28-29.

The members heard a paper on education and cultural activities.

Buy - Buy - Buy - Buy Begins on Sunday

On a recent holiday in a large U.S. city I was awed by the number and variety of two things: restaurants and shopping centres. Within a few miles of main street there were specialty restaurants for every plate: roast beef sandwiches restaurants, pancake restaurants, hamburger restaurants, a delicatessen that stands, pie and coffee all night restaurants, chicken, pizza, fish and chips ... ad nauseum. And sandwiched between, so to speak, were shopping centres of remarkable dimensions. One even featured a completely enclosed amusement park complete with rides and side shows. Besides their actual existence, the most shocking things was that they were open seven days a week. Many major supermarkets were open 24-hours a day.

Shopping, it seems, and eating in restaurants, is the major American past-time, replacing most other forms of entertainment. And to judge from shoppers I saw, its mostly on credit.

I can remember standing in the midst of this BUY-BUY-BUY atmosphere and thinking "Wow, I'm glad it's not like this at home."

Now - guess what I came home to find? Right, a battle over whether supermarkets would stay open on Sunday. I suspect that that's the way things started in the United States and after exposure to the end result I must add that I vote - if anyone ever asks me - is for Sunday closure.

Believe it or not, you eat it pounds of ketchup every year.

Or at least you do if you're an average Canadian.

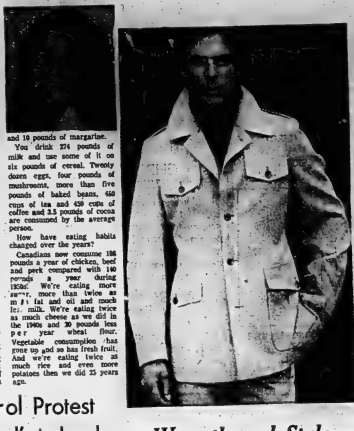
Besides that, you eat 12 pounds of fresh tomatoes, 11 pounds of canned tomatoes, 19 pounds of tomato juice and 30 pounds of tomato paste.

Do you think that's a lot of tomatoes, keep in mind that you also eat 21 pounds of meat, fish and poultry along with 108 pounds of sugar. Not to mention seven pounds of lard, 24 pounds of oils and fats and 10 pounds of margarine.

You drink 274 pounds of milk and use some of it on six pounds of cereal. Twenty dozen eggs, four pounds of mushrooms, more than five pounds of baked beans, 440 cups of tea and 430 cups of coffee and 15 pounds of cocoa are consumed by the average person.

How have eating habits changed over the years?

Canadians now consume 186 pounds a year of chicken, beef and pork compared with 140 pounds a year during 1926. We're eating more variety, more than twice as much fat and oil and much less milk. We're eating twice as much cheese as we did in the 1900s and 30 pounds less per year wheat flour. Vegetable consumption has gone up and so has fruit juice. And we're eating twice as much rice and even more potatoes then we did 25 years ago.



'IWY Useful' Says Cooke

SASKATOON (CP) — The chairman of the federal advisory council on the status of women says International Women's Year has served a useful purpose in Canada.

Dr. Kalle Cooke of Ottawa said in an interview recently the year has provided a platform for women to tell the country that the problems affecting women's rights are real and are shared by women across the country.

Dr. Cooke was in Saskatoon to attend a meeting of the federal and provincial advisory councils on the status of women.

She said that although the problems of women are out in the open, progress in obtaining equality for women has been slow.

Allan Sullivan, attorney-general of Nova Scotia and another delegate to the conference, told interviewers the judiciary needs to get tougher with criminals.

He said he has been advising judges in Nova Scotia that they are being too soft on hardened criminals.

Women's Wage Control Protest

'Phoney and Far-fetched': Lalonde

OTTAWA (CP) — Phoney and far-fetched were the words Marc Lalonde, minister responsible for the status of women, used Wednesday to describe a protest by a group of women who said wage controls will widen the salary gap between men and women.

"There is an element of truth to the statement," Mr. Lalonde told a conference of management representatives from government, unions and business, organized to ensure that the cause of International Women's Year does not die in Dec. 31.

"Even with the cut-down exemptions now being scheduled, but I remind you that there is a ceiling to these increases of $2,400 and that these guidelines are not a permanent feature of our society," the minister said.

The group of about 30 women had demonstrated outside the federal conference centre, carrying placards which read "Equal pay for equal value jobs" and "Equal benefits" which said, among other things, "Wage and price controls keep women's wages down."

"Wage and price controls calculated on a percentage basis are discriminatory against the lower paid worker. The gap between men's and women's wages will increase over the next few years under this plan," the women said in a statement.

"It is a phoney argument and far-fetched in relation to the guidelines," Mr. Lalonde said in an interview later. "If there were no wage and price controls would they say that the gap would disappear?"

The minister said women may win higher increases under the wage guides "which make exceptions for the elimination of sex discrimination in pay practices."

Under the legislation 'an employer may not make an increase above those recommended by the guides it he or she can demonstrate that the increase was necessary to eliminate sex discrimination in pay practices.

The demonstrators also secured the government of backing down on its 1972 endorsement of a convention in the International Labour Organization's code which provides equal pay for work of equal value.

"There should be a good public debate over the description of equal value," before human rights legislation, which deals with equality of opportunity, is put up in the legislature, Mr. Lalonde said.

Vitamin Laws Stir Protest

TORONTO (CP) — An official of the Canadian Health Food Association said almost 45,000 letters have been sent to the Ontario government to protest a proposal law which classifies most vitamins as drugs and says they must be sold by pharmacists.

Willie Pelzer, Ontario chairman of the association, said the form letters say pharmacists have a monopoly and that consumers should be allowed to buy vitamins in potencies and retail outlets of their choice.

The association is advising its 250 members in Ontario to continue selling the vitamins and says it will fight the Health Disciplines Act proclaimed last July 14.

Potatoes Are Full of Food Value

If They're Not Pared and Drowned

If a potato could talk, it would probably bewail the fact that it is all too often thickly pared and cooked in quantities of water sufficient to drown it!

To get the most food value from potatoes, cook them whole in their jackets is as little boiling as possible, we suggest Food Specialists at the O.A.C. Food Council, Ministry of Agriculture and Food, if you prefer boiled potatoes to be pared, keep the paring thin. Once pared, potatoes should be cooked immediately.

To speed cooking, cut potatoes in pieces and cook in as little water as possible in a tightly-covered saucepan. Although the largest amount of exposed surface tends to increase the loss of nutrients this may be offset by the shorter cooking time.

To achieve best flavor and appearance and to retain vitamins, do not overcook potatoes. Cook only until they can be pierced easily with a fork. Cooking times vary with size, shape and type of potato. Drain the potatoes as soon as they are cooked so that they won't get water-logged. Uncover to let steam escape. If necessary, shake the potatoes in the pan over a low heat to dry them.

Food specialists at the Ontario Food Council, Ministry of Agriculture and Food, are often asked to explain why some potatoes bake well while others are soggy when cooked the same way. They say that the baking quality of a potato depends partly on its "specific gravity".

Tests show that a potato's dry matter content, or specific gravity, has such influence on the cooking quality and best cooking use for a particular potato. Usually, the potato is approximately 20 per cent solids and 80 per cent water. The higher the solids content, the less water there is. A potato with a high solid content should bake well.

A simple test to determine whether a potato is better suited for baking or boiling is to place it in a brine solution (1 cup table salt to 4 cups water). If it sinks, it has a high solid content and is good for baking. If it floats, it has a low solid content and is good for boiling.

Another component of cooking quality is the size of the starch granules. A potato with small granules is never a good baker. For example, if it has both specific gravity, the texture will be pasty or almost "chewy"; however, if the specific gravity is low, it will be soggy.

On the other hand, a potato with large granules is very dry and mealy when its specific gravity is high but it is still acceptable when it is low. "Netted Gem" has large granules and is always a good baker, regardless of its specific gravity.

Potatoes can be classed into boilers or bakers depending on starch content, with considerable overlapping from one class to another. If you bake a boiler, it won't be as dry and flaky as you might expect. If you boil a baker, which is mealy when baked, it will tend to break up when boiled.

Flying Model Planes Is Safe and Exciting

EDMONTON (CP) — The sport of flying model airplanes has come a long way since the planes could fly only in a circle.

Very good co-ordination and dexterity just like other athletes," says Harold Tom of Edmonton, who has flown model planes in three world championships.

The planes, which cost up to $1,000, are operated by remote control, with direction, speed and turns up to the operator.

Merv Skeeter, vice-president of the Edmonton Radio Control Society, said the sport has improved as much in the last 15 years as the aviation industry has improved in the last 50.

"We now can fly models, of course aircraft, even four-engined jets," he said. "The latest thing is the helicopter."

Some planes have retractable landing gear, with the wheels folding in after takeoff.

"It's very exciting, knowing you are going across the ground at speeds between 180 and 190 miles an hour," Mr. Tom said, noting the model planers can do everything a real plane can do and more.

A nearby flying field used by the society is often used by Second World War model-Mustangs or Spitfires, and annual flying competitions have been held for 16 years.

Entrants are required to do pattern flying, in which planes have prescribed movements they must complete, and pylon flying, in which as many as six planes go along a course.

When planes crash-sometimes because of the operator's inexperience and sometimes because radio signals get mixed up-they are not a total write-off.

"Normally I'd be able to take all the hardware and reuse it," said Bruce Bender, an Edmonton biologist and model-plane buff.

There's one other consolation, he said.

"If you crash, you don't kill yourself."

Warmth and Style — Great Combination!

Fall fashion for her dictates the sweater as a "must" - and this season's necked number with crochet trim is one from the giraffe collection this year, guaranteed to go with pants and shirts for a casual look, or with jewelry and a skirt for more formal wear. For him, the look is smooth and trim, in a leisure suit from Aquascutum, in a grey wool and polyester fabric, worn with a heavy woolen turtle-neck sweater for outdoor activities in cold weather. The emphasis on pocket detail is a feature of many male outfits this season. (CP Photo)

Ann Landers

If You're Sane and Sober, Ann Says, A Plastic Bag on Your Head Is Okay

Dear Ann Landers: How COULD you, even in the name of humor, print the suggestion that a cook put a plastic bag over his head while peeling onions in order to avoid "fumes"? Some unthinking reader is sure to try this suggestion and suffocate! I urge you to warn your readers against the use of plastic bags in such a manner, and especially to keep those things out of the reach of children! — Deeply Disappointed

Dear Dis: I was dumbfounded at the number of letters (and phone calls!) I received from readers who were upset by the suggestion that the onion peeler put a plastic bag over his head to avoid teary eyes and a running nose.

There is no way an adult can suffocate if he is in his right mind and sober.

As for keeping plastic bags out of the reach of children — see your help. — Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: What can be done to protect yourself against a vicious relative? My husband's older brother has tried to dominate our lives as well as the lives of his other brothers and their families from the moment we married into the family.

There were five boys and each of the wives has had to learn to accept her position from this eldest brother's venomous attacks. He writes letters to his younger brothers at work and tells them what their wives have been doing that he thinks is wrong. He then suggests "proper punishment."

It doesn't stop there. He writes letters to them on what he hears about their children and doesn't hesitate to outline what should be done about their "terrible behavior." In the meantime his own kids have been in trouble with the police and his frightened mouse of a wife is candidate for a mental ward.

Please come out swinging. We need your help. — Beat Down

Dear B.D.: No man or beast could become that powerful unless someone gave him the authority. The Gestapo routine should have been spotted the minute Big Brother began to click his nose into your business.

Its up to you women to let your husbands know you will no longer tolerate the bully's interference. If you haven't the guts to do it you'll just have to suffer. — Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I were godparents for our friend's baby a number of years ago. We have always remembered the child on his birthday and at Christmas. We also babysat with her many times and took her to spend the day with us. We really loved that little girl dearly.

Three years ago we had our first baby and asked these same friends to be godparents to our child. We wanted to honor them as they had honored us. That first year they sent the baby a Christmas gift and came to give a few items. The second year, not even a card and only one phone call to see how we were. This year we have not heard from them at all.

My husband wants to request that our priest take their names off the baptismal papers so we can ask my older brother and his wife to be godparents to the child.

We have argued this back and forth a dozen times and cannot come to a final conclusion. What would your advice be? — Annette and Joey

Dear A and J: Three years later is no time to ask your brother and his wife to be godparents to your firstborn. Obviously you and the other couple grew apart. But life is unpredictable and sometimes that's the way the cookie crumbles. Accept the fact that you made an unfortunate choice and leave things as they are.

Improve your insulation for greater energy conservation.

Whether you own an older home or a new one, almost all Canadian homes are now insulated to minimum standards. One of the best ways to conserve energy and save money is to upgrade the insulation in your home. A well insulated home provides better year round comfort by keeping you warmer in winter and cooler in summer. It only takes a matter of one or two hours and your home insulation can be upgraded easily, economically, and with no mess.

Northern and Central Gas Corporation Limited has prepared a special programme of energy conservation for its customers. If you are presently enjoying Natural Gas in your home, we can help you conserve energy and save money on your heating bills with our home insulation offer. Send in the coupon or drop into our local office and pick up a copy of our insulation brochure with its tear out reply card. We'll be pleased to make arrangements for an insulating expert to meet with you to evaluate your particular situation and provide you with an estimate on upgrading your insulation. You can arrange to spread your insulation costs over convenient monthly payments on your Natural Gas account.*

Armor of God For War of Life

By
Dr. Gordon C. Smyth,

For the warfare of life (Ephesians 6:10-17) St. Paul writes that we are to put on "the whole armour of God". The Apostle knew himself and others enough to have good reason for inserting the adjective "whole". We are apt to put on only that part of the divine armor that offers the least interference with our freedom of choice and action.

Consider, for instance, "the breastplate of righteousness". There are times when we would rather leave that at home or church than to take it into the rough and tumble of everyday life. Without "the breastplate of righteousness" we have more elbow room: it is easier to get ahead.

Similarly, there are times when we find the girdle of "truth" too restrictive. A little elasticity as to what is true seems to be expedient. Who will know the difference when some information is withheld from the consumer? Who will check - whether the elected official makes good on everything that he, as a candidate, promises?

When you come right down to it, it could turn out that the only part of the divine armor which we really want is "the shield of faith" and "the helmet of salvation". That is the peace of mind and in this life and bliss in the life to come.

However, what the inventory of defensive armor makes clear is, first of all, that the forces of evil are so subtle and sinister that we had better be well protected from head to foot.

And any adequate defense it is, indeed. Protected by truth, righteousness, active goodwill, confidence and trust in God, we need not fear that "the spiritual hosts of wickedness" will be able to defeat us. MORE

As a matter of fact, when you give the inventory a second look, you begin to see that it is not just protective. It stands us in good stead, too, in attacking the forces of evil.

But, obviously, the most effective weapon of attack is, as St. Paul affirms, "the sword of the Spirit", Jesus Christ and his ministry because, as he said, "the Spirit of the Lord is upon me".

The Spirit also gave birth to the Church. Its growth, its revival - renewal, its ecumenical expression in our own generation are all to be ascribed to the life-giving power of the Holy Spirit.

It is heartening to know that we can count on resources beyond our own. Our ultimate strength is in the Lord. We can stand in the strength of his might. "Who is in the strength of Jesus trusts", declared Charles Wesley in a hymn based on this particular text of scripture, "is more than conqueror".

Middle Ages Portrayed Joseph as Old Bumbler

NEW YORK (AP) — Modern Christians tend to regard Joseph, the husband of Jesus' mother, Mary, as the family's watchful guardian, but a new study indicates believers used to see him in a less-honored role.

"The people of the Middle Ages portrayed Joseph as a bumbling, forgetful old man," says Gail Gibson in a doctoral dissertation at University of Virginia.

Mrs. Gibson, who is to become an assistant professor of English at Princeton University this fall, did her doctoral study on the drama and art of the 14th century.

Joseph was actually a comic figure in that age," she says. "In the icons, he is pictured dozing or brooding with his head on his hands, and in the dramas, he is often the object of ridicule.

"For instance, in a few dramatizations, comic Joseph finds out Mary is pregnant, he protests out loud that he's an old man, so what else can he expect from a young wife. He then reviles Mary in coarse way and demands to know who the father is."

Mrs. Gibson says that while this comic portrayal of Joseph may seem sacrilegious, the so-called mystery plays were religious dramas, intended to state doctrine openly, resolve them and bring people to greater faith.

She says the mystery plays could treat religious doubts in a comic vein because there was no concept of atheism in that age.

"This connotes that it is human to have doubts like Joseph's but that God is always there watching, ready to intervene if necessary."

Nevertheless, she says, it was an age of "doubt and questioning," much like today, when cultural changes had made people aware that they couldn't prove beliefs once considered absolute.

The plays were "enormously popular," she says. "By ridiculing and making fun of a character like Joseph who has doubts, the playwright showed human inadequacies and that every man can be caught in circumstances he doesn't understand.

"This makes the belief and redemption greater at the end of the play when the man comes to faith."

Nostalgia Lives

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — They said this city's many tourist attractions will easily be located by travelers if new guide signs are approved. Niagara Resort and Tourist Association has proposed new signs on all surrounding regional roads and erection of large map directories at major city intersections with areas provided for motorists to pull off and exam them.

Maps to Guide

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — They used to sell new cars in the showroom now called Fantasy Junction but owner Elmer Fleigauf wanted to go in for old-fashioned nostalgia and now has Cadillacs with swooping fins, low-slung T-Birds and even a 1929 Ford Woody on the lot. Mr. Fleigauf says crowds flock in at the cars. "I don't think there is anything else like it anywhere nearby," he says.

Workers Plan to Picket Dominion Store Sunday Opening

The Dominion store in the Belleville Plaza said today it plans to open for business Sunday. But some employees have indicated they will not work and plan to picket the store.

Carl McMullen, store manager, said in a telephone interview today he received word from the chain's head office in Toronto Friday ordering him to open the store Sunday.

"We don't like to open on Sunday, but are being forced to do it by our competition," he said.

A. and P., also located in the plaza, began the Sunday shopping controversy in the city when it opened for business four weeks ago.

A store employee, who wished to remain unidentified, told The Intelligencer the store has about 88 workers and about 95 per cent had been approached by management and requested to work Sunday.

"It's questionable whether anyone will work," the employee said.

"95 per cent" of the employees are against working on Sunday, the worker added.

Details of the protest remained sketchy, but other groups have indicated they may join Dominion workers on the picket line.

Doug Sword, president of the Quinte District Labor Council verified today some members of his organization will participate in the protest.

He added, however, the number would be small.

Mr. Sword said he expected employees of other food stores to participate and that a Toronto representative of the Retail Workers and Department Store union is also expected to be on hand.

Mr. McMullen said he is aware of the planned protest but refused to comment whether it would affect the the chain's decision to open.

"As it stands now we will be open tomorrow unless I hear differently from Toronto," he said.

He said the store plans to open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Dominion is the third food chain outlet in the Belleville area to open on Sunday.

Food City, beside Towers on Dundas St. West opened Sunday a week after A and P.

Wages Only One Issue Claim Postal Workers

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

The overwhelming majority of inside postal workers in Belleville, Trenton and Brighton already earn the top unions top pay scale for their job categories and national union demands would boost their hourly pay to $5.85.

The existing rate for mail sorters and postal clerks is $4.99.

Postmaster in Belleville, Roy Wainright, pointed Friday, of the 37 men he has in Belleville, 34 have completed at least three years of service and are paid the top rate. "About 85 per cent get the top scale."

He also said that Brighton personnel all receive the maximum wage.

Gord Hannah, postmaster in Trenton, said all of his clerks and sorters are also being paid the maximum allowed.

In a strike vote held earlier this week all area inside workers with the exception of the Trenton office staff voted to give their national union a mandate to walk out if continued negotiations with the federal government failed.

The national union is demanding a 75-per-cent salary increase over one year which would boost the pay scale from $4.99 to $7.85 an hour.

Walter Yaleman, president of the Belleville local, of inside workers — the largest local in the area — said wages were just one issue the union is negotiating.

He said part-time or temporary workers and their job conditions is a major area as well in the talks.

"We have many targets in our negotiations and it is hard to say which are the most important," he said.

"We know the federal government's wage and price curbs program is in effect and that we are going to be restrained," he said.

"But there are other issues as important as wages . . . particularly improving the conditions of the part-time workers and guarding against technological change (mechanical mail sorting)," said Mr. Yaleman.

Part-time workers, regardless of seniority, are restricted to the lowest wage scale and have no pension rights," he said. "We are trying to get benefits for other groups within the union who are being badly treated."

Asked if a postal strike is inevitable, Mr. Yaleman said he is personally prepared to strike.

"The union is willing to do whatever is necessary to get an acceptable settlement," he said.

Ferry Service Reduced

GLENORA — Capt. Keith Dunbrey of the Glenora ferries said Friday that the ferry Glenora will be taken out of service at midnight, Sunday Oct. 26 for drydock repairs.

Half hour service will be provided by the ferry Quinte Loyalist. The boat will leave the Adolphustown shore on the half hour, and the Glenora shore on the quarter hour.

Repairs to a damaged rudder on the Glenora and installation of new engines are expected to take approximately two weeks.

Organist Pays Visit

PICTON — A prominent organist in radio and television Rosa Rio of Westport, Conn. will perform tonight at Picton United Church in a special concert beginning at 8 p.m.

Miss Rio has played for a number of popular daily radio and television shows such as The Shadow, My True Story, Rosa Rio Rhythms and Brighter Day.

In addition to Miss Rio's music, tonight's concert will feature the voices of Haasland and Robert Reid of Belleville, guest artists for the performance.

Firefighter Unchanged

Capt. George Woodhouse of the Belleville Fire Department, who suffered a heart attack during Friday's early-morning fire at a 99-82 Victoria Ave. apartment block, is still listed in serious condition in the intensive care unit at Belleville General Hospital today.

Insp. Paul Stephenson, department investigator, said Friday no cause has been determined for the blaze which extensively damaged the second floor of the two-storey, 100-year-old structure.

Biggest Cheque?

H. W. Lilly, general manager of the subscriber switching division of Northern Electric Co. Ltd., in Belleville hands a $9,000 cheque to J. Robert Burns, United Way campaign chairman. Although it may not be the largest single donation it will probably be the biggest cheque of the year.

Hospital Seminars Cover Wide Range of Problems

Amputations, headaches, nutrition, physically handicapped children and respiratory disease will be the subjects of five days of seminars at Belleville General Hospital during Rehabilitation Week 75 from Nov. 10-14.

The format, involving some 30 participants, will follow that of previous years with morning and afternoon sessions oriented to the interest of the medical allied health and associated professions and evening presentations for the general public.

Registration fee from the professional seminars is a nominal $3 per day. The evening public sessions are offered without charge as a service to the community.

All sessions will be held in Education Hall, commencing at 9 a.m. with registration at 8:30 a.m. If necessary extra seating will be available in the lecture theatre which will be wired for closed circuit television reception of the programs.

Complimentary coffee will be served during the morning and afternoon sessions. Lunch will be available in the hospital cafeteria at moderate prices and places may be booked at time of registration.

Requests for pre-registration and enquiries pertaining to the special week should be addressed to the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine, Belleville General Hospital, P O Box 428, Belleville, Ont.

Ryder To Speak

Merv Ryder, vice-president of the Ontario Society of Industrial Accountants will address a group of Belleville businessmen Monday at a meeting of the Quinte chapter of the Society of Industrial Accountants. Theme of his speech will be "small business is big business."

Damage Extensive

BRIGHTON — A two-car accident involving a local man and an Oshawa driver on Highway 2 caused $1,500 total damage but injured no one, Friday afternoon.

Cameron Rundle, 27, Brighton was charged with failure to yield when his vehicle he was driving was in collision with a westbound vehicle, said a spokesman for the Brighton detachment of the Ontario Provincial police.

Parked Car Hit Twice

TRENTON — Local man had a rougher time than most during the stormy weather, Friday night, as his car parked in front of his home, was hit twice in separate accidents.

Douglas Barry, 72 Division St., had to file two accident reports with police who estimated the total damage to his car at $1,200.

At 6:15 p.m., a car driven by Herbert Perry, of Trenton, sideswiped Mr. Barry's vehicle. Later on at 10:40 p.m. during the heavy rainfall a second vehicle driven by Harold Stevenson, 35, also of Trenton, was in collision with the parked car and caused $1,000, police estimated.

Police have charged Perry with impaired driving while the Stevenson accident is still under investigation.

Man Hit By Own Car

TRENTON — An Oshawa man is in Trenton Memorial Hospital suffering from cuts to his legs when the car he was repairing rolled out of a driveway and struck him up as he attempted to stop it Friday.

Listed in satisfactory condition is Eugene Doherty, 39.

He said the vehicle rolled out of the laneway and he hurriedly tried to stop the car he slipped and his left leg was run over by one of the front wheels.

Washer Sells Fast

A Belleville resident discovered recently the market has a real thirst for second-hand wringer machines.

Mrs. M. recently advertised one such machine in the classified section of The Intelligencer and was overwhelmed with 19 telephone calls. She said if she had a dozen machines, she could have sold them all.

If you have any washing machines or other appliances sitting unused they can be turned into ready cash. Just call The Intelligencer Want Ad department at 962-9171.

Hours Before Council But No Action Expected

Reaction to Sunday supermarket openings has gathered impetus for city hall. However, city council also is being officially advised against any action at this legislature.

Letters protesting the Sunday business moves are scheduled for councils' viewing when it meets Monday.

Correspondence has come from several church groups including the Belleville Ministerial Association.

The letters follow council's decision two weeks to have city manager Wilbur Purcell draft a report on the issue before contemplating any decision.

Mr. Purcell has reached his report which reviews city ordinances as store closings which also include certain exemptions.

A Loyalist College news release this week inadvertently omitted the name of Hugh Wilkinson from the list of members of the new Quinte Arts Centre Task Force. Mr Wilkinson is chairman of the college board of governors.

In addition, an Intelligencer story Saturday involving the task force by our the name of another member — Herbert Young, college president.

Pledge Dusters

Bernard Indewey (left) and Kevin Munro, both 15 and Interact Club members, do weekend cleaning at the Campbell apartment at 404 - 247 West Bridge St. today. It is part of the club's work-a-thon which has members work up to 10 hours apiece free for Belleville's senior citizens. The two boys have raised $3 - $6 in pledges per hour between them. Kevin is work-a-thon student chairman.

Most See Need for Wage and Price Controls

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau ordered mandatory wide price and wage controls early this week in a major inflation-fighting move to last three years.

He set up a watchdog, a 200-member agency that will monitor company price increases to limit them to true increases in company manufacturing costs. Wages among about half of the country's workers will be kept to a limit of 10 per cent annually.

The program of restraint, said Mr. Trudeau, is "the heaviest imposed upon Canadians since the Second World War."

Reactions from those to be affected by the inflation-fighting program, either directly or indirectly, was mostly favorable in a random sampling of shoppers at the Quinte Mall.

Several people, however, said the measures should have come far sooner than they did.

GUY BRADSHAW

Stirling resident Guy Bradshaw, pc, criticized Mr. Trudeau for not including measures to restrict credit buying — a practice he said is "ruining the country."

A former car salesman, Mr. Bradshaw said, "People extend the payments far too long. This is why they're believing that they have no money. They're overspending their income on long-term credit."

HARRY NEILL

Conroy's Furniture World salesman Harry Neill said the prime minister's move is "an excellent idea if they can keep a tight rein on it (inflation)."

"It's a very important job, and a very difficult job," he said the anti-inflation board has. But he doesn't believe, he said, that it's 700 employees can watch the entire country closely.

DOUG DAINARD

Controls "in some way, may help inflation to stop," said Simpsons-Sears Ltd., salesman Doug Dainard, 21.

But inflation, he said, "has already happened. All he's (Trudeau) doing is slowing it down. To freeze prices is a good idea in one sense, but, in my books people cause inflation. People demand more wages and something has to pay for it."

DOUG DAFOE

Belleville postman Doug Dafoe said it "was about time" the government took steps to curb inflation: "Everything price-wise is going out of sight and it's up to him, Mr. Trudeau, to slow it down."

"He's a smart man and hell come up with an answer," said Mr. Dafoe.

"We're being smothered by inflation."

ANN STEVENS

A housewife in Belleville, Ann Stevens says it is "undeterminable" if the new controls will help, but she still feels pessimistic. "People think theyre (prices) high now, but they haven't reached the limit yet."

"If (high prices) shouldn't have happened, that's for sure, but I don't think it will get any better," she said.

GRACE McCLUSKEY

Grace McCluskey, a Grand Falls, N.B. resident in Trenton to visit her brother, said Mr. Trudeau "should have done it a couple of years ago before prices went sky-high."

"I have it in the family and it takes quite a bit to feed them," she said.

"We need someone in there that knows something about the poor man."

Bobcats Make Bruins Look Like Teddy Bears

When the big, bad Whitby Young Bruins came to town on Friday night for an encounter with the Belleville Bobcats, Whitby proved to be anything but big and bad. They were humiliated 15-6 by the high flying Cats in Metro Junior B Hockey action.

Whitby had, in previous tames with the Belleville quad, earned a reputation of being more concerned with bone league tactics rather than the game of hockey. In Friday's contest however the visitors showed little concern for anything, save getting the game over.

"We were expecting a little tougher game than that from them," commented Belleville coach Meehan Bonnar after the Cats second win in as many night. "We played a good first period but after that," added Bonnar in reference to the listless style of play exhibited by both clubs in the second half of the contest.

The shots on goal told the story as the home club outlist the Bruins by a 45-20 margin and made the contest little more than a shooting drill. Belleville, in the first five games of the season, have amassed a total of 40 goals, or an average of eight a game while allowing the opposition

Heading into the final period of play, with a good number of the 1000 or so fans already making their way towards the exits, Belleville had a 13-1 lead and the visitors capitalized on Belleville's sloppy play and scored five goals out of the eight shots they had on net in last 20 minutes.

The game was a relatively clean one compared to earlier match ups between Belleville and Whitby. Each club picked up only 16 minutes in the box, all minors. Scoring for the Belleville club was divided between eight players with Grant Gorman the only Cat to pick up three markers.

Tony Meagher continued his single handed attack on goalies picking up a pair of goals and adding two assists. Other Belleville players with two goals were Paul Johnston and Bob Chase. For Johnston it was his first goals of the season. Andy Ricketts, Bruce Leedham, Joey Edwards and Eric Powell all added singles to round out the damage for the home team.

SHOTS ON GOAL

	1	2	3	Total
Belleville	13	12	20	45
Whitby	8	7	5	20

Will last night's game have any affect on the Belleville performance in Sunday's match-up with the Pickering Panthers? "I hope not," said Bonnar, "they played a loose game tonight and I think they know what they have to do to beat Pickering. They'll be up for the game."

Game time for Sunday' contest with Pickering is 8:15 at the Memorial. It will be a real test for the team, according to Bonnar. The Belleville coach also feels that the three games with only a day of rest will be to the Cats advantage when they take to the ice against the Panthers.

Scott Samis, who injured his shoulder in Thursday's game against the Kingston Canadian Voyageurs will be back in the lineup by next week end. The injury having been diagnosed as a pulled muscle. Rick Langstaffe will be back on the blue line for Belleville Sunday after serving his two game suspension. Paul Tilley, the Cats best rushing forward, still has one remaining game left in his suspension.

Whitby Young Bruins were forced to resort to there tactics in the first two periods of Friday night's Metro Junior B encounter at the Memorial Arena. Still, holding and hooking, though legal, proved to be the three Bruins weren't enough to stop the Belleville Bobcats from scoring 13 goals en winning the game. Here, Belleville's Bubba Thompson is held to the ice by Bruin defenseman Ken Elson and Bruce Leedham is hooked by Andy Hosaar. Nevertheless, Leedham got his backhand a way and beat Jim Buchanan for the first Bobcat goal of the game. That started an unbelievable onslaught of the Cats beat the Whitby netminder seven times before the first period was over. They added five in the second before pulling up and holding back in the final 20 minutes of play. The Cats 13-6 victory Friday night gives them a 5-4 record for the season and 11 consecutive wins since exhibition action began.

Tigers Devour Opposition on Two Fronts

When you're hot you're hot and when you're not . . . .

Judging from the results of Fridays Bay of Quinte Secondary School Football League games you're not hot you might as well forget it.

In the senior contest, Trenton Tigers and Centennial Chargers proved what promised to be one of the toughest battles of the season. Both clubs had 2-2 records. Trenton was the number one defensive squad in the league but they just come off their worst defeat of the year. The Chargers, after dropping their first two games, had just won two straight.

As in everything else so far in the senior football season the game hardly went according to plan. The Chargers dismally disappointed their home crowd as they were held to just one point. Trenton, on the other hand, scored 26 points, the most they've come up with in any of their games during the 75 campaign.

Unusual results appeared to be contagious Friday. The Trenton Junior Tigers, who defeated all year, were pitted at home against the bullish Moira Trojans; the number two club in the junior standings. The anticipated contest shaped up as the season's classic.

However, the Tigers retained their undefeated mark and left no questions as to which team was number one. They sent the Trojans home, doing double time in retreat, on the short end of 44-6 slaughter.

The Chargers just couldn't put it together. Three times inside the Trenton end zone they picked off Tiger passes, but to no avail. Trenton's gridiron line and linebacker refused to be intimidated by the running attack of eventual backs Rob Scully or Paul Hipkin. Both had carried the ball of the Chargers' offensive drivers into Trenton territory only to mount any sizeable gains against Trenton.

The Tigers' offensive line clawed through the Charger defense leaving room for halfback Greg Kendrick, who did most of the lugging in Friday's victory.

Quarterback Dave Lewis put the tabbies on the scoreboard early in the second period with a 45 yard gallop down the right sideline.

That started the black and gold machine rolling. Versatile Bob Thompson, playing center linebacker Friday, took a punt on his own 49 yard line and broke for the chalk line on the left side of the field. Seeing no openings there, he reversed fields and outsprinted the entire Charger squad with virtually no blocking whatsoever for six points.

Kendrick, and his colleague at the other halfback position, Ed Mullins drove into the Charger end zone for the other two majors.

Rob Oliver converted two of the four Tiger touchdowns to round out their 26 point attack.

Centennial quarterback and punter Rob Delorey was a living study in futility as he scrambled, squirmed and hopelessly watched his club's offence degenerate before the CSS fans. It was Delorey however who drilled a punt right into the Trenton end zone area for his teams only point of the contest.

The efforts of the Trenton squad could only be matched by the results of the titan Tigers over Moira.

They pulverized the Trojans in all aspects of the game. Though the score was not indicative of the calibre of the two clubs it was a very complete indication of how the Trojans played.

Trenton QB Brian Hanson swarmed the Moira end zone with seven TD's. Three of those came on his own short range dashes.

Jeff Steiner and Mark Neville, Hanson's halfbacks each collected a major and Henry Paterson, his fullback and the workhorse of the Trenton ground game, blasted his way through the Trojan defence for six points as well.

Hanson went to the air for the seventh touchdown and clicked with his prime receiver, John Webb. Scucatto was good on two of seven convert attempts to cap off the Tigers' tale.

Again it was one of those days for the opposition signal caller. Dave Bennett could get no marginal gains on the ground as his backfield went flat. Each time he went to the air he was cut down by the invulnerable Trenton pass defence.

Corner linebacker Wayne Murphy keyed the cuts defences with three of their five interceptions.

Despite his seemingly wasted attempts to spark the kindling of offence, Bennett refused to accept the humiliation of being shutout. Late in the third quarter he carried the ball into the end zone himself for the Trojans only six points of the day.

Lewis turned this sweep, around the right end, into a 45-yard touchdown gallop in the second quarter of Friday's senior contest at Centennial. The Tigers added three more majors to Lewis' and took a lopsided 26-1 decision.

Russ Prior – Three Gold

Weightlifters Give Canada Big Boost in Standings

MEXICO (CP) — Canada got a needed lift from Russ Prior at the Pan-American Games Friday night.

And by the time he stopped lifting, the 56-pound Hamilton native had turned a day of modest achievement into the most lucrative of the Games to date for the Canadians with a personal constellation of three gold medals in the heavyweight weightlifting division.

In a competition in which the Cubans had been piling up gold medals in threes in most of the lighter weight classes, the 25-year-old Commonwealth Games champion topped the heavy-weights in snatch, clean and jerk and total lift while teammate Bob Sanlavy of Kincardine, Ont., picked up bronze medals in the latter two categories.

That brought the Canadian medal total to eight gold, eight silver and 14 bronze after five days of competition, a distant third behind the United States and Cuba, which had 30 golds apiece.

The other Canadian medals of the day were picked up by high-jumper Louise Hanna of Toronto and the Canadian trapshooting team of John Primrose and James Platt of Edmonton, Ed Wladichuk of Hamilton and Larry Ivany of Oshawa, Ont.

Competition continues in the first two aquatic events with Silvie Fortier of Quebec City leading the field after the consolatory program in synchronized swimming and Elizabeth Carruthers of Edmonton, the defending champion, less than four points out of first place after the consolation in springboard diving.

Miss Carruthers, whose 179.04 points after five dives Friday compared with 182.64 for Jennifer Chandler of the United States, is a strong potential diver but was making no predictions.

"Jenny's optionals have a higher degree of difficulty than mine, so I'll really have to be right on to win the gold this time," she said.

The U.S.-Cuba duel continued Friday as each country won four gold medals.

Alejandro Casanas of Cuba, a comfortable winner in the 110-metre hurdles as the crowd which had won the event ever since the Games began in 1963, was shut out of the medals. It was one of the few track events in which Canada was not represented.

Joni Huntley of the U.S. won the high jump with a Games record leap of six feet 2¾ inches. Mrs. Walker's second-place height was 6-1¾ and Debbie Brill of Victoria, who won the event four years ago, was fourth at 5-11¾.

Her record of 4-9¾, set at Cali, Colombia, had already fallen in the high-jump phase of the pentathlon competition, in which gold medalist Diane Jones of Saskatoon and Andrea Bruce of Jamaica both managed 6-1¾.

The Games record also fell in the men's javelin won by Sam Colson of the U.S. with a toss of 275 feet. Phil Olsen of Nanaimo, B.C., and left-handed Andre Lavigne of Laval, Que., were fifth and sixth.

Marguerita Rodriguez was Cuba's third gold medal in four fencing events to date, capturing the women's individual foil and the Cubans finished off with two of the three titles in superheavyweight weightlifting as Gerardo Fernandez won the snatch and total lift, conceding the clean-and-jerk gold to Bruce Wilhelm of the U.S.

Cuba finished with 18 of the 27 weightlifting gold medals with the U.S. winning six and Canada three.

Canada's trapshooters conceded the gold medal in the event to a world-record per-formance by the U.S. team which hit 391 of a possible 400 targets, three better than the previous mark set in 1971 by the same American foursome. The Canadians hit 388.

All four Canadians qualified for today's finals of the men's and women's 400 metres. Marg McGowan of Waterford, Ont., and Joyce Yakubowich of Victoria finished second in their heats while Brian Saunders and Glen Bogue of Toronto were third and fourth respectively.

John Sobrian of Omemee, Ont., bidding for his third Games medal, was tied for the lead at the half-way mark in the rapid-fire pistol competition. He already has a team silver and individual bronze in the free pistol event.

Canada backed into the eight-country soccer final round without winning a game or scoring a goal. The Canadians lost 3-0 to Argentina Friday after playing to a scoreless tie with Jamaica. But Argentina had drubbed the Jamaicans' 6-0, giving Canada the second final-round berth in the group.

Canadian teams also suffered defeats in baseball, women's basketball, men's volleyball and waterpolo.

The coolest pair of Sandy Mamone of Vancouver and Rob Bergen of Penticton, B.C., finished third in its repechage heat to qualify for the rowing finals.

Dark Handed Walking Papers

OAKLAND (AP) — Alvin Dark says he neither knows nor cares why he was not rehired as manager of Oakland A's by owner Charles O. Finley still "one of my best friends in baseball."

Dark told a news conference Friday night Finley informed him by telephone from Chicago Thursday he would not be hired for a third year as A's manager.

"Apparently Mr. Finley didn't want to work with me any more," said Dark, 44, an infielder in the National League for four years and a major league manager for 12 seasons with five different clubs. "It's his prerogative. He owns the ball club."

Dark, zealous in espousing his religion since 1971, said he would seek another baseball job because "I think I can serve the Lord better on baseball than out of baseball."

Dark said he couldn't confirm a report the A's managerial job was being offered to his longtime friend and golfing partner, Gene Mauch, who was fired by Montreal Expos after seven seasons. Dark said Mauch would be "great" as his successor.

The Oakland club announced Saturday only a few hours before Dark's news conference that Dark was not to be rehired. But Thursday night the Birmingham Post-Herald reported Finley had reached that decision and offered the job to Mauch.

Finley was unavailable to reporters Friday.

Dark, whose A's were 98-64 in winning the American League West Division a fifth consecutive time, said he was "very proud" of the 1975 club.

He said Finley "let me do what I wanted to do" in the playoffs where the A's lost three straight to Boston. "If we lost, it was on my decision," he said, "and I prayed for Charlie Finley."

"This was the greatest two years of my life in baseball," Dark says he neither knows nor cares why he was not rehired as manager of Oakland A's by owner Charles O. Finley still "one of my best friends in baseball."

"Apparently Mr. Finley didn't want to work with me any more," said Dark, one of three baseball managers to win pennants in both leagues—with San Francisco Giants in 1962 and with A's last year.

The Birmingham newspaper report said Finley was irritated by a story quoting Dark as saying Finley was "going to hell unless he changed his ways."

Dark, a Baptist, said he believed his type of the talk he gave at a men's meeting in a suburban church two weeks ago and what he said was: "If Charlie Finley doesn't accept Jesus Christ as his saviour, he is going to hell, just like if I hadn't accepted I would go to hell just like any of you would."

Dark said Finley knew of the church speech but never broached the subject in the Thursday call telling Dark he was out.

"I love Charlie Finley as much now as I did two days ago," said Dark. "As soon as I hang up the telephone, my wife and I prayed for Charlie Finley."

Reds in Driver's Seat

BOSTON (AP) — It was a combination of clutch hitting, sweet pitching and a kiss from Lady Luck that brought the Cincinnati Reds back to Fenway Park leading the World Series three games to two.

The National League champions, who were favored to beat Boston Red Sox in baseball's colorful show, were lucky to get out of Boston alive last weekend and fortunate to be alive after the driver's seat this weekend.

The Reds were one out away from losing Game 2 last Sunday when came off the retired list and rallied for the winning runs on a seeing-eye single by Dave Concepcion and a double by Ken Griffey.

Happy with their great escape from Boston, the Reds took a 3-1 lead with the help of the "collision bust" play in Game 3.

With the extraordinary game tied at 5-5 in the 10th, the Reds had a man on first with nobody out and Ed Armbrister, quite logically, laid down a sacrifice bunt.

What followed, however, was somewhat bizarre.

It turned into baseball's version of the "statue of liberty" play as Armbrister stood still while Fisk attempted to follow the bouncing ball. Fisk collided with Armbrister and in his haste to nail the lead runner, threw wildly into centre field, allowing both runners safely.

Fisk and Boston manager Darrell Johnson argued vociferously with home plate umpire Larry Barnett that the runner had interfered with the catcher's play, but no avail. They lost the argument and eventually the game when Joe Morgan got a base-knocked single.

Despite taking a 3-1 lead in the Series, Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson was well aware that his team wasn't up to top form.

"We've played worse," said the Reds manager, "but we've never played a whole lot better, too."

This was evident in Game 4 Wednesday night when a consagacious performance by Luis Tiant beat the Reds and tied the remarkable series at 2-2.

Tiant was not nearly as effective as his first-game effort when he shut out the Reds, but he had enough to beat them with his second-best stuff.

The real Cincinnati Reds had not stood up yet, said Anderson. "We haven't played up to our capabilities yet," the manager said. "I just hope that we do before the Series is over, because I'd like the world to see what kind of a baseball team we have."

After the fifth game, however, it was agreed by most everyone that the Reds finally showed the kind of team that was 108 games during the regular season. Tony Perez drove in four runs on two homers and Don Gullett pitched as well as he ever did as the Reds beat the proud American "League champions with clinical ease, 6-3.

Connors, Tanner Come Through

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The United States took a commanding 2-0 lead Friday over Venezuela when Jimmy Connors and Roscoe Tanner came through with victories in the opening singles matches of the 1976 Davis Cup.

Connors defeated Humphrey Hose, Venezuela's No. 1 player, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 in the final match of the day.

Earlier, Tanner disposed of Jorge Andrew, the No. 2 player from Venezuela, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

The 23-year-old Cotsaen got off to an erratic start in a match that lasted one hour and 25 minutes as the more seasoned taller opponent played beyond expectations.

Connors broke service in the fourth game of the first set while Hose upset Connors in the seventh with meticulous and frustrating drop shots. Connors almost blew the ninth game, one that went to deuce after he led 40-0, but he came back to win it out.

Connors had little trouble winning the second and third sets.

"Jimmy played well after he got things going," Hose said. "He played a very smart game."

Power Wins Davis Cup Duel

MONTREAL (CP) — Dale Power beamed as he relaxed in a whirlpool bath early today.

"It was a good win for me," Power said. "He's beaten a lot of good players."

Power, 26, of Toronto had just upset Alvaro Ratecur in a five-hour, 50-minute tennis match to give Canada a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five Canada Cup Davis Cup elimination for the North American zone Friday.

Ratecur, Colombia's No. 1 tennis player was thought to be the player that would most likely give Colombia a win in this weekend's tennis series.

Tony Bardsley of Vancouver also won a singles match Friday with powerful serves and accurate shots that overwhelmed Orlando Agudelo in straight sets of 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.

Canada could conclude the series in today's doubles match or by winning either of the final pair of singles Sunday.

Power opened the game with Ratecur with a 6-4 win in the first set. The pair then became enmeshed in a battle for the second set that ended in a 24-22 win for the Colombian. Ratecur swept the next set 6-1 and appeared on his way to an easy win when Power slopped him in the fourth set 6-3 and took the final set 7-5.

In the first game, the six-foot, four-inch Bardsley proved too much for Agudelo to handle, as the Colombian could not handle the powerful serves or ripping return shots.

Bardsley said that even though @ was his fifth Davis Cup he still felt a lot of pressure.

Stingers Don't Waste Time Wearing Out WHA Welcome Mat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most teams, especially expansion franchises, have difficulty winning games away from home, but Cincinnati Stingers are doing their best to avoid that flaw.

The Stingers, playing their first season in the World Hockey Association, posted their second victory in as many starts—and their second successive win on the road—Friday night as they downed Calgary Cowboys 8-5.

Gene Sobchuk, older brother of brilliant centre Dennis Sobchuk, broke the game open with two third-period goals against Calgary goaltender Dan McLeod.

RICK DUDLEY

PAUL HENDERSON

over Cleveland Crusaders and New England Whalers.

In other games, Denver Spurs posted their first victory by downing Phoenix Roadrunners 5-4 in a clash of Western Division rivals and Edmonton Oilers gained their first point of the season on the road by rallying to tie Toronto Toros 4-4 in a meeting of Canadian Division foes.

Youngsters Claude Larose and Jacques Richard scored goals ans Ron Plumb and Rick Dudley scored a goal each for Cincinnati, which visits Edmonton Sunday night. It was the first WHA goal for Dudley, a star with Buffalo Sabres of the National Hockey League last season.

Calgary marksmen were George Morrison and Danny Lawson.

At Toronto, Kerry Keiser and Doug Barrie of Edmonton's multiplayed defensive crew scored a goal each as the Oilers came from behind for the tie. Blair MacDonald and Dan Spring also tallied for the Oilers.

Paul Henderson led Toronto with two goals. Tony Jacques and former Czech national star Richard Farda replied for the Toros in the wide-open contest marked by the brilliant set-minding of Toronto's rookie, Mario Viens, and Edmonton veteran Dave Dryden.

Don Borgesson, a former road-runner, scored three goals to lead the Denver victory. Gary MacGregor and Gary Brelia completed scoring for the winner. Del Hall, Ron Huston, Lauri Mooness and Rob Ftorek replied for Phoenix.

In games tonight, Toronto visits New England Whalers, Denver meets Indianapolis Racers, Houston Oilers visit Quebec Nordiques, Edmonton continues its road swing by meeting Minnesota Fighting Saints in St. Paul and Winnipeg is idle. Games in the Canadian Division, visit San Diego Mariners.

Sunday's schedule has Houston at Cleveland, Cincinnati at Edmonton and Winnipeg at Phoenix.

Hatskin Gives Green Light

TORONTO (CP) — The World Hockey Association announced Friday night that it will have under-age Swedish Goalie Robert Is to play for New England Whalers.

Ben Hatskin, WHA chief executive officer, said in a statement issue that the 18-year-old defenceman will be allowed to play because Robert Nordquist's signature was forced on a contract the player signed with a team in the Western Canada Hockey League.

Hatskin made the ruling after receiving an affidavit under oath from Robert's father that he did not sign the contract. Hatskin said in the statement: "Victoria junior contract is not valid. Queens will be able to play immediately for the Whalers."

The affidavit testifying to the forged signature was shown to officials of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in Ottawa on Friday.

Roberts, an American citizen, signed a conditional contract with the Whalers before his 18th birthday on Oct. 2. The signing was thought to be a direct conflict with an unwritten agreement between the WHA and the CAHA that no junior - hockey players under the age of 20 would be signed to a professional contract.

Hatskin said there is nothing the WHA can do to prevent Roberts—who sat out New England's first two games of the season pending a ruling—from playing. However, WHA by-laws state that if the player is under 20, the team will be fined $100,000 and lose its first draft choice.

At the meeting in Ottawa, Hatskin said he assured CAHA officials that the league is willing to change its rules to prevent further under-age signings.

The WHA presented a draft of a proposed agreement between the two bodies to the CAHA at the meeting, a move which Hatskin said proved the WHA was acting in "good faith."

Creighton Can't Kindle Spark Let Alone Flames

The Canadian Press

Coach Fred Creighton must be wondering right now where the spark is going to come from to ignite the Atlanta Flames of fame.

The Flames five power was doomed again Friday night as New York Islanders skated to a 4-2 win, allowing Atlanta just 18 shots on goaltender Billy Smith who recorded his first shutout of the young National Hockey League season. It was the fourth straight loss for the Flames, who have managed just five goals so far, three of them coming in a 4-3 opening night loss to California Golden Seals.

The Seals opened their home schedule with a 3-3 tie against Washington Capitals while in Vancouver, Los Angeles Kings topped the Canucks 5-3.

"I can't look down my lineup and find many guys who played well," said a glum Creighton after the Flames lost. "Maybe some of them were trying too much.

The Islanders exhibited some tight checking in the win as they brought their record to 3-0-1 and moved into a first-place tie with Philadelphia Flyers atop the Patrick Division.

"We're playing fairly disciplined hockey this year and we didn't give them much to go for," Al Arbour, coach of the Islanders said.

Bill MacMillan scored the Islanders first goal in the opening period with rookie Bryan Trottier getting his fifth goal of the year in the second period.

"I never thought about having a hat trick or a first start," Trottier said. "I've got the confidence I need and I'm fortunate to be playing centre with two good wings."

MARCEL DIONNE

Before 7,986 fans in Oakland the Seals broke a 3-3 deadlock in the Capt. who picked up the first point of the season after five losses.

Rookie Gary Holt scored in the power play with 1:13 remaining in the game as California brought its record to 2-0-1.

Dave Hrechkosy and Jim Neilson were the other Seals marksmen with Greg Joly, Hartland Monahan and Stan Gilbertson replying for Washington.

Meanwhile in Vancouver, Marcel Dionne dominated the proceedings by scoring one goal and assisting on three others as the Kings downed the Canucks.

"Everything I do here with the Kings is important," said Dionne, acquired in a trade from Detroit after he became a free agent from the Red Wings.

"There's much more enthusiasm here on this club. I feel like I want to play every game."

The victory was the third straight for the Kings, who dropped their first two starts of the season.

Bobby Coring, Gene Carr, Mike Murphy and Bob Berry scored the other Los Angeles goals.

Vancouver's marksmen were Ron Sedlbauer, Bob Dailey and John Gould.

Tonight, the Islanders play host to Boston Bruins, New York Rangers visit Toronto Maple Leafs, Montreal Canadiens are home to Philadelphia Flyers, Atlanta goes to Kansas City to meet the Scouts, Pittsburgh Penguins are at home to Detroit, Buffalo Sabres visit the Blues in St. Louis, Minnesota North Stars play host to Chicago Black Hawks and the Seals are in Los Angeles.

Sunday, the Rangers are at home to Vancouver, Detroit goes to Philadelphia, Washington visits Buffalo, the Black Hawks entertain the North Stars and the Leafs play the Bruins in Boston.

Morgan 10 Under At Halfway Mark

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Optometrist Gil Morgan treated fans to the spectacle of a tie for first after one half in the Professional Golf Association tournament on the session Friday.

Morgan fired a 68 at the 7,048-yard, par-72 Woodlake Golf Club course for a 134 two-round total, a one-stroke edge over Ralph Johnston.

Ralph Johnston finished a stroke back after a 68 which left him with a two-round total of 135. Bunched at 137 were Bruce Crampton, Bert Yancey, Charles Coody, Lon Hinkle and Richard Crawford.

Morgan, 39, claimed five birdies and a bogey Friday under clear skies and a 68 Thursday in a wind-whipped and chilly grinder. It's a first PGA win in two years on the tour to be the halfway leader in any tournament.

Morgan is one of six or seven players trying to move into the top 50 money winners on the PGA tour which would earn an exemption from qualifying in next year's tournaments.

He has earned $37,897 so far this year and must clear by at least $7,000 and $8,000 at the Texas Open to make it into the top 60. First prize is $25,000.

Defending champion Terry Diehl shot a 70 Friday after a 72 par on Thursday.

Gay Hamilton of Toronto had a 79 Friday after an opening-round 73 and missed the two-round cut.

WFC Power Saga Continues Sunday

The Canadian Press

It's an old, familiar story in the Western Football Conference—where Edmonton Eskimos and Saskatchewan Rouhriders are fighting to finish first.

The next chapter will be completed Sunday at Regina when the injury-riddled Eskimos seek the victory they need to clinch first place and Saskatchewan must win to keep its fading hopes above alive.

Playoff spots also are at stake in two Canadian Football Conference interlocking games and an Eastern conference contest.

Calgary Stampeders will host Hamilton Tiger-Cats on Saturday and Winnipeg Blue Bombers face Ottawa Rough Riders on Sunday in the interlocking games. Toronto Argonauts face the Montreal Alouettes on Sunday in the EFC test.

The Toronto-Montreal game will be televised at 1:30 p.m. EDT on the CTV eastern network. Edmonton-Saskatchewan will be shown at 3:30 p.m. EDT on the national network.

SHORT STRENGTH

Edmonton added defensive end Bob Brudenell in time for the vital weekend contest. Sevenman Canadian was obtained from Memphis Southmen of the World Football League.

Ron Estay, almost certain to make the all-star team at defensive end until he suffered a leg injury in Thanksgiving Day in a 21-12 victory over Calgary, has been placed on the 21-day injured list. The Eskimos the bench. Brancato instructed again will go without regular him to take a penalty and wait for right end Tyrone Walls and one at play but Campbell disagreed. Two plays later, Peter middle linebacker Sam Britts, Luke threw a touchdown pass. quarterback needs help to Dick Adams and Kent Carter overtake Edmonton because the have recovered from injuries Eskimos lead by one point and and will play for Ottawa. Defhave a game in hand. Ron Lan- ensive tackle Bob Holloway will be in caster, veteran quarterback playing his last season, and form despite an ailing shoulder.

George Reed, who sets a record every time he touches the ball, will always play well at home, even against healthy opposition.

Calgary is tied with British Columbia Lions for fourth in the WFC and hopes to overtake Saskatchewan Roughriders, Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton.

The Cleats are tied with Toronto for third place in the EFC. One major opinionated about Hamilton's future is sleeback Mike Taylor who says the team is improving so fast it will take a strong run at the Grey Cup final in Calgary on Nov. 22.

Toronto hopes Chuck Ealey, obtained from Winnipeg, can help the Argos nip Hamilton for the last playoff spot. The nimble quarterback helped the Cleats reach the Grey Cup as a rookie in 1972.

Montreal coach Marv Levy said he expects Ealey to play although Steve Joachim probably will start.

Hamilton will have Garrett Hunsperger at tackle for Jim Stillwagon and Chuck Herd at end to receive for L. J. Clayton.

Ralph Brock, who got the quarterbacking job when Jeff Avery was traded, will face an Ottawa defence keyed against the embarrassed Wednesday in a loss to Ed.

Perhaps most upset was linebacker Sonny Campbell, fined by coach George Brancalo for disregarding instructions from

Canadians Dump St. Catharines 8-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Canadians rolled to their seventh win in nine games, defeating St. Catharines Black Hawks 8-2 Friday in Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A action before 3,725 Kingston supporters.

In other games, the Wolves downed Oshawa Generals 7-3 at Sudbury, London Knights defeated visiting Toronto Marlboros 7-3 and the Fincups and Peterborough Petes battled to a 3-3 tie at Hamilton.

Larry Murphy led Kingston with two goals. Dave Hynek, Richie Hunt, Mike Crombeen, Barrie Scully and Ken Lasne, men had one goal apiece.

Dorr Caines and Ron Wilson scored for the Hawks.

The Canadians, robbed 46-38 held period leads of 5-1 and 6-2.

Leaping treasurer Bob Lewis with Ottawa at Sault Ste. Marie and Kitchener at Toronto.

Sunday's schedule has Peterborough at London, Kingston at Toronto, Kitchener at St. Catharines, Hamilton at Oshawa and Ottawa at Sudbury.

Wolves 7 Generals 3

Sudbury held on to a share of first place in the Leyden division with their win over Oshawa. Both Sudbury and Kingston have 14 points but the Canadians have a game in hand over the Generals.

Alec McKendry led the Wolves' scoring efforts with two goals. Ron Duguay, Rod Schutt, Johnny Walker, Hector Marini and Mike Foligno scored one apiece.

Replying for Oshawa were Grez Malone, Peter Vandenark and Paul Gardner.

The teams were tied 2-2 after one period but Sudbury took a 3-2 lead after 40 minutes.

Sudbury outshot Oshawa 54-28.

Births

DUIVEN — Doug and Janet (nee Haapola) are thrilled to announce the birth of their third son, Scott Thomas, on Wednesday, October 15, 1975 at Belleville General Hospital. A brother for Christopher and Ian.

In Memoriam

HENDERSON, Mrs. Helen — In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away October 19, 1972.
Things we feel most keenly
Are the hardest things to say
Dearest Mum, we loved you.
Sadly missed by Ken
If we could have one home wish,
One dream that could come true,
We'd pray to God with all our hearts,
For yesterday and you.
—Forever remembered, ever loved by Bob, Don, Ronald and Helen.

WRIGHT — In loving memory of a dear son-in-law, brother-in-law and uncle, Grant Jr. Wright who passed away Oct. 19, 1972.
Dearly loved, sadly missed
And always in our heart he'll be
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best
—Always remembered by the Rasberry families.

CORNELL — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Anita who passed away Oct. 19, 1972.
Many a day our hearts do long to see you
And many an hour we do wish for you to be near
A wish to see your face again is broken,
She has gone from our home but not from our hearts.
—Lady missed by Patsy and Hank and grandchildren Peter, Paul and Wayne.

CORNELL — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and sister-in-law Anita who passed away Oct. 19, 1972.
A light is from our world gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled,
Some may think our forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
So long as memory lingers,
As you always were before.
—Lady missed by husband Pat, son Dennis, daughter-in-law Lil.

HENDERSON, Mrs. Helen — In loving memory of a dear wife who passed away October 19, 1972.
Some say the days will ease the pain,
Some say the years will heal,
But in my heart you are always there,
The one I love and will never forget.
I miss you more than anyone knows,
With tender love and deep regret,
I wish you were here to say good night,
—Ever remembered, ever loved by husband Burt.

HENDERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother and daughter, Helen Henderson who passed away Oct. 19th, 1972.
God saw you getting tired,
When a cure was not to be,
So He took you home to rest,
You were His child you see.
You suffered much, bore it bravely,
Your dear memory will live best through,
And in His love you rest,
God's garden needed flowers,
And of course He takes the best.
—Sadly missed and ever loved by son Jack, daughter-in-law Pat and grandchildren Glen, Lisa.

HENDERSON, Mrs. Helen — In loving memory of a dear wife who passed away October 19, 1972.
Gone are the days we used to share,
But in my heart you are always there,
I think of you in silence,
I miss you more than anyone knows,
With tender love and deep regret,
I wish you were here to say good night,
—Ever remembered, ever loved by husband Burt.

McLEAN — A treasured memory of our dear sister-in-law, Frances, who passed away October 18, 1972.
Memories are golden memories are gold,
Treasured memories we fondly hold,
Deep in our hearts your memory is kept,
To love, to cherish, to never forget.
—Sadly missed by sister-in-law Jane Cook and family, Rita Salmon, and brother-in-law Jack.

Your Sunday and Monday Horoscopes

By Bernice Bede Osol

For Sunday, Oct. 29

ARIES (March 21 - April 19) Your judgment is excellent today on things that affect you alone. If you try to extend your thinking to cover others you'll get into a heap of trouble.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You tend to count on a little more than you have coming today. You'll be disappointed when you don't get all you hoped for.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't wear out your welcome if invited to a social gathering today. If you're one of the first to arrive, be sure to be one of the first to leave.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone you're going to rely on today won't be there when you need him. Count on the only one you can — yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A person you'll have a discussion with today feels as strongly about the subject as you do, only you'll be on opposite sides of the fence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Pressure will be brought to bear on you by a person who was reluctant to take "no" for an answer yesterday. Give him the same treatment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Although you will solicit help from others today, their answers won't really surprise you. You'll do things as you first intended.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Pay particular attention to health matters today. Don't overexert yourself. Curl up with a good book or the TV.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec. 21) You may have trouble handling the children today, but not nearly as much as you'll have if you let some busybody really get you on the warpath.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) You and your mate have decide early who's going to be in charge today. Your wigwam isn't large enough for two chiefs and no Indians.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Keep your ideas in perspective today. Though you may think in grandiose terms, you're missing a lot of small, necessary details.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be more protective that usual of your possessions today for you may find someone taking liking to something you're particularly fond of yourself.

For Monday, Oct. 30

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Some unexpected expenses could suddenly pop up today and catch you off-guard. If you're not careful, Mirage your money prudently.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be smart today about handling people whose co-operation you need. Get off on the wrong foot and their help will be withdrawn.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Usually you don't mind lending a helping hand when asked. Today, you'll see that your intentions come first.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You could be pressured by a friend over something material. Try not to make loans or borrow from pals if you can prevent it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't put too high a price on gratifying your emotions today. The rewards won't be worth the toes you'd have to step on.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You've not exclusively forgiven and forgotten something you've said or done. It won't pay to rehash a volatile old issue.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though you're not involved, try to honor an old obligation to a friend. Problems will arise if you resage.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Partnership situations will get a bit sticky for you today. If your pals are not in harmony, they're the one to drag his feet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You tend to make chores that face you today far more complicated than they are. Mistakes and frustrations are likely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Don't gamble on the unknown today or take chances where the success of the venture is in someone else's hands.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may have to contend with a few more domestic frustrations today than usual. If you keep your cool, they're manageable.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be careful today or you might get yourself embroiled in a heated discussion with a friend over a ridiculous issue.

Tren Dreversed

HALIFAX (CP) — The outflow of Maritimers to central Canada appears to have been reversed, says Dr. W. A. Jenkins, executive vice-president of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council. Dr. Jenkins said a growing number of job opportunities in the Maritimes have started to draw native sons home. Premier Edward Island has had a net migrant flow from there to New Brunswick since 1972 and Nova Scotia since 1973.

Wants Road Fixed

LUNENBURG, N.S (CP) — Residents petitioning in with 38 automobile accidents on his front lawn during the last two years, Lewis Lutz asked the province to fix a 600-foot stretch of highway in front of his home as it goes not become slippery when wet.

Financially-crippled New York City Turns to Congress for Help

WASHINGTON (CP) — With President Ford mourning New York City's request for financial aid, the city is turning to Congress for help to stave off financial default.

In the House of Representatives an economic stabilization subcommittee began hearings today into the city's financial woes with Mayor Abraham Beame as its first witness. New York Gov. Hugh Carey and Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, are also to testify.

Beame said Sunday that even if New York City defaults and thereby is spared from paying interest on its debts, the city will still be $1 billion short of the cash needed to meet payrolls from December to March.

"We'd have to close up the city," he said on NBC's Meet the Press.

Treasury Secretary William Simon says the needed money could come if New York state imposed a new seven three-percent sales tax throughout the state. He also suggests that the state take over the city's share of welfare costs. Carey already has turned down the tax proposal.

Meanwhile, the Senate banking committee starts drafting legislative Tuesday aimed at helping the city.

William Proxmire (Dem, Wis.), chairman of the committee, says he now believes federal help is needed if New York is to regain access to credit through the bond market.

But Proxmire warned that the only chance for survival of such a bail out if the White House changes its mind or passes word that such legislation will not be vetoed.

During a meeting of the committee Saturday, Beame and a group of New York City's leading bankers said federal help is needed or the city will default in a few months.

"There can no longer be general assistance, the City of New York will default by the end of the year, triggering national and international consequences that will touch the lives of every American," Beame said.

The mayor said all he wants from Congress is time.

"Through a federal loan guarantee, you can help us maintain a line of credit until we can re-enter the money markets," he said.

Some form of federal aid to the city also was urged by David Rockefeller, chairman of the board of the Chase Manhattan Bank and brother of Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller; Elmore Patterson, chairman of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., and Walter Wriston, chairman of the First City National Bank.

They said they have reluctantly come to the conclusion that "a federal role is inescapable if default is to be avoided."

But they said the form of federal help is less important to jibgn than the need to establish strict criteria to guard against "undisciplined use of public funds."

Rockefeller said in an interview that some people feel the decline in the U.S. dollar has been caused by the New York situation.

Rhodes Backs Landlords

TORONTO (CP) — John Rhodes, Ontario housing minister, said Sunday landlords should be allowed to appeal imposed limits on rent increases. He said in an interview he thinks landlords should have the right to appeal curtailment of rent increases by fixed percentage, adding that a provincial tribunal would have to be set up to hear the appeals.

Employees Under Gun

TORONTO (CP) — The government's new selective wage controls will make public employees "front line cannon fodder of what will surely be a phony war on inflation," Stan Little, president of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) said today. In his opening speech to CUPE's biennial convention, Mr. Little said that inflation will not be controlled by the anti-inflation program introduced Oct. 13.

Jet Misses Runway

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP) — A government jet carrying federal Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan, his wife and three children missed the runway at the Medicine Hat airport on its first landing attempt Saturday and blew a tire when it finally landed on the second attempt. Nobody was injured and Mr. Whelan related the incident in a speech later in Maple Creek, Sask., about 60 miles east of here.

More Sunday Picketers

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP) — Employees of Dominion Stores and Loblaws demonstrated Sunday in front of an A and P store to protest Sunday openings by that food store chain. The protesters passed the sidewalk in front of the store and handed out information sheets to passers by.

Face Second Reading

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Donald Macdonald says he hopes his new anti-inflation legislation will pass second reading, the first major hurdle in Commons passage, before his meeting this week with provincial finance and labor ministers.

Rugh O'Neil, Quinte MPP, (left) and George Rees, MP Prince Edward-Hastings, lead the way for the Trenton, Brighton and District Mentally Retarded Association's first annual bike-a-thon Sunday. The 16-mile round trip to Frankford raised about $4,000 in pledges for the association's expansion fund. Despite threatening skies, 56 of the 60 participants including a Belleville gorilla completed the trip.

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiators for the post office and the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) were to resume contract talks today under a continuing series of challenges from Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey.

While union officials say there was general agreement not to discuss the talks publicly, Mr. Mackasey gave at least two interviews Sunday.

Among other things, he said the union negotiators have been stalling the talks because they do not have a mandate for their executive council to negotiate. He also said, replying to a brief charge by union vice-president Jean-Claude Parrot:

"They're liars if they say we're not ready to negotiate".

The union, asking $3.36 an hour in a one-year contract over its current average hourly rate of $4.10, claims the post office has presented it no tentative contract upon which to negotiate.

Mr. Mackasey counters that the conciliation report of Judge Jean Moisan of the Quebec Superior Court is the best offer he can recommend to government.

In that report Judge Moisan recommends an increase of 70¢ an hour over 30 months.

"We cannot, nor could I, offer any more than the recommendations of Judge Moisan — particularly in this period of restraint," Mr. Mackasey said Sunday night after what had been expected to be a protracted bargaining session ended in less than an hour.

After the union had straw-polled its 22,000 members last week on their feelings toward a possible strike, negotiations were resumed Friday.

There were two sessions Saturday and talks were broken only for meals during negotiations that lasted from 10 a.m. to about 9 p.m. Sunday.

Except for brief statements by Mr. Parrot, including one in which he accused the post office of refusing to initial clauses already agreed upon, union officials have made no statements.

Mr. Mackasey said before the evening session that union president Joe Davidson was not even in Ottawa at this critical time.

Mr. Davidson returned to Ottawa from meetings with other union officials Sunday evening.

But he didn't bring with him any more clear an indication than the scattered reports received last week of the membership feeling toward a strike.

Reports had been circulating that the membership was 78 per cent in favor of a strike if necessary to back contract demands.

Paul Mitchell, a top spokesman here, said it was possible to confirm that figure but was able to say a work-to-rule campaign undertaken by Halifax postal workers had not been authorized by the union.

Although the government's receipt of the Moisan report places the union in a legal position to strike, there has been no vote on the report. Mr. Mackasey insists is the best offer the government intends to make.

Unfamiliar Employees Operate Dominion

By CLIFF KENTON
Staff Reporter

An employee-picketer protesting at Dominion store at Belleville Plaza Sunday said he recognized few workers in the store.

The employee who refused to be identified said workers had been recruited from stores outside Belleville.

Store manager Carl McMullen refused to comment Sunday.

A store employee who wished to remain unidentified said Saturday that "99 per cent" of the store's employees were against working Sundays.

"I think they're invading my territory", said a meat clerk picketing Sunday. He refused to be identified.

"I don't feel the company is doing it. They're forced into this position. They're doing it to keep us employed," he said.

A box lay on the picketline said: "There's no need for it. If people can get their shopping done on other days they're lazy."

Mr. McMullen said Saturday he has received word from the chain's head office in Toronto Friday ordering him to open the store Sunday.

"We don't like to open Sunday but are being forced to by our competition."

Sunday Shopping Protest

By noon Sunday about 50 protesters were picketing the Dominion Store at Belleville Plaza. Most of the persons were Dominion employees who chose picketing in favor of working Sunday, the first time the store tried opening on that day. They also picketed the A and P store in the plaza.

50 Protest Sunday Hours, Labor Council Joins Action

By CLIFF KENTON
Staff Reporter

About 50 persons protesting Sunday opening of chain food stores picketed the Dominion and A & P stores at Belleville Plaza Sunday.

Most of the picketers were employees of the Dominion store. They were joined by concerned citizens and members of the Quinte District Labor Council who had prepared a leaflet for picketers to give shoppers.

Frank Richards, Toronto representative of the employee's local 414 of Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union also joined the picketers.

"We're trying to tell the public that Sunday shopping is going to cost them more money," said Mr. Richards.

He said it costs twice as much to have the stores open on Sunday than on weekdays.

He asked protesters to picket the nearby A & P store as well:

"We're protesting Sunday shopping. We shouldn't just be picketing Dominion. Our beef is not with Dominion."

They began picketing about 10 a.m. Store manager Carl McMullen refused to comment on the protest.

Quinte District Labor Council leaflet refers to the Sunday store opening as an "unwarranted intrusion into our way of life".

"The Quinte area has not seen fit to encroach into our way of life except the family unit to any great extent until this past few weeks when giant chain stores such as A & P, Food City and new Dominion, have been open on Sundays," said the leaflet.

A & P began the Sunday store hour controversy in Belleville when they first opened on Sunday in late September. They were followed by Food City on Sunday hours.

The leaflet invited Quinte residents to "help the Dominion store and other Ontario workers retain their day of rest" by writing letters of protest to the provincial and municipal governments.

"Your family until now be the next to be broken up by your employer forcing you to work on Sunday," said the message from the labor council.

At least three pickets struck Murray's Food Market at 200 Front St., until about noon.

"I was wishing they'd stayed all day," said owner Murray Atkinson.

He said customers came shopping Sunday to see the pickeiers: "It was my biggest Sunday yet." The store has been opening Sundays for about three weeks.

Mike Amodeo, owner of Amodeo's Super Save Market on North Front said they were not picketed. The store has been open Sundays for about four year.

Food City, which opened Sundays about three weeks ago, was not visited by picketers.

OSSTF Asks Ontario To Reconsider Restraints

TORONTO (CP) — The executive council of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) has urged Premier William Davis to recall the legislature immediately to deal with the effects of federal wage controls on contract negotiations between school boards and teachers.

The 30-member council said in a news release that it recognizes the need for an anti-inflation program but called the federal program ill-conceived and ill-conceived.

James Foster, OSSTF president, said 20,000 secondary school teachers, including 8,500 in Metropolitan Toronto, are without contracts. All teachers need assurance from the province that bargaining guidelines passed at law at the last session of the legislature will be allowed to work despite the federal wage controls, he said.

In a letter to Mr. Davis, Mr. Foster said the legislature, due to open Oct. 28, should meet earlier to discuss the situation and appoint a committee to hear interested groups and individuals.

This would allow the province to introduce its own bill at the same time Ottawa is discussing the anti-inflation measure.

Mr. Foster said similar letters have been sent to all members of the Ontario legislature. The OSSTF also has written to federal MPs noting that wage and price controls will work only if they are based on equity and good faith, he said.

"This implies that there will be effective price control as well as wage control," the letters read. "We will need to be convinced that there will be in fact effective price control."

Spain Asks UN to Discourage Moroccan March Into Sahara

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Spain today sought action by the United Nations Security Council to discourage Morocco's plan to march 350,000 unarmed Moroccan civilians into the disputed Spanish Sahara.

Sources said Spanish Ambassador Jaime de Pinies would ask the council at a meeting today to send UN observers to the frontier between Morocco and the Spanish colony.

In a submission to Olof Rydbeck of Sweden, president of the Security Council, De Pinies wrote that "the announced invasion" endangers international peace and security and violates the Saharans' right to self-determination.

Moroccan Ambassador Driss Slaoui told Rydbeck that to call "the peaceful march an invasion" is "a distortion of facts. He said the marchers are not "civilian citizens, unarmed men and women, who received instructions not to reply to any attack by Spanish military forces."

The official Moroccan news agency said Sunday that King Hassan II's call for volunteers drew 362,000 enlistments within 48 hours. The marchers are to begin their journey Tuesday by rail, bus and truck toward Tarfaya, 15 miles from the border, and the 30-mile march from there across the desert to El Aaiun, the capital of the Spanish Sahara, is to begin about Oct. 26.

Convoys of trucks have started carrying food, water and blankets to Tarfaya.

The 105,000-square-mile territory contains one of the world's largest deposits of phosphate.

Morocco, already the world's largest exporter of phosphate, claims the northern part of the territory and Mauritania claims the southern and eastern portions adjoining it.

Spain and Algeria, which has an 18-mile border with the Spanish Sahara, favor a referendum to determine the wishes of the territory's 80,000 residents, most of them nomadic.

Cox May Lay Charge Against Food Stores

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

City Alderman Joe Cox says he will personally lay charges against supermarkets operating Sunday if city council takes no action today.

The issue of Sunday shopping hours is a provincial matter, council's agenda for tonight's meeting hints. But Wednesday Mayor Ben Corke said the issue should be left in the hands of the provincial government.

"I heard what the mayor said and I'm going to take him on it," said Ald. Cox.

"I'm going to express the issue and I'll lay a charge if no one else will," he said during a telephone interview. "If council doesn't act — and it sometimes has in the past — I'll do it."

Ald. Cox said there are pieces of legislation on city books and it is the city's responsibility to police the legislation.

Along the same vein, a news release from the Belleville Interfaith Social Association states, "already a concerned discussion about the matter of Sunday store openings, we wish to express our common conviction that the keeping of the Lord's Day as a day of rest and worship is essential for the preservation of a desirable quality of family and social life."

NDP Opposes Hydro's Increase

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Stephen Lewis, Ontario NDP leader, says his party will oppose the decision allowing Ontario Hydro to increase its rates by 22 per cent in 1976.

Mr. Lewis said the decision by the Ontario energy board to allow the increase "cannot be justified, especially—in light of this (federal) selective wage and price) controls announced Monday."

"Whether you agree with the controls package or not, and I emphatically do not, it must be recognized that Ontario can't logically encourage the federal government to enforce wage guidelines of eight to 10 per cent in this province, while Ontario Hydro received a rate increase almost three times as great," he said at a news conference.

He said Ontario Hydro planned growth rate of 7.3 per cent a year would require rate increases of "a further 26 per cent in 1977 and at least 25 per cent from 1978 through to 1982."

Mr. Lewis was here with opposition critic of Gill Sandeman, newly-elected NDP member of the legislature.

The two MPPs took the provincial government to task for "undermining public employees and teachers to Ottawa to negotiate wage demands with the federal government under the selective wage and price controls.

He said the federal government had no feel for the nuances of the issue of education and that unfair and unthinking settlements would be disruptive to the education system.

The province should establish its own anti-inflation tribunal to deal with the teachers and other public-sector employees, he said.

Unused Quarry To Become Park

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

FOXBORO — The Corbyville division of Thurlow Township Volunteer Fire Department intends to "clock" unused quarry by next summer.

Fire Capt. Bob Pearce said Saturday Thurlow Township Council has given the division permission to develop a large quarry near here into a park.

The quarry, about three acres, is located on about 15 acres of land just north of here behind the township's equipment buildings, Oswold Rd.

Capt. Pearce said, "It's like a fire-fighters' park," said Capt. Pearce, but added, "its going to be a community project."

Once completed the park will be in year-round use, he said.

During the summer, the park will have facilities for camping, swimming and picnics. The quarry is springfed and can be maintained at an ideal depth for swimming, Capt. Pearce noted.

And with a surface area similar to that of an ice rink, it is perfect for winter skating, he pointed out.

However, the area is currently littered with garbage, brush and rock which must be moved, burned or covered over before the actual landscaping can begin.

"We're trying to pump the quarry out right now," Capt. Pearce said explaining it is necessary in order to clear the bottom of, various items of trash.

Low water level enabled about 30 girl guides and members of the Outers Club, a youth group, to remove some garbage including a burning stove during cold winds Saturday morning. And they hope to remove a refrigerator they found in the water.

Capt. Pearce said garbage dumping at the quarry is illegal and could result in a $300 fine for anyone caught and convicted.

To prevent such dumping in future, several large stones have been placed at the gateway. "We don't want people coming in with trailers and dumping their garbage in there," Capt. Pearce said.

He said the park will be important to area townships residents who now have to go to Belleville or the Bay of Quinte for recreation. "There's nothing in Thurlow like it," he commented.

Capt. Pearce said the firefighters have little money to work with and hope for volunteer labor. "A lot of it will depend on the kids," he said.

The quarry will be utilized as a skating rink for the coming winter. "We hope enough water will come back in so it'll freeze and make a rink for the winter," he said.

Wasteland to Parkland

Capt. Bob Pearce of Corbyville fire division of Thurlow Township Volunteer Fire Department surveys portion of large quantity of waste retrieved from bottom of quarry near Foxboro Saturday. Firefighters have been given permission by Thurlow Township Council to develop quarry site as 15-acre site into a park for township residents. The quarry will be used as a skating rink this winter.

Rare Swan Killed

EAST LAKE — Efforts to capture a rare mute swan here to prevent possible injury by uniformed hunters failed when the large, white bird was found shot recently. Investigation into the illegal shooting is currently being carried out by ministry of natural resources employee, Bruce Stratton. During the summer, the swan had become a pet and area residents had named the bird, Grace.

Mute swans are protected by federal legislation and live trapping the bird was recommended as a result of a similar incident at Consecon Lake seven years ago.

Cash Taken From Home

CHERRY VALLEY — The Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police this week is investigating the theft of $150 in cash from the home of George Kewley of Kewley Milk Delivery, Cherry Valley.

The money was reported missig Sunday and is believed to have been taken between 7:30 p.m. Fr'iday and 7 a.m. Saturday when the Kewley's were away from home.

Police said there was no sign of forced entry.

Youth Pressured

David Joyce, Moira Secondary School Valedictorian Saturday said it's paradoxical that today's youth spend their early years being told to "get lost" then everyone pressures them to start finding themselves.

Youth Faces Mixed Attitudes Says Grad

The life of a young person today is "tough and confusing" and most of his worry years are spent listening to someone tell him to get lost, Moira Secondary School graduates were told Saturday. Valedictorian Dave Joyce, now a commerce student at Queen's University, said in graduation exercises, students probably remember their first days at the school as Grade 9 students as "bewildering".

"Wandering lost and alone through the maze of hallways is frightening enough..." he said.

When today's youth begins to grow up, he said, everybody puts "pressure" on him to start finding himself.

He told graduates startling changes occurred in the world environment while they were at Moira Secondary School.

The push of a button, he said, can result in world destruction and "just in the last few years the United States has been involved in the Watergate scandal, Ireland has reached its worst religious struggle ever."

"But we have had an advantage over other generation in growing up in the '70s. We have seen the maturing of the space age, with the U.S. now sending one-manned rockets to the planet Mars."

Graduates were awarded diplomas and 19 Ontario scholars who achieved more than 80 per cent in Grade 13 were honored in the exercises.

Unique Tool Speeds Rescue of Victims

CORBYVILLE — The "jaws of life", a high-powered, self-contained, maintenance-free hydraulic spreading and pulling device which the Quinte Rescue Squad hopes to purchase, can open a jammed shut car in less than 15 minutes.

Officially titled the Hurst Power Rescue Tool, it is a hand-held, one-man, portable unit. Controls are operated by thumb pressure from either hand.

With a maximum output of 10,000 lbs. of force at the tip of the jaws, it is manufactured by Hurst Performance, Inc. in Warminster, Pa., and is distributed by Pierre Thibault (Canada) Ltd. in Pierreville, Que.

Distributing company representatives demonstrated the tool for squad members before the fall here recently, snapping off the doors with a shear attachment, snapping off the front of the roof and ripping it back, pulling the steering column up over the dash and pushing the front seat back from the dash.

Squad member Bob Pearce says current torch and saw methods in use now take from 45 minutes to an hour to accomplish the same task. However, the jaws implement operates without flames, grinding sparks or mechanical cutting — thereby reducing

TV Stolen

SCOHARIA — The Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police are seeking a 20-inch color television taken Saturday from a mobile home owned by Manco Home Systems here.

The trailer was parked on a lot owned by P. and W. Mobile Homes Ltd. Value of the television is estimated at $500 time by about two-thirds.

The tool weighs 52 lbs. and the power unit, connected by a 10-foot cord, fits in the rear of cars to be permanently connected to be power system of a rescue vehicle.

Mr. Pearce says the tool would be an important asset to squad operations.

To get trapped occupants out of vehicles, members currently must use either a saw or a cutting torch. Both methods are slow and the latter can be dangerous in cases where gasoline has leaked.

Boundary Debate Tuesday

The federal Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario will hold a meeting to hear presentation on proposed new voting districts Tuesday at the Hastings County administration. A story last week in the Intelligencer incorrectly listed the meeting on Thursday.

The meeting is among a series being heard across the province on the commission's proposals for readjusting consituency boundaries.

Tomorrow's session start at 9.30 a.m.

Early Morning Blaze Levels Vacant House

BRIGHTON — A Trenton man estimated he lost $50,000.00 when the house on his investment property in Murray Township burned to the ground early today, the same day he said he was going to renew his fire insurance.

Edward Lentz, RR 1 Trenton, said he cancelled the fire insurance for the vacant house located on the Smith-Field Rd., when his insurance rates more than doubled this summer because the house was empty.

Mr. Lentz said he has owned the property and has been preparing it for tenancy for the last three years and just took out a loan to finance the improvements and to reinsure the premises.

Brighton Fire Fighters were called to the frame house shortly after midnight after a trucker spotted the fire while travelling on the 401 Highway. The truck driver notified the Ontario Provincial Police on his citizens band radio.

Mr. Lentz said he had been working at the house, late Sunday and was using a wood burning stove to heat the premises. He said he believed this was the cause of the fire.

Well-known Merchant Dead at 83

Funeral for downtown merchant Albert Edward Womacott was to be held today from Christ Church.

Owner of A.E. Womacott Jewellery for more than 60 years Mr. Womacott died Saturday following a short illness. He was 83.

He was born in Belleville and had lived here all his life. He was predeceased by his wife Bella in 1962.

He is survived by his son and daughter-in-law Spence and Joy of Belleville. He is also grandfather of Justin, Geoffrey, Andrew and Susan Womacott.

He was predeceased by brothers: William, Harry and David Less and sisters: Mrs. Lil Andrews and Mrs. Grace Orr.

Mr. Womacott was life member of Ezekiel Masonic Lodge No. 283 and the Belleville Rotary Club. He was past-president of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club and member of the Belleville Jewellers Association. He was patron of Stavros Chapter No. 136 of the Order of Easter Star and one of the founders of the Quinte Curling Club.

Mr. Womacott played the trumpet and was an active musician all his life. He was a member of the Belleville Municipal Band and one of the few survivors of the famous Kilite Band of the war years.

Interment was to be at Belleville Cemetery with Canon R.R. Webb officiating.

Bearers were Eugene Frederick, Gerald Fulman, and nephews Joe and Leigh Meldrum, Robert Burrows and Neil Orr.

Dr. Kissinger Speaks of Canada-U.S. Consensus of Interdependence

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

One could be cynical about the final arrival of Secretary of State Dr. Henry Kissinger in Ottawa, that it was planned for three earlier occasions, and was finally made to fit into his schedule of putting out global political fires.

The Latin Americans are still wailing, if that's the correct verb to use, for a Kissinger visit. Except in their case, he has publicly postponed a bombastic visit four times.

And that's hardly the way to shore up atrociously bad American relations with the increasingly independently-speaking major states of our hemisphere.

The other view is to share Dr. Kissinger's relief that relations between Canada and the U.S. are in no way as bad as those between most nations with whom he negotiates or in the case of Latin America, with those he won't yet visit.

However Dr. Kissinger accompanied by his wife in Ottawa, reiterated what we have all come to know, that the "special relationship" between our two countries has come to an end.

That "special relationship" had meant Canada was exempted either by decree or following Canadian request, from U.S. federal moves in trade, taxation and other fields affecting U.S. trading partners.

And it meant many other things, agreements in principle over the years between the high-level politicians and bureaucrats of both Ottawa and Washington who had come to know each other well in the long years of King, St. Laurent and Pearson in Ottawa, Roosevelt and Truman, Roosevelt, Kennedy et al, in the White House.

Much of the shift from the "special relationship" of the '40s, '50s and part of the '60s was due to the harsh economic moves made by Dr. Kissinger's former boss, retired president Richard Nixon.

In 1971-72 Nixon introduced the 10 per cent surcharges on all imports into the U.S., Canada being hardest hit as the largest exporter by far to the U.S.

Then there was the U.S. protectionist DISC scheme to give tax and investment incentives to far-flung American multi-national companies if they would place new or reconstituted plant facilities in the U.S. instead of abroad.

And finally there were rulings from the U.S. treasury, obviously made without any understanding of Canadian regional incentive programs, history and present impacts of Canadian goods from factories receiving Canadian federal and provincial subsidies.

Canada was told by Washington that such companies as Michelin Tire in Nova Scotia, were dumping cheap products on the American market because these were made in plants receiving state subsidies in violation of the terms of the GATT Agreement, and so forth.

Nevertheless in spite of those convulsive and one suspects German-inspired phrases which Dr. Kissinger likes to use even in impromptu remarks, you will be glad to know Canada and the U.S. have a "consensus of interdependence."

But more important, whatever negotiations we carry out and decisions we make, are in his more informal words "freely arrived at".

Considering the kinds of crises and the levels of intransigence and just plain national hatred Kissinger must deal with elsewhere, the Canadian - American relationship given our common problems, is a blessing for both nations and not one in disguise.

Inflation Psychology

Why inflation?

Most of us are familiar with book definitions, as when the dictionary describes it as "an increase in the amount of currency in circulation, resulting in a relatively sharp and sudden fall in its value and rise in prices . . . and that it may be caused by an increase in the volume of paper money issued or of gold mined, or a relative increase in expenditures, as when the supply of goods fails to meet the demand."

How many politicians, from the Prime Minister on down, have been heard saying we "cannot take from the economy more than we put into it."

Very sensible, but who, up to this point, has been paying any attention?

Then again, the explanation has been put forth that inflation — rising prices and wage demands without commensurate output and all the rest of it — is motivated by "greed."

But what's the use of being greedy when all that increased money doesn't buy that much more?

And why restraint, for that matter, when everyone else is out for what he can get?

Why indeed?

Well, there's an answer in the controls the Government has introduced. The point had been reached when something had to be done before the monetary and economic system generally collapsed.

Now of course there is the question of how the controls will be applied. And applied fairly and equitably at that, and not through making fish of one group or category and fowl of another.

The main thing is to curb the psychology that impels people, members of the government included, to keep demanding more and more while producing less and less. And thus protect the value of the dollar and maintain the integrity of the economy as a whole.

"And are hereby sentenced to serve five years in Medicine Hat"

Sense of Proportion

In these days of activism and confrontation, issues and attitudes come and go and the one thing that is conspicuously absent is a sense of proportion.

What is it that is pointed out as eloquently in Desiderata? That no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Yet man is not satisfied without an atmosphere of crisis — real or imagined. As anyone with an eye to events knows, it is mostly the latter condition. Or else it is cultivated through the more extravagant claims of media communication in which the public at large participates.

Ontario health minister Frank Miller might have indulged in such ideas when he said the other day he was tired of people complaining about health hazards facing Indians in northwestern Ontario while the governors go on killing themselves with what he calls diseases of choice. Like exercising too little and smoking too much, and not wearing seat belts.

The minister's point was well taken. After all, as he told a questioner, the Indians have been eating fish for a thousand years or more.

At the same time, while recognizing a political football when it presents itself, let's not overlook these and other problems of the native people, including the appalling living conditions of some in that same northwestern region. Mr. Miller says the government has been working on the mercury problem for five years . . . how many more years must pass before some solution is found, either by cleaning up the water, or by providing a more varied diet?

Success Story

The story of Loyalist graduate Roger Reid's progress as a land surveyor is an inspiring one.

It says a lot about Reid himself and about the Community College's role in the educational system.

The young man has already travelled widely at home and abroad in the course of his work. At the same time he acknowledges there is still much to learn. At Loyalist though he acquired the basics, together with a lot of practical training. That way he has found himself an interesting career which he can pursue while learning more on the job and from book study.

Reid's observation about the growing significance of a Community College education is interesting. This is not to say the universities do not still have a vital role to play, but it does recognize the unique character of the colleges in upgrading, retraining and teaching in a wide range of disciplines.

Hydro Projects and The Environment

Editor:
The Intelligencer;

Recently in an editorial on Hydro Power Progress and Environment it seems that they are concerned about the spoiling of our beautiful surrounding countryside. You say how much of our environment will be affected, will only be known when it is completed. Yet they use the terminology of preservation of the environment, aesthetics, natural beauty for their project.

According to a recent news brief from CNC, they have an ugly monster they are doing a good job of hiding, that is radioactive waste from the nuclear power station at Pickering, Ont. This waste is in the open behind a fence in a desert dump.

It seems that from the erosion of the lake it is spilling into the water. The reporter thinks this will have little or no effect on us. He had overlooked, or doesn't know that carbon 14 has a half life of 5,300 years. This means it will be approximately 6000 years before it is half as dangerous as it is today.

We are in the process of building the largest nuclear power station in the world at Bowmanville, Ont. with a high speed reactor which produces many times the radioactive waste. They must realize they can not destroy, contain or live with this pollutant, they have created.

I don't like to be an alarmist but it doesn't matter what terminology the Hydro uses for spoiling another earth. They should not emphasize and dress up a minor problem to ignore the real danger, the genetic mutations from their radioactivity.

As production increases or continues our need for energy will rise. Right per cent of hydro electric power in the world today is produced by nuclear. In 25 years it will be over 50 per cent with a colossal amount of waste.

A change is necessary ... for spaceship earth, we conquer and dominate it, thereby becoming reconciling with it.

Checkered Fortunes Of The NDP

TORONTO — Tuesday Oct. 28 will be a great day for the NDP.

When the first session of the new legislature opens that day the party will be downgraded a position it has been desperately aiming at for more than 29 years.

It will be the official opposition.

Not too widely recognized is that this is the third time the NDP-CCF has been the official Opposition in our Ontario house.

Its success in 1943 when it took 34 seats and nearly won power is well known.

But tending to be forgotten is the fact that the party also formed the second largest party in 1948.

And looking back on this record could superficially be no solace for the party.

For each time after its start of success it went into a sharp dive.

In 1945, the first election after '43 the 34 seats dropped to eight.

In 1951, after coming back with 21 seats in '48, it plunged to just two members.

Cause for thought.

The picture for the party, however, is not as bad as it would appear.

Circumstances were quite different in those earlier occasions close to the throne.

Finally out, the representation in the '43 house was atrociously bad.

The only one of the 34 members who had ever been in a parliament before was Agnes MacPhail and the other 33 were to be marvelled at in their inexperience.

Then also the '43 win was pretty much of a fluke — there was the lowest voter turn-out in the province's history, which meant the socialist votes for the first time really counted and the party reflected a substantial base of support.

Then in 1948 the party's group in the house was dominated by Charlie Millard, Eamon Park and other able parliamentarians and it registered mainly as a labor party, which the public didn't buy.

But today the party does have a substantial base of support. It won 30 seats in 1967, repeated with 19 in 1971 and has 28 and in each of those elections was able to win better than 27 per cent of the vote.

It also has some strong members who generally are more presentative of the community though 17 of the 28 are teachers and has firm and sometimes brilliant leadership from Stephen Lewis.

For the other parties to look for it to fall on its face on the strength of the past record would be insane.

A Beer Anyone ?

Wisdom from the Hill

Let's hear it for the American Medical Association.

Doctors addressing the AMA convention told what a large number of us have openly suspected and covertly known for years: there is no best beer produced anywhere in the world.

Beer, the AMA was told, is a universally satisfying substitute for water and other liquids that can cause the traveller's malady, diarrhea. Apparently, W.C. Fields had a point when he made his rather disparaging remark about water.

The AMA also learned that beer is one of the best things to prevent dehydration because you get salt from it.

Also, they were told still further, it works in your favor by keeping the kidneys open.

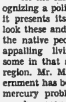
Exemptions and Slap at Corporate Output Weak Points of Controls

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs

Analyst

Thomson News Service



It hasn't taken long for weaknesses to appear in the new controls on incomes and prices that were announced by Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau on Thanksgiving.

The most obvious, perhaps, is the decision to exempt 20,000 post office inside workers from the controls.

The Trudeau cabinet will knuckle under to other special interest groups, if they talk tough enough.

A less obvious weakness, but a real one nevertheless, is the deserved new capital investment that is implicit in the freeze on business profit margins.

The rule is this: A company's profit on each unit of output is to be fixed in dollar terms—not percentage—at its pre-Thanksgiving average. Any increase is limited to the rise in the company's actual costs.

If you run into a company's difficulty, suggests that the three more years of low return.

Faced with this prospect, you are likely to declare a freeze of your own—no more investment in new production facilities — as long as Ottawa keeps the lid on your profitability.

The new production that you might otherwise have put on the market is therefore non-existent.

If that happens on a broad scale, then industrial growth will be at a standstill and the job market will no longer be able to absorb new entrants as it has been doing.

Thus the unemployment rate is likely to rise from the past six months' plateau of about 7.3 per cent of the labor force.

The probable long-term result of a freeze in business capital spending will be severe shortage of the products of industry. This does not only to greater inflation but also to black markets and a general breakdown of the market system.

Granted, it would be politically dangerous to give even partial exemptions to business in order to ensure a continuation of normal investment and expansion—even though the politicians lost no time in giving an exemption to post office workers.

Let it also be granted that some firms have been earning an excessive rate of return on their investment, and must be reined in if inflation is to be curbed.

The controls prog ram must have public credibility—and the Trudeau government seems to be saying that that leaves no room for flexibility.

Yet the prime minister, at the very beginning, exempted the bureaucracy from the freeze ("the widespread belief that government should stamp down on—itself is wrong") and then went on to exempt a big union that is mailing big waves.

A way must be found, within the framework of a generally laudable program of restraint, to sense that Canadian business can earn enough to keep capital investment alive in the unprecedented period of reduced consumer spending power.

Cyclists Raise $4,000 For ARC

TRENTON — A Belleville gorilla, some Trenton raid and two Quinte political animals helped raise almost $4,000 for the local chapter of the Association for the Mentally Retarded, Saturday.

The Trenton and Brighton District Association for the Mentally retarded's first annual bike-a-thon was held under threatening skies but 56 of the 69 participants who began the muscle for money effort finished the 16-mile trip to Frankford and Back.

Hugh O'Neil, Quinte MPP and George Hees, Prince Edward-Hastings MP, and the oldest participant at 65, kicked off the trip but withdrew after five miles.

A Belleville woman, Marie Haines, was later identified as the gorilla girl who travelled the entire route inside the sunbrepoid costume earning more than $425 in sponsored mileage money for the campaign to finance and expand the ARC workshop and support the associations preschool program.

The radio association if Trenton (RAT), a new organization for the town, had nine radi-equipped cars on the road to monitor the bikers activities and to help anyone who needed assistance.

John Seawright, a former marathon racer ran the route under two hours. Bud Leveridge, 60, was the participant with the highest pledges-per-mile at $36.21 and earned $811.20 for the expansion fund.

Robert Haker, organizer of the bike-a-thon and a participant, said there are 34 workers at the centre but it is too small and there are more prospective members who could and would be accomodated when the planed expansion takes places.

Popular Organist Draws Standing Ovation for Concert

By TERRY SPRAGUE
Staff Correspondent

PICTON — A standing ovation was given well - known pipe organist, Rosa Rio Saturday night when she played before a capacity crowd of 1,200 at the United Church here. The special concert was in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the United Church of Canada.

Among those responsible for the talented musician's appearance in Picton was Chalan Blakely of Picton, a member of the American Theatre Organ Society. The Blakely's are friends of Rosa Rio and say that they attend "every one of her concerts within driving distance of Picton," It was after a recent concert at the Thomaston Opera House in Connecticut, that the Blackety's invited the organist to perform in Picton.

Rosa Rio's husband, William Yeoman, is an integral part of the concerts, acting as master of ceremonies. Together they have performed throughout the world as well as giving a command performance before the United Nations.

Also appearing on the program Saturday night were Hazelmae and Robert Reid, soprano soloist and choir director respectively, of the Bridge Street United Church, Belleville. Winners of numerous scholarships, they have performed throughout Canada and the United States in concerts, as well as with the Toronto Symphony. For many years they were guest soloists on the CBC in radio and television.

The two-hour concert, featured a number of selections including hymns, a medley of themes from radio and television shows and several compositions of Jesse Crawford, Victor Herbert and Sigmund Romberg.

Quinte Cuisine

Apple butter is just one of the many kinds of preserves Fenella MacWhirter has enjoyed making this fall. Mrs. MacWhirter, who is a teacher, husband Chuck, also a teacher, and children Sarah and Katie live on Foster Avenue. Her advice on apple butter: just keep stirring.

Apple Butter

eight quarts apple
two pounds white sugar one pound brown sugar
one quart apple cider
¼ oz. cinnamon
one tsp. ground cloves

Peel and core apples, cut in small pieces. Place about one quarter of the apples in a large heavy bottom kettle with apple cider. Place over medium heat and begin stirring. Cook and stir at a simmer, gradually adding remaining apples and sugar. Cook until very very thick, about four to five hours. Taste for sweetness (the mixture tastes sweeter when warm) and add spices. Ladle into hot sterilized jars and seal. Makes about four pints.

New bank manager Luella MacKinnon and Nancy Carr check plans together.

New Woman Manager Heads City's First 'All Women' Bank

The Royal Bank has added a new dimension to its newest Belleville branch. It'll be a bank staffed entirely by women.

On October 21 the Royal Bank will officially open its branch on Dundas St. East and Luella MacKinnon will be Belleville's first female bank manager.

"It's news that a woman manager is a novelty in Belleville but it is not news that women have this sort of capability," says Mrs. MacKinnon. She was one of 14 women recently selected by the bank to participate in an accelerated management development program.

Being a bank manager wasn't always her ambition, she says. Neither has women's liberation had a thing to do with Mrs. MacKinnon's career choice and speedy ascent of the banking ladder.

"I was a librarian in Kingston when I was offered a job in the bank," she said. At first I declined the offer, but that Monday I reported for work as a passing clerk."

Having no intentions of becoming a manager, Mrs. MacKinnon progressed through a variety of jobs in the bank. "Now I have an appreciation of the problems that can arise for various departments," she said.

Are there special problems attached to being a woman bank manager?

"The only problem was in Gydesman as a senior accountant," said Mrs. MacKinnon.

"Historically, the bank's senior accountant doubled as the treasurer for the local men's chapter of the Jaycees ... one job that I couldn't do."

Apart from that it's a matter of knowing what to do with customers, she said.

"The door is wide open with opportunities for women. You just have to be prepared to give some things up .. particularly time."

"The rise from banking jobs that traditionally have been done by women to a manager's position hasn't change me much other than that my experience has given me more confidence," she said.

Asked whether her position would put any constraints on her, she said, "I dont have to become masculine to function in my job."

This week Mrs. MacKinnon and her accountant and second-in-command Nancy Carr are developing last minute preparations for their branch that will be completely staffed by women.

"We hope customers come to see us not because we are women but because we're competent," said Mrs. MacKinnon.

Sweet Adelines Welcome Many New Members

Ten new members were recently welcomed into the prospective Bay of Quinte Chapter of Sweet Adelines. The chorus now has 52 members from Belleville, Trenton, Picton, Brighton and surrounding areas.

President Mary Lou Letersky welcomed the women and the Chorus Director Aileen Speed, presented each one with a corsage. Marianne Bunt, vice-president, read the Sweet Adeline code of ethics and also, "What is a Member?" pointing out that what a person contributes to any group governs the enjoyment one receives in return. The chorus welcomed them with "You're as Welcome as the Flowers in May."

The new members are: Ruth Bale, Doreen Cleave, Jean Cox, Marcia Giles, Sybil Henderson, Lorraine Lawson, Marilyn Martin, Muriel McNeill, Gaile Nolan and Marilyn Sagrr.

The rest of the evening was spent rehearsing for the Chapter's part in the United Appeal show to be held at Centennial Secondary School on October 24, and the evening with the Concert Brass at Tabernacle United Church on October 26.

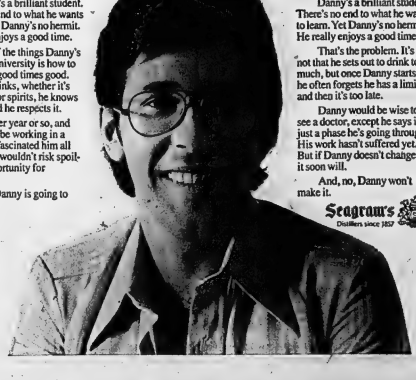
Will he make it?



Yes, he will.
Danny's a brilliant student. There's no end to what he wants to learn. Yet Danny's no hermit. He really enjoys a good time.
One of the things Danny's learned at university is how to keep those good times good. When he drinks, whether it's beer, wine or spirits, he knows his limit and he respects it.
Another year or so, and Danny will be working in a field that's fascinated him all his life. He wouldn't risk spoiling the opportunity for anything.
Yes, Danny is going to make it.

No, he won't.
Danny's a brilliant student. There's no end to what he wants to learn. Yet Danny's no hermit. He really enjoys a good time.
That's the problem. It's not that he sets out to drink too much, but once Danny starts he often forgets he has a limit, and then it's too late.
Danny would be wise to see a doctor, except he says it's just a phase he's going through. His work hasn't suffered yet. But if Danny doesn't change, it soon will.
And, no, Danny won't make it.

Wife's Two Letters Tell Sad Story of Marriage Breaking

Dear Ann Landers: Will you do me a special favor and print two letters from me in your column? The first I wrote to my husband 15 years ago and kept a copy of. The second I mailed to him last night. Thank you for your special consideration. — R.L.

Dear R.L.: 1, 1960

Dear Jack: For what seems like the millionth time I walked into the house tonight and you are not here. You aren't out fooling around. You are at work on the night shift.

I never wanted you to take that shift and we argued about it. You thought it was well worth the extra money. I told you I didn't care about the money; that I'd rather have a normal family life. But I lost the battle.

Our children are sick of hearing me say, "Shhh—your father is asleep." They can't bring their friends home after school or practice the piano. I can't have a table of bridge or the garden club meetings here. You need your rest.

The years slip away so rapidly. We seem to be growing further apart. Then there's this matter of your health. I look at you and see a tired, middle-aged man who needs regular hours, regular meals and a regular routine.

I realize you are doing what you think is best for me and the children, but you're wrong. Will you please reconsider? I love you. — Your Wife

Here's the second letter which I mailed last night:

Dear Jack: When the judge said, "Divorce granted," you vaguely resembled a man I used to know—but you looked about 40 years older.

There is no point in going into the why's and wherefores, but I wonder now, if you could have gazed into a crystal ball and seen what the future held, would you have done things differently?

Our children view you as a stranger. You missed out on all the fun when they were growing up. The few good friends we had dropped us along the way. We could never seem to get together.

So now our marriage is over and we must both make new lives for ourselves. If it had been another woman I would have felt better. But it was something far more insidious—good luck, dear. — Your Ex-Wife.

Dear Friend: Here are both your letters. I print them for the value they might have to others who may be struggling with the same problem. Thanks for sharing your sad story. Perhaps someone, somewhere, will learn from it.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is 21, a college junior, and a serious student. The young woman he has been dating since his freshman year is very attractive. She is well-mannered, does well in school and I like her.

The problem: My husband knows they have been having sex for the last year (at least) and he really displises the girl because of it. If she were our daughter, it might be understandable. But why my husband has these hostile feelings toward her is beyond me.

I'm sure they are in love and plan to marry. I hate to think of the trouble ahead for this girl because of my husband's irrational attitude. How can I help? — Trouble a'Brewin'

Dear Brew: Don't argue with your husband about the situation or try to defend the girl. Just keep the lid on.

Irrational people are unreasonable. Let's hope Dad's anger subsides. If not, he'll find himself the victims of his own isolation.

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday I wore a plum-colored outfit to the office. A woman I work with complimented me on the ensemble and said she has a suicide lady exactly the same color which she had worn only three times. "I'd love for you to have it," she said. "I'll bring it tomorrow."

Today she brought the bag and it was a perfect match. When I thanked her she said, "I didn't mean it as a gift. I had in mind selling it to you at cost. The price is $40."

I almost fell through the floor. I told her I couldn't afford it and thanked her anyway. In all my life I have never sold an article of used clothing to a friend, but I feel our relationship has been hurt. Am I naive? Am I stupid? Was she crass? I need your opinion.—Plum-Faced

Dear P. F.: Selling used clothing to friends, generally speaking, is not a good idea. The woman should have made it clear from the outset that she intended to sell you the bag. Forget the incident and hope-fully she will, too.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a woman, 30, unmarried, and I have a six-month-old daughter. I do not see my child's father since I told him I was pregnant—or do I care to. He has never seen his little girl. If I can help it, he never will.

When strangers stop me on the street to admire the child and ask, "Where is her father?" what should I say?

In this day and age, why do people assume that every child has a father? How can I let them know, without going into my life's story, that I have no husband and I wish they wouldn't be so nosy?

With the increasing number of out-of-wedlock children being born, something should be done to help those like myself.—Just A Little Different

Dear Just: Every child has a father, whether he is married to Mommy or not. Rather than deny your child on the defensive, I suggest you tell her, when she begins to ask questions, and she does, indeed, have a father but you didn't marry him. You should also add that you love her enough to make up for her father's love, even though he isn't able to live with her.

I sense your enormous hostility toward the father and I hope you'll get over it before you pollute the child's mind. Maybe the man is a no-good rat, but turning a child against an absent parent never helps. As for the inquiries from strangers, a simple "Her father is away" will do very nicely.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you've printed several letters already about the 30-year-old boy who slept at his friend's house and wet the bed. Please, find room for one more.

As a child I, too, was a bed-wetter. But by the time I was 11 years old, I overcame the habit. The shame and guilt a bed-wetter feels is indescribable.

I can understand objecting to a guest who brings a dog that is not housebroken, but a bed-wetter is not a dog. It seems to me a person's feelings are more important than a mattress—but a mattress—has feelings, too.

Dear Bed: Sorry, but a 30-year-old is no "boy." He's a man. And he knows whether or not he can trust his bladder. If he has a problem he should take precautions as a recent writer suggested—rubber pants with padding underneath—and a plastic sheet. I agree a person's feelings are more important than a mattress, but a hostess

Rub Parlors Will Face Fines Before They Submit to Licences

TORONTO (CP) — Operators of some of the city's body rub parlors say they will face prosecution rather than obey a new bylaw requiring them to have licences, which comes into effect next Sunday.

The new regulations demand a licence fee of $5,000, place a ban on advertising, limit hours and require all girl attendants to have health certificates.

Joe Martin, owner of five parlors, says he is willing to be charged and face stiff fines to fight the regulations.

There were an estimated 100 parlors doing business in the city two months ago, but since have closed, a spokesman for the Metropolitan Toronto Licensing Commission said.

So far only five applications for licences have been filed, the spokesman said. The new law will permit only 25 licensed parlors.

Arnold Linetsky—who is taking his challenge of the new regulations to the Supreme Court of Ontario—applied for a licence Wednesday, in a letter accompanying the application, he said his move was not to be taken as an admission of the validity of the new rules.

Jamming TV Signals Considered a Scare

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — A lawyer for the Canadian Radio-Television Commission (CRTC) says a proposal by three television stations in Buffalo, N.Y., to jam signals coming into Canada is an attempt to change Canadian policy by scare tactics.

Speaking to the Ontario Bar Association, Peter Grant, special counsel for the CRTC, said Saturday that if the Buffalo stations jam signals into Canada, "they will be able to scare us (Canadians) into doing anything their broadcasting policy determines."

Operators of the Buffalo stations—WBEN, WKBW, and WGR—have asked the U.S. regulatory body, the Federal Communications Commission, for permission to jam signals coming into Canada.

Mr. Grant said the attempt to jam signals was an effort to get Canadians to put pressure on the federal government and the CRTC to drop the CRTC ruling that Canadian operators of cable systems must substitute Canadian commercials for U.S. commercials when picking up programs from the stations.

Mr. Grant said the ruling is being considered by the Supreme Court of Canada but he feels the CRTC has the superior moral position.

He said the Buffalo stations draw $8 million in advertising revenue from Canadian companies because of the proximity of the Canadian television audience.

"The $8 million is a small part of the revenue made by the Buffalo stations, but it represents 10 per cent of all the television revenue in Canada," he said.

Lang Says Ottawa May Nationalize Dredging If High Bids Continue

TORONTO (CP) — Otto Lang, federal transport minister, said Sunday the federal government may have to consider nationalizing the dredging industry or may have to open bidding internationally if excessive bids continue.

In an interview on CTV's W5 television program, Mr. Lang said the government "cannot ignore the danger of excessive bids, and we will therefore have to look at such extreme measures for our own safety."

Mr. Lang said that nationalization of the dredging industry would mean moving dredging out of the commercial sector where the government ordinarily would like to have it.

W5 said that bids entered on two dredging jobs in the St. Lawrence River, for which tenders were called last August, were four to five times greater than government estimates.

The bids for the jobs at Ile d'Orleans, near Quebec City, and Cap Sante were rejected by officials of the transport department who said the bids were not justified, W5 said.

Stan Powell, general manager of McNamara Marine Ltd. of Ontario, told W5 that the price quoted by the company was justified and he offered to meet with Mr. Lang to discuss the situation.

Macdonald Predicts Trouble with Unions

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Donald Macdonald says Canada will be in for a "stormy period" if unions defy government's selective wage and price controls.

Speaking in an interview taped for broadcast Sunday on the CTV program Question Period, Mr. Macdonald said he is not deterred by the initially-negative response of organized labor because unions are expressing their concern about the effect of the anti-inflation measures on low-income earners.

However, if unions strike to back excessive wage demands "I think that we would be in for a stormy period. Theres no doubt about it."

Labor spokesmen have voiced opposition to the guides and the United Auto Workers union says it will defy them in talks with the auto industry next summer.

Mr. Macdonald said he hopes legislation establishing the program will be approved by Parliament within a couple of weeks. It was introduced in the House on Thursday.

He said the lack of a close relationship between labor and the government in Canada did not allow use of the British system of wage controls, with pay increases limited in dollar terms rather than percentage of the existing wage. He said the British government was able to obtain union agreement for straight dollar limits but did not attempt to control the incomes of highly-paid professionals such as doctors and lawyers.

Bobcats Are Only Undefeated Team in Metro Junior B League

It appeared to a good number of the 1,000 fans that turned out Sunday at the Belleville Memorial Arena that the visiting Pickering Panthers were about to write a timely tag far as Pickering were concerned) end to the Belleville winning story. The Cats brewed again in the third period to edge-the visitors 7-5.

With a little better than two minutes left to play in the second period Belleville found themselves on the very short end of a 5-3 score. Up until that time Belleville had been unable to buy a goal at any price including a first period penalty shot.

"They just don't want to lose," said a happy Belleville coach Meehan Bonnar.

"The turning point had to be the two goals we scored in the last minutes of the second period," added the coach.

Bonnar was referring to the first goals of the game by Mike Crawford and Tony Meagher.

"We went into the dressing room between the second and third periods and had a little talk and the guys know what they had to do and went out and did it," explained Bonnar.

Both clubs came out flying in the opening minutes of the first period and with the game less than five minutes old, Belleville was awarded a penalty shot because a Pickering player had fallen on the puck in the crease.

Grant Coogan was designated by the Bobcats to take the free shot which, at that time, would have given the locals a 1-0 lead. Panther goalie Dick Bouchard did exactly as he was supposed to, letting the forward make the first move, and made an easy pad save on the shot.

From then on the Panthers could make no mistakes and their fast, bustling pace was rewarded with three goals by the end of the period. Belleville, had their chances, including a shot that hit the post, but just couldn't put the puck by Bouchard, who was especially good on the close in tries.

Sterling goaltender for Belleville, Bob Moore was replaced around the midway mark of the second period after the fourth Panther goal.

"I didn't take Bob (Moore) out because he was playing bad, but because I just thought that Team needed a lift," said Bonnar.

Early in the third period, Belleville had found the weak spot on the visitors goalie. Andy Ricketts and Bob Thompson each fired goals high to the goalies glove side before the Pickering coaching staff decided it was time for a change.

Rob Chase was credited with the tying goal for Belleville, after a scramble in front of the Pickering goal, setting the stage for the winner by Coogan.

The 5ft11 Belleville goal, that proved to be the winner came as a measure of revenge for Coogan. His hard shot was blocked by the Panthers defenceminder and deflected high into the air. The goalie lost sight of the puck, it dropped straight down behind him, hit him on the back and bounced into the net. Coogan fired his second goal into an empty net on a pass from Meagher with three seconds left in the game.

The win by the Cats again brought question of the word spirit which literally bubbles over on the Belleville team. The local squad out shot the visitors by a 39-22 margin and also picked up 22 minutes in penalties as compared to 36 obtained by Pickering.

OMHA Roundup

Lions Win First Game Of Wrigley Elimination

Belleville Lions Midgets lost the toss deciding home game advantage in their two-out-of-three series with Kingston, but it didn't stop them from winning the first game Sunday 4-2 in the Limestone City.

The Lions are playing for the right to represent Ontario in the Wrigley Midget Hockey Tournament in Calgary next spring. The second game of their five game series - they need to win five series in all, against Ontario Minor Hockey Association AAA clubs — will be played tonight at 7 p.m. at the Memorial Arena.

Randy Hotchkinson scored the winning goal late in the third. Until that time Bruce Hamilton, Belleville netminder, had staved off several Kingston surges. Howie Coates scored the insurance marker late as empty net.

Bob Crawford and John Diamopoulos tallied the first two goals of the game for the local squad.

In other weekend Ontario Minor Hockey Association action, the Belleville Mickeys-Maines Minor Bantams dropped a pair of weekend games to the Kingston Township minor bantams by scored of 9-1 and 7-4.

Belleville didn't get on the score board until early in the third period when John Brander fired a shot by Kingston goalie Troy St. Hilaire. Insandwich fashion, Steve Belleville made a little better showing picking the four goals in the contest with the Kingston team. Dan Tuttle and John Ricketts started things off for Belleville with their singles in the first period and Lloyd Bonnar tied the game at the midway mark of the second period as Robert Sou tucked the puck behind th Kingston netminder.

Belleville was unable to contain the high flying Kingston team in the second half of the game as the winners zeroed four unanswered goals to clinch their second victory in two days.

The Belleville major atoms picked up a win in their season opener against Trenton by a 3-1 margin. Mike Allen, Al MacKenzie and Terry Archer scored singles for Belleville in the win with Tom Tilley of Trenton scoring their only marker.

The Belleville Minor Pee Wees split a pair of games losing the season opener to Oshawa by a 12-2 score. Chris Coates and Jim Cleru were the only local marksmen in Sunday's contest with Trenton. Belleville turned out a 4-1 decision.

Tim Mulroney and Jim Hess each picked up a pair of goals with singles going to, David Meagher, Dan Shephard, Bob Canary and Kirk Baker. Trenton marksmen were Paul Clair side, who netted two goals in the losing effort, Rob Lee and Jeff Chaulnard rounded out the Trenton scoring with one goal apiece.

In the opening game of the season for the Minor Pee Wees the Belleville Yardmen tied the Peterborough Petes in Peterborough, Hugh Green picked up two goals for Belleville while Scott Arnold's single finished up the scoring for the locals.

The Major Pee Wees found the going pretty rough but they came up against Oshawa. The Oshawa squad won 6-1 win. Bryson Lumble picked up a pair of goals for Belleville with singles going to Darey Meagher, Mark Hooper, Scott Thompson, Mike Shardian and Craig Saxby.

Bill Rowe led the Belleville Major Bantams with a three goal performance in a 10-7 rout of the Kingston Township team. Clarence Verkerkens with singles going to, Mark Crawford, Steve Mellino, Steve Murphy and Kevin Meagher.

A last minute gamble paid off for the Belleville juveniles as they came from a 3-0 and 27 seconds remaining in the third period to earn a 4-4 tie with Peterborough in Sunday's contest in Peterborough. Belleville had removed their goaltender in favour of an extra attacker, the move paid off as Ross MacLeod fired the equalizer.

MacLeod's goal was the second of the day for the Belleville winger. Gary Thompson and Roger Chapman rounded out the local scoring with their singles.

The only other game played was an exhibition contest between the Belleville minor Atoms who bowed out to Napanee 2-1. Tod Cook was the only Belleville player to beat the Napanee goaltender.

The Comets battled to a 3-3 tie with the Kingston Canadiens in Sunday's game Belleville made a little better showing picking the four goals in the contest with the Kingston team. Dan Tuttle and John Ricketts started things off for Belleville with their singles in 3-1 margin, Mike Allen, Al MacKenzie and Terry Archer scored singles for Belleville in the win with Tom Tilley of Trenton scoring their only marker.

Comets Earn Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Charlie Lee scored with less than seven minutes remaining in the game to salvage the Comets a 3-3 tie with visiting Whitby Blackhawks in Ontario Hockey Association Senior A action Sunday.

In Saturday's only game, Cambridge Hornets defeated the Comets 8-4 at Cambridge.

Convery tore the puck at the Whitby goal and shot a low, fool unassisted goal past Whitby goalie Dan Wilson at 12:28 of the third period Sunday.

The goal spoiled a comeback by Whitby which trailed 2-1 early in the final period. The teams were tied 1-1 after the first period.

Dale Sandza and Wayne McConnell scored Napanee's other goals.

Whitby scorers were Ed Philpott, Gord McGuff and Greg Bodner. McGuff and Bodner split the puck goal. Napanee goalie Steve Reste for two goals in three minutes and in the third period, putting Whitby ahead 3-2 at 10:42.

Whitby outshot Napanee 28-27 and the Comets took 34 minutes in penalty minutes, including a fourth Griffin at Lendhorn misconduct and a game misconduct to Pete Fleming.

League play resumes today with Griffin at Lendhorn.

Cambridge scored three unanswered goals in the second period of Saturday's contest, played before 1,000 spectators.

Centre Gary Brewer scored twice and assisted on a third goal for the Hornets. The other Cambridge scorers were Pat Bentley and Jim Holder.

Wayne McConnell scored Napanee's only goal late in the first period. The third was scoreless.

The Hornets outshot Napanee 38-23.

Belleville, Kingston Corner Awards

KINGSTON (Special) — Tommy Moran, top scorer with the Frontenac League, turned playmaker here, Sunday, setting up the only goal of the game as Italo-Canadians stopped Portuguese 4-3 in an all Kingston Buxsey Cup final.

Moran beat three Portuguese defenders before passing off to Goran who fired the ball home.

At the Premier League's annual general meeting, Moran and teammate Jim Kennedy also received Buxsey members of Belleville Olympics, received individual awards.

Moran was honored as the league's top scorer with 19 goals and Kennedy was named best defender in the six-team loop.

Bob Watson and Zdravko Pundik were the Belleville players selected for their solid play over the season.

Watson was named the league's most valuable player and Pundik, most gentlemanly player.

Moved from a defensive position to a role as striker, Watson added punch to the Olympics' attack and was a driving force in every match. Pundik, noted for his ability to concentrate on soccer in the rough going, was a popular choice as MGP.

Olympics, Tonys Advance to Final

TRENTON — Cobour Tony's and Belleville Olympics moved to the final in the Bay of Quinte Soccer Association's Trenton Challenge Cup series here, Sunday.

Tony's blanked Trenton Citizens Financed 2-0 after Olympics had subdued Quinte Italo-Canadians 7-2 as the semi-finals were run off in the rain and mud at Centennial Park.

Olympics had to come from behind to get by Italo.

Applying the pressure early, Italo forged into a 2-0 lead on goals by Nick Del Grosso and Joe Romone.

Olympics fought back and it was 2-2 at the half. Dave Kidd got the comeback started and Bob Watson connected for the equalizer on a header off a corner kick.

In the second half, Watson completed his hat-trick with a pair of Olympic counters and singles were added by Kidd and Chris Hackle and Zdravko Pundic.

Olympics had their hands full in the match with the Trenton side. Citizens once again went to minor soccer ranks for players and came up with 14 year-olds Sandy Stephens and David Boers who gave the club a ball 11-man lineup.

Only five minutes remained in the first half when Tony's clicked for the only goal they scored in the opening period. Lee converted a cross from Peter Bahr for the opening play.

Late in the second half, Cobourg's Brian Reid broke down the centre, was brought down on a tackle from Dennis Woodcock, but regained his feet in time to regain control of the ball and whip home the insurance goal.

The Cup final is set for Centennial Park, Sunday. Game time is 3 p.m.

Big Night for Rangers

No Stopping Flyers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Philadelphia Flyers didn't let a little thing like the off-season spell their National Hockey League regular-schedule unbeaten streak.

The Flyers won their fifth game of the season Sunday night, defeating Detroit Red Wings 3-1 in Philadelphia's Spectrum, where Detroit hasn't been able to claim victory in more than 10 years.

The Flyers have not lost a regular-season game since losing to Pittsburgh Penguins 2-1 last March 8. That's not including the playoffs which ultimately resulted in Philadelphia's second consecutive Stanley Cup.

The victory also extended the Flyers' unbeaten streak at the Spectrum to 18 games.

In other NHL games Sunday, New York Rangers downed Vancouver Canucks 8-1, Buffalo Sabres edged Washington Capitals 5-4, Chicago Black Hawks beat Minnesota North Stars 2-0 and Boston Bruins shut out Toronto Maple Leaf 3-0.

Saturday, Toronto topped the Rangers 6-1, Boston beat New York Islanders 5-2, Philadelphia and Montreal Canadiens played to a 2-2 tie, Atlanta Flames downed Kansas City Scouts 5-3, Pittsburgh Penguins beat Detroit 6-1, Chicago defeated the North Stars 3-1, the Sabres downed St. Louis Blues 5-3 and Los Angeles Kings beat Cali Seals 5-3.

The Flyers took a 3-0 lead in the first period with goals by Ross Lonsberry and rookie Mel Bridgman 63 seconds apart. Orest Kindrachuk made it a 4 mid-way through the second period before Nick Libett spoiled Wayne Stephenson's shutout bid with a Detroit goal at the 15 minute mark.

Bill Barber and Bob Kelly scored the other Philadelphia goals.

The line of Jean Ratelle, Steve Vickers and Rod Gilbert combined for three goals and six assists to help the Rangers manhandle the Canucks.

The Rangers line of Rick Middleton, Wayne Dillon and Pat Hickey added two goals and three assists. The loss was Vancouver's fourth in six tries.

Alain Daigle, filling in for th injured Stan Mikita, scored two first-period goals to lead the Black Hawks to a sweep of their weekend series with Minnesota.

Rick Martin scored three goals in the first period as the Sabres built up a 4-0 lead, then held on for their win over Washington.

Buffalo's Don Luce was awarded a penalty shot in the second period when he was tripped from behind as he skated in on the net. Washington goalie Ron Low poke-checked the puck away before Luce got away a shot.

Andre Savard and Terry O'Reilly broke a scoreless tie with goals 27 seconds apart in the second period to give the Sabres all they needed in their win over Toronto. Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert made 31 saves in recording the shutout.

Clippers Clipped

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Defenceman Jean Ratelle scored one goal and assisted on three others Sunday night as Providence defeated Baltimore Clippers 6-3 in a penalty-filled American Hockey League game.

The Clippers led 3-1 at 15:35 of the second period when Boyd Anderson of the Reds, pushed from behind by a Baltimore defender, pushed the puck between the pads of Dunc Wilson for the tying goal.

Wilson chased referee Terry Pierce to the blue line and received a two-minute penalty and a game misconduct.

His replacement, Dave Hainsworth, gave up three power-play goals in the closing minutes of the second period that sealed the Clippers' fate. The loss was the first in four starts for Baltimore, which lead the Southern Division with six points.

In Sunday's other games, Nova Scotia Voyageurs nipped Springfield Indians 3-2 and Rochester Americans topped New Haven Nighthawks 5-1.

Saturday, the Clippers beat the Reds 6-3 and Richmond Robins downed Hershey Bears 6-2.

Rochester and Nova Scotia share first place in the Northern Division with six points each.

Providence's scorers, in addition to Zanussi and Anderson, were Ed Johnstone, Dave Maloney, Jerry Byers and Mitch Babin. Steve Richardson, Freddy Shock and Jerry Rudisk scored power-play goals for Baltimore.

Pierre Mondou's goal with a little more than two minutes remaining gave the Voyageurs their win in Glace Bay, N.S.

FIGHT CALLED OFF

HERTFORD, England (Reuter) — Britain's first prizefight in more than a century was called off at the last minute Sunday following police intervention and legal action. The fight between Denny (The Bull) Adams and Boyston (The Master) Shaw was scheduled to take place on a farm near here. Prizefighting, a bare-knuckle battle in the finish, is illegal.

Jets Stung by Finn

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Jets started the Scandinavian exodus to the World Hockey Association three years ago by adding a number of top Swedish and Finnish players to their roster.

The presence of the young Europeans strengthened the Jets, and other clubs around the league this season—including the second-year Phoenix Roadrunners—looked across the ocean for new talent.

Sunday night, the trend back fired on the Jets as Finnish import Lauri Mononen scored th ee goals in 14 minutes to help the Roadrunners defeat Winnipeg 6-5.

Rob Flores scored the winner for the Roadrunners. Veli-Pekka Ketola, Anders Hedberg and Willy Lindstrom—all Scandinavian—scored three of the five Winnipeg goals.

Elsewhere Sunday, Edmonton Oilers and Cincinnati Stingers 4-2 and Houston Oilers edged Cleveland Crusaders 6-5.

On Saturday, New England Whalers downed Toronto Toros

Duguay Leader In Wolves' Romp

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ron Duguay collected six points Sunday to lead Sudbury Wolves to an 8-4 victory over Ottawa '67s in Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A action.

In other games, Kingston Canadians tied the Marlboros 4-4 at Toronto, Hamilton Fincups defeated the Generals 8-5 at Oshawa, the Black Hawks downed Kitchener Rangers 7-5 at St. Catharines and the Knights defeated Peterborough Petes 5-1 at London.

On Saturday, the Greyhounds defeated Ottawa 9-4 at Sault Ste. Marie and Kitchener edged the Marlboros 3-2 at Toronto.

Duguay fired three goals Sunday and assisted on three others to increase his series-leading points total for the season to 19.

Randy Pierce, Rod Schutt, Mike Foligno, Dave Farrish and Alex McKendry scored single goals for the Wolves.

Tom McDonnell, Warren Holmes, Bobby Smith and Bruce Baker replied for Ottawa.

The score was tied 2-2 after 20 minutes but Sudbury scored five unanswered goals in head 7-2 going into the final period.

Five of the Sudbury goals were scored on power-plays.

The Wolves outshot the '67s 36-26 before a 2,751 fan.

League play resumes Tuesday with Oshawa at Hamilton, Toronto at Kingston and London at St. Catharines.

Canada Takes Gold In Track and Rowing

MEXICO CITY (CP)—Canada won gold medals in track and field rowing, in weekend activity at the Pan-American Games but the medals of any colour were difficult to come by at the Pan-Am pool.

Joyce Yakobovich of Victoria ran away from the field for a surprise victory in the women's 400 metres Saturday and the Canadian crew overhauled Cuban and United States rivals Sunday to win the coxed fours.

But there were no performances of O Canada at the pool as U.S. swimmers and divers collected six of the first seven gold medals and Ecuador picked up its first at the Games in the men's 200-metre freestyle.

There was a couple of close calls Saturday. Defending champion Elizabeth Carruthers of Edmonton was overtaken by Jennifer Chandler of the U.S. in the final dive and settled for a silver in the women's springboard event and Sylvie Fortier of Quebec City was narrowly beaten by Gail Buttorff of the U.S. in synchronized swimming.

In five swimming finals Sunday, the only Canadian medallist was a silver in the 400-metre medley relay and a bugaw for Cheryl Gibson of Edmonton in the women's 200-metre individual medley.

Elsewhere, Dr. Jules Sobrian of Omemee, Ont., won his third medal of the Games, a silver in rapid-fire pistol and 18-year-old Scott Neilsen of Victoria picked up a bronze in the hammer throw Saturday.

Thenia Wright of Vancouver and Abby Hoffman of Toronto took the silver and bronze behind Janice Merrill of the U.S. in the women's 1,500 metres Sunday and Canadian oarsmen gained a silver medal in the coxless pairs and a bronze in the coxless fours and the equestrians picked up their second silver in team dressage.

Cuba's challenge to the U.S. in the medal standings fizzled as the Americans won 17 of the 28 final events contested during the weekend while the Cubans managed only two, in team sabre fencing and the quadruple scull.

That boosted the American total of gold medals to 47 for seven days' competition to 26 for Cuba and 19 for Canada.

U.S. marksmen carried off the last three disputed gold in individual trapshooting and individual and team rapid-fire pistol.

Americans won four of six track and field events, pacing up the men's 400 metres, hammer throw and decathlon in addition to Miss Merrill's triumph in the women's 400.

Edith Hoeding of Peru won the women's 100-metre hurdles to give her country its first Games medal.

Today's best prospect for a Canadian gold medal appeared to be in the individual dressage competition, in which defending champion Christilot Boylen of Cedar Valley, Ont., had a lead at the half-way point. Her team-mates, Barbara Stracey and Lorraine Stubbs of Toronto, were in fifth and sixth place.

And the Canadian middle-distance runners, with several medals in individual contests, have a chance in the 1,600-metre relay.

Lise Cheneri of Quebec City, who got her chance to swim in the medley relay when Nancy Garbrick, the phenomenal 16-year-old from Halifax, played home, raised a few eyebrows by shooting to the front in the backstroke leg of the medley relay.

The lead was maintained in 16-year-old Joann Baker of Thunder Bay, Ont., in the breastroke leg but Wendy Quirk of Montreal was no match for Carmile Wright of the U.S. in the butterfly and her sister Jill fell further behind against Kim Peyton in the freestyle.

Both the American girls, timed in four minutes 30.37 seconds, and the Canadians, with 4:33.81, broke the Games record of 4:35.59 set four years ago in the Canadian foursome of Donna Marie Carr, Jane Wright, Leslie Cliff and Angela Coughlan.

Miss Gibson, who is more effective in the 400-metre individual medley, was satisfied with her bronze over the shorter distance. She barely edged out Miss Baker as the first four swimmers broke the Games record of 2:36.66 set in 1967 by Claudia Kolb of the U.S.

Kathy Heddy of the U.S. was the winner in 2:22.22, followed by team-mate Jenny Franks in 2:23.32. Miss Gibson's time was 2:24.22 and Miss Baker was in 2:25.54.

Bruce Robertson of Vancouver, whose main event is the butterfly, was fifth behind Jorge Delgado of Ecuador in 2:20.1 Tuesday and Mike Scarth of Edmonton placed fifth in the 100 freestyle won by Peter Rocca of the U.S.

The top Canadian placing in the men's 100 breastroke was a sixth by Camil Chevalier of Quebec City. Nick Colella of the U.S. was the winner.

In team sports, the Canadian field hockey team remained unbeaten with a 5-4 romp over the United States and a 4-0 conquest of Jamaica. In men's basketball Canada defeated Puerto Rico and Venezuela.

The Canadian baseball team's medal chances faded with a 9-1 loss to the U.S. and the soccer team got off to a disastrous start in the semi-final round, suffering an 8-0 trouncing at the hands of Mexico.

Both the men's and women's volleyball teams were defeated by Cuba.

With five of the seven races completed in yachting, the U.S. appeared to be headed for gold medals in the Lightning, Snipe and Flun classes with Brazil well ahead in the Flying Dutchman category.

Canada and the U.S. were fighting for the silver in the Flying Dutchman and the Canadian Lightning entry had a precarious hold on third place.

STAR GETS MARRIED

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Jo Jo Starbuck, the figure-skating superstar, and Rick Salomon, a psychology graduate from Delta, were married Saturday.

TRANSVAAL WINS

BRIVE, France (CP) — Northern Transvaal, South Africa's Currie Cup winners, started its five-match European tour Saturday with an impressive 30-14 victory over Brive, a French First Division Rugby Union club. Transvaal, with three international players on its roster, proved strong for the Brive team which put up less-than-spirited resistance.

CHUCK EALEY

Eskimos Whipped

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders exploited defensive errors and forced offensive mistakes Sunday to defeat Edmonton Eskimos 36-27 and grab first place in the Western Football Conference.

A crowd of 22,628, a record for Taylor Field, watched veteran quarterback Ron Lancaster throw for three touchdowns as the Roughriders prevented Edmonton from clinching the western title.

Saskatchewan, with one game remaining, leads by one point but second-place Edmonton has a game in hand. If the two rivals finish with the same number of points, the Roughriders will gain the bye into the WFC final because they have beaten Edmonton in two out of their three games.

Lancaster's touchdown tosses covered 75 and 31 yards to Steve Mazurak and 27 yards to Rhett Dawson. He completed 16 of 31 attempts for 284 yards and helped set up rushing scores of one yard by George Reed and 11 yards by Steve Molnar.

All five touchdowns were converted by Jack Abendschan. The other point was a 54-yard single by Terry Bulych.

Argos Top Als; Riders Tie Bombers

By SCOTT ABBOTT
The Canadian Press

A busy slate of weekend action with a bizarre twist gave Ottawa Rough Riders slight breathing room atop the Eastern Football Conference standings and threw a pall over the battle between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts for the third and final playoff berth.

Quarterback Tom Clements threw a six-yard touchdown strike to Tony Gabriel with four seconds remaining Sunday and then hit Moody Jackson with a two-point conversion pass for a 25-25 tie with the Ellas Bombers in a Canadian Football League interlocking game at Winnipeg. The tie gave Ottawa a three-point EFC margin over second-place Montreal Alouettes.

The tie also prevented Winnipeg from clinching a playoff berth in the Western Conference and left alive the possibility of a three-way tie among the Bombers, Calgary and British Columbia Lions. Winnipeg, in third place in the WFC, has a four-point edge on the Stampeders and Lions. All three have two games left.

At Montreal, Toronto Argonauts knocked off the Alouettes 18-11 in another Sunday game, while Saskatchewan Roughriders moved into first place in the WFC, one point ahead of Edmonton by defeating the Eskimos 36-27 at Regina.

Toronto's win pulled it even with Hamilton in third place in the EFC with a 4-8-1 won-lost-tied record, but the Tiger-Cats' 25-25 win over the Stampeders at Calgary on Saturday night was costly to the club.

The Tiger-Cats lost linebacker Tom Pate in the fourth quarter when Calgary fullback Rick Fullen delivered a jarring block. Pate was taken to hospital unconscious and was listed in "very serious" condition Sunday night.

Two big plays—a 25-yard completion to second-string quarterback Condredge Holloway and a 43-yarder to Jackson—brought Clements and the Rough Riders to Winnipeg's nine-yard line and set up the tying score. A penalty moved the ball to the four and, on third down and goal at the five, Clements spotted Gabriel in the corner of the end zone, where he hauled in his second touchdown pass of the game. Then Jackson grabbed the two-point conversion throw that tied the score.

Art Green who rushed for 104 yards, went in from one yard out for an earlier touchdown and Gerry Organ kicked two converts and a 44-yard field goal to account for Ottawa's other points.

Tom Walker took a 47-yard pass from quarterback Ralph Brock, Tom Scott ran three yards and Jim Daniels dashed 21 yards with an interception for Winnipeg touchdowns. Bernie Ruelf kicked three converts, a 45-yard field goal and a 26-yard single on a missed field goal attempt.

The Argonauts, who acquired quarterback Chuck Ealey from the Bombers last week, found the quarterback to their liking at Montreal as he completed 13 of 24 pass attempts for 200 yards and one touchdown—a three-yard throw to Dave Hadden in the third quarter for the eventual winning points.

Zenon Andrusyshyn booted three field goals and a single on a wide attempt and improvised a two-point conversion pass to Tom Pullen after the Toronto touchdown when the snap from centre went astray.

Johnny Rodgers, hauled down from quarterback Jerry Keeling, another former Stampeder. Keeling also fired 14 yards to Speedy Thomas for Hamilton's other major, Sunter kicked a convert and Ken Clark Prefrom a first-quarter field goal. Wade duced a single point on a punt for Hamilton's other scoring.

Willie Burden scored two touchdowns for Calgary. Quarterback Karl Douglas hit Tom Forzani with a 72-yard scoring throw, Cyril McFall kicked three converts and Gerald Kunyk a pair of 51-yard singles for Calgary's other points.

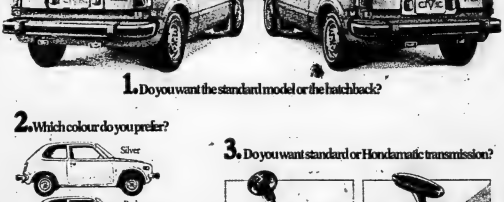
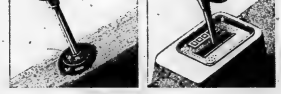
Four semi-tough questions for Honda Civic buyers:



1. Do you want the standard model or the hatchback?
2. Which colour do you prefer?

3. Do you want standard or Hondamatic transmission?


4. Would you pay one reasonable price to get all this:
Front wheel drive, rack and pinion steering, MacPherson strut suspension independent on all four wheels, front disc brakes, constant-flow ventilation, full interior carpeting, rear window defroster, opening rear windows, high output heater/defroster, tinted glass all around, fully adjustable front bucket seats, a rear seat, re-settable trip odometer, tool kit, etc.
If you found the above questions easy to answer, go directly to a Honda Civic dealer. You've made up your mind.

Boston, Cincinnati Will Try Again Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOSTON (AP) — Johnny Bench dislikes playing the World Series at night, but it this stage of the game, he'll take the World Series any time.

The full baseball schedule was postponed for the second day in a row Sunday, and the prospect for another rainout clouded the air as Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox prepared for the sixth game tonight.

"I don't think any World Series game should be played at night," said Bench, Cincinnati's all-star catcher. "I don't think you'll see the best performances from the players. Baseball should be played in the daytime, in sunshine preferably.

"This hasn't been the set for the 'Sunshine Boys' around here for some time. Last weekend, it rained during the second game of the Series, but, they managed somehow to play between the raindrops.

After the Reds took a 3-2 lead in Cincinnati, the teams came back to Boston for Game No. 6 and were stopped cold by a "Nor'easter" — a long-winded storm that often hells the New England area.

That troublesome storm was expected to linger through today, perhaps causing another postponement. Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who rescheduled the sixth game for 3:30 p.m. EDT tonight, said he wasn't optimistic about playing it.

Bench—and everyone else—was sorry to hear that.

"I'm anxious to start playing," Bench said, echoing the sentiments of everyone but the clocks.

While everyone talked about the weather Sunday, the Reds did something about it. They took their road show indoors and worked out at a cage on the campus of Tufts University, just outside Boston.

There, manager Sparky Anderson announced that he was changing his starting pitcher for Game No. 6.

"It will be Gary Nolan, instead of Jack Billingham," Anderson said. "Nolan hasn't pitched all year and he's rested. Billingham has some experience as a relief pitcher. I'll have him and Fred Norman up early in the bullpen and I'll use them depending on the situation."

Anderson is saving his best for last. In other words, Don Gullett will pitch the seventh game, if another game is needed.

"In no way, shape or form will Gullett pitch tonight," the Cincinnati manager insisted. "He'll go in the seventh game."

The Reds not only served to change Anderson's pitching plans—but also those of Boston manager Darrell Johnson. He was going to use Bill Lee on Sunday, but the extra day's rest has kept Luis Tiant the logical choice to save the Red Sox from extinction.

Lee, usually philosophical, was anything but that after he was pulled off the prestigious starting assignment for Boston's "must-win" game.

"I disagree with the manager's decision," said the outspoken left-hander. "I think it would be better to save Luis for the seventh game and let him go against their left-hander Don Gullett. However, Luis is ready with the extra day of rest, so there's no sense in complaining."

FORMER CADDIE WINS

SYDNEY (CP) — Tony Greenham, who once caddied for Jack Nicklaus, won the New South Wales open golf championship with a 12-under-par 276 total Sunday. Bill Dunk was second with a 278 and Randall Vines finished third with a 280 total.

Aroused Oilers Turn on Redskins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS | The surprising Oilers, once Houston Oilers are surprising the laughing stock of the NFL a lot of National Football but now the owners of a 4-1 League teams this year—with a record in five games, scraped in a little help from their fans.

...ssie, their star rookie line-backer, was kicked out of a game with Washington Redskins.

With the Redskins leading 7-6 in the third quarter, Billy Kilmer was directing Washington deep into Houston territory. And with Kilmer scrambling, Granite rammed him out of bounds at the Houston 21—and applied what officials said was a forearm shiv to Kilmer's anger Sunday after Robert Brazile-ock.

Out of the game went Brazile—and out of the stands came a furious, thundering chorus of boos from the 51,911 fans in the Astrodome.

And out came the fury of the Houston defense. It stiffened and held the Redskins to Mark Moseley's 32-yard field goal.

And back came the equally aroused Houston offense, marching 62 yards with the ensuing kickoff. The final play...

...the opening minutes of the fourth quarter...won Don Hardeman's second one-yard touchdown plunge of the game, the one that carried Houston to a 13-10 upset victory.

In the rest of the NFL, Green Bay knocked Dallas from the unbeaten ranks with a 17-17 surprise victory; Cincinnati stayed perfect by whipping Oakland 16-10; Minnesota did the same by holding off Detroit 25-19; Miami ...mangled New York Jets 42-6; St. Louis beat Philadelphia 21-16; New England scored its first victory by topping Baltimore 21-10; Pittsburgh crushed Chicago 34-3; Los Angeles whipped Atlanta 23-7; Kansas City eased out winless San Diego 13-10; San Francisco outlasted New Orleans 35-31, and Denver squeezed past winless Cleveland 16-15.

Unbeaten Buffalo is host to New York Giants tonight.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, Oct. 31

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your financial prospects are far brighter today than they were yesterday. If you're enterprising a profit is likely.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'd make a very favorable impression today on persons you come in contact with, especially those of the opposite sex.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who thinks quite highly of you will be busy behind the scenes, pulling strings for your benefit today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You tend to stand out in a crowd today. Compliments from others are likely, as well as a surprise invitation to a fun event.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things will go very smoothly for you today in an area where you recently experienced a problem. Move quickly while conditions favor you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your charm and sense of humor will win allies today. The results you seek can be achieved through "soft sell."

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is a favorable day for you where joint ventures and mutual interests are concerned. Make them your heart rule your head today in decisions affecting one you love. The other party would do the same if roles were reversed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There's opportunity about you today regarding your work or career. Take time for pleasantries—with the boss, if possible.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone who has admired you from a distance may be getting in touch today. It's one you've been hoping to hear from.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have a little luck tucked away that you can bank on today. It will come into play if you find yourself in a rough spot.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's a good day to work on creative or artistic projects. The end results should be exceptionally pleasing.

To Your Good Health

Thallassemia—Heredity Disease

By C. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thompson: I was recently discussing that my daughter, who is 28, has thallassemia. I had never heard of this blood disease. She has been told that it is a Mediterranean disease. She happens to be our adopted daughter and she has a little Italian background.

She is constantly tired, seems pale, and always to be "dragging." As a teenager she was treated for anemia. We learned that the reason all the iron pills were not doing any good was because she has this problem.

Can you please tell us a little more about that? How prevalent it is and is there any medication to help her?—Mrs. W.

Your daughter has probably been well informed about her anemia and there is little more to add. It is a hereditary disorder in which the red blood cells are fragile. Pallor and fatigue are the main symptoms. Persons of southern European extraction are most prone to the problem.

Your daughter apparently has what is called "thallassemia minor." In this the symptoms are present but the victim manages to keep going. A "major" form is much more serious and is treated by repeated blood transfusions are needed.

It is true that there is no specific treatment and the blood-builders and tonics are of no help. The system is making sufficient red blood cells; it's just that they are of poor quality.

Your daughter will have to adjust to her condition and avoid activity that tires. She should most certainly inform other doctors who might treat her in the future that she has the condition.

Dear Dr. Thompson: I had my blood pressure checked at a health clinic and the nurse said that when she took it in my left arm it was okay, but that it was lower when she took it in my right arm. She said to tell my doctor.

I told him and he said it is all right. What causes this, and is it all right? I have been tempted to change doctors over this matter.—C.R.

No need to change doctors. This phenomenon is not unusual. A difference of 20 points or can be obtained in each arm under normal circumstances. It can be due to variations in the size of blood vessels or minor pressures exerted on an artery.

Before extreme difference in blood pressure would require a search for the cause. You haven't heard about this before because a pressure is usually taken in one arm. You might ask your doctor just how much of a variation was found in the right-vs-left-arm pressure. He probably doesn't consider it large enough to warrant such a search.

Dear Dr. Thompson: How can I get any way possible for a woman to become pregnant if her tubes and one ovary have been removed, but the other one is functioning normally?—T.E.

No.

Opening lead—A ♠

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Jim: "We have had quite a few problems about the so-called short club. You were one of the inventors weren't you?"

Oswald: "Probably the inventor. Way back in 1930 or 1934 I suggested that a hand such as North's be opened one club rather than one spade.

That club bid was a general utility bid. It guaranteed at least three clubs to an honor and partner was supposed to assume he held four. It was in no sense a forcing bid and just never occurred to get us into trouble."

Jim: "I see you have picked a hand which shows the bid at its best. The club opening enables North and South to get to a nice comfortable two heart. Careful play brings the contract home with an overtrick."

Oswald: "If North opens one spade South responds one no trump. The hand plays there and South will probably make one notrump."

Jim: "There is a lot of difference between three hearts and one notrump in a match point game and the 30 points is worth something in rubber bridge. Incidentally, if West tries to compete with a three-diamond bid he is likely to be set three tricks doubled."

India's Malaria Response Inadequate

NEW DELHI (AP) — Private health authorities here claim that malaria has become epidemic again in India and the government's response has been dangerously inadequate.

These authorities also charged that the government is failing to suppress the full dimensions of what they describe as a malaria crisis.

But Dr. S. Pattanayak, director of India's malaria program, disputes the charges. He said in an interview that at least three million cases will be reported this year from India's population of 580 million—an increase of 25 per cent. But he maintained that "this is not yet epidemic proportions and the situation is not out of control."

Dr. Pattanayak also said that the malaria death rate this year is on a par with the death rate over the past few years.

Private doctors challenge his figures, however, saying that many poor people die of malaria with their illnesses never detected and the cause of death never examined.

The government does not want to admit the malaria program has failed and private doctors who speak out do for fear of reprisals under the national emergency, said one leading physician who asked not to be named.

"But the fact is that a very serious epidemic is under way here and the government's response has been total apathy. If they were really interested in dealing with the problem they would advertise the need for prevention. But there is nothing. If this goes on many, many people are going to die."

These doctors claim that government statistics of three-million cases "expected this year do not give a full view of the number of people afflicted because they represent only those cases reported to hospitals and not those cases seen by doctors or those that go untreated.

Furthermore, they say, coverage of the malaria epidemic in the censored Indian press has not been extensive enough to alert the public to the potential danger and what preventive measures might be taken.

Dr. Pattanayak denied that the government was trying to suppress the figures of the malaria outbreak. But he acknowledged that lack of economic constraints he hasn't the resources for use of preventive drugs or for an effective short-range counterattack on the mosquito-transmitted disease which causes high fever, dehydration, anemia and sometimes death.

"I need 650 million rupees (about $59 million) to handle malaria now but I have only half that," the doctor said.

"We are seeking emergency money but at the stage malaria eradication is not possible though control repeats are a priority."

This season's heavy rains soon flooding has depleted most of the national funds reserved for such emergencies, he said, otherwise they would have been forthcoming from the national budget.

He said a special—committee, working with doctors from the World Health Organization, has just mapped out a new strategy and that if the emergency money comes through the situation will improve.

To Aid Homeless

ROME (AP) — The World Food Program plans to send $3 million in aid to help $150,000 persons left homeless in Pakistan because of floods.

LOW COST HOUSING AND APPROVED BUILDING LOTS AVAILABLE FOR QUINTE AREA BUYERS.

Many potential home buyers have been discouraged by high costs, prohibitive down payments and the inability to secure land on which to build. In the meantime they have been forced to pay rent for their accommodation. Now there is an alternative which can open the door for people who want to own a home of their own.

Rollins Lumber in Foxboro have devised a plan by which the home buyer can reduce the cost by several thousand dollars. Quite simply, they provide the opportunity to substitute labor for cash. By working on your home's interior, you can avoid high labor costs and reduce the total cost substantially. The Self-Help Home Plan can make it possible for you to own the home you want.

Rollins Lumber has a limited number of approved building lots available now on which they will frame in your home and ready it for interior finishing before winter weather. Right now the $1500. Provincial Grant could go a long way to helping you get started. There's nothing to stop you now.

Postal Union Strikes Nationwide

Quinte Locals Join Strike

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Mail at post offices in Belleville, Trenton, Picton and Brighton is trapped today, the victim of a nationwide strike by inside mail sorter and postal clerks that began at 6 a.m. this morning.

The strike call was "a bit of a surprise" said Walter Yateman, Belleville president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers which represents 51 people in Belleville and Brighton.

"I though it would be a few more days before a strike was called," he said.

Pickets were thrown up around the Pinnacle St. post office this morning. In Trenton, where 12 inside workers voted to accept a conciliation board report pay package of $1.70 over a 30-month contract, picketers were Belleville workers.

Belleville postmaster Roy Wainwright said the strike today didn't catch him by surprise. "We were expecting it anytime. It was just a question of when."

All mail having it caught up, and the 40 letter carriers are delivering mail sorted over night.

He said he has "no bias" whether the letter carriers will be laid off once mail is delivered. In Trenton, enough work exists for outside workers for today, and post office officials are waiting for word from Ottawa before any lay-offs occur.

In Picton, says assistant postmaster Wayne Saddard, "no one is on duty" and no mail was sorted.

Belleville president Mr. Yateman said the sudden strike-catching many city residents walking away from post office mail slots with mail in their hands-was brought on by the "strong arm tactics" of Post Master-General Bryce Mackasey.

The Union "met with intransigence" said Mr. Yateman. "Mr. Mackasey forced the issue by saying that unless we accept the $1.70 over 30 months, he will refuse to bargain."

The postmaster-general said he would not go back to bargaining until the union made up its mind to accept or reject the government's final wage offer.

Mr. Yateman said today the post office will be closed down by mail-sorting clerks unless it received from Ottawa assurances to the contrary-surprised they called a nation-wide strike. I'd kind of thought it would be a rotating strike."

Olympic Workers Remain Off Jobs

MONTREAL (CP) — Workers at the 1976 Olympic site remained off the job today in a dispute over a controversial blacklist barring "troublesome" workers from the site.

A union spokesman said more than 2,000 workers would not return unless negotiations which began Sunday produce a satisfactory agreement.

Several hundred workers were reported milling around the entrance to the east-end Olympic site today, but security guards were not letting any workers enter.

"Work isn't likely to resume until the police and the construction firms back down on the blacklist," Fernand Daoust, secretary-general of the Quebec Federation of Labor (QFL), said Monday night.

Construction at the east-end Games site stopped Monday when about 2,000 workers walked out in protest existence of the list believed to contain about 300 names.

Munro Faces Opposition To Selective Controls

TORONTO (CP) — Federal Labor Minister John Munro, at his own request, faces a wall of opposition today to the selective wage and price controls announced last week by the government.

When Mr. Munro's planned attendance at the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) convention this year announced to more than 800 delegates Monday night, it was greeted boos and jeers.

Retiring CUPE President Stan Little told delegates that Mr. Munro had asked for an opportunity to explain the government's anti-inflation program. About 50 delegates challenged the authority of the CUPE executive to allow Mr. Munro to speak.

Mr. Little said that after "a great deal" of agonizing" the CUPE executive decided "that we should quietly and courteously receive the minister of labor and let him say his piece."

However, immediately after Mr. Munro's speech, executive of CUPE, the country's largest union with 210,000 members, plans to announce a position paper urging "all other Canadians" to help defeat the federal government's bill that would authorize the selective controls, with guides. The bill now is before Parliament.

The selective controls limit 2.3 million public servants and two million employees in the private industry to a basic wage increase of 10 per cent in the first year of a contract. An anti-inflation review board is empowered to allow employees an additional two per cent increase, for a ceiling of 12 per cent, if they prove they have fallen behind.

Companies affected by the selective controls are not supposed to increase their prices beyond the amount needed to cover increased production costs. Companies and employees not covered by compulsory controls, proposed by Trudeau on Oct. 13, have been asked by the government to comply voluntarily.

CUPE's paper says the anti-inflation programs is "unfair, unworkable and undemocratic."

It says that "all Canadian workers and their families have experienced the most severe struggle to stretch their wage dollars to meet annual price increases now rising at the rate of 11 per cent."

"This unbearable situation can be directly traced to the extraordinary profits the federal government permitted corporations to take between 1972 and 1974 when annual increases averaged 75 per cent," the paper says.

"The extra income working people need now is so that they can pay the high prices that created these profits and . . . corporations make the decisions to increase prices, not workers."

Beirut Now Unsafe Amid More Killing

BEIRUT (Reuter) — Three people were killed and 18 wounded when a rocket or mortar bomb hit a building in the Christian district of Ashrafieh, police said.

Sporadic shooting and explosions continued in many areas of Beirut until well after dawn, but police could not give precise casualty figures.

At least 25 people were killed in fighting Monday.

Armored cars rumbled through the city during the night moving from one trouble spot to another.

Radio Beirut said the roads in the eastern parts of the city were unsafe and issued a warning about a roadblock in northern side of the capital.

Syrian and Israeli forces clashed Monday on the Golan Heights, said a military spokesman in Damascus. Israeli artillery bombarded a Lebanese village near the heights.

All three trouble spots reflected Syrian and Palestinian unease over the new Sinai agreement between Egypt and Israel.

Beirut radio said that many parts of the capital were unsafe because of sniping.

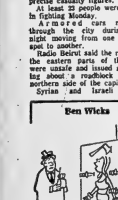
Rival factions had set up roadblocks, it said, and were kidnapping people on the basis of identity cards which show the holder's religion.

Right-and left-wing gunmen were reported to be active in central and suburban areas.

For the present, there is no serious talk of moves toward any political settlement of Lebanon's internal problems which centre on Moslem demands for political reform and right-wing fears that the Palestinian arms in the state will give more power in Lebanon.

Beirut radio appealed for calm today for the election of a new speaker to parliament.

The parliament building is in the centre of town where left- and right-wing gunmen have often exchanged fire during the past month.



Sometimes I'm nervous and feel like goofing off, then I ask, what would the Prescient do?

Inside postal workers in Toronto and most Ontario communities as well as Montreal and major cities in Western Canada went on strike early today following a breakdown in contract talks in Ottawa on Monday.

Workers were also on strike in Halifax and some communities in the Maritimes.

Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey said an interview early today that government negotiators will not return to the bargaining table until the union says whether it will accept the government's final wage offer of a 27-per-cent increase over 30 months.

In the Halifax region, members of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) went on strike early today but it is not yet known how many workers in nearby communities joined them.

In Ontario, workers in Ottawa, Windsor and the Owen Sound area went on strike shortly after midnight Monday night and were joined by workers in Toronto, Hamilton, London and some other Ontario communities later in the morning.

"We told them we'd be glad to resume negotiations when they were prepared to accept the principle basically, the monetary packages recommended by Judge Moisan which we accepted as well," Mr. Mackasey said.

"We told them we'd wait until they call us whether it's today, next week or next month."

The wage offer, contained in a conciliation report prepared by Quebec Superior Court Judge Jean Moisan, amounts to a 37-per-cent wage increase over 30 months. The union rejected negotiations Friday morning with a demand for a 71-per-cent increase over one year.

The strike deadline midnight night the CUPW had reduced their demand to a 51-per-cent increase over one year but Jean-Claude Parrot, the union chief negotiator, refused all

Doctors Say Health Service Declining

LONDON (CP) — Britain's National Health Service (NHS), long hailed by Labor politicians as "the envy of the world," now is in critical condition and sinking fast, say Junior doctors who have carried their protest strike action to hospitals in the London area.

Doctors say the service needs funds, but money is not available as the government seeks to cut public spending in its fight against inflation.

The strike, in which about 3,000 doctors in 69 hospitals have refused to treat all but emergency cases, affected six London-area institutions Monday, including Middlesex, a major teaching hospital.

The problem involves more than salaries. It involves an ideological conflict between Social Services and Conservative Castle and many in the medical profession.

The Labor government backed down last week on its earlier refusal to appoint a royal commission to study the NHS. Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Monday in the Commons that the NHS is "under great strain" but it will not collapse.

Mrs. Castle recently angered many doctors by re-emphasizing that all private beds and private patients should be removed from the NHS—"to make private medicine difficult and its own feet."

This has long been orthodox Labor philosophy but the recent Labor party conference went even further.

Police Find Herrema, Release Talks Continue

DUBLIN (Reuter) — Police tracked down kidnapped Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema today and opened negotiations with his captors, who are holding him at gunpoint, Dublin radio reported.

Dr. Herrema, managing director of the Ferenka Steel Cord Co., was kidnapped 19 days ago near his Limerick home by Irish guerrillas who demanded the release of three of their comrades in the government-run refused to make any concessions.

The radio said police located Herrema in the town of Monasterevin in County Kildare.

Police and troops immediately surrounded the house. Herrema was understood to be held at gunpoint on the upper floor by two men.

There was no word over the ground floor of the house and opened negotiations with the kidnappers.

The head of the Irish special branch, Chief Superintendent John Fleming, went to the scene to take charge of the attempt to rescue Herrema.

Police and troops threw a security net around the town, which is about 30 miles southwest of here.

Police picked up the trail early today after finding a car which was thought to have been used in the kidnap of Herrema Oct. 3. At the same time, they arrested two brothers who were driving the car at Tullamore, not far from Moeastervuin.

The car was thought to have been used by Dublin republican Irish guerrilla believed to have engineered the abduction. Gallagher is a close friend of Dr Rose Dugdale who helped Herrema-turned revolutionary who was one of three persons whose release was demanded by the kidnappers.

News Briefs

$5 Million Art Gallery

HAMILTON (CP) — Construction on the city's $5 million art gallery will begin within two weeks, Jack Simpson, chairman of the gallery board's building committee, said Monday. He said the city has given the gallery permission to begin preliminary work on the site although final agreements are yet to be signed.

Ontario Loses Investments

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Uncertainty about prices and controls is forcing petroleum investment capital out of Ontario and into the United States, James Harrison, former president of the Ontario Petroleum Institute, said Monday.

New York Slashes Budget

NEW YORK (AP) — The state's board in charge of New York City's spending has approved an austerity plan which will cut the city's budget by $784 million during the next three years and slash thousands more municipal workers from the payroll.

Production Increases

OTTAWA (CP) — Industrial production increased one half of one per cent in August from July, Statistics Canada reported Monday. The production index, which is adjusted for seasonal variations, rose for mining and manufacturing but declined three tenths of one per cent for utilities such as electricity and water.

Criticizes McKeough

TORONTO (CP) — The Consumers' Association of Canada (Ontario) has criticized Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough's defence of Ontario Hydro's proposed 27 per cent rate increase. Association president Ruth Jackson said Monday that Mr. McKeough has attempted to defend the increase as justifiable because Hydro was passing costs on to the consumer and therefore not in violation of the federal government's selective wage and price controls.

weekend to comment on the wage question.

Mr. Mackasey said once the wage offer was accepted he would be prepared to be as flexible as possible on other issues . . . the monetary plight of the part-time workers which Judge Moisan was ambiguous about, shift differentials, weekend premiums and the hiring of casual labor."

A post office spokesman in Toronto said the strike apparently was a national one ordered by the executive of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) in Ottawa.

The CUPW executive in Ottawa had not commented on the scope of the strike-whether it affected all communities across the country.

Spokesmen for letter carriers across the country said that carriers would continue delivering mail as the supply of sorted mail held out-perhaps just a day.

As the morning wore on, reports of similar walkouts came in from Stratford, Timmins, Brampton, Brockville, Simcoe and Guelph.

Letter carriers were picking up their morning delivery of mail and there were no reports of carriers refusing to cross picket lines set up by inside workers.

Supervisors were keeping some postal stations open for business.

Clement Morel, Quebec regional director for the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said the strike decision was reached after Postmaster General Bryce Mackasey said talks could not continue unless the union accepted the government's latest wage offer.

South Vietnam Releases 2 Canadians

OTTAWA (CP) — The South Vietnamese government says it will release two Canadian missionaries who were caught up in the final weeks of the war there earlier this year, an external affairs spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the South Vietnamese embassy in Peking has informed the Canadian embassy there that Rev. and Mrs. Norman Johnson of Hamilton should be released near the end of this month or early in November.

Arrangements for the release would be made through the United Nations High Commission for Refugees.

The Johnsons were living in the northern part of South Vietnam when Provisional Revolutionary Government forces swept southward. They had no chance to leave.

Since the end of the Vietnam war Canadian officials have made repeated attempts to help cover the fate of the Johnsons.

Council Approves 2 City Crosswalks

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

City council, brought the long debated issue of crosswalks to a conclusion last night when it officially endorsing two pedestrian walkways on Pinnacle St. at Church and Market Streets.

Ald. Jack Ireland, traffic committee chairman, told council his group had discussed "just about all the angles" and could be discussed piling up over the years" on the issue.

There was one question from a city councillor. Ald. Stu Mreks wanted to know if there'd be a crackdown on jay-walking.

No Centennial Project

$300,000 Civic Fund May Sit Idle in City Coffers

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

A multi-thousand-dollar city fund in finance at official civic project hailing Belleville's 175th anniversary is in danger of having a concrete objective.

Mayor Ben Corke dropped a bombshell statement about the situation in city council Monday night when he declared the money may never find an outlet.

The fund-now at $300,000 — for which city council last year voted a special annual levy of $100,000 in its capital budget.

But, said Mayor Corke, there is "no project yet lined up for that . . . nobody has yet come up with a project on this."

In fact, said Mayor Corke without elaborating, there had been "some suggestion" the fund "be recognized in some area."

After the meeting Mayor Corke said the money might not be spent at all" or "might be spent on something we haven't yet got a project for."

At present-day costs $300,000 "isn't enough to create a majoir structure," added the mayor.

His comments in council came as the city government once again was asked to consent to application of Belleville Centennial Inc. for a local corporation . . . a request deferred by councillors two weeks ago.

The group is the brainchild of the original committee charged with laying organizational groundwork for the centennial.

Its membership includes a community cross-section — along with civic officials, business men and community-group spokesmen, and the group is involved with co-ordinating activities next year as the city's centennial. Incorporation would protect any slogans or designs it might use on centennial souvenirs.

But before council consented to the application, some councillors wanted to know more about Belleville Centennial Inc. incorporated.

Ald. Wally Dever wanted to know if the petitioners had been chosen, since it seemed to be a list of politicians and businessmen. But "others are the people we want," he said.

Ald. George Zegouras queried who was liable for the debts of the group.

Mayor Corke told council the organization had no funds available other than those approved by council.

But councillors Jean Smith and Stu Mreks urged a quick decision since the centennial continued to draw closer.

"I feel that time's running short," said Ald. Smith.

Ald. Mreks said any centennial items should be manufactured wherever possible in Belleville to provide local employment.

OPP Issue Tips For Safe Hunting

Most hunting deaths are caused by criminal negligence — offences provided for by stiff penalties under the Criminal Code, says Chief Insp. Fred R. Blacher, director of the criminal investigation branch of the Ontario Provincial Police.

In a news release issued Monday, Insp. Blacher advised that hunters should keep crime prevention in mind and reminded that there are several basic gun-handling rules.

"Hunting accidents claim about 125 lives each year, usually because the most simple rules have been broken," he commented.

Insp. Blacher said there are eight rules which, if followed, should eliminate hunting accidents.

— "Never consume alcohol before or during a hunt.

— "Know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.

— "Never shoot in the direction of building or livestock.

— "Always handle a gun as if it were loaded.

— "Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded firearm.

— "Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle.

— "Unattended firearms should always be unloaded.

— "You cannot depend on the conditioning of the hunter beside you — wear bright orange."

Testing Shows High Levels Of Radiation Around Deloro

Levels of radiation 133 times higher than normal have been found within a few feet of slag piles at an abandoned mine in Deloro, the Atomic Energy Control Board in Ottawa said Monday.

"There does not appear to be a widespread health hazard, but there is some concern regarding areas within a few feet of piles of black slag," the federal agency says adding it is continuing its investigation.

Village Reeve Doug Lynch said Monday "the news of radiation readings found in some slag at the abandoned mine site is felt to be an isolated problem. Although this involved problem has unknowingly existed for several years, there is no immediate danger to residents of the village. I feel that this isolated problem will be removed and will be properly dealt with in the near future."

Natural background radiation-resulting in part from cosmic rays and from radio active elements in the soil-measured 0.013 millirems an hour on the main street of the town, about the average level of background radiation in North America.

But over one of the piles of slag, the measurement 1.6 millirems an hour, "which is a factor of 133 higher than the background rate ...," the board said.

Air samples taken in a house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Galloway adjacent one pile gave concentrations of radon gas "that were as much as 15 times higher than recommended for continuous exposure for 24 hours per day all year," the board said.

"When we first heard about it we felt we should move right out but we realize now we have to wait until authorities complete all their tests and advise us what to do," said Mrs. Sylvia Galloway.

More tests are expected at the Galloway home later this week.

The board said an average North American receives about 100 millirems — a measure of radiation dose — a year from natural sources. Dose limits for the general public are 500 millirems a year for the whole body and 1,500 millirems for some other organs, such as lungs.

Discussing the dose from the slag piles of 1.6 millirems an hour, the board said "another way of looking at this is that if a person spent 15 days and nights continuously, or as little as one hour and 19 minutes every day on the slag pile, he would exceed the annual regulatory dose limit of 500 millirems."

Gravel Pit Prompts Angry Council Debate

By JERRY BROWN

BRIGHTON — Controversy continues to surround Council's decision to allow a local gravel pit to be opened for commercial use as 75 people crowded into the municipal offices Monday to hear the village leaders reaffirm their earlier decision.

The meeting degenerated into critically and arguing, several times in the three-hour session as the principle in the pit operation, Louis Reddon and his supporters, and landowners along the proposed truck route, to the unofficially interrupted the proceedings.

Village council held a closed meeting October 20, to reconsider Mr. Reddon's plan to open the pit on land owned by Ralph Simpson, in the northwest section of the village.

Council had approved the pit plan on two points, it told the audience, with the body split in a three-to-two vote, Bill Pettigrill and Dr. Ed. Julian voted to rescind the earlier decision saying they had been misled by Mr. Reddom and Mr. Simpson. Coun. Quick, Bill Dinh and Reeve Dorothy Britnell supported the resolution in the Oct. 20 meeting the decision stood.

The pro-pit group on the council told the audience they had been misled by a lawyer not to overturn their original decision two points. Coun. Quick also a focus of contention.

In order for the operation to be approved for non-conforming land uses, the village plan makes no provision for a gravel pit within the municipality's limits, council would have to have been in use as a pit before, during and after the by-law was passed in 1968. Critics of the opposing council members claimed they had been misled by the principals who, they said, have offered no supporting evidence, other than their word, that the pit was operational during that period.

Mr. Reddom has applied for permission to remove 40,000 tons of material from the pit annually and opponents to the plan say this would not only be detrimental to property values, but would also create serious traffic and traffic hazard on the gravel street.

Opponents questioned who would bear the cost of the necessary improvements to the road to upgrade it for heavy vehicular traffic and to repair the old deteriorated bridge, which has already collapsed in the past and is currently supported by external beams.

The final decision on the gravel pit will rest with the ministry of natural resources who will hold a hearing and review the plan for the hearing has not been announced to date.

Council has been requested to present a brief to the ministry stating its opinion on possible environmental problems in allowing the plan to proceed and will hold a meeting Wednesday, Oct. 22, open to the public to draft the letter.

All Pits Checked

FRANKFORD — In a decision unrelated to the current gravel pit controversy in Brighton Village, the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority (LTRCA) has decided to inspect all the gravel pits and quarries within its boundaries to see if they are conforming to the rules laid down by the government.

Brigade To Take Initiative

PICTON — There is "new blood" in St. John Ambulance Division 147, Picton and divisional superintendent Guy Sarault says members must resist the tendency to live in the past.

He observed that the recently revitalized brigade will not reject the old system but rules will be "bent a bit."

Mr. Sarault told St. John volunteers at a meeting here Monday that members should work for needed funds instead of waiting for the money to come to them. He suggested Rake-a-thons and odd jobs as a way of raising funds for needed equipment.

He commented that membership in the local division had dwindled to about seven persons until a recent drive for volunteers. About 24 persons are now trained in St. John Ambulance work here and training courses in first aid are available for all newcomers.

"We are always looking for new volunteers, especially males," said Mr. Sarault.

The St. John Ambulance, Division 147 Picton sponsored special public meeting Monday with guest speaker Master Corporal Chuck Clements, a para-rescue specialist.

Director Named

PICTON — An Activities Director for the H.J. McFarland Memorial Home for the aged has been hired by Prince Edward County council at a salary of $10,000 per annum. Vivian Swain was hired after 27 applicants were screened and several interviewed.

Pollution A Concern

BRIGHTON — A list of objections to a proposed commercial gravel pit operation in the northwest corner in the village was presented to council and sent to the district office of the ministry of natural resources in Napanee Monday.

The new quarry, to be operated by Louis Reddom Ltd., has met with stiff opposition from local residents who say it is not only environmentally detrimental but dangerous to property and people along the proposed access route.

The current road, gravel-topped 10-foot-wide Simpson St. is not wide enough for the heavy traffic necessary to remove the aggregate, residents contended. Among the environmental problems residents claim a possibility exists muddy water following the natural drainage pattern of the area will pollute the nearby creek and dust pollution affect the apple orchards

Picton OPP Officer Gets New Post

PICTON — Cpl. Lorne Grice, 38, of the Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police has been transferred to Kaladar as detachment commander.

His transfer is effective Oct. 27.

Corporal Grice has served with the detachment here since 1971 when he was transferred here from Gananoque.

He and his wife Linda have two children, Lisa, 12, and Timmy 9. Both are students at Pinecrest Memorial School in Bloomfield.

Rescue Specialist Outlines Technique

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Para-rescue specialist Master Cpl. Chuck Clements, CFB Trenton, Monday outlined his job to members of the local St. John Ambulance Brigade at a public meeting at Queen Elizabeth School here.

Cpl. Clements is one of 47 rescue specialists in Canada and for the past five years has been with the 424 Squadron. Prior to that he served with several other rescue squads across Canada.

He has participated in air rescue operations in the Central Canada Region.

Cpl. Clements, who started a rescue course with 287 others was one of 13 to graduate in 1969. Of those 13 graduates two are now dead, two were forced to leave their jobs with serious injuries and one left rescue work.

Only 14 courses have been offered since 1961 and a total of 227 persons have graduated. In order to become a rescue specialist it is necessary to join the Canadian Armed Forces.

2½ year period was required to qualify in his work and another 3½ years to obtain complete qualifications.

"We are trained as instructors in rescue, search, survival and medical," he said.

"We aren't doctors. If I can get away without doing extreme medical procedures I do," he added.

He told St. John workers that para-rescue specialists parachute carrying a 28 pound medical kit and their basic gear. The kit was designed by rescue specialists.

The rescue specialist said that he participates in about 150 searches each year.

To explain how downed aircraft are spotted he showed a film titled The Spotter that described proper scanning techniques and method of search.

It was noted that approximately five per cent of all wrecks are never located while about 50 per cent are found with survivors. The remaining per cent are found with all passengers dead, be said.

That's My Bag

Master Cpl. Chuck Clements of CFB Trenton is one of 47 rescue specialists in Canada. His work requires expert knowledge of first aid and he explained his medical kit to members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade in Picton Monday night. When he parachutes to a crash scene this 28 pound medical bag goes with him.

Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and greatly relieved ... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most important—this improvement was maintained in cases where clinical observations were continued over a period of many months. Furthermore, these tests and observations were made on patients with a wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. All this was accomplished with a healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is the ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes eliminations less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a stated cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

No prescription or your money refunded.

Pepin Zeroes in on Economy Dominated by Activists and Bureaucrats

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs
Analyst
Thomson News Service

As if there weren't enough special-interest groups opposing the anti-inflation measures, Jean-Luc Pepin had to challenge the marketing boards.

In his first public utterance in his new role as chairman of the Anti-Inflation Board, (AIB) Mr. Pepin spoke of his "hunch" that there's something wrong with such marketing agencies.

Plenty of consumers would agree. Since the establishment in 1972 of the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency for example, egg prices have risen sharply, millions of eggs have been allowed to rot, and other millions have been dumped on the U.S. market at bargain prices.

For the first four months of this year, Canadian eggs exported to the U.S. brought an average price of 36 cents a dozen, while the smaller volume of U.S. eggs imported into Canada averaged 56 cents a dozen).

Other price-fixing monopolies, sanctioned by the federal government, include the Canadian Wheat Board, the Canadian Dairy Stabilization Board, and the Grains and Oilseeds Program.

Now a national tobacco marketing plan is to be discussed by tobacco producers and members of the National Farm Products Marketing Council in Ottawa Oct. 30.

Such marketing boards are not interested in "free trade" in the accepted commercial meaning of promoting sales.

Rather their usual objective is an "orderly" market, rigged in favor of the producer at the expense of the ultimate consumer.

That's why, as AIB vice-chairman Beryl Plumptre has pointed out in the past, they have become an important contributing factor in the inflationary rise of food prices.

But the marketing boards' defenders—the producers, the politicians and the bureaucrats—prefer to focus on the need for "a fair return" on food products. No matter how high that return may go, it never seems to be adequate or fair.

Having set aside such never-ending controversies as that, however, one can see the proliferation of marketing boards as a manifestation of a basic trend in Canadian life—the trend away from laissez-faire capitalism and a free market, and toward an economy dominated increasingly by political activists and bureaucratic administrators.

What may be shaping up, therefore, is a High-Noon confrontation.

On the one hand is gung-ho-er Pepin (formerly occupying a place near the peak of the government establishment's more recently telling to the ranks of private business) and his faithful deputy, Mrs. Plumptre, fresh from her forays as chairman of the Food Prices Review Board.

On the other hand are the big guns of the bureaucracy, implicitly supported by established government policy and by conviction that theirs is an idea whose time has come.

And - or imprisoned for all involved in the publication.

That such protection as this exists for the accused does not seem to have resulted in any flood of publications. On the contrary, it has prevented just such garishness as has been seen in the coverage of the Hearst case.

In Canada, for example, police-beat stories are very carefully written to ensure that the accused person is not identified as the person who has committed the crime reported. The crime is reported as an occurrence; the laying of the charge is a report of something entirely separate.

In the Hearst case, defence lawyers are already talking of changing their tactics because the publicity in the case has made their original positions untenable.

No one would suggest that newspapers here or in the United States should be deprived of the right to access to all news sources. Given such deprivation, Richard Nixon might still be the U.S. president. However, the right to knowledge also implies the responsibility for bringing to it that knowledge is not abused.

Accommodation Tight

The results of the accommodation survey relative to Belleville being host to the Ontario summer or winter games should be a valuable guide for this as well as other potential events in the city.

Belleville's downtown and peripheral development inevitably will make the community of increasing interest to tourists. At the same time this necessitates additional motel and hotel space.

The time to be doing something about this is now. The Centennial Year celebrations alone should make for some urgency. As things stand, a lot of hotel trade, according to a Belleville realtor, is being diverted to Kingston. One reason is that a considerable proportion of the room space in two of Belleville's leading hotels is reserved by business interests.

The realtor points out also that because of the escalating cost of construction and land, it is only the "big people" who can afford to go into hotel construction.

Where motel accommodation is concerned, he says people prefer modern establishments of which there is a shortage in Belleville. When the Queen's motel and restaurant was converted to the self-care convalescent home it is today, Belleville lost one of its most popular tourist and dining establishments. That was four years ago and aside from the Four Seasons, which opened in 1971, there has been no new motel or hotel construction since.

Even without the kind of commercial development that is taking place, the lack of new motel accommodation would be a drawback. But with the pace of construction in so many other spheres, the coming Centennial and talk of the Ontario games, additional tourist accommodation is essential.

Hearst Trial Publicity

Branford Expositor

The trial by news media which has developed in the case of Patricia Hearst gives rise to considerable concern as to whether she can find an impartial jury for the trial.

Perhaps it is smug to consider the situation in which she would find herself if she were facing trial in Canada, but certainly, the Canadian law governing court proceedings is far more concerned with the protection of the innocent, and far less with the public's right to know.

In many ways, this right to know has been expanded south of the border, a right to get any and all rumors and innuendos into print and on the airwaves.

At a preliminary hearing in Canada, for example, even the fact that the accused person has or has not made a statement to the police may not be published unless and until that statement is allowed into evidence. And the very strict rules, at the jury trial which follows (unless the accused is discharged by the judge at the preliminary hearing).

Failure to obey this ban on publication can result in fines

Boys and Girls at Play

A five-year-old who attends school in a pleasant rural setting across the bay came home recently after a day that included a walk across country and into some woods now in the last stages of autumn.

These are the kind of extra-curricular activities that the youngsters remember all their lives and look back upon nostalgically as the years pass by.

Could it be though that some youngsters are missing such opportunities — and because of a modern bugaboo?

Is "class discrimination" raising its ugly head and preventing the girls from enjoying their fair share?

The late President Kennedy in his inauguration speech urged Americans to determine what they could do for their country. It was advice that struck a chord everywhere.

Today there seems to be a move back to individual initiative, or by small groups.

Conservation and the fight against pollution are areas which leave plenty of room for this.

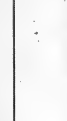
There's a fine example from Illinois. Students of Eureka College, a church-based establishment in Woodford county, are practising the traditional discipline of "gleaning," as it applies in its original meaning of gathering up the grain left by the reaper.

In this way the students have gathered a sizable amount of corn left by the harvesting equipment, and it is being earmarked for the needy overseas as well as at home.

"Gleaners' International" (as the students call themselves), has also organized groups in five other states.

In these days of food shortages abroad and food waste in affluent lands, this is an admirable counter trend. It's a reminder of the fact our resources are not inexhaustible, and of the need to save in a variety of spheres.

Reaction to Anti-Inflation Moves



By DON O'FARRN

TORONTO — First reaction to the price and wage controls here was that they would get the initial attitude of these some very touchy situations.

Shopping and wage were very tricky bargaining situations with doctors, civil servants and teachers.

And the new federal limits took the heat off these, at least at first glance.

It may turn out to be not quite as simple as it first looked.

The initial attitude of these groups was well as big labor) was one of rebellion.

Quite understandably they were shocked and defiant. For the allowable 10 per cent increase was much less than all were looking for. This was practically money being taken from their pockets.

And at this time of writing everybody is still upset, and with it so is the situation regarding the future earnings of these groups unsettled.

With time and reflection however, the attitude of the doctors and the civil servants should change to at least a grudging acceptance of the new limits.

Doctors, realizing they can get allowance for their increased costs, will have at least the solace that everybody else in their income bracket is in the same boat.

And the civil servants, who really aren't badly off at all, should recognize that along with a great many other Canadians they have to live with fate.

Hitting both groups to make up their minds should be the knowledge that if they put up a spirited opposition they might be handing the government its badly needed election issue.

And neither wants to do this. As for the teachers, Lord only knows what will happen with them. They are unpredictable.

Ironically an explanation is needed on behalf of the doctors.

It has been widely reported

"Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer." Psalms 19:14

It it clears with the Lord, that may follow from man. "We ought to obey God rather than men."

(and I used the figure here) that they have been seeking increases from 23 per cent to 50 per cent.

Actually they have made no such demands.

At a meeting last year it was proposed from the floor that they should seek this scale.

But this was not adopted. And there has been no official demand in this range from the Ontario Medical Association.

A contract between the government of Canada and the Canadian Pacific Railway to build a trans-Canada railway was signed 98 years ago today—in 1880. When British Columbia joined the Confederation in 1871 it demanded a railway linking all sections because of fear of United States aggression in the northwest and the need for eastern markets. The line was completed to the West Coast with the driving of the last spike on Nov. 7, 1885.

A heavy business district of Sydney, N.S., was swept by a fire, causing $250,000 damage.

School Outing

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

May I ask why public schools have sec discrimination?

I refer to elementary school, Grade 8, and it seems that the girls aren't allowed to do certain things. For instance, last year our school formed an "Outers Club", but it seemed that it was for seven and eight grade boys only. And they went on a week long canoe trip somewhere.

We have boys here, but I agree, but I only wish that the girls could have gone also. This year however, we are allowed to join the Club and there will be such activities as cross-country skiing.

Sri Lanka's Uneasy Route to Socialist 'Independence'

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

If we think of Ceylon at all we think of a large and exotic island off the end of India and its name plantations.

But think no more of Ceylon by that name. In the lexicon of developing countries published by the United Nations there is a nation now called Sri Lanka, the words in the native language of Sinhalese for an island re-named Ceylon by Dutch, Portuguese and British explorers and settlers.

Last month Sri Lanka went through a paroxysm of homage to a dead leader, not unlike the traditional outpouring of Indian one for the late and assassinated Mahatma Gandhi. It was to remember the late prime minister S. W. R. D. Bandaranaike, killed in office Sept. 26, 1959.

Not only was Bandaranaike a prominent Asian and developing world figure in the struggle for liberation from a colonial power, in Sri Lanka's case it was against Britain), but his widow has continued as a very tough-minded prime minister of her country.

Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike is much less-known in the West than her counterpart to the north, India's Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi, but India's former prime minister Mrs. Golda Meir, whom she knows well.

But she has moved Sri Lanka along the controversial road to state-socialism which in spite of whatever variety it might have in making a small nation economically independent, has produced more problems than benefits.

The most serious move of all is nationalization of Sri Lanka's tea plantations, one of the most efficiently and profitably operated foreign-owned industries in all of Asia.

They are still mainly British-owned, and the nationalization Mrs. Bandaranaike to take them over are not only coming from her party but from a Trotskyite party which forms an uneasy ruling coalition with her.

She has had trouble with this Trotskyite party and its effect recently fired one of them in her cabinet who couldn't stand charge of plantations. He had helped to formulate the original nationalization laws for taking over most foreign or locally-owned private industry in Ceylon.

In 1962, Mrs. Bandaranaike's earlier nationalization policies resulted in the termination of U.S. aid to her country and Britain's the end of naval base facilities at Trincomalee when the Royal Navy had used almost since the days of Nelson.

The Russians have made motions they now would like to use the Trincomalee base. This is a situation not unlike that in the island nation of Malta in the central Mediterranean where the Russians also have had a major naval build-up and would like to use a famous dockyard once the preserve of the Royal Navy.

The U.S. Navy is in the process of building an alternate and integrated naval base on the distant Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia.

As in Canada, our interests in this Asian nation as with all other ones, is that we continue to the renewed cold war out to our aid and assistance possibilities.

Colombo the Sri Lanka capital, is both the name of the place who e the Colombo Plan for Commonwealth nations was first launched in 1950, as well as for the plan itself which has involved the industrial nations of the Commonwealth like Canada with the emerging ones like Sri Lanka.

'Y' Offers Something for All

Belleville's Family YMCA is more than just a centre of activities, in many families.

as executive director Diamandis Diamantides boasts, the Y is a tradition.

"We take little people and make big people out of them," he explained.

The Y offers a variety of programs for all ages and besides its regular exercise courses there are special programs offered throughout the year such as yoga and oriental dancing. The nursery school is another separate program and summer camps operate every year for Belleville children.

Even at the low point in the year for the Y there are some 3,500 people using its facilities — exercise room, swimming pool, saunas and auditorium. At the busy time - during the winter months - you'll find more than 6,000 flexing muscles and getting into shape.

Mr. Diamantides also stresses the facilities are for everyone's use. For people in low income bracket rates can be adjusted. This is possible because of its financial arrangement.

The Y is almost self-sufficient raising 70 per cent of its income through membership fees and special programs.

As a participating member of the United Community Services, an approximate 30 per cent of its expenses are paid through the United Way campaign while the City of Belleville pays 10 per cent.

"That way we can keep the membership fees low so everybody can afford to join," the Y director said in the modern building on Victoria St. for expansion after years of residence in the now Police Station. A large open field on the Y's premises often used by the local schools and recreation department will provide the room for expansion when it is necessary.

Also common with many of the United Community Service organizations is the large number of volunteers used to operate this service.

Belleville families will get an opportunity to see how the Y operates first-hand this Sunday. An open house, for families only, is scheduled from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. when families, as guests of the Y, can try all the facilities for themselves.

Seminars Will Match Consumer Needs

Committee for Consumer Education (CCE) publicity director Rick Williams said Monday his group aims to make its five seminars directly applicable to the every-day shopping habits of consumers.

Instead of talking about the laws of supply and demand in the housing industry, said Mr. Williams the group will strive to outline the actual process of buying a house.

"Housing, the director's example, is one subject of five that will be dealt with in a series of seminars the CCE ad hoc committee plans over the coming months.

Others include food purchasing, money management, credit and consumer rights before the law, the latter being the first subject to be dealt with next week.

During a meeting Monday, committee members ironed out final details to the Consumer Right seminar at Thursday, Oct. 30 17:30 p.m.

The CCE is composed of representatives of local business, labor, legal and education bodies.

Mr. William said the group hopes "a better consumer" will be turned out once the seminars end: "The topics chosen are relevant," he said.

Next week's seminar will deal with the consumer's rights, as well as responsibilities, under seven provincial and federal government acts.

Hastings Law Association Lawyer Wilfrid Mensinga of Belleville plans to outline, in part, provisions of the consumer protection, the bankruptcy and small loans, and landlord and tenant acts.

Plans next week call for a lecture format plus a question and answer period.

Chemical Transportation Under Review

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Federal legislation might be enacted within the coming year which would regulate interprovincial trucking of chemicals, says Jim Head of Canadian Industries Ltd. at Toronto.

Mr. Head told a meeting of the Carlaytville division of the Thurlow Township Volunteer Fire Department and the Quinte Rescue Squad Monday that the federal government might bring such trucking under the same regulations as govern railway transport of such dangerous quantities.

"You won't have fly-by-night carriers hauling anything and everything," he commented.

Mr. Head said it is expected truck drivers transporting chemicals will soon be forced to carry printed information sheets in their cabs which will contain data on the type of chemicals they carry and hazard information including first aid requirements.

Such information sheets are already mandatory on trains where conductors must have an information sheet on each tanker in each train' containing chemicals, he said.

Mr. Head pointed out that in case of a traffic accident where the driver is killed and the truck destroyed, units such as the fire department and the rescue squad can contact the truck dispatcher about the kind of chemical being transported.

Until such identification is made, the surrounding area should be evacuated and cordoned off and rescuers should stay well away from the scene, he noted.

Mr. Head said the US. will soon introduce a standard system of labelling for chemicals transported by either sea, land or air. "What they really want is a label which says to a guy, 'do this, first'," he remarked.

He said about two billion tons of dangerous quantities of chemical enter the North American transportation system per year and that the Canadian Transport Commission has published a book which lists, by name, about 1,500 dangerous chemical commodities.

Horner Joins PC Race

TORONTO (CP) — Jack Horner, member of Parliament for Crowfoot, announced Monday he will seek the leadership of the federal Progressive Conservative party.

He said he announced his candidacy in Toronto to indicate he has support throughout the country.

The 54-year-old rancher from Bolsdeville, Alta., is the fourth person to officially enter the leadership race. Others are: John Fraser, MP for Vancouver South; Flora MacDonald, MP for Kingston and The Islands and Howard Graffney, MP for Brome-Missisquoi.

Mr. Horner said he has more supporters in the Progressive Conservative caucus than any other leadership candidate. He would not name his supporters because "I am afraid my enemies will start to attack them."

He said re-vitalizing the Progressive Conservative caucus was a top priority in his leadership bid. Caucus attendance has dropped to 39 per cent, he said, and members need to feel their views are respected.

Mr. Horner said he has more confidence in Prime Minister Trudeau's selective wage and price controls will not work because the government cannot control all costs, such as the price of housing, food and energy.

Program Outlined

OTTAWA (CP) — The public can obtain pamphlets outlining the federal anti-inflation program at taxation offices in 30 major cities and at banks. The pamphlets are a condensation of the policy paper tabled last week in the Commons.

Set Free

GENEVA (Reuter) — The Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) of South Vietnam has agreed to allow a group of about 30 foreigners, mostly missionaries trapped by the fighting earlier this year, to return Soon, the United Nations announced here Monday.

Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan, UN high commissioner for refugees, said the UN is trying to find out more details about the group, which included mostly Americans, but also Canadians and Australians.

Good Recovery

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Figures released today by the commerce department indicate that economic recovery in the United States accelerated sharply in the third quarter.

Gas Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal and Alberta governments announced Monday the signing of an agreement which will increase natural gas prices to consumers in eastern provinces by about 25 per cent, effective Nov. 1.

Recalls Tires

TORONTO (CP) — Goodyear Canada Inc. announced Monday a campaign to recall 42,500 automobile tires because of the possibility of tread separation at continuous, above-legal high speeds.

Cabinet Will Decide Fate of 3 Killers

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet is to decide this week on the fate of three killers, all on the loose as a result of weaknesses in the criminal justice system when they shot policemen to death.

John Francis Connearney, scheduled to be hanged in Montreal's Bordeaux Jail Friday, was an escapee from a Rhode Island prison when he killed Leasalle policeman Richard Lavern during a stool-out in 1971.

Rene Vaillancourt was out on bail for other alleged offences when he shot Toronto constable Leslie Maitland after a bank robbery.

Real Chartrand was out on a "temporary leave" from Quebec's Pinel Institute, where he was serving a penitentiary sentence, when he shot Constable Gabriel Labelle during a bank robbery in Ste. Therese, Que., in 1973.

Vaillancourt is scheduled to be hanged at Toronto's Don Jail and Chartrand is scheduled to go to the gallows at Bordeaux Jail. The date for both is Oct. 31.

However, the cabinet likely will not allow these three hangings to take place until it announces its policy on capital punishment, probably in mid-November.

Olympic Construction Halted on Monday

MONTREAL (CP) — Most construction at the east-end 1976 Summer Olympic Games site was halted Monday when less than 300 of the 2,200 workers showed up for work, a City of Montreal official said.

A meeting between Desourdy-Dancereau, the general contractor in charge of construction of the main installations, and Quebec Federation of Labor (QFL) representatives was held late in the day to attempt to resolve the main problem of a blacklist, said Andre Laclerc, a QFL official.

The workers were protesting the existence of a blacklist drafted by several companies in co-operation with Montreal Urban Community police to keep out alleged troublemakers, Mr. Leclerc said. Police officials were not immediately contacted.

Mr. Leclerc said the QFL had requested the blacklist be immediately abolished and cases dealt with on an individual basis.

"Otherwise," he said, "they can refuse a man a job because he is a known militant because they don't like his face. It's completely unjust and against all traditions of labor relations in North America."

Lewis Criticizes Crowded Hospitals

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP) — Stephen Lewis, Ontario NDP leader, said Monday the situation at General and Marine hospital is ludicrous, with surgical and medical equipment in the halls.

"I find it hard to believe that a district hospital could be in such poor condition," he said during a news conference prior to a joint meeting of the Owen Sound Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

However, as leader of the opposition, Mr. Lewis said he was not prepared to barter with the government for a hospital in Owen Sound.

"The hospital is deserved on its own merits," he said.

Earlier in the day, Mr. Lewis toured hospital facilities and met with hospital and government officials. The meeting was closed to news media but five reports dating to 1972, which were presented to Mr. Lewis, later were released.

Average Industrial Wage Jumps 13 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — The average weekly industrial wage was $255.60 in August, a 13-per-cent jump from the average of $181.72 earned in August, 1974, Statistics Canada reported Monday.

The cost of living, as measured by the consumer price index, increased 11.1 during the same period.

The average August earning was up three-tenths of one per cent from the average $205.97 per week in July. The cost of living rose one per cent during the one-month period.

There were decreases in some provinces. The largest drop was recorded in British Columbia, where the weekly an nings declined to $238.44 from $323.13 in July, due primarily to industrial disputes.

B.C. continued to have the highest average weekly earnings with the lowest in Prince Edward Island at $132.43.

The average August weekly earnings in other provinces: Newfoundland, $196.98; Nova Scotia, $173.86; New Brunswick, $182.76; Quebec, $261.67; Ontario, $297.86; Manitoba, $196.36; Saskatchewan, $191.61; Alberta, $211.81.

By industry, the weekly earnings ranged from a high of $288.22 in construction to a low of $145.33 in the service industries.

The survey covers about 4.5 million workers but does not include those in agriculture, government service, fishing or the military.

WAS FIRST SETTLEMENT

On May 12, 1607, Jamestown, Va., became the first permanent English settlement in the United States.

Seeks Legal Action Against Reporters Who Tapped Kissinger

OTTAWA (CP) — The government was urged Monday by Conservative justice critic Eldon Woolliams to prosecute those who reported U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger's banquet-table remarks about former president Richard Nixon in Ottawa last week.

Justice Minister Ron Basford, replying to the Commons, didn't rule out charges. Mr. Basford said he would await completion of an investigation by External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen, who is trying to find out how the remarks were picked up by press tape recorders.

Mr. Woolliams said then consider "the legal consequences that flow from that."

Mr. Woolliams referred to article 178 (2) of the Criminal Code, a privacy provision that makes it a crime punishable by up to two years in prison to eavesdrop electronically upon a conversation.

Even if Mr. Kissinger's description of Mr. Nixon as an "unpleasant man" had been taped accidentally, this was no excuse under the privacy provisions, which say such remarks can only be reported with the permission of those whose voices were recorded, Mr. Woolliams said in an interview outside the Commons.

The prosecution's main task would be to prove the conversation had been private.

Mr. Woolliams noted his Calgary law partner had defended radio station CFCN earlier this year after charges of violating the privacy provisions were placed.

Local Governments Must Change Ways to Survive

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — T. J. Plunkett, director of the institute of local government at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., said Monday local governments must change their ways if municipal government is to survive.

Mr. Plunkett made the remarks at the 38th convention of the Association of Counties and Regions of Ontario (ACRO).

He said local governments originally were set up to administer local amenities such as streets and waterworks in an efficient and low-cost manner to present a minimum burden on home-owning ratepayers.

But "urbanization has precipitated a long list of new issues such as planning, housing and transportation, he said. Yet the many ways local governments have abdicated decision-making powers and are selling the province makes the decisions.

"If local governments are to survive, Mr. Plunkett said, they must become more political by dealing with fundamental issues which directly affect the quality of life.

"They must accept controversy and be willing to accept structural and other changes to provide a more representative, responsive and accountable system of local government, he said.

The 38th conference is the largest ACRO meeting so far, with 350 delegates from across the province attending. The convention continues today and Wednesday.

Broadbent Says Restraints Do Not Have Public Support

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's new anti-inflation program does not have enough public support to work, New Democratic Leader Ed Broadbent said Monday.

"I do not find any widespread acceptance of this program," he said as the Commons began its second day of debate on legislation to put the plan into effect.

"If anything, I would judge that more people oppose the program than favor it."

The NDP leader said he made his judgment on the basis of opinions gathered during a recent countrywide speaking tour.

Prime Minister Trudeau is "in for a lot of trouble" making the program work, he predicted.

Abortion Committees Decline

OTTAWA (C) — The number of hospitals with therapeutic abortion committees declined by three in 1974 to 238.

The decline was greatest in Quebec, where the number of hospitals able to perform a legal abortion fell to 39 from 51. The number fell by one in Newfoundland, where six hospitals have abortion committees.

British Columbia, with one-third of Quebec's population, had nearly double the number of hospitals at which an abortion could be performed—83, a gain of one from 1973. Alberta also gained one for a total of 34.

The information was given Wednesday in Commons replies to questions by Kenneth Robinson (L—Toronto Lakeshore), who also had asked about the number of women who have had more than one therapeutic abortion since they became legal in 1969.

Immigration Report May Recommend Yearly Quotas

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says a draft report of the parliamentary committee on immigration policy suggests yearly quotas on immigration and penalties to deter prospective immigrants away from large cities.

The committee suggests that sanctions be imposed to enable immigrants to go to the part of the country they say they will go and that more financial aid be given to immigrants willing to go to areas of Canada where manpower is scarce, the newspaper says.

It says it has received a copy of the committee's first draft of a report containing the proposed recommendations.

Also recommended is an end to the category of nominated immigrants and to the exclusion of most prohibited categories such as homosexuals, epileptics, tuberculosis sufferers, idiots and imbeciles and others suffering from mental illness, The Globe and Mail says.

The newspaper says the committee, established last spring, says Canada has become a multi-racial and multi-cultural society and that legislative action should be taken to protect Canadians and immigrants from racial and ethnic discrimination.

How Ontario Pork brings down the budget with four incomparable dinners from two inexpensive roasts.

Ontario Pork would like to make a modest contribution to your shopping budget for the week. All you have to do is purchase either a sweet pickled cottage roll (illustrated on the right, top), or a smoked picnic shoulder (on the right, below). Then cook either of the roasts using one of the delectable recipes below. Now where the real economy comes in is a day or two later when you can prepare the leftovers for another delicious dinner, like cottage roll casserole or a ham 'n bean soup that's a meal in itself. So with either cut you can make two different and delicious meals. Simply because Ontario Pork has a subtle, rich taste that can be combined in so many different dishes. The results, of course, will always be very rewarding, both at the dinner table and at the cash register.

Deviled Cottage Roll

4–6 pound cottage roll
1 cup dry bread crumbs
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons horseradish

Place cottage roll in a deep saucepan, with water to cover. Cover and simmer over low heat until fork tender, allow about 35–40 minutes per pound, until internal temperature is 170° F. Meanwhile rub breadcrumbs, brown sugar, butter, mustard and horseradish together to form a crumb topping. Remove cottage roll; drain; place on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Coat heavily with crumb topping. Bake at 325° F for about 30 minutes until crumb topping is golden. Tasty with glazed sweet potatoes, buttered green beans. Makes 10–12 servings.

Peach-Glazed Smoked Picnic

6–8 pound uncooked smoked picnic pork shoulder
1 (14 oz.) can peaches
2 teaspoons cornstarch
Whole cloves

Place smoked picnic shoulder skin side up on rack in shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer into centre of meat so it does not touch fat or bone. Cook in 325° F oven about 35 minutes per pound until meat thermometer registers 170° F internal temperature. About 1 hour before the picnic shoulder is cooked remove it from the oven. Remove rind from the meat; slash the fat ¼-inch deep in a diamond pattern; stud with cloves. Reserve a few peach pieces for garnish then mash remaining peaches in the juice in small saucepan. Stir in cornstarch; heat and stir until glaze cooks and thickens. Remove from heat. Brush on smoked picnic. Continue to bake in the same 325° F oven for another hour. Garnish with peach halves and parsley. Serve with succotash, mashed potatoes, crisp green salad. Makes 12–14 servings.

Cottage Roll Casserole

2 cups cubed, cooked cottage roll
½ pounds broccoli
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
½ cups (6 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
20 soda crackers, crushed
1 tablespoon butter
Parmesan cheese

Cook broccoli spears in lightly salted water for 5 minutes; drain. Place in lightly greased 2 quart casserole. Spread cottage roll cubes on top. Prepare cheese sauce. Melt butter in a saucepan; stir in flour until smooth. Add the milk a little at a time. Stir until sauce thickens. Stir in salt, mustard and shredded cheese, continue to stir until cheese melts. Pour cheese sauce over cubes. Cover with cracker crumbs; dot with butter; sprinkle with parmesan cheese. Bake at 325° F for 30 minutes until crumbs turn golden. Great with tomato slices and crusty rolls. Makes 5–6 servings.

Chunky Ham 'n Bean Soup

1 (16 oz.) package dry white beans
6 cups water
1 cooked picnic shoulder bone (meat removed)
3 bay leaves
6 cloves
1 medium onion, chopped
8 carrots, sliced
2 cups cubed, cooked smoked picnic shoulder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine beans and water in saucepan; boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat and let stand 1 hour. Meanwhile simmer picnic shoulder bone, bay leaves and cloves in water to cover for 2 hours. Remove bone, bay leaves and the cloves. Add beans and remaining ingredients. Simmer 1½–2 hours longer adding more water if necessary. To add zest stir a dash of prepared horseradish or mustard into soup just before serving. Serve with crusty rolls and crisp celery sticks. Makes 10–12 servings.

ST. PAUL'S ACW

The October meeting of St. Paul's Anglican Church Women was held recently at the home of Annie Bates, president. Roberta Fisk conducted the study period, choosing as her subject the general confession from the prayer book.

Plans were made to hold a quilting on October 29.

The Hastings Deanery Meeting will be held at Christ Church, in Belleville on October 22.

Bessie Sills was leader for the program and gave two readings, "Year by Year" and "A Boy's Thanksgiving".

Florence Meeks read a poem, "October".

Margaret Geen gave a reading, "The Master Painter".

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social time was enjoyed.

QUINTE WI

A tour of the Hastings County Board of Education administration centre was the highlight of the recent meeting of the Quinte Women's Institute. Leslie Reid, deputy director of education, welcomed the women, who divided into groups to tour the centre.

The tour was arranged by convener Evelyn Wood.

The business portion of the meeting was conducted in the Institute Hall following the tour, during which Eileen Darling was chosen as representative to the area convention in Campbellford.

Bessie Mitchell, who has held offices in local, district, area and provincial WI executive during the past 45 years, was honored by a life membership pin and certificate at this meeting. Mrs. Mitchell and her husband Arnold have just finished celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary, and the life membership was the Institute's anniversary gift to her.

ECEA MEETING

OPEN TO PUBLIC

Annita Storms will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Belleville and District Branch of the Early Childhood Education Association of Ontario, to be held Tuesday, October 21, at 7.30 p.m. in Rooms 1 and 6 at Loyalist College.

Mrs. Storms' topic will be "Cultural Influences on Integration of Handicapped Children in Socialist Countries."

The event is open to the public.

Alec Gordon, at one of the two organs in his home.

Alec Gordon, 50 Years an Organist

Alec Gordon has been a familiar figure to church goers and music lovers for over 50 years in Belleville. For the last 38, he's been organist at Bridge Street United Church, and before that played at Hillcrest Street and John Street churches.

Celebrating his 70th birthday this year, Mr. Gordon is giving an organ recital called "Three Score and Ten," on Sunday Oct. 26 at 4 p.m., in Bridge Street United Church. Proceeds from the concert will go to the St. Thomas building fund.

During his years as an organist, Mr. Gordon has made a tradition of playing his music to raise money for charity. He has assisted the Red Cross, Save the Children Fund, war relief funds, hospital, camp and organ funds as well as helping out the church men's club with his efforts.

Mr. Gordon's career began when he was a teen-ager with a paper route to pay for lessons from the organist at Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, whose playing he admired.

By this age Alec Gordon already had a good background in piano, an "absolutely necessary" pre-requisite for an organist. He later studied in both Toronto and New York.

"I wanted to be an organist, but I didn't ever want to be a music teacher," he says. "I've taken very few pupils, never more than two at any time."

However, Mr. Gordon did become a teacher of other subjects at the Sir James Whitney School, then known as the Ontario School for the Deaf. He taught there for 39 years, during which he began innovative "rhythm work" for deaf children. He also produced several successful operettas, with children acting the dramatic roles, and the women's choir from Bridge Street United Church supplying the choral music.

"My most happy years at the school, my weekends at the organ," says Mr. Gordon now, speaking of his "divided life".

Since his retirement in 1964, however, he's had more time to devote to his beloved organ music, and has composed several pieces as well as expanding his repertoire of church and secular music.

Bach still remains his favorite composer, and will be featured in this coming concert along with work from contemporary Canadian, French and German composers. One of Mr. Gordon's own light compositions will be included in the carefully-timed program.

"Nothing's worse than an organ concert that's too long," says Mr. Gordon cheerfully, "so I've made sure this one has only 37 minutes of music. I've been rehearsing daily for weeks. I know exactly how long it takes!"

BRIAN

The friendly but diffident smile is exactly like Brian. He is eager to be friends but because he hasn't much confidence in himself he isn't sure people will like him.

Brian is nine, attractive looking, with brown hair, blue eyes and a few freckles. He is healthy and active, sometimes hyperactive. Occasionally he has been on medication to slow him down a bit.

Because it's hard for Brian to concentrate he is in a special class with few pupils where the teacher has extra time for each one. He will gradually be integrated into the regular classes and is expected to be an average student.

Brian's great interest is in sports. He played baseball in the summer and his team was runnerup in a final series. Brian is a versatile fellow who can play any position. Hockey is his favorite — he wonders if he might like a career in professional hockey. He is eager to be a good athlete and enthusiastic about improving his skill at games.

A warm, involved, family will be just right for Brian. He would like his adopting father or perhaps an older brother to join in the sports he loves. And he hopes, very much he'll be able to have a pet of his very own. "Could it be a kitten, please?"

To inquire about adopting Brian, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 3J2. In your letter please tell something of your present family and your way of life.

Give Your Roses Head Start Now

Roses are usually planted in the spring, but in the warmer parts of the province they can be planted successfully in the fall, says D.B.McNeill, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

Fall planting techniques are the same as for spring. Good topsoil, plenty of water, and proper planting depth are needed for roses to thrive. They do best in fairly rich clay loam soil. The holes should be dug large enough for the roots to spread out in a natural manner, with the bush set in so that the swollen area on the stem above the roots is about an inch below the soil surface. A thorough soaking with water should be given immediately after planting.

"Roses planted in late October or early November should be placed in a well-protected, well-drained area," says the horticulturist. "In addition, they should be mounded with dry soil just as you would hill up your established rose bushes before winter sets in. Fall-planted bushes should not be cut back until spring."

Most garden centres still have a good supply of rose bushes; because they may not want to store them over the winter, you might get a bargain price if you buy and plant your roses now.

You might also consider planting trees and shrubs this fall and give them a headstart on spring, suggests Mr. McNeill.

"Planting of evergreens, trees and shrubs can be as successful in the fall as in spring," he says. "However, it is necessary to avoid planting them in windswept locations."

The prime time to transplant trees and shrubs is late October, just after the leaves have dropped, and before freezup. After choosing a fairly sheltered location, proceed with the planting just as you would in the spring. Dig a good-sized hole where there is good topsoil and supply the planted tree or shrub with plenty of water.

Some exceptions to fall planting are willows, birches, poplars and silver maples. Check with your local nursery or consult your gardening book for a complete list of trees and shrubs not recommended for fall planting.

"A good supply of plants will likely be available now at your garden centre," says Mr. McNeill. "By buying at this time of year you will avoid the spring rush and benefit from the extra time the nursery people have to advise you about your purchases."

No Matter Where She Goes in Quebec, Fans Want to Talk to Lise Payette

MONTREAL (CP) — Popular entertainer in Quebec provinces enjoy an intimate, intimate relationship with their audience, perhaps because people become accustomed to seeing them in restaurants and on the street.

With such a personal link between artist and audience, it is all the more unusual for Lise Payette, 44, to need to remind people she is only human.

Lise, is the outgoing star of Lise Lib, a one-hour blend of television variety and talk each Saturday night before the hockey game on Radio-Canada, CBC's French-language network.

"I receive letters from people asking for help in solving their problems," she said. "But there are things I can do and those I cannot, and I don't want to get them mixed up.

"It would be dangerous to believe I could do everything."

She was interviewed in French in a borrowed office, high in the new Maison Radio-Canada, CBC's Montreal headquarters. She had a different appearance than when she is on television. Without makeup, a comfortable dress and had slightly tousled hair from the sun.

"I felt always very honest in interviews, that people understand what they want to understand," she said.

The first show of the season featured a long chat and an interview with Gerard Pelletier just after he resigned as federal communications minister.

Having a weekly show is a change of pace for her, after the gruelling schedule which had required her to make five one-hour shows a week for her former show, Appelez-moi (Call Me Lise), similar in format to Lise Lib, which began by mutual agreement between the star and Radio-Canada.

Probably the first time most Canadians outside Quebec saw her was at the first drawing of the Olympic lottery, when she was co-host with Pierre Berton.

But in Quebec, the full-figured Lise cannot find a place to spend her vacation without having people come up to her to talk. She says she does not want to avoid this contact "because it goes along with the type of work I do, but once a year I need to shut inside my head."

She likes to go to Europe for a month, as she did this past summer, to be able to walk around without being recognized.

Her ability to distinguish between public image and private self may have led her to her successful interviewing style. Known for arguments and directness, she is able to show her audience the human side of the guests on her show.

Her guests on Appelez Moi Lise included Yul Brynner, Jeanne Moreau, Melina Mercouri, Peter Ustinov, Sergio Leone, Catherine Deneuve and Marcelle Mastroianni.

When Pierre Elliott Trudeau appeared on the show in 1973, "he probably thought we would talk about his international policies," she said. "But any politician, when he comes home, it's a man like any other, and it's this that interests me.

"In the interview, he wanted to be just the prime minister, but I have nothing to say to him as prime minister."

At that time she knew Mrs. Trudeau was pregnant and she wanted him to announce it on the show, but he did not.

Viewers knew Lise tries to show them who the personalities are behind the public masks.

"We try to present another image than what's been seen, another face the public doesn't know," she said.

When asked what her own public image is, she said it is probably that of a "liberated" woman, with a drive to succeed at whatever she decides to do.

Lise was even mayor of Montreal for one day in January, 1974, at Jean Drapeau's invitation, and she pacified demonstrators, police, by cover the city with a dome.

"When she played possible for a Montreal Canadiens' game, it made a big difference in the team. It was not just a publicity stunt," she said. "I was very excited at saying I knew I can do it, you can do it."

But now, need as more encouragement to do what it really want at women day, she said.

She prefers to remain apolitical herself—even though at times she has been questioned as to political politician.

"I don't want to be the place where I would be least useful."

She has seen many of her friends who went to Ottawa or Quebec, full of ideals, then do nothing because party discipline would have prevented expert party lines, she says.

Lise feels she is too hesitant to be able to accept that.

Ann Landers

'Smoldering' Resents Pregnancy

Dear Ann Landers: I am 26 years of age, have one child, 18 months old, and am expecting another in December. I didn't want the first baby, but I did not want to have it so close to the first one.

I am smoldering with resentment against my husband because he was not very considerate at all about it when he found out I recall very clearly the night he made me pregnant. I begged him to withdraw, but he just kept talking about his pet hi way.

I feel lousy most of the time, much worse than I did with the first baby. I'm sure my resentment toward my husband's laziness is having a bad physical effect on the baby. Please tell women who must carry and deliver the child, should be consulted in any way when to become pregnant? The more I think of what happened to me the more furious (and sicker) I get.

I'm sure our women have been through this same thing. How do they get over their anger? When will it happen? Please help me. — Feeling Rotten in Denver

Dear Denver: Of course these women have found themselves in the same condition unwanted pregnancy. Thousands of 'em. Maybe millions.

They get over their anger the moment the new baby is placed in their arms and they have a second child to love.

P.S. Fortunately, Mother Nature designed short memories for women years. The alternative would be about 200,000 dead husbands annually.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old girl who just read your column, "Teen Priesty." I agree with you that parents can be pretty permissive with young, sexy daughters, but why didn't you say something to parents of teen-age boys? I've been Priesty" of them around and they could sure use some talk ing to.

Some guys in this town walk around with their jeans so low on their hips it's a disgrace— b e l l y-buttons showing, no shorts, also "tail naked." I've seen guys walking the streets in bikinis no bigger than a diaper for a three-month-old baby. They are more like invitations than bathing trunks.

My mother knows where I am and who I'm with every minute of my life. I also have pride to honor a curfew or get grounded. But my 16-year-old brother is never asked a single question—like "What were you doing until 2 o'clock this morning!

I'm not criticizing you for suggesting that girls be kept in line, but I'm plenty bugged because you said nothing about boys. It's a real pleasure to remain intact—"I don't like to let them out of my sight."

Business School Takes A Different Approach

HALIFAX (CP) — Marie Whitter is one of the educational methods of teaching business education in high schools are outmoded and she set out to her own school to prove it.

She mortgaged her home and opened the Halifax Business Academy on downtown Barrington Street in what only last year had been the old Missouri Inn Saloon, a popular haunt for foreign sailors.

Mrs. Whittier says traditional business teaching fails to meet what the business world expects today because it does not round out the whole person.

"How can a student become a happy employee of some company when he or she has personal money management problems or lacks a sense of self-esteem and confidence in the work?" she asked.

Of course, the school teaches all the traditional business skills such as book-keeping and operating office machines. But it adds a few unique subjects, like:

Her business procedures course familiarizes learners with a wide variety of courses important in the business world, resume appearance, job interviews, personal budgeting and office department.

It places a special emphasis on teaching her students to love the English language, both written and spoken, and the most common complaints from employers locally is that employees can not spell properly.

To instill a personal appreciation of words, her typing courses also show students not only what words must be typed but also from where they were derived, how they are used and how they are supposed to be pronounced.

Her teachers try to create an atmosphere in the wo s among students. With the right teacher, shorthand and typing can be fun.

Kate Smith:

Girl From Virginia Became U.S. Symbol

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — She's Princess Alethe Kelly Wings (which means "Glory of the Morning"). She's a Texas Ranger. She's a cousin to the U.S. Army Three as all honorary titles from gubernatorial fans.

She's the fat girl from Greenville, Va., the girl who captured the hear. at an entire nation. "A girl that God blessed with a magnificent voice and an even more magnificent heart."

She's Kate Smith.

Although she estimates her voice is stronger now than it ever was, she's the same carries on backwards—the Sebastopol Kid, Kate Smith, America filled with apple pies, burning fireplaces, family dinners . . . the way it was, so long ago.

Kate Smith is not exactly a girl any more. She is 70 years old. But Kate Smith, the institution — symbolizing American spirit is still singing.

She's been singing for more than 50 years now, starting as a five-year-old church soprano, then Broadway, then radio and record places, at hockey games. She's the good luck charm for Philadelphia championship hockey team.

She's also going to be singing for a while. She taken up all the offers that are pouring in now. Anybody with any kind of a promotional brain knows that a blockbusting program, there is no act that's going to come a close second to Kate Smith's mighty and magnificent rendition of her favorite song, "God Bless America."

"I'm getting letters already from just about everyone," she says. "They all want me to sing 'God Bless America' at every baseball game, fairs to scout meetings. I couldn't possibly accept them all."

She hasn't decided yet which of the invitations she will accept. Or she's not saying. "I like you don't sing a song until it's copyrighted, you don't talk about contracts until everything is pinned down."

Although Miss Smith has no financial interest in the Flyers, she is a devoted fan. It all started by the Flyers playing her recording of "God Bless America" before a game instead of the national anthem. "Oh, and behold, they won. They seemed to win consistently when 'God Bless America' was played.

Then last fall herself came to three games to sing the good luck song" — even though the Flyers won the Stanley Cup, hockey's big prize.

"They're all such lovely boys," she says of her beloved Flyers.

Within hockey circles, it should be noted, her "lovely boys" don't quite have that reputation. There they're known as "the meanest bad-asses on the ice."

She's as big as her voice. At just under 5-foot-10, with shoulders that would do most fullbacks proud. Kate Smith still is a big woman, despite an 85-pound weight loss in the last few years. Doctor's orders, high blood pressure.

Her hair, which sparkles dark in some photographs, is quite blonde, but only three shades up from its natural color.

Chicken Advice

TORONO (CP) — A peek into the chicken section at the local supermarket will make shoppers aware that if whole chickens are lower in price per pound than thigh already cut up, it is wise to buy these and cut them yourself, says a spokesman for the food advisory service branch of Agriculture Canada. The branch's home economist offers tips on cutting up poultry.

"Start out with a sharp knife," she suggests.

—To remove wing, pull it away from the body and slash the skin between them. Cut around the shoulder joint to separate the wing from the breast, leaving as much white meat on the breast as possible. If desired, cut off the wing tips.

—To remove leg (drumstick and thigh), slash the skin between the body and thigh; then press down and out on the leg until the hip joint pushes out of its socket.

—Cut through the hip joint, separating the thigh from the body of the bird. If necessary, cut the drumstick away from the thigh through the knee joint.

—To remove the neck and backbone: Starting at the tail, cut through the backbone close to the right of the backbone all the way to the neck. Repeat on the left side of the backbone, remove the backbone and neck in three cuts by cutting the skin around the neck.

—To separate the breast from the back, insert the knife in the wing socket and cut through the rib cage to the back of the bird. This separates the back from the breast, leaving two ribs on each.

—To divide breast, spread the bird open and cut the pastilike cartilage on either side of the keel bone in the neck region.

Nova Scotia Collector Believes Dolls Have Special Meaning

BIBLE HILL, N.S. (CP) — Mrs. Kaye Harrett knows that every woman will have to love dolls to treat them the way Mrs. Kaye Harrett does. Harrett simon as if they were living.

"After all," she said, "most of my dolls have a special meaning for me. They remind me of a friend, a relative, a teacher, or just someone I met who had an old doll she didn't want and I thought may gave it to me for my collection."

Mrs. Harrett's collection holds many memories.

Some are made of cloth with far eyebrows and pierced ears, while Jeannie who came from the first five-and-one-cent store in Bible Hill and then is one obtained 45 years ago to mark the birth of the first five-cent-store in Canada.

Some are more than 100 years old, like the hand-carved, stuffed dolls, china dolls, wax dolls, mechanical dolls, character dolls, and Eaton beauty dolls.

Some have been found in deserted buildings, others in open fields where they were lost by children, and one from the bottom of the family water well.

The collection has become well known in this area because Mrs. Harrett home is opened each year to as many as 700 school children, youth groups, church women and history buffs, and curious out-of-province visitors.

"My job in collecting the dolls is not only for myself but the joy I bring to children," Mrs. Harrett said. "My dream is to have a special record for them but only if it could be free."

Some of the dolls have been donated to the centennial museum against Mrs. Truro's centennial celebrations this year but most of the collection will remain with Mrs. Harrett.

New MLA Faces Challenge

REGINA (CP) — Linda Clifford, a 26-year-old rookie Saskatchewan Liberal MLA, is digging her heels in for a tough challenge.

Not only does she feel she has big shoes to fill in replacing Cliff Mcisaac, former MLA for Qu'Appelle and well-known politics, but she has been named the Liberal social services critic.

"It's going to take a lot of caring and a lot of work," Miss Clifford said in an interview.

One impression she already has is that the NDP government, while it has many programs, tends to develop them without considering the consequences.

In the last election, the Liberals criticized the government policy allowing abortions to be done in Saskatchewan hospitals. Miss Clifford said will vigorously oppose such abortions.

She doesn't mind money being spent on social services, she said, as long as the people who need it are getting it.

Miss Clifford says senior citizens and rehabilitative services have made some of concern.

In her election campaign she urged better tax breaks for small businessmen and a program in which the government would co-sign loans so young people could get into farming or other businesses.

Miss Clifford, a native of Wilkie, taught for three years in North Battleford and spent the last year working on a master's degree in education at the University of Saskatchewan. Her major is physical education.

She is adamant about not being called a feminist, said the advantage "of being a woman is that she can view things in a different light than a man might and offer different solutions.

Food Review Board Blasts Chicken Boards

OTTAWA (CP) — The food prices review board, in one of 17 last reports, has blasted broiler chicken marketing boards for encouraging inefficiency in the industry and causing unnecessarily high costs to consumers.

Although most chickens are raised by relatively large producers, the provincial marketing boards set prices at a level needed to maintain an adequate return to smaller, less efficient producers, the board said in a report released Monday.

Therefore, the return on equity to many (larger) producers of broiler chickens in Canada appears extremely high by normal business standards."

The food board was officially disbanded last week with the creation of the new anti-inflation review board, but is publishing reports which were already being prepared.

Chamber Urges Spending Reduction

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Chamber of Commerce urged the provincial government Monday to move toward a more balanced budget by strict control of government expenditures.

The provinces recently voted to ask the federal government's national farm products marketing council to establish a national broiler marketing agency as a co-ordinating body for the provincial marketing boards.

The food board report recommended a national agency not be established because "it would only increase the costs and the inefficiencies of broiler supply management at the provincial level."

In a brief to Provincial Treasurer Darcy McKeough, the chamber asked that the sales tax, at a retail level only, be restored to seven per cent from the current five per cent.

The brief, submitted in advance of Mr. McKeough's budget which is expected late this winter, "is aggressive, the present high costs and inefficiencies of broiler supply management at the provincial level."

McKeough Criticizes Economic Guidelines

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough says the federal economic guidelines contain loopholes big enough to drive a truck through.

The minister said in an interview Monday there is a long list of questions to which Ontario needs answers such as how the federal wage and price controls will affect provincial civil servants, teachers, municipal workers and doctors.

Hillcrest Ratepayers Fear Further Hike in Sewer Costs

A group of Hillcrest homebuilders have petitioned city council for an explicit breakdown of how planned sanitary sewer installations will affect their tax bills.

The request presented to council Monday night is a sequel to the current controversy caused by sewer costs in Hillcrest's north end — where sewer services already have been installed.

The petition came from 31 homebuilders in the neighborhood's north end, where the final phase of the two-part installation program now is planned.

It follows fears expressed recently by Ken Brooks, Hillcrest Ratepayers Association president, that inflation will have boosted construction charges.

The first phase cost $17 a foot on property frontages installed as local improvements. Mr. Brooks said he fears that the cost could jump to $20-$25 a foot for the sub end installation in the College-Byron streets zone of Hillcrest.

His brief accompanying the petition—presented by William Hockley of the Quinte Information and Assistance Centre—asked that city hall representatives meet with the homeowners to discuss costs before any construction contracts are let.

Mr. Brooks said there was no such contact with Hillcrest residents before the first phase of the sewer program was contracted.

Many of the homeowners now being serviced are "seriously concerned" about the cost of the local improvement levies resulting in unexpectedly high tax bills.

As a result some are considering selling out—a fact known to land speculators watching the situation with the "tenacity" of "vultures," wrote Mr. Brooks.

Now residents involved with the second installation phase are concerned "there be no repetition of what happened before."

If contract prices are equally high and "unaffordable" then the problem "presently existing in the Hillcrest area will be compounded even more," he said.

Meantime, in the latest protest move, the ratepayers association now has collected statements from householders on tax increases since the sewers were constructed.

This will be typed in affidavit form Tuesday night and notarized Wednesday at the neighborhood's community centre.

The association plans using the statements to prevent tactic it's keeping in reserve should its appeal for relief on the sewer costs fail through standard channels: An appeal to Ontario Ombudsman Arthur Maloney.

City Urges Queen's Park To Act on Sunday Hours

City council has put its civic zeal to protests against Sunday supermarket customers.

Councillors Monday despatched a plea to Queen's Park asking the Attorney — General's department to permit prosecutions under the Lord's Day Act and to the provincial government to give priority to legislation prohibiting Sunday opening of supermarkets.

The gesture of protest comes as city hall apparently finds itself hapless to take any initiative against supermarkets — both chains and independents — now conducting seven-day-a-week trade.

Council's request under the power of local ordinances and the fact prosecution under the Lord's Day Act needs provincial sanction are root causes of the local government dilemma.

In fact, a review of the situation ordered from city manager Wilbur Purcell — noting possible pending provincial legislation advised council take no present action.

A resigned note was struck by Mayor Ben Corke.

Because of the "weakness of the law" the recommendation to Queen's Park was "about as far as we can go at this minute," he said.

— Hopefully we will achieve some speeding in Toronto on this matter."

The resolution was successfully introduced into council by Ald. Joe Cox — who earlier in the day had threatened to go it alone in laying charges if council didn't act.

In council he reminded his colleagues of the petition from community organizations — council's agenda included a number of letters on the issue, mostly from church groups.

Ald. Cox said no one objected in "essential services and small proprietors" being open on Sundays.

But steps are needed to eliminate "wholesale commercialization" on Sunday, he said.

Mayor Corke revealed action had been discussed several weeks ago about the supermarket chain — A & P — announced it would open Sundays.

He said he had checked with police authorities but was able to find out very little" except measures against the Lord's Day Act.

But the "Crown Attorney in this dale has not told the [Police] chief [Douglas Crosbie] to go ahead and lay a charge."

The mayor said he was also equally concerned about stores being open to midnight.

"Surely this is a dreadful disruption of family life and so forth," he added.

Ald. Stu Meeks claimed Sunday openings posed another problem to civic government — a possible increase in services, including public works, transportation garbage collection.

Currently, A & P, Food City and Dominion chains are open Sunday.

Free Parking Ends

City council Monday officially wrote off a year-old privilege enjoyed by motorists in downtown Belleville.

It ended free Wednesday afternoon parking at city meters.

The custom likely dates from the days when Wednesday was early-closing day for city executive — then totally centred downtown.

Two weeks ago council approved a request from Belleville PsyFaing Authority to enforce parking meter charges on Wednesday afternoons.

Monday, it gave three readings to the necessary amending bylaw formally ending the custom.

In Opposition

Extension of Victoria Ave. widening plan drew opposition before city council from Dr. Paul Knutson Monday night. He suggested future trends caused by energy situation might see less use of automobiles.

Concern Questioned

Supreme-kets weren't the only source for criticism from Ald. Joe Cox Monday as he won city council support for provincial government action against Sunday openings.

The councillor also indicated he felt some objection to the lack of outspoken support against Sunday openings by business — a barb apparently inspired by letters to council on the topic.

On council's agenda Monday were five letters — mainly from church groups, including the Belleville Ministerial Association.

Ald. Cox indicated he would have preferred the issue had also drawn delegations to city hall.

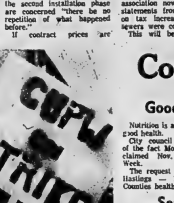
"I feel very disappointed in one respect," he said.

The concern of groups about the issue "could be better written down on a piece of paper."

"But it takes a bit of effort to come down before council, present you-self — and let people know how you feel."

CUPW on Strike

Hands stuck deep into pockets against the morning chill, a Belleville Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) picketer paces on Church Street behind the city post office early today, the first day of a nationwide strike by inside postal workers. The 45 workers in Belleville were called out at 6 a.m. today by union negotiators in Ottawa to protest government negotiating tactics.



City Begins Moves To Help Crippled

A plea to enlist local government aid to expand the mobility of disabled persons in Belleville drew no immediate action from city council Monday night.

The problem is multi-faceted — involving public transportation, sidewalk designs and ramp access to schools and buildings.

In a letter to council last month, Irene Sansom, director of the Cheshire Home for handicapped adults, said disabled people are "frustrated" but resigned to being forgiven when public funds are involved in solving their problems.

City manager Wilbur Purcell told council the city facility already had acted in one area. During reconstruction of the southend of Victoria Ave., sidewalk ramps —to facilitate wheel chairs — were included for the first time in city road plans. It's expected such provisions will be continued in future.

Providing ramps in buildings "seems to rest with the upcoming Ontario Building Code, indicated Mr. Purcell.

However, the first outline of the code does not include any mandatory requirements for the physically handicapped — although the draft is not necessarily the final form the regulations will take.

He proposed that requests about transportation and access to schools be referred to the Belleville Transit Commission and local school boards.

Resident Questions Need For Street Widening

Future transportation trends — dictated by energy crisis problems — should cause city hall to rethink plans for broadening Victoria Ave.

It was among suggestions presented for city council's consideration Monday by Victoria resident Dr. Paul Knutson, city dentist.

The avenue already has been widened to cope with four-lane traffic to the south as William St. Plans for extending the reconstruction north to Macdonald Ave. already have been processed — although council Monday heads having city hall discuss the project with householders along the route before the project is finalized.

But Dr. Knutson said the road's widening is planned for to 30 years ahead of the traffic volume that would warrant such reconstruction.

Future energy problems could also see not only smaller cars, but fewer of them in use, he said.

He said he did not agree that "the ubiquitous automobile" should take precedence over the aesthetics and beauty of a street.

Dr Knutson also called reconstruction of Victoria to date — as far as William — "completely bad planning" as it includes, a 15-foot-wide boulevard filled the curb to the sidewalk which in effect be said had become a waste strip.

His appeal came as city council was asked to consider approval in principle for the second phase of reconstruction and call a public meeting to discuss details with Victoria residents.

Railway Signals Promised

City council will consider safety measures at two railroad level-crossings in south Belleville next year.

The crossing — on the Canadian Pacific line at Mary and Sidney streets — was prompted complaints to city hall.

The reason: Since they're unprotected by signals approaching trains must sound warning whistles — and this has led to noise problems.

Council moved toward a solution when it agreed with Mayor Ben Corke that "we plan in 1976 to put proper signals" at both sites.

Land Purchase May End Construction Stalemate

A Belleville developer has moved to solve an apartment project problem on which city council has refused to budge for the past month.

Maurice H. Rollins Construction Ltd. had been seeking approval to continue developing two 41-plex units on Elgin St.—after it was discovered the rear yards were about 10 feet short of the 25-foot space demanded by zoning regulations.

Work already had "started when the shortage was discovered and the developer sought permission for a minor variance from council's committee of adjustment.

Council ordered no action by the committee until it heard from Quinte Planning Board (QPB) officials.

The matter was back before council Monday.

But Ald. Joe Cox, chairman of council's subordinate planning advisory committee, told his colleagues the developer now wanted the application withdrawn. Additional property had been purchased from adjoining owners.

Centre Gets Grant

MELROSE — Tyendinaga Township council has received a provincial government grant of $1,196 toward costs of improvements to the Melrose Community Hall.

The grant represents 25 per cent of the cost of plumbing, kitchen and other improvements.

The cheque was presented by Charles Rollins, MPP Hastings-Peterborough.

Inquest Ordered

A coroner's inquest will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in Hastings County Court House into the deaths by electrocution of two pipelayers working at Constellation Carpet.

The two men were killed in an electrical explosion Feb. 21 while working at the Belleville plant.

Kingston coroner Dr. C. Meyer will conduct the proceedings.

Hawkins Accepts New Post

The Hastings County Board of Education is losing its 44-year-old chairman — Ald. Ralph Keith Hawkins to the Greater Victoria School Board in British Columbia.

A key figure in the board's administrative council, Mr. Hawkins made his resignation official Monday to become the assistant superintendent of construction and maintainance with the British Columbia school board.

Married with four children, Mr. Hawkins has been with the Hastings board since February, 1971. Prior to this he was with the Frontenac County Board of Education working out of Kingston.

Director of education Eric Donovan said Monday the board regrets losing Mr. Hawkins. He said Mr. Hawkins has been a great asset to the board's limited and often frustrated building program due to provincial spending criteria which have restricted growth.

Shooting Brings Inquest

BROCKVILLE — An inquest into the shooting death of a 16-year-old La Salle, Que., youth by a Ontario provincial police constable Oct. 10 will be held here Oct. 28, Dr. Meyer Nov. 15.

A provincial police spokesman from Toronto said today it will look into the death of Salvatore Strazzullo, 16.

The youth was shot while an unidentified OPP constable was investigating a car park call on the shoulder of Highway 401, east of Gananoque.

Council Briefs

Good Nutrition Endorsed

Nutrition is a fundamental of good health.

City council was reminded of the fact Monday as it proclaimed Nov. 3-9 Nutrition Week.

The request came from the Hastings — Prince Edward Counties health unit.

Services Under Study

Need of a new industry for access in the city's northwest industrial park, received first-step approval by city council Monday.

Council agreed to engineering survey for construction of a sanitary sewer, watermain and roadway on a portion of the south from Bell Blvd. But cost estimates must be submitted to council before there's any further move.

The request came from the Belleville Economic Development Commission which said a new industry, Tri-Glass Ltd., needs access to the cold-de-sac for goods transportation.

Courts Get Lights

City council Monday approved floodlighting of tennis courts — at Dick Ellis rink after the facilities have closed for the year.

But the timing wasn't as inappropriate as it seemed — for council will postpone both bids as decided to split the project in two phases.

why lighting was needed in October.

City manager Wilbur Purcell said if the facility had to be re-advertised this next year's finances the 1976 tennis season would be well underway before the approval process was complete.

Sewer Contract Let

City council Monday formally sanctioned a tender which has saved Hillcrest Ave. a stretch of the East Dundas St. road reconstruction project.

Earlier this year council — faced with prospects high bids — decided to split the project in two phases.

Council awarded the sewer contract to Korsan Ltd. of Belleville.

While the lowest bid was still 15 per cent over engineering estimates, there would be savings on various parts of the project amounting to about $37,800.

Tender Below Estimate

Construction of a road and sanitary sewer system in the city's northeast industrial park will cost $122,000 more than $30,000 over engineering estimates.

That was the total of the tender approved Monday night by city council—a bid entered by Korsan Ltd. of Cobourg.

It was the lowest of seven bids ranging up to $169,900.

Engineering estimate for the work was $153,000—for construction of a pumping station and forcemain servicing a recently-acquired industry—Fabricon.

Pay Cheque More Often

City councillors will receive their civic salaries more frequently.

The mayor — who four years ago as a councillor had four-times-a-year pay-ments introduced — said a system of monthly allowances now "seems only realistic!"

instead of the current three months.

The mayor who four years ago as a councillor had four-times-a-year payments introduced — said a system of monthly allowances now "seems only realistic!"

Disposal Plan Studied

A provincial government study will examine the possibility of a processing plant in Belleville — Trenton area for disposal of solid wastes.

City council learned of the proposal Monday as its participation was sought in the study — commissioned by the environment ministry's resource recovery branch.

The study will examine the most effective means of handling solid wastes in the Quinte — Thousand Islands corridor — extending from Trenton to Gananoque.

Included is the feasibility a wastes recovery plant.

Location of such a facility in Kingston — serving the entire corridor — already has been proposed.

But the study also will examine siting an additional plant in the Belleville-Trenton area.

Two Quinte - area, waste disposal studies already exist and will be incorporated into the provincial scrutiny contracted to consultants.

Driver Charged

STIRLING — A Trenton man has been charged with careless driving following a single-car crash on Ridge Rd., 1.5 miles east of Stirling at 3 a.m. Tuesday.

Charged is Harvey Greavais, 36, of Trenton.

Police say the Greavais car went out of control and crashed into the ditch at the roadside causing an estimated $200 damage to the vehicle. There were no injuries.

Diversity Often Key to Small Operator's Success

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

"To get in to small business you have to be able to gamble your savings and obtain the financial and moral blessings of your wife.

Merv Ryder, vice-president of the Ontario Society of Registered Industrial Accountants made the comment Monday while explaining the procedures of opening a small business in Ontario.

"You have to want to get into business because you love it and you have to be able to get your wife to sign the papers before a bank will give a loan," he said.

She has equally in the house and the situation is very bad if you don't, and she isn't about your business idea, you won't be able to convince the bank manager," he said.

Quoting federal statistics, Mr. Ryder — an accountant and owner of a building company — said 80 per cent of Canadian businesses employ less than 100 persons or "more than half the Canadian work force is employed by the small businessman."

If you're not prepared to gamble, then don't start a business, said Mr. Ryder. "You have to have a lot of desire to be the one person in charge or "pull lose everything."

He said a major weakness of small business is the specialized knowledge only human one facet of business management.

Speaking at a meeting of local industrial accountants, he advised anyone in the room interested in starting a business to first find himself an accountant.

"So many people try business single handed though their skills are limited to one area," he said. "The lack of diversity will lead to the failure of business."

Versatility Required

Merv Ryder, vice-president of the Ontario chapter of registered industrial accountants, talks with local chapter president Fred Abrams about the complexity of small business. One of the biggest reasons for small business failures is the operator's knowledge is often limited to only one area of management, said Mr. Ryder at a Monday supper meeting.

Corrigall, Baker Nominated in 3 Categories

JIM CORRIGALL

MONTREAL (CP) — Defensive ends Jim Corrigall of Toronto Argonauts and Bill Baker of British Columbia Lions monopolies their club's nominations for Canadian Schenley Football Awards, recognizing top performers in the Canadian Football League.

Corrigall is the Argonauts nominee for three awards—most outstanding player, Canadian player of the year and defensive player of the year. Baker was nominated for the same awards from the Lions.

The first-round selections, announced today, were made by 96 sportswriters and broadcasters in the nine CFL cities.

Second-round balloting to be announced Oct. 30, will reduce the nominees to one from each of the Eastern and Western Football Conferences in each of he five categories.

Terry Shehan, as offensive lineman of the year, and wide receiver L. J. Clayton, as top rookie, cracked Corrigalls monopoly on Toronto nominations, while Layne McDowell in the offensive lineman category and linebacker Larry Cameron in the rookie balloting are other Lions in line for awards.

In the outstanding player competition with Corrigall and Baker are two fullback winners, Flanker and defensive back Garney Hensley of Hamilton Tiger-Cats and wide receiver George McGowan of Edmonton Eskimos, along with wide receiver and running back Johnny Rodgers of Montreal Alouettes, last year's runner-up.

Henley, who will retire after this season to take up coaching at the college level, won in 1972, while McGowan was the 1973 winner. Rodgers lost out to Edmonton quarterback Tom Wilkinson in last year's final.

Others nominated from their respective clubs as outstanding players are running back Art Green of Ottawa Rough Riders, offensive back Tom Campana of running back Willie Burden of Calgary Stampeders and running back Steve Resinf of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, also a rookie nominee.

Other top Canadian hopefuls are tight end Peter Dalla Riva of Montreal, runner-receiver of Jim Foley of Ottawa, wide receiver Terry Evanshen of Hamilton, centre Bob Swift of Winnipeg, defensive back Ted Dushinski of Saskatchewan, wide receiver Tom Forzani of Calgary and John Konihowski of Edmonton, a former track star turned pass catcher.

Offensive lineman candidates include Dave Braggins of Montreal, Tom Schuette of Ottawa, Ed Chalupka of Hamilton, Bill Frank of Winnipeg, Gary Cesarz of Saskatchewan, Mac Cain, Huber from the Stampeders and Charlie Turner of Edmonton.

Up for defensive player honors with Corrigall and Baker are tackle Glen Weir of the Alouettes, halfback Rod Woodward of Ottawa, tackle Mike Samples of Hamilton, halfback Brian Heredian of Winnipeg, tackles Tim Roth of Saskatchewan and John Hilton of Calgary and end Ron Estay of the Eskimos.

Rookie nominees with Clayton, Cameron and Resinf are wide receiver Jeff Avery of Montreal, quarterback Tom Clements of Ottawa, running back Angelo Santucci of the Tiger-Cats, defensive end Jesse O'Neal of Saskatchewan, halfback Vernon Roberson of Calgary and defensive back Pete Lavorato of Edmonton.

Record Book Under Attack

TORONTO (CP) — Records were made to be broken, and the Canadian Football League is no exception. League officials, in statistics released Monday, said the record book never has been under the siege it faces this year, particularly during the final two weeks of the season.

For instance:

—Willie Burden, Calgary, needs only 240 yards in the Stampeders final two games to erase Earl Lunsford's one-season rushing record of 1,390 yards set in 1961 when Winnipeg current general manager was galloping with the Lions.

—George McGowan, Edmonton Eskimos, needs 12 receptions to pass Terry Evanshen's one-season record of 96 catches. But the Hamilton Tiats receivers one-season record for reception mark of 17—a mark he shares with Hugh Campbell—appears safe with Evanshen the closest, with 12.

—Dave Cutler, Edmonton kicker, needs four points to pass former Tiger-Cat Tommy Joe Coffey's season record of 148.

—Saskatchewan Roughriders' George Reed, with one game to play, has 111 yards to break season record of rushing plays (203 in 1967) with Mtl. 72 added to his own career total of touchdowns (128) with 127; and has beaten his own career record of 100-yard rushing games, seven to nine for a total of 68.

Other notable achievements in the CFL this year:

—Art Green, Ottawa Rough Riders running back, has 13 touchdowns this year, best in the East since Vic Washington had 14 with Ottawa in 1969, and his 78 TDs by running is the best since George Dixon ran for 11 major scores with Montreal Alouettes in 1962.

—While Montreal's Johnny Rodgers was the only player to pass 1,000 in pass catches in 1974, two Western Conference players already are well into the four-figure mark with three others threatening to break into the area. McGowan (1,229 yards) and Saskatchewan's Rhett Dawson (1,122) are already.

Buffalo Streak Ends On Late Field Goal

BUFFALO (AP) — Steady John Leypoldt missed and unsteady George Hunt did not.

So New York Giants came away with a 17-17 tie National Football League victory over Buffalo Bills, a two-touchdown favorite going into Monday night's game.

Hunt, a fourth-year New York pro booted a field goal from 22 yards with nine seconds on the clock and the Bills suffered their first tie of the season after four victories.

It was the Giants' second triumph against three losses.

Buffalos Leypoldt, who made good on his three field goal attempts in earlier games, blew a 19-yard effort with 3:48 remaining in the fourth period. The score was tied at 14-14 at the time.

Fw Hunt, who went into the game with only one three-point success in three tries and who kicked one example against the Bills, his game-winner reminded him of his football days at the University of Tennessee.

"I kicked one with 12 seconds left against South Carolina that put us in the Sugar Bowl," Hunt said. "But this was great, coming on a Monday night and in the pros."

Pressure, as he lined up to kick?

No way, said Hunt, explaining that a miss would have sent the game into overtime.

Buffalos Joe Ferguson had a 144 lead, getting his first touchdown on O.J. Simpson's one-yard sprint to his right.

Then, after Buffalo's second TD on a 15-yard pass from Joe Ferguson to J. D. Hill in the second period, the Giants began to roll. Their offensive line continually beat the Bills defensive front four and quarterback Craig Morton picked the Buffalo secondary apart.

An eight-play sequence ended with Morton's 30-yard scoring pass to Ray Rhodes in the first minute.

The Giants continued to stymie the Bills and in the fourth quarter they knotted the game when Ron Johnson, who carried 15 times for 77 yards scored on a 15-yard run.

Simpson, who went into the game with 897 yards rushing, carried 34 times for 136 yards. He was in any of five games this year.

Ashe Falls to Laver

HILTON HEAD, S.C. (AP) — 6-4, 7-6 in the second match of the five-day, $15,000 World Championship Tennis tournament.

Laver jumped to a 5-1 lead in the first set before Ashe could come back to make it 5-4. Both players held serve before Laver finally closed the set at 6-4.

Condition Critical Ticat Fights to Live

CALGARY (CP) — Pofessional football player Tom Pate continued his fight to remain alive early today, more than 48 hours after he collapsed during a Canadian Football League game between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Calgary Stampeders.

A spokesman at Foothills Hospital, which has not yet issued a full medical bulletin giving details of what caused the collapse, would only say that his condition remains very critical and unchanged.

Pate, a 23-year-old import rookie linebacker from University of Nebraska, collapsed after taking a clean block from Calgary back Dick Gallon during the Ticats' 23-23 victory Saturday night. The six-foot-three, 240-pounder remained in a coma early today with his parents at his bedside.

There have been no official reports of injuries linking the block in the collapse. Stampeder general manager Gary Hobson said he had received a medical opinion that Pate suffered "a severe concussion, combined in a blood vessel—and that the sudden collapse might not have been caused by the block.

A Ticat team spokesman said Sunday that Pate was not expected to live, but there has been no indication from doctors a fleece of his chances for survival.

Dr. Jim Charters, a Hamilton team doctor, confirmed reports from Pate's team-mates that he had been suffering from severe headaches in recent weeks. He added there is no evidence linking the block with the headaches.

Flyers' Bobby Clarke Gets Best Start Ever

MONTREAL (CP) — Team captain Bobby Clarke of Philadelphia Flyers moved into the lead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race last week, statistics released Monday show.

Clarke now has five goals and nine assists for 14 points, one more than Trottier Perreault of Buffalo Sabres. Perreault has four goals and nine assists.

Third spot is held down by Guy Lafleur of Montreal Canadiens with six goals and six assists with Bryan Trottier of New York Islanders, Marcel Dionne of Los Angeles Kings and Jean Ratelle of New York Rangers all tied for fourth with 11 points. Trottier, a rookie, and Dionne, acquired in a trade from Detroit Red Wings, each have five goals and six assists while Ratelle has three goals and eight assists.

Clarke, off to the best start in his seven-year NHL career, now has 311 points—81 goals and 230 assists—in the 470 games he has played. He scored his 300th point in the second game of the season and 400th of his career.

Only two players in NHL history have earned 500 points in regular-season play: former Boston Bruin Phil Esposito and Jean Beliveau of Montreal.

Orr took only 396 games to reach the 200 mark while Beliveau, the former Montreal team captain, gained his 300th point in his 434th game.

Meanwhile, the New York Islanders goaltending duo of Billy Smith and Glenn Resch have the best goals-against average—2.00—on 12 goals against in six games. Each of them has recorded one shutout.

Bryan Watson, the veteran Detroit defenceman, leads the penalty parade with 34 minutes.

The 19-year-old right winger has picked up six goals as the high-flying Nordiques averaged 5.25 goals a game in four outings.

Three assists give the youngster, selected in the amateur draft as an exceptional junior by the Nordiques two years ago, nine points and a share of the lead in the individual scoring derby with teammate Serge Bernier and Ulf Nilsson of Winnipeg Jets.

Cloutier and Norm Ullman, a 20-year National Hockey League veteran who jumped to the WHA's Edmonton Oilers this season, had the most productive week in league statistics announced Monday.

Terriers Outlast Lancers

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Orillia Terriers scored two goals in the last two minutes to defeat Lindsay Midtown Lancers 5-3 in the only Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game Monday.

George Co ncil opened the scoring for Lindsay in the first minute of play. But Bob Pate reptied with goals for Orillia at 5-42 and 17:29 to give Orillia a 2-1 lead at the end of the first.

Colin Gordon put Orillia ahead 3-1 at 5:22 of the second period. Lorne O'Donnell replied for the Lancers at 15:19, giving Orillia a 3-2 lead at the end of two periods.

Canada Gets Kick from Joyce

MEXICO CITY (AP) — When Joyce Yakubowich won her first Pan-American gold medal in the 400 meter, she explained that she ires to run fast at the start because she lacks a good finishing kick.

On Monday, running the anchor leg of the 1,600-metre relay, she showed her own form chart by blazing down the stretch to overtake Cheryl Weston of the United States and topvive the U.S. of a sweep of the four relay events.

"I just raw the tape and decided it was no time to fool around," the 23-year-old Victoria student said afterwards.

Three o'her Canadians, two of them defending champions, mounded the victory rostrum during the day as the team accepted a total of 15 medals in six different sports.

Jocelyn Lovell of Toronto broke his own Games record as he cycled to his second consecutive triumph in the 1,000-metre time trial and Christine Bovien of Cedar Valley, Ont., rode to a repeat victory in individual dressage.

Lise Chenard of Quebec City interrupted a string of U.S. victories in the Pan-Am pool by winning the women's 100-metre backstroke, erasing the Games record set four years ago by Donna Marie Gurr of Vancouver.

For the third consecutive day, athletes dominated the Games, winning 12 of the 19 gold medals available and settling for no less than a bronze in the other seven events.

They took six of the eight on the final day of the track and field program and six of seven in swimming and diving, plus silver medals in the water polo tournament, dressage, the women's backstroke and 1,600 relay and the marathon.

The Canadian foil team of Donna Hennyey of Toronto, Susan Stewart of Vancouver and Fleurette Campeau and Charlie Gilbert-Payer of Montreal won Canada's first fencing medal, a silver, as Cuba continued its string of successes in the sport.

The only other Cuban gold medal came in the marathon, as Rigoberto Mendoza outlasted Charles Smead of the U.S. and Tom Howard of Vancouver in what the 37-year-old Canadian described as the toughest race of his career.

That left the Americans with 59 gold medals to 34 for Cuba and 14 for Canada.

The Canadian pair of Laura Wilkin and Carol Smart of Calgary won a silver medal in synchronized swimming, Ottawa's pole-vaulter Bruce Simpson finished second behind Earl Bell of the U.S. and the Canadians chased the American home in the 400-metre freestyle relay.

Both silver and bronze went to Canada in the women's 200-metre freestyle as Gail Amundrud of Vancouver and Anne Jardin of Pointe Claire, Que., both broke the Games record as they finished behind Kim Peyton of the U.S.

Marion Stuart of Montreal won a battle for a bronze over Joann Baker of Thunder Bay, Ont., who finished fourth, in the women's 100-meter breast-stroke.

There were also three Canadian runners in track relays. Mrs. Hnbubowich, pressed into double duty along with Joanne McTaggart of Saskatoon, ran another strong anchor leg in the women's 400 and Don Domansky of Thunder Bay, a 29-year-old veteran of four years of international competition, ran the closing leg of the men's 1,600.

Mexico and Cuba were first and second in all three races.

Canada's relay teams broke Canadian records.

Mrs. Yakubowich, coughing constantly after her second race of the day, said she did not dare take medicines for fear of being ruled ineligible to compete, as was Jean Wenzel of Waterloo, Ont., who had to bow out of the 1,600 relay after doctors got a severe cold. She was replaced by Miss McTaggart.

The cough didn't affect my running," said Mrs. Yakubowich.

Canadas best chance for a medal in team sports was in field hockey as the Canadians played to a 2-2 draw with Argentina Monday in what experts described as a great exhibition of the sport.

Both teams are unbeaten with one round remaining in the seven-county tournament with the two four teams playing for the medals when the final preliminary schedule ends. The Canadians have two draws in the Argentines' one.

The Canadian team scored its first victory in the final game of the water polo competition, defeating Puerto Rico 10-4 to finish fourth among the five contestants.

The baseball team was beaten 7-3 by Mexico and both basketball teams lost, the men being beaten 84-75 by the United States and the women 78-74 by Mexico.

Both volleyball teams also suffered defeats, the men losing to the U.S. and the women to Mexico.

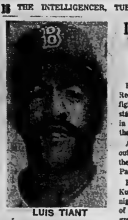
Can Tiant Keep Red Sox Alive?



LUIS TIANT

BOSTON (AP) — Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox stop fighting the rain tonight, and start fighting each other again, in a long-awaited sixth game of the World Series.

After three consecutive rainouts, all systems were go for the delayed contest at Fenway Park.

Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who called off Monday night's scheduled game because of a slippery field, gave the green light for tonight with the optimistic assurance that "the field will be much better."

The weather was expected to be better than it has been in recent days. Fenway Park, under siege by a long-winded storm since last Friday night, reopened under the tender care of a "lawn doctor," groundskeeper Joe Mooney, and was expected to be healthy again. They almost played Monday night—and would have except that Kuhn wasn't entirely happy

BOWIE KUHN

"The field is not suitable for a World Series game of such importance," Kuhn flatly said.

Although Fenway Park's drainage is reputed to be among the best in baseball, the outfield was a carpet of water. The park's ground crew drove a senior crew the watery outfield grass in an attempt to dry it out. Apparently they weren't very successful.

The rainout tied an unditsy-established Series record. In 1962, San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees also had a game postponed three times by rain. Ironically, it was also the sixth game.

For the second day in a row, Anderson took his National League champions to a gymnasium on the Tufts campus.

The continued postponement didn't change Anderson's pitching plans. He stayed with Gary Nolan as his starter in Game No. 6 and Don Gullett for the seventh game, if necessary.

Nolan will face Luis Tiant, the ace of the Boston staff who owns the only two Red Sox victories in this series so far. The Reds, holding a 3-1 edge, can finish off Boston with a victory tonight — and carry their first world championship since 1940.

The Red Sox, many of them hurt by key colds because of the weather, hoped to stave off elimination and prolong the Series until Wednesday.

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — The Tanzania Athletic Association has accepted an invitation to send long distance star Filbert Bayi to New Zealand in January for a series of four meets where he is expected to go against New Zealand ace John Walker. Walker clipped one-tenth of a second off Bayi's world record for the mile last August. Bayi still holds the 1,500-metre mark.

Royal York Hot

TORONTO (CP) — Ernie Teleschi and Phil Swain each scored two goals to lead Royal York Royals to a 9-4 victory over North Bay Trappers in the only Ontario Hockey Association Provincial Junior A game Monday.

The Royals trailed 3-1 at the end of the first period but led 6-4 after the second. Royal York scored three unanswered goals in the final period.

The loss was the second in as many nights for the Trappers, who were defeated by the Weston Dodgers in North Bay on Sunday.

Al McRae, Ron Larose, Dan D'Aviter, Dave Bliss and Mark Todd scored the other goals for the Royals.

North Bay goals were by Tom Diggles, Ron Furtier, Gerry Blouz and Jim Fox.

GIVEN PGA POST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joe Schwendeman has been named to the newly-created position of director of communications for the Professional Golfers' Association tour, commissioner Deane Beman announced Monday. Schwendeman worked as a newspaper man in Philadelphia for 22 years, then was public information director and executive secretary of the PGA Tournament Players Division. Most recently, he has been editor of the U.S. Golf Associations Golf Journal magazine.

Seven Top $100,000

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With three races left on the 1975 Grand National circuit, seven drivers have won more than $100,000 in National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing competition this year.

Cale Yarborough scored his third 1975 victory in the American 500 at Rockingham, N.C., Sunday, running his money winnings to $115,880. Dave Marcis, third in the race, moved into the same rich neighborhood with $108,225.

Five racers previously had reached that plateau. The year's leader, Richard Petty, has won $250,250 so far. Others in six figures are David Pearson, $154,725; Bobby Allison, $116,685; Buddy Baker, $114,060, and Benny Parsons, $115,000.

ABA Looking to NBA After Losing Claws

NEW YORK (AP) — American Basketball Association owners, in a move they said will bolster the sport's weakening financial status, moved Monday to join the National Basketball Association after burying another ABA economy's victims—Baltimore Claws.

Owners of the seven other ABA clubs joined New York Nets and Denver Rockets in requesting applications for membership in the NBA beginning in the 1976-77 season. New York and Denver had done so on Sept. 24.

"Merger is the wrong word," said an ABA spokesman. "We're forbidden from merging, legally, without consent of the NBA players association and the courts."

Indeed, the courts appear to hold the key to the sport's future. Separate telegrams sent by each remaining ABA club to NBA commissioner Larry O'Brien said, in part: "If the NBA has interest in considering application, we would like for the NBA to join with us in petitioning Judge (Robert L.) Carter for permission to process an application under such circumstances as may deem appropriate and consistent with his prior orders."

Those orders include prohibition of any merger between leagues not approved by Judge Carter and the NBA Players Association, which is involved in anti-trust action to prevent such a merger. While not calling it a merger attempt, New York Nets' Owner Roy Boe made clear his feelings on the matter.

"The key to the survival of basketball is to be one league," he said. "Anybody who understands what's happening in basketball realizes the sport is in a serious situation and that we need consolidation to survive."

That point probably is clearest to personnel of Baltimore Claws, who fade into ignominy without ever having played a season game. The club's remains—the players—will be redistributed through a dispersal draft.

Hamilton Is Sharp

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Mountain Junior A's won their second game in two nights, defeating Niagara Falls Flyers 4-3 in the only Southern Ontario Junior Hockey League game Monday.

Hamilton edged Owen Sound Greys 6-5 Sunday.

On Monday, Hamilton goals came from Bill Reilly, Mike Richardson, Dave Brazel and Rocki Smith.

Connie Marcotte scored the Niagara Falls goals.

Montreal Tops Laval

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Juniors ran up a 5-0 lead and two periods and defeated Laval Nationals 6-1 in the only Quebec Major Junior Hockey League game Monday night.

Kevin Reeves and Richard Sweek gave 3-0 first-period lead and Montreal's Jean Savard scored the only goal of the second session. Richard Jarry replied for Laval at 7:31 of the final period before Mike McDougall fired an insurance marker at 16:06.

World Entertainment Briefs

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Paramount Pictures is suing director Elaine May for $4.3 million, claiming she is trying to do too much with a film they financed for her.

Not only did Miss May write, direct and produce the film Mickey and Nicky, but she now is also planning to release it on her own without Paramount, the company claimed in a suit filed Monday in Manhattan Supreme Court.

Justice Irving Kirschenbaum signed an order prohibiting Miss May from removing the film from its present location or tampering with it in any way pending the outcome of the suit.

The company said Miss May went over cost making the film and demanded $150,000 more to finish it. When the company refused, she accused it of breaching the agreement and abandoning production.

LOS ANGELES (Reuter) — The Improvisation Club, a long-established proving ground for theatrical talent in New York, has opened a new club in Los Angeles to provide a showcase for television and movie talent here.

The club invites performers to come up from the audience and try their acts on its bare stage.

Budd Friedman, owner of both clubs, says of the Los Angeles club: "With most of the television shows now shifted from New York to Los Angeles, this town desperately needed a club like this."

Among the performers who first performed at the New York improvisation were Liza Minelli, Lily Tomlin, Dustin Hoffman, Dick Cavett and Freddie Prinze.

LONDON (AP) — Model, actress and singer Twiggy will marry American actor Michael Whitney as soon as his divorce is made final, Whitney announced Monday at a party launching the autobiography of Leslie Hornby, Twiggy's real name.

Whitney, 38, said he has been the 26-year-old British model's "constant companion" for many months.

ROME (AP) — Roberto Rossellini director of Open City and other Italian films, says dwindling cinema audiences not more social deviance—is the penalty for the current wave of film violence and pornography.

Rossellini's remarks came Monday in an open letter to the leftist newspaper Paese Sera about the current "chronic controversy over violence, pornography, eroticism . . . spread by mass media, with the cinema at the head."

Rossellini, 69, currently is working on a film of Jesus Christ, portrayed as a social redeemer rather than as God.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Hugo Zacchini, the original Human Cannonball who was catapulted from circus cannons nearly four decades, died here Monday of a stroke. He was 77.

Zacchini, born in Peru, was traveling with his father's circus, the Zacchini Brothers Circus, when he originated the human Cannonball act on the Island of Malta in 1922.

He was injured many times due to early failures of the special cannon he built, but continued to perfect the act as he travelled around the world. He was awarded the Gold Medal for Bravery in Italy.

The cannon act was carried on by a son, Hugo Zacchini, and a nephew, Hugo Zacchini II. His son has not performed the act since 1969, but now is rebuilding the cannon.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Claiming an "artistic dispute" with director Jerrold Friedman, Century-Fox said Sunday it has cancelled shooting in Jackson, Miss., of a $2 million film on the life of the late Buddy Holly, the rock music pioneer.

John Friedkin, a Fox spokesman, said crews have returned to Los Angeles. He said Fox considers the movie, Fade Away to be "a personal project of Friedman," and therefore no consideration had been given to replacing him with another director.

Friedman said there were unconfirmed reports that the director was attempting to sell the film to another movie maker, something Friedkin said was not unprecedented.

He said the picture was a little less than one-third complete when production was stopped Thursday.

LONDON (Reuter) — In a small room in the shadow of London's famous Tower Bridge, the young Australian who made The Exorcist is directing another film about a girl having problems with the devil.

But despite the success of sequels to the Godfather and The French Connection, Peter Sykes is adamant that To The Devil . . . A Daughter is no Exorcist Two.

For his latest movie Sykes has his biggest budget to date—more than $100,000—and is working with his biggest star, Richard Widmark.

To The Devil . . . A Daughter—by Dennis Wheatley, the master thriller writer of novels so black magic—is about a young girl (Nastassia Kinski) whose father, a West German actor, signed a pact with the forces of the devil on the day she was christened. Now that she is 18, the other side wants the bargain fulfilled.

"Please, don't think I am making another exorcist," Sykes says. "I am only too aware of the fact that people will see it this way."

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Godfather director Francis Ford Coppola says he has signed Marlon Brando to work with him again in Apocalypse Now, Coppola's latest film.

Coppola made the announcement at the National Association of Theatre Owners award dinner Saturday night, as he was feted for Godfather and The Conversation.

Coppola also told the theatre owners he and screenwriter Robert Towne will collaborate on another production. The Brotherhood of the Grape.

Others at the awards dinner included actors Warren Beatty and George Burns who were honored, respectively, for their film work in Shampoo and the forthcoming The Star of Tomorrow, a screen version of the Neil Simon play The Sunshine Boys.

The movie will be the first screen role for the 79-year-old Burns since 1939.

"It's a good thing you didn't wait too long," Burns said, puffing a cigar, "or I might have been the Star of Yesterday."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A police chase near downtown Los Angeles ended Saturday in a crash at an intersection and an episode of Joe Forrester, the NBC-TV police series starring Lloyd Bridges, was being filmed.

Bridges and actor Richard Basehart had left the set five minutes before the crash.

Police said the vehicle was stolen late Friday in a high burglary area and police tried to stop the driver for questioning. They chased the car at speeds up to 100 miles an hour before it crashed into two police cars and a signal pole.

The camera lights were still on when the car sped into the intersection, and the crew turned the camera onto the crash scene.

Police said the 17-year-old driver of the car was injured and taken to hospital for treatment. He was later booked for investigation of drunken driving.

Bat At Home

PICTON — The United Church here may not exactly have bats in their belfry, but there is one making its home within the sanctuary of the building. A member of food attending th eSunday night service, featuring Rose Ria at the pipe organ, spotted the creature flapping its way across the church sanctuary.

According to one church member, the bat has been a long-time resident of the church and never bothers anyone, confining his activities to the ceiling area.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE REDE OSOL

For Wednesday, Oct. 12

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You deserve a night out. Invite your friends to call you. Take the initiative and you'll have fun.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It you wait till evening to shop you'll find exactly what you've been looking for. Selections and bargains will be best.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) After a quiet day, you'll receive some pleasant news to lighten you. Be prepared for an active evening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Follow any hunches or feelings you have today. They may take a little work to develop but they will lead to a faster pocketbook.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll enjoy being around people today. They'll think you're a fine person and will be anxious to cooperate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) What seems even to you to be luck will be your knack to engage in good sound reasoning today. You'll make only the right moves.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Friends will make good things happen for you today. Even if you have to work. Keep them posted. They'll bring you success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A change in your daily routine is the right course for you to take. Listen eagerly to others. They could furnish valuable clues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're fortunate today when you share with others. The more generous you are, the more you'll get back in the long run.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This evening is a good time to tackle do-it-yourself projects on the back burner. All will go smoothly. You'll accomplish what you set out to do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You would get the urge to socialize today. Keep in mind you won't have to look further than your mate for the best time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A quiet evening at home is going to feel great after the frantic activity of the past few days. Why not plan on it?

No Damage From Playpen Use

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a grandson, my son's first child. The other day he came to visit, and I was about to put the child in a playpen. My son told me he would not have it, that it might affect him psychologically.

I thought that was crazy. I had many children, and all of them played in a playpen and they could walk. It did not affect any of them.

We had a fight.

Are there physicians who are advising parents not to put children into playpens?—A.

You can find people (doctors included) who will object to anything.

There is nothing at all wrong with playpens. However, once a child has become accustomed to the "open playpen" he may rebel. It is wise to start playpen use rather early. When the child begins to walk, he will usually make it clear that he is ready for more adventurous surroundings.

Playpens should be placed in an open area where the child can receive action. The playpen will encourage first steps, since they are handy for pulling himself up.

I see no psychological damage. Ask your wife what effect his playpen months had on him. No reason to argue about it.

What I don't care for particularly are the harnesses to which some tots are tethered. I understand they are not in widespread use today and rightly so, dance. They seemed rather demeaning to children.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had a fungus under the toenails and have had the nails removed. I would like to know what to spray or place in the old shoes that I have been wearing to prevent my toes from getting infected again.—J.J.L.

With the nails removed, the focal point of the infection has been removed. The nails will grow back, so you should concentrate on providing as healthful an environment as you can for them.

Fungus thrives in a warm, moist climate. Develop the habit of changing socks, twice daily if you perspire greatly. Change your shoes frequently enough to allow one pair to dry out and air. Wash your feet daily and dry carefully between the toes, then dust with an anti-fungal powder. Don't go barefoot in the house.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it safe to drink city water without boiling? With all the pollution we hear about, I have started to collect rain water, and after boiling it, I store it in the fridge for drinking.

I have heard that boiling the water destroys the oxygen. What do you advise me regarding this plan?—Mrs. F.H.

Nineteen out, there's just as much oxygen in boiled water as in unboiled water.

Frankly, I think it seems to me you are going to a lot of trouble for nothing. Cities get a lot of bad mouthing these days, some of it justified. However, water in most cities is quite safe. Cities operate some of the most sophisticated water purifying systems around, and, in fact, many communities have their communities far out in the suburbs.

Your mode of collecting rain water is interesting. It could be a source of pollution itself, for while city water is safe, many atmospheric areas get bad marks in air pollution through which that rain must pass.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have some friendly who chew gum for hours on end every day. I have told them this will cause their faces to become more wrinkled. They don't believe me, but are anxious to hear your opinion.—A peculiar potion. No, chewing gum won't cause wrinkles. A.B.

Industry Fails Indian Reserve

ST. PAUL, Alta. (CP) — Three years ago, the Sun Creek on the Kehewin Indian Reserve, near this northeastern Alberta community, was considered a good call a halt to five generations of welfare subsistence.

Ninety-eight per cent of employable adults were working in construction projects a sawmill, a manufacturing plant and a broadly-based handicrafts industry.

Today, between 50 and 75 per cent of the 1,600 bands members return from payroll to welfare roll. The only vestiges of industry left on the reserve, 160 miles northeast of Edmonton, are scattered housing projects and a weaving factory employing a dozen women.

Those projects in 1972 were make-work projects. Chief Joe Dion said in an interview, "Any profitable businesses will create permanence.

He said the economic development program, funded by federal work-opportunity programs and Local Initiatives Programs (LIP), was wrong in principle, raised the hopes of the people.

"But it did employ most of them already on welfare," he said. "It did put them through the experience of earning money and spending it as they wished."

Chief Dion said the band management hasn't given up on development, but has simply changed its direction to more orderly, planned expansion.

To make sure another boom-and-bust will be avoided, the band has hired an Edmonton consulting firm to draw up an economic model for the reserve.

Chief Dion said future development will probably center on a steel-manufacturing operation. The building strength of its, erected when the band began making prefabricated garages. That program fell through because the end project proved too bulky to transport economically.

The new development program will also capitalize on the weaving business, Kehewin Industries Ltd., which is the only survivor of the Kehewin Tribal Handicrafts Association. The association was formed in 1972 with a $40 LIP grant to train about 40 women in weaving, sewing and tanning hides.

Crees-ware has received no Indian affairs department funding for the last year, and should become self-sufficient in assembly methods, manager Jake Krasnow said.

While a number of the residents have worked for a time in the construction of projects that the steel, weaving and tannery plants further building projects were unfeasible because of inadequate planning and skills, Chief Dion said.

However, he said, he is hopeful that more complete planning and long-term financing can result in the permanent employment of "every available man and woman."

GOING HUNGRY

LEICESTER, England (CP) — Children are going hungry in area schools because they are refused school meals, a recently published report says. The report blames the lack of free school dinners exist at 17 of the city's schools and blames over crowding for the difficulties.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

When you use the short club convention, you have several rules to follow. The first one is that you do not bid it when your distribution is anything except 4-4-3-2 or 4-3-3-3. The second is that you do not bid it when you only hold two clubs. The third is that you do not bid it when you hold four diamonds to an honor.

Another name for the short club is the junior notrump since it is used in the same way you have notrump distribution and are not too weak to open one notrump.

In general when you open a club with 4-3-3-3 distribution and your partner does not bid your suit you should rebid one notrump and conceal your four-card major. Thus, South rebids one notrump, not one spade.

This time it is all rather unimportant, North-South would reach three notrump on any bidding system and make an overtrick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Wisconsin lighter asks what you would do with:

♠ 10 7 2 ♥ 8 7 6 5 4 3 ♦ 10 5 4 3 2 ♣ —

after the bidding has gone four hearts — on your left.

One first suggestion is to give the hand to a blitzer. If you can't do that, you have to hope your partner will understand that a four notrump call asks him to bid a minor suit (when a three cardee) bid four notrump.

Otherwise, just say to yourself, "This is not my day," and pass.

Centurions Blast Way to Victory

Centre Hastings Junior Centurions made sure they were going to get a piece of the action when playoff time comes around. Monday night, in the only game played in the Bay of Quinte Football League, the Centurions rolled to a devastating 48-6 win over Bayside Red Devils.

The Centurions had been tied with Bayside and Napanee with two wins and four losses. Monday's encounter was the last of the regular season for both teams. Only the top six teams earn a berth in post-season action. There are only three games left in the regular schedule and one of those, Quinte at Napanee, will decide the sixth and final playoff spot. If Napanee wins that game, being played tonight in Napanee, they will make the playoffs. If the District School loses they'll be out by way of their loss to Bayside during the regular season despite the fact that both will have four points.

Kelly Welch was the big offensive star in Monday's game. The highflying tailback scored the first Madoc major and crossed the line three more times in the second half. He also broke for a trio of two point conversions giving him 28 points on the day.

While Welch was keeping the Devils off balance on the scoreboard, cornerback Greg Terrion was keeping a defensive onslaught that was knocking the wind out of the Red Devils offensive sailing.

Bayside only counted four first downs in the entire game and Terrion really broke things open when, in the first half, he ran back a Devils' fumble 45 yards for a TD. He was also credited with a single after a punt into the end zone.

Wayne Willemsen galloped up the middle for a 15 yard touchdown and Graham Gough counted the final Madoc major of the contest. Derek Pafford was credited with a single to round out the Centurion's attack.

Huskies Earn Tie

PORT PERRY (Special) — Frankford Huskies opened and closed the scoring here Sunday night as the visitors earned a 3-3 Ontario Hockey Association Junior 'C' tie with Port Perry Flamingos.

It took just 54 seconds for Huskies to get on the scoresheet. Rick Matheson was the early pioneer, finishing the play with Rob Arbuckle and Brian MacKinnon.

And MacKinnon shot the goal which would remain the only tally in points. Frankford goalie Jim Conley made a scoring play in motion, coming well out to clear the puck to MacIntosh who sailed with just over three minutes to play.

John Masterson and MacIntosh were two-goal shooters for Huskies. Matheson, Sandy Waterson and Rick Mossma had the others.

Carlow Camazzola was the big man for the home team. He looked after three Port Perry goals. Bernie Aldred picked up a pair of counters with one each for Dean Morgan and Bill Newton.

Conley was tested 39 times over the 60 minutes while his counterpart, Wayne Cordingly faced 36 shots. Port Perry drew 28 minutes in penalties, including a misconduct, to 27 minutes for Huskies, including three five-minute sentences.

Showing the effects of lack of practice time while they await ice-making operations in their home arena, Huskies' point was their first of the season after two setbacks.

Team manager Brian Cowell, attempting to get more action for his club, has arranged an exhibition game with Wellington's Junior D squad. Friday. The game will be played at Wellington, at 8:30 p.m.

Cowell hopes to get ice time in Madoc, Saturday, before Huskies make their next league start, in Bowmanville, Sunday night.

Huskies, missing Pat Presnell who is out with a shoulder injury, now have Jean Docetts on the shelf with a broken toe.

Two Tough Tests

The Loyalist College Lancers men's basketball team played a pair of exhibition games on the weekend and although they dropped both games the rookie ladies team is gaining valuable experience for the upcoming season.

"We're playing very tough teams," noted Loyalist coach Rob Stinson.

The Lancers took on Niagara College of Welland on Friday, coming up with a respectable finish while losing 72-53. Dave Calmer led the charge for the Lancers hooping 21 points. Calmer is one of the few Veteran players on the Lancer list club. Ken Fairbanks was the only other Lancer player to break into double figures, picking up 12 points in the game.

Things did not go so well in the game at Hamilton as Mohawk College, termed by Stinson as "the team to beat" rolled over the Lancers 120-50. Mike Lynch and Jim Belfall did the most damage for the losers, picking up 14 and 11 points respectively.

The Loyalist club still has several pre-season games including a contest this Friday evening at Loyalist, when the Centennial College team from Toronto will supply the opposition.

Boosters Organize

With the Metro Junior B season well-under way and the Belleville Bobcats apparently on their way to one of their more successful seasons, things are also shaping up in the form of a booster club.

The club will hold its organization meeting Wednesday evening at Memorial Arena at 8 p.m. Organizers hope to be able to organize buses for the out of town games as in previous season.

Quinte Takes Soccer Title

NEWMARKET (Special) — Bay of Quinte Area high school soccer teams proved their worth on Sunday at the 10th annual All Ontario Invitational Soccer Tournament here.

Quinte Secondary School took the "C" Division Championship while Belleville Collegiate Institute captured the "D" Division Consolation Championship.

All in all the Bay of Quinte teams managed eight victories in 11 games, an impressive showing considering the magnitude of the tournament.

In "D" Division play, Belleville Collegiate defeated Frontenac in their first game, losing a fourth one 3-1. After that the BCI team took a convincing 3-1 win from Cambridge. In the match for the "D" Consolation Championship BCI came out ahead over Toronto, 2-1. Randy Donovan and Dave Archer posted the goals for the winners. Danny Smith was a stand-out for the Belleville team in goal.

Going to "E" Division competition the Quinte Saints swept all three of their matches. First it was 3-1 then a convincing 3-0 win over the host, Newmarket. In the final, Quinte came up with a big game to defeat London 1-0. Paul D'Anna scored the game winner, with Danny Ying taking the shutout.

In the "F" Division, Bayside Secondary School defeated Orillia 2-0 and Gravenhurst 1-0 before being knocked out of the tournament in a 1-0 loss to Weston.

In the "G" Division Brighton defeated Thorold by default and then tied Burlington 0-0. Burlington won on penalty shots.

"It was some of the best soccer in high school competition I've ever seen" said BCI coach Dave Handley.

High scorers in the tournament were, Dave Archer of BCI with three goals and an assist for four points. Paul D'Anna and Taso Christopher both scored two goals at the tournament. Randy Donovan, Geoff Van Vliet and Mark Adair, all of BCI had one goal each. Sterling Wilson and Steve Edwards both contributed goals for Quinte.

The Bayside scorers were Ken Lemoire, John Vanlieren and Jim Brier, all with one marker.

Goalies Danny Ying and Rob Ritne each had two shutouts in the competition.

One of the reasons BCI did not go to a championship in the tournament was that in the first game the team was missing a number of regulars. Once the team was at full strength they had little trouble winning the Consolation Prize.

In the cheerleading competition at the tournament, which was won by Thistletown, Bayside scored a strong second while BCI ended up seventh.

Val Hopkins of Bayside coached the individual cheerleading contest.

Bob's, Chuckwagon on Top

Bob's Sports moved back into a first place tie with Chuckwagon Foods Monday when they bombed Jim's Sports 5-1 in Gas House Hockey League action. Both teams are still undefeated in three starts.

In two other games Monday night, Bel-Con Engineering and Constellation Carpets battled to a 2-2 tie while the Yardmen nipped Rollins Lumber 5-4.

Charlie Rowbotham earned his first hat trick of the season Monday in leading Bob's to their win. Ted Rowland added a pair of goals and Mike Coughlin and Frank Wilen rounded things out with one each. Dave Biddleton collected three assists.

Ted Bride replied for Jim's. Rob Foster gave Bel Con their third point of the young season as he fired both markers to keep them on an even keel with Constellation. Dale Caul and Greg Bellis were the scorers for the Carpetmen. It was Constellation's first point in three starts.

Tomorrow morning, the doors of the new Royal Bank branch in Belleville will open for the first time. To celebrate the opening of their new branch, Manager Luella MacKinnon and her friendly staff are holding an Open House. It's the perfect opportunity for you to drop in and meet Luella and her staff, and have a look around their new, modern premises.

But, if you can't make it to the Open House, drop in any time. Their branch is open on Monday to Thursday from 10:00 to 4:30; and Friday until 6:00. When you do visit, you'll find out why the Royal Bank is known as 'the helpful bank'.

Luella MacKinnon and her staff invite you for coffee and donuts on October 22nd, 23rd and 24th between 10:00 and 4:30 Wednesday and Thursday; and from 10:00 to 6:00 on Friday, at 210 Dundas Street, East.

Playoff Spots Up for Grabs

The Bay of Quinte High School Soccer league is nearing its regular season completion. Playoffs will soon be starting for the better teams in the league, with few playoff spots clinched as yet.

In recent action, Centennial Chargers defeated Albert College by a 7-0 score in senior West Division play. Trenton defeated Bayside by a 3-1 score to secure a play-off spot in the West Center Hastings moved up a few notches in the standings by defeating Moira "B" 3-2 in their match.

Lock didn't follow the Brighton team into their game against Quinte though, as they lost 6-1 to the Saints. Moira "A" had a field day against Napanee, defeating them 9-0 and dropping Napanee into the East Division cellar. Quinte then played BCI in a battle of the best, coming up short 2-1 in the contest.

Things are still very close in the East Division for the remaining games, with BCI on top with 19 points, followed by Quinte with nine and Moira "A" team, with seven.

In the West, Trenton is on top, followed by Bayside and Centennial. Trenton has 19 points and has clinched a playoff spot, as has Bayside.

In Junior play Trenton took a spanker from Bayside by a 4-3 score to move into second place in the West. BCI defeated Quinte 4-0 to clinch a playoff spot in the Eastern Conference, Moira took a 4-3 win from Napanee to move into second place in the East. Center - Hastings and Quinte tied 3-3 in Western Division Junior.

It looks like BCI has it all wrapped in the East, with Moira and Nicholson Catholic College the other two playoff hopefuls.

In the East Prince Edward Collegiate has clinched a spot, Trenton and East Northumberland will be in the running also.

High scorer in senior play is Dave Archer, with nine goals so far for the BCI Wanderers. Tom Britten of Moira has six markers while Dennis Thillault, also a Trojan, has five goals and BCI's Gord Van Vliet has four scores.

Senior goaltending shows George O'Donnell on top with four shutouts for Moira Trojans. Danny Vincent of Quinte has three whitewashes while Mark Adair and Dan Smith of BCI share two. Pat Scott and Steve Delisa of Nicholson are next, sharing one shutout.

In junior play Steve Parr has six goals for BCI, as does Dwight Begley of the same team. Devin Parr and Doug Campbell, two more BCI players, both have three goals. Frank Skeri of Nicholson has two.

Mark Clare and Mike Wright of BCI lead junior goalies with three shutouts shared.

McDonald's Win 5-3

TRENTON (Special) — Scoring three first period goals of the game, Belleville McDonald's scored a 5-3 win over Trenton in Ontario Minor Hockey Association exhibition minor atom play here, Saturday.

The Trenton skaters held a 3-2 lead halfway through the game but the visitors took command after that.

Todd Neal fired two goals for McDonald's. Checking in with singles were Barry Smith, Paul Brannigan and Jamie Wright.

Trenton got a pair of goals from John Finlan and one by Clayton Smith.

Contingency Mail Plans Implemented

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Governments, businesses and banks are putting into effect contingency plans for alternative methods of mail delivery in response to a strike by 22,000 inside postal workers that began Tuesday and has halted regular mail service in many Canadian areas.

A post office spokesman in Ottawa said all federal pension, welfare and unemployment insurance cheques were mailed early this month "so we don't have to worry about October."

If the strike continued into November, the government would use the same system for delivery it has used in previous disputes—sending all cheques, including old age pension, to local Unemployment Insurance Commission offices to be picked up by recipients.

The spokesman said normal government mail will be sent by air express or by private courier services.

The situation across Canada:

The spokesman for Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co. Ltd. in Nova Scotia said the company will use a delivery service to send out residential bills in the Halifax-Dartmouth area while bills will be delivered in rural post offices not affected by the strike outside the area. In other communities the company will advertise that the bills can be paid at certain payment agencies. A spokesman said Nova Scotia Power Corp. has no definite plans for sending out residential power bills. Jack Chesbro, administrative officer for the Bank of Montreal in the Atlantic provinces, said most banks plan to use airline services between major centres, buses between communities in each province and couriers within cities. The Halifax Board of Trade is encouraging most businesses to use services such as railways, express bus lines and, local courier services.

Businesses Appeal For Mail Strike End

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A strike by Canada's 22,000 inside postal workers continues to skew or halt mail delivery in most parts of Canada today and has prompted appeals by union and post office officials from business and industry leaders who say a lengthy strike will affect the economy.

The workers—counter clerks and sort, load and railway mail-service strike Tuesday on orders from the executive board of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) following a breakdown in contract negotiations in Ottawa Monday night.

Prime Minister Trudeau said Tuesday in Windsor that inside postal workers will gain nothing by striking because any wage increases beyond the limits of the federal government's anti-inflation wage and price controls will be taxed away.

Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey said earlier Monday that government negotiators will not reopen talks until the union says whether it will accept the government's final rate offer of a 27-per-cent increase over 30 months.

Joe Davidson, CUPW president, said the length of the strike will depend on when Mr. Mackasey accedes to the union demands.

In a statement on the union's behalf, Mr. Davidson said Mr. Mackasey knew there were important issues besides wages to be met but refused to discuss them.

He said the results of a vote held last week to authorize the strike showed 96 per cent of all CUPW members were in favor of such action.

Mr. Mackasey said later Tuesday in Windsor, Ont., that there is no chance the striking postal workers will get more than the $1.76 pay increase recommended by a conciliation board.

In a speech to the city's Chamber of Commerce, he said the $1.76 increase represents a greater increase than federal selective wage controls allow other workers and is the same amount Canada's letter carriers settled for last April.

The union earlier had lowered its demand for an increase of $2.36 an hour over one year to $42.72 a week over 27 months and says it can go no lower. The current average hourly wage is $40.36, which represents a gross annual income of about $21,000.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce said in a telegram sent Tuesday to Mr. Mackasey that the strike will cause severe damage to the Canadian economy, especially to small businesses.

A chamber official said in an interview that businessmen in St. Catharines, Ont., tabulated the direct cost to them of the strike by letter carriers last April as $185,000.

These costs included courier services, telephone calls and telegrams to replace mail service, loss of non-recoverable business and other charges attributed to late delivery or payment, the official said.

The post office has said it will attempt to offer partial service if enough members of the CUPW defy their union's strike order. But there were only scattered reports of defiance on the first day of the strike.

In the Atlantic provinces, where most workers left their jobs early Tuesday morning, a post office at Rothesay, near Saint John, N.B., said several rural substations in Nova Scotia too small to employ CUPW members were reported in full operation.

In London, Ont., one worker defied the strike order and said he plans legal action against the union to protest a one-year suspension handed him for circulating a petition urging the national union to drop support for militants in CUPW's Montreal local.

A post office spokesman said the country's 18,000 letter carriers—members of the Letter Carriers Union, and mail couriers, who belong to the Canadian Union of Public Employees, were delivering mail sorted before the strike began.

There was a possibility they would be laid off because no mail was being sorted but they are temporarily in a no-layoff position, the spokesman said. As long as they report for work, they will continue to be paid.

In Ottawa, the union's chief negotiator, Jean-Claude Parrot, said the striking workers will have to rely on their own savings or loans from banks and they return to work because the CUPW does not have a strike fund.

Meanwhile, a 94-hour information service for locals has been set up at the CUPW headquarters in Ottawa, while the union leadership waits for its next move, he said.

The union wants to settle the issue of the post office's use of casual labor but the talks have not reached the bargaining table. Other items on the union bargaining list are premium pay for weekend work and increased shift differentials for night work.

Mitchell Sharp, acting for Prime Minister Trudeau who is on a tour of Western Canada, said Tuesday he could not say how long the government would let the strike go on.

Mail Goes Nowhere

City resident Jean Wright, (left) buys money order from Roluf's Travel Centre sub-post office clerk Avril Bogora Tuesday. Nine "subs" are open in Belleville, including Roluf's, one of the largest in Canada, but mail handled through it will go nowhere until the current inside workers' strike, now in its second day, is over.

News Briefs

Franco Improves

MADRID (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco had a satisfactory night and is continuing to improve following an acute heart attack two nights ago, his doctors reported today. However, speculation continued that Franco was nearing the end of his long rule and political sources predicted Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon would replace him as chief of state within weeks or even days.

U.S. Diplomats Kidnapped

BEIRUT (Reuter) — Two United States diplomats were kidnapped by gunmen in west Beirut early today, a spokesman for the U.S. embassy said. He said they were picked up by gunmen while driving to work through the mainly Moslem district of Corniche Mazraan in west Beirut at about 7 a.m.

Inquest Starts Nov. 12

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — An inquest into the Oct. 1 shooting death of Salvatore Strazzullo, 16, of La Salle, Que., by a provincial police constable will be conducted here by Dr. C. R. Meyer starting Nov. 12, a spokesman for the provincial police said. The youth was shot while an unidentified constable was investigating a vehicle parked on the shoulder of Highway 401 just east of Gananoque, Ont.

Mao's Mind Not Senile

PEKING (AP) — Members of U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger's party report Mao Tse Tung is frail but his mind is still active and alert, with no indication of senility. Kissinger and his top aides were silent about their meeting Tuesday night with the 81-year-old chairman of the Chinese Communist party. They said only that the discussion, which lasted for an hour and 40 minutes, "was very useful."

Teachers Urge Autonomy

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Teachers' Federation said Tuesday the provincial government should maintain political autonomy in education. In a statement delivered to Treasurer Darcy McKeough, the federation said education is the soland legal obligation of the Ontario government.

Police, Kidnappers Deadlocked Over Freedom of Industrialist

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Heavily-armed troops and police laid siege through the night to a house in which Irish terrorists held Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema captive on the second floor.

Police marksmen kept their weapons trained Tuesday night on upstairs windows of the house in this rural market town 40 miles from Dublin, but there was no break in the deadlock between police and the kidnappers.

An official spokesman said the kidnappers have made no new demands since police and troops stormed into the house early Tuesday and drove them upstairs, ending a search for Herrema that began with his kidnapping 19 days ago.

"They have simply refused to give up Dr. Herrema and that's out," he said. "There have been no further moves."

Meanwhile, police were questioning the married couple who rent the house, and another man was under arrest in connection with the case.

The 33-year-old Dutch executive was kidnapped in Limerick by terrorists demanding that the Irish government release three members of the Irish Republican Army from prison. At one point, the abductors threatened to kill Herrema's host to prove he was still alive.

Mayor Ben Corke Tuesday was the first to buy an apple contributing to the local scouting movement. This weekend about 700 area Beavers, Cubs and Scouts will be selling apples to fund youth activities next year. Making the first sale is Roger Rolston, 10, of the 17th Cub Pack, Eastminster United Church.

Candy Cane Inflation?

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Inflation has hit the candy cane market.

It was reported at a meeting of the Quinte Santa Claus Parade Committee Tuesday night that 10,000 candy canes have been purchased for this year's Christmas parade.

That means an increase of 2,000 candy canes over last year.

"We simply expect more youngsters to be watching the parade because the parade is going to be bigger and better. than ever," said John Lehman, chairman of the parade committee.

Roof Safety Factors Closure of Brighton Arena

By JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

BRIGHTON — More than 2,000 residents of Brighton village and township will be without arena facilities this winter as the building was ordered shut by the Ministry of Labor (MOL) Tuesday, for safety reasons.

Two separate studies this past summer and a year ago one ordered by the combined recreation committee and the other by the village, both revealed the building did not conform to Ontario building code requirements, was unsafe and was not worth repairing. The reports said the roof could not support a heavy snow load and could collapse.

In an apparent spot check last week, the industrial safety branch of the MOL asked village clerk Shirley Patterson to forward the reports for examination. Mrs. Patterson said the MOL ordered the facility closed immediately.

Brighton village and Brighton township are currently waiting to get Murray Township's decision on whether it will cooperate in a three-way effort to build a new structure for the area to be located in Brighton proper.

The new arena seemed to be certain until it met with opposition from northern residents in Murray, who objected to the proposed location of the facility in Brighton village.

It is surprising move the Murray Township council ordered a survey taken of ratepayers to find out opinion on the arena matter. The poll is now being taken, and Ken Rose, Murray clerk, said the results are not due to be announced until November 3, council meeting.

Officials of the two Brighton municipalities have indicated they have out of the $800,000 project they will not be able to build a new arena.

Letter Boxes Will Not Be Sealed

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Street letter boxes will not be sealed in Belleville, but mail boxes inside will not be picked up for the time being, according to city post office officials.

Assistant post master George Burchell said today there will be no city or street mail delivery, and no town to town mail shipments.

In accordance with national post office policy, the local boxes in the post office will also be maintained.

Mr. Burchell said the city post office will close the outside doors to the lock box lobby. Government policy calls for such action 24 hours after the start of a strike, now in its second day.

The city's Canadian Union of Postal Workers is continuing to picket the Pinnacle St. post office today.

Annual Apple Sale Starts Saturday

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

This weekend about 700 Belleville and district beavers, cubs and scouts will be selling apples throughout the city raising funds for next year's program.

The spokesman for the youth organization said about 125 bushels of apples have been purchased for the annual fund drive which will be concentrated during the weekend.

Last year the program netted $1,000.

Two thirds of the funds raised in the apple and tag day go towards the maintenance and operation of Camp Quinte, a scouting park in Vanderwater Conservation area.

The remainder is divided among the participating groups who raise the money.

CUPE Calls General Strike Against Economic Restraints

TORONTO (CP)—After leaving federal Labor Minister John Munro, some delegates to the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) convention called Tuesday for a general strike by all workers in the country to protest the federal government's new anti-inflation program.

"We have to demonstrate with our feet—not just with our words—by walking out across the country in demonstration," Judy Darcy of Toronto CUPE Local 1230 urged during debate of an emergency resolution condemning the selective wage and price controls.

Alan Newson, a representative of Toronto city employees, said the Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) should hold a one-day meeting of the country's labor leaders and "at that convention they should authorize Canada to walk out."

The CUPE delegates gave Mr. Munro a stormy reception when he defended the anti-inflation program to about 1,000 delegates and asked organized labor to give the program "a fair trial before condemning it and trying to circumvent it."

Heckling Finance Minister Stan Little thanked Mr. Munro for "ventilating into the lion's den" and then read a position paper attacking the program as "unfair, unworkable and undemocratic."

Mr. Little, who steps down today after 12 years as head of CUPE, told cheering delegates that the $10,000-member public employees' union will defy the controls "by going about our business as if they didn't exist."

In an interview later, Mr. Little said "there will be strikes" but the government does not withdraw it's program."

"The penalty-backed selective controls limit 2.3 million public servants and two million employees of private industry to a basic wage increase of 18 per cent in the first year of a three-tract. Companies covered by the controls are not to increase their prices beyond the amount needed to cover increased production costs.

Mr. Munro did not stay to hear CUPE's condemnation of the program.

"I think I had better get out of here, he told an aide after being booed and heckled all the way through his 45-minute prepared speech. "All I did was provoke.

Mr. Little said the CLC which represents 1.8 million workers through its affiliated unions, has called an emergency meeting to discuss the new measures "and you don't need a clairvoyant to assume that it is certainly not going to endorse the restrictions."

Mr. Munro asked CUPE delegates to "seriously reconsider" because we do not have many options."

"We could go back to the free-for-all grabbing orgy of inflationary crisis that would lead to real economic trouble for Canada," he said.

"Or, to avert that, the government would be driven to impose much more rigid and comprehensive controls."

The CUPE position paper said the government has not applied out in detail how it will control profits.

Any serious anti-inflation program should include measures to reduce mortgage rates for housing, a massive home-building program, laws to reduce consumer interest rates and at "tend to the corporate tax rip-off so that minimum wages might be raised for the unorganized worker."

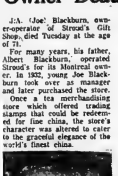
Stroud's Gift Shop Owner Dead at 71

J.A. (Joe) Blackburn, owner-operator of Stroud's Gift Shop, died Tuesday at the age of 71.

For many years, his father, Albert Blackburn, operated Stroud's for its Montreal owner. In 1952, young Joe Blackburn took over as manager and later purchased the store.

Once a tea merchandising store which offered trading stamps that could be redeemed for fine china, the store's character was altered to cater to the graceful elegance of the world's finest china.



J. A. BLACKBURN

"It's my delight. I'd rather sell china and crystal than anything else," he was quoted as saying in 1969.

Mr. Blackburn, a special brochure commemorating the store's 100th anniversary.

China became the centre piece of the downtown store — setting the shop apart from its Quinte area contemporaries.

A resident of 322 Dundas St., he died Oct. 21 in Belleville General Hospital. He was born on Huff's Island and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blackburn.

He had been a lifelong resident of the area and is survived by his wife, the former Elsie Mae Wheeler. He is also survived by his daughters Mrs. H.W. (Eleanor) Johnston, Capt. Joyce Blackburn his granddaughters Kim and Wendy, a brother, Clarence and a sister Mrs. H. (Edna) MacBain.

He was predecessed by a brother, Arthur.

The funeral will be held from the Thompson Funeral Home to Victoria Ave. Baptist Church Friday, Oct. 26 at 2 p.m.

Rev. J.C. MacFarlane will conduct the service with burial in Belleville cemetery.

Mr. Blackburn was an honorary deacon and active member of the church and was also a life member The Belleville Lodge, No. 123.

His 14th Wedding Unlucky

BOMBAY (CP)—Bini Jaipoo, a rich landlord and forest contractor of Arunachal Pradesh state in northeast India, had planned to take a bride for his wedding.

More than 500 guests had been invited and he made it known that the wedding feast would be "unforgettable." Twenty-five cooks were drafted for the occasion.

But the wedding was called off at the last moment. Her son: the bride had changed her mind.

Jaipoo, 36, was to have married a 19-year-old girl. And the young bride would have become his 14th wife.

"This is an insult," Jaipoo said, soon after the wedding was called off. "I'm going to sue the girl's parents for damaging my reputation."

Jaipoo added: "No woman has rejected me in this manner. All the 13 women I have married in the last 20 years considered it an honor to them and their families."

But times are changing even in Arunachal Pradesh, one of India's most backward areas where until a decade ago men hunted with bows and arrows.

The Arunachal Pradesh Youth League has started a campaign against polygamy, the ancient custom which allows a man to have as many wives as he wants.

Tasang Hija, a village elder, says, "We have been accustomed to polygamy since a boy. I know a man who had married 27 times. But there is an awakening among women even in remote areas."

As Indians became free in 1947, there were only four schools and 80 students in Arunachal Pradesh, a lush mountain region adjacent to Communist China. Today, there are more than 600 schools with a total of 40,000 students. Many of them are girls.

Legion Expresses Concern Over Variety Show Method Of Selling Advance Tickets

TRENTON — The local Legion Hall has agreed to sponsor a touring variety show for a $400 charitable donation but did not sanction the promoters to solicit donations for the town's needy children, George Whittle, Legion president, said Tuesday.

"I was very disturbed when I received a telephone call telling me the ticket sellers had requested a donation from the people when they indicated they were not interested in purchasing a ticket for the Nov. 15 show," Mr. Whittle said.

"We had no idea they would do this because we are currently approaching local business and industry for donations to the annual Poppy Fund drive," he said.

Paul Dempsky, director of I.M. Garden Ltd. of Toronto said in a telephone interview, "we are giving the local people a good variety show, we are creating a money source for local charities and we are in a business to make money."

Mr. Dempsky said his company did not expect to make any money in Trenton because it was an small town only to reduce its daily losses or in break even.

"We have the touring company under contract to a certain amount of shows certain period and we try to book them into towns when they have to travel, he said. If we are paying for their overnight accommodations and to perform, whether they do or not, why shouldn't we try to cut our losses," Mr. Dempsky said.

Tickets for the legion variety night at Trenton High School have been advertised at $3.00 for children, $4.00 at the door for adults and $17.00 for a family of six.

If the entire Trenton High School auditorium is filled just with children it will gross $3.00 but Mr. Dempsky said he would be lucky if that covered all the expenses for the touring show and local advance ticket work. The auditorium is being rented for $90, he said.

Mr. Dempsky said his firm is in Trenton to sell tickets and not to solicit donations.

An agent for the variety show company came to Trenton, as he does for every place the show goes for two weeks in advance, and hired six local students to canvass the area by telephone.

"There is a prepared form they use and no where does it say they are to ask for donations," said Mr. Whittle. "They are just supposed to try and sell tickets to families or arrange for local industry to finance needy groups by buying large blocks of tickets," Mr. Whittle said.

"Mr. Dempsky said it was not his company's policy to create hard feelings because the sponsoring agency had to remain in the town after the show left and he stated his group was hated throughout the entertainment field as one of the most unpopular troupes of this kind. His company also has a touring circus which he said did not care for many local service clubs.

Michael Nufrio, the company's advance agent said he and his workers did not solicit funds but during an interview an elderly gentleman came into the downtown office and said "I talked to a girl on the phone last night and I came here to make my donation."

Mr. Whittle said the company manager, Mr. Dempsky has been asked to come to Trenton on Friday night to explain why the group is dealing with the public the way it has.

Picton Downtown Gets Three New Businesses

PICTON — Two new shops have opened at the west end of Main Street here and a third store is under construction.

In August the Fashion Gallery owned by Herman and Betty Zwilling opened to offer a complete line of women's sportswear and dresses for day-time and evening.

Last week The Spotlight, another fashion boutique selling sportswear, handbags, dresses and fashion accessories opened on Main Street near Bowery St. Owner is Dewyne Tripp and manager Babb Hards.

A Becker's Milk Store to serve Picton customers now is under construction on the corner of Main and Bowery Streets.

Hotel Wants Action On Part of Township

Four Seasons Hotel Ltd. vice-president Fred Eisen offered to the Sidney township council Tuesday $5,000 immediately or improve an access ditch on Marshall Rd. himself to speed construction of a 173-unit town-house development just inside Belleville city limits.

In making the offer Mr. Eisen said a solution to fo-seem drainage problems in the development is all that holds up a start on servicing.

The scheme-also to include 12 single family units-is north of Bridge St. West, at the head of Palmer Rd. It sits just inside the western city limits.

Surface water-estimated at 12 to 15 per cent above current rates-flows westerly into Sidney township and into a road-side ditch along Marshall Rd.

The ditch, said Mr. Eisen, needs improving: "Your decisions is holding up the processing of the subdivision," he told councillors.

"I would be prepared to write my own cheque now or have it hand delivered tomorrow," he said.

Otherwise Four Seasons would bring in its own crews to deepen, re-and install new culverts in the ditch. All work would be under township supervision.

He based his monetary offer on estimated work costs of $8 per lineal foot for the first 400 feet-the section needing most repair-and $4 per lineal foot on the remainder.

"It won't cost the township a cent," said Mr. Eisen, saying that if the drainage problem were solved, his company could begin servicing the subdivision upon draft plan approval by the provincial government.

Sidney council refrained from acting Tuesday preferring to talk to residents along Marshall Rd. before making any decision.

Firefighters Restore Abandoned Bread Truck

Two down - one to go as the 18-man Thurlow Township Point Anne Fire Hall begins work building their third fire truck.

The second, a utility truck equipped with fire fighting and rescue equipment, was presented to Thurlow Township Council Tuesday.

Volunteer firefighters will begin selling tickets this week for a Christmas draw to raise money to pay to change a truck body and chassis purchased from Ontario Hydro into a tank truck equipped with a pump.

"I think the taxpayers should be proud of the fire protection they're getting," councillor George Beer said Tuesday.

"We've got to give the guys a lot of credit. It shows what a little community mindedness does," said Mr. Beer.

The utility truck began as a bread truck abandoned in a field.

"It took a lot of time to re-build the truck," said Chief Vince Maher. "Those boys went at it and did it up right."

As well as the newly completed utility truck the hall has a pumper truck and a ladder truck. The men rebuilt the ladder truck which was originally a hydro vehicle.

The men are hoping to raise between $2,000 and $3,000 to help pay for construction of the tanker truck. They are starting with a body and chassis bought from Ontario Hydro.

A new tank truck, with similar equipment the truck will have when completed, said Chief Maher, would cost the township more than $20,000.

Stoplight for Fashion

There's a new Stoplight on Main Street this week but this one is for fashion conscious pedestrians, not motorists.

Owner of the fashion boutique is Evelyn Tripp and manager is Babbs Hards of Picton. Mrs. Hards Tuesday put the finishing touches on some of the clothing displays in the shop.

MP Takes Strong Exception To Federal Riding Changes

A suggestion to include Bancroft and six surrounding Hastings County townships into a new federal riding was aired in Belleville Tuesday.

It came from William Scott, MP Victoria — Haliburton whose riding already includes the county's six most northerly townships.

It was part of a proposal outlined to the Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario as Mr. Scott moved to secure his riding from abolition under the commission's new proposed voting districts for the province.

The suggested Bedistribution would include amalgamating Haliburton into a three-way territory with Parry Sound — Muskoka — stretching from Georgian Bay close to the Ottawa River and and including Algonquin Park. The remainder of the Scott territory would be incorporated into Victoria Simcoe.

Stan Darling, MP for the present Parry Sound — Muskoka riding, admitted he was "somewhat shocked" when he first saw the map of the proposed big new constituency — a rural landmass he estimated is about 25 per cent of southern Ontario.

But Mr. Scott, backed by municipal spokesmen from Haliburton, warned against the breakup of his riding. He said it appeared the commission had ignored "traditional and historic ties" between various sectors of the constituency which counts Lindsay as its main centre.

Terran, included "a mass" of Crown land, poor roads and communications and argued against joining Haliburton into the sprawling new territory to its north, he said.

"Haliburton has no real link with the area to the north and thus I feel the proposal to join her with Parry Sound — Muskoka is in error," he said.

But the region has "much in common" with the Highlands of Hastings, is forestry, industry and highway systems.

Thus the area can "rightly be seen as largely oriented towards Bancroft" — a similar case that can be made for the 12 northern Hastings townships.

On the other hand some areas of the proposed Victoria Simcoe riding have little in common with Victoria County, but are oriented elsewhere.

Mr. Scott presented this geographical formula for maintaining Victoria-Haliburton.

Retain the six northern townships of Peterborough and Hastings counties and add Bancroft and its neighboring townships of Faraday, Wollaston, Mayo, Cashel, Limerick and Tudgannon.

This he said would remove such communities from another big electoral territory proposed for the region — Frontenac, reaching from east of Kingston to northwest of Peterborough.

Trustee Power Debated

Angus Yorke, vice-chairman of the Hastings-Prince Edward Separate School Board, has joined the growing ranks of school officials concerned about the eroding power of trustees.

At Tuesday night's meeting Mr. Yorke expressed concern over the influence of Ontario Teachers Federation and the mounting of power of the highly-organized teacher federations.

In review of the new Bill 100, legislation designed to guide teacher-board relations, Mr. Yorke said it is apparent that the Ontario Trustees Association Council needs new life. He warned it may mean higher fees.

All Ontario trustees, including English and French boards and Bilingual trustees, are loosely connected into a parent group which oversees the interests of trustees in the province.

"Our power is being eroded on a day to day basis," explained Mr. Yorke, who added that the new legislation is "written for teachers and about teachers."

He expressed concern that province appointed factfinders may tend to favor the teacher's position in contract and working negotiations.

Cablevue to Broadcast Santa Claus Parades

Cablevue television will be broadcasting both Trenton and Belleville Santa Claus parades this year, a meeting of the Quinte Santa Claus Parade Committee was told Tuesday.

Lee Jourard, program director for the cable company shown locally on channel four, said a crew of approximately 15 volunteers along with sections of professional staff will be working to televise the parades.

Videotaping of the parades is done co-operatively using the resources of the cable company and the media centre located on the campus of Sir James Whitney School.

The Trenton parade Nov. 22 and Belleville's parade Nov. 29, will be aired on television in the evenings of both weekends.

Mr. Jourard said it is also possible both parades will be repeated closer to Christmas.

Purcell Retires

PICTON — Golf pro for 21 years with the Picton Golf and Country Club Fred Purcell, was guest of honor at the annual presentation banquet on the weekend.

Before coming to Price Edward County, Mr. Purcell worked for several golf and country clubs in England. His career in golf has spanned 52 years.

Members of the Picton Golf and Country Club presented Mr. Purcell with a number of gifts including a Hudson's Bay coat and a ring.

The retiring pro will be replaced by Kenneth Kost, formerly assistant pro with the Kitchener golf club.

Legion Donates Tulips

PICTON — Picton residents can tiptoe through the tulips here next spring, thanks to the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 72.

Chairman of the town's recreation and parks committee, Bessie Ward, said legionaires have donated 500 tulip bulbs to be planted at the cenotaph here.

Imported from Holland, the bulbs have been distributed to mark the 50th anniversary of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Workshop Delayed

COBOURG — The Northumberland Forest Tour has announced its final workshop has been re-scheduled for the weekend of Nov. 14, 15 and Richard Hall has been re-appointed chairman of the event.

Previously there has been some question as to whether Mr. Beckett would return as chairman of the political executive of the Task Force following his defeat in the September 18 provincial elections, and some members of the task force has said they were hoping to have another cabinet minister appointed in his place to maintain the liaison between the group and the government.

UK Seeks Independent Approach on Oil and Raw Material Prices Issue

By JOHN HAY

LONDON (CP) — Canadian officials are warily awaiting the outcome of a diplomatic squabble between Britain and her Common Market partners over sorting at the planned December international energy conference in Paris.

Originally the European leaders had considered the nine-member Common Market group would sit as one unit in the 27-country meeting which will consider oil and raw material prices and related issues.

But Britain announced it wants a separate seat, a move strongly opposed by West Germany's Chancellor Helmut Schmidt. Other Common Market partners also are reported concerned, since this may diminish the negotiating strength of the partnership.

Critics suggest that if Britain continues to demand a separate seat fewer places may be available to other countries also expected to join the conference, along with one from the Mediterranean. Just six is also reported eager to join.

U.S. officials have stated the final selection will be made by Washington, the Common Market and Japan after consultations with the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), to which all Western industrial countries belong.

"Although Britain has complicated the Canadian position, there is considerable sympathy among Canadian diplomats for the British problem.

Britain, unlike its European partners, enjoys the possibility of becoming self-sufficient in oil by 1980 and expects to export some of its North Sea crude.

While most European countries would like to see oil prices reduced, both Canada and Britain would prefer that oil prices be sustained, at least at current levels.

A price drop might make the costly development of North Sea reserves unprofitable, wrecking Britain's long-range economic strategy. The same threat hangs over the development of Canada's Arctic and oil-sand reserves.

Since the oil crisis of 1973-74, attempts to bring producers and consumers into negotiations have been riddled with discussion.

In the spring of 1974, the United States failed to unite the industrial consumers to match the producers' cartel. The attempt failed, with France especially unwilling to confront the Middle East on which it depends for fuel.

Again last spring, a meeting in Paris of producers and consumers broke down while trying to draft an agenda for the International oil conference. Producers insisted that other commodities be included in the talks. Last May the U.S. bowed to these demands.

Issues of Security

We live in unusual times. True, this thought could be applied to any age, but there perhaps has never been a time of such mobility, with the insecurity that goes with it, an era when the concept of looking after one's own skin, as it were, carried so much significance.

Oh sure there is the welfare state, but there's not much of the personal touch to it, or much of the Good Samaritan ideal in our every day contacts. Rather, it's often a case of "I'm all right Jack."

There is thoughtfulness in that $1,000 union donation to the Quinte Rescue Squad, toward the purchase of the "jaws of life" equipment for quick extrication of people from wrecked vehicles, but the very fact such a facility is required says something about the coldness and insensitivity of our society.

Speeding cars . . . impairment . . . the implication of self-destruction behind some one-car fatalities. It's all symptomatic of a latter-day malaise.

Similarly, Hastings County board of education's purchase of a $1 million "error and omissions" insurance policy is eloquent of the underlying friction and atmosphere of confrontation that marks so much of our dealings these days.

At the national level, there is the massive and costly security operation being prepared for the Olympics in Montreal next year. Again, it's a situation in which the authorities must be prepared for anything.

It may be nothing so much more than the caution and foresight a man exercises in making a will, save that in these times the same principle is being extended to cover many other situations. Those that have been mentioned are but a few examples.

Air Search Costs

At a time when the average man on the street is ill at ease apprehensive about Ottawa's plans for wage and price restraints, the last thing in the world he wants to hear about is federal government waste.

One can understand a taxpayer's grief over tales like the one that emerged from a recent interview with an Air Transport Command spokesman from CFB Trenton.

It turns out that more than $1.3 million was expended by the command's Search and Rescue wing between April and June in chasing down false alarms from downed private aircraft.

It seems owners of private aircraft are not adept at operating emergency locator devices which have been mandatory since January. One unit was found transmitting from a motel room, another being toyed with in a canoe.

In fact, a Department of National Defence survey shows only about one per cent of the distress calls responded to by Search and Rescue personnel are legitimate.

When you get that 10 per cent raise the government has limited you to, try not to think of the 50,000 private pilots in Canada flitting around the skies costing taxpayers millions of dollars to keep tabs on their whereabouts.

The restraint plan became a little less tentative the next day when Finance Minister Donald Macdonald revealed that it would remain in force for three years. That, of course, would indicate an abolition of controls just before the next federal election!

And it became a little more menacing a few days later with the tabling of the Anti-Inflation Act, setting out prime terms of up to five years and unlimited fines for anyone violating the controls on prices and incomes.

Kissinger Indiscreet

Some things that are said in private deserve to be made public. If only because they have to do with great persons and are of contemporary and historic significance.

Such is the case in relation to what was said by U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in Ottawa last week apropos former President Nixon. Kissinger was heard to say to a dinner companion that Nixon was "cold, artificial, and unpleasant," but suggested this was due to nervousness that prevented him from enjoying contacts with others. As prescient though, Kissinger said Nixon would get to the heart of a problem and he was "decisive in his own way."

Nixon is indeed a complex personality, but it should be remembered that for all his inner images, he frequently demonstrated a very practical interest in others, especially a variety of people in trouble of one kind or another.

Meanwhile, there has been wringing of hands in Ottawa over the fact newsmen picked up and recorded the Kissinger conversation, and apologies have been expressed by External Affairs Minister Alan MacEachen.

Certainly, there is a question of morality here. Yet it is inconceivable that observations of this nature, once the media is privy to them, should be kept secret. After all, isn't that what the Watergate investigation was all about?

"If one poor teacher earns 10 lousy grand teaching 31 dumb students . . ."

Anti-inflation Program's Leisurely Unfolding

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

With each day bringing us a few more details, the government's anti-inflation program seems to be unfolding in the long, leisurely way of a Victorian novel.

First there was the initial announcement of "severe restraints" on Thanksgiving Day from Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau. His approach was both tentative and meaningful—the look of Ed Asner at his first skating lesson, perhaps.

But the story has barely begun. Mr. Trudeau and his cabinet colleagues must surely have several more chapters to unfold before their anti-inflation story is complete.

Still to come, for example, is a clear exposition of the government's plans for dealing with "exceptional" cases.

Each case, to the party concerned, is exceptional—whether because of genuine hardship for some people or the sheer muscle-power of others.

Another question still to be clarified has to do with indirect income, or "fringe benefits."

Some groups have been making their biggest demands in this area. This looks like a loophole that would allow the powerful to wrest big inflationary gains over and above the maximum increases permitted under the controls.

Nor has the government spelled out its plans for bringing professional incomes under its restraint program. The incomes of lawyers, especially, are difficult to control, since legal fees are much more flexible than those of, say, doctors or dentists.

There are countless other questions about the program that must still be resolved, even though the plan as it supposed to have been in preparation for many months.

In the end, the success of the anti-inflation program will be measured by how well it eliminates the psychological expectation of more and more money every year, regardless of how much it earns.

It's important, therefore, that the government clear up the many anomalies in the program, and thus allow the public to focus its attention on the real goal of containing inflation—as well as the consequences of failing to contain it.

From the time the Trudeau government abandoned its only previous anti-inflation campaign in 1970, hourly compensation of Canadian labor rose an average of 42 per cent (to the end of 1974) or 2.3 times as fast as the 18 per cent increase in output per man-hour.

In the United States, by comparison, compensation rose 32 per cent and output 20 per cent. Controls over U.S. incomes and prices were in effect from 1971 to 1972.

The U.S. anti-inflation approach might not work in Canada, but if the Trudeau approach is to work here, it is essential that Canadians perceive that the government itself is united wholeheartedly behind a comprehensive, credible plan.

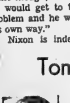
Tommy Douglas Has a Recalls a Harold Wilson Remark



By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Correspondent

Ottawa — They threw a great "Hello Tommy" party the other night in Parliament's Centre Block Railway Committee Room for Thomas Clement Douglas, BA MA, LL.D.

For T.C.D., 17 years Premier of Saskatchewan, 20 other years a federal CCF and NDP Member of Parliament, through 10 of which he was his party's leader, the huge room was packed in overflowing out of the doors and into the corridors.

They were all there. Prime Minister Trudeau, John Diefenbaker, Robert Stanfield, Stanley Knowles, everybody's friendly neighborhood MP and senator, and the Commons staff from Clerk Alistair Fraser to the sixth floor washrooms who tidy Tommy's overstuffed office.

They were celebrating Tommy's fortieth anniversary of his election to the Commons, back in the Fall of 1935 as CCF MP for Weyburn.

It happens so seldom that it feels strange to become personal in yesterday's political column out of Ottawa over an extended number of years.

It happens now because with Tommy Douglas a special, personal sort of a situation.

Of the three men calling in the Railway Committee Room for his big bash the other night, I was one of three who, by years, also attended another party for him.

It was a farewell party back then in May of 1944, when Tommy, an MP by then for eight years, resigned to return to Saskatchewan, contest a seat in the Legislature, and become premier of his province.

Died and Stanley Knowles were the other two who were there.

And now to return to a theme that still mystifies.

As resident Canadian correspondent for The London Daily Express, a post and pressure still treasured, I had taken an overseas call from Fleet Street one night when Harold MacMillan was Prime Minister of Britain and Harold Wilson, leader of the Labor opposition, was visiting Ottawa.

He had invited me on Tommy Douglas and Stanley Knowles among others on Parliament Hill.

The Express Foreign Editor was on the phone from London with orders to get Harold Wilson's reaction to the great sex-and-espionage scandal, involving British Defence Minister John Profumo and Christine Keeler, which had just broken.

Wilson was on his way to Ottawa International Airport, and I caught him as he hurried across the rotunda to catch his flight.

Stan Knowles and Tommy Douglas were with him, shaking his hand and bidding him happy greetings before your Express man shifted to a stop in front of him with the question about the Profumo-Keeler caper.

He thought, for a moment, then, ex eftly cheering his words and speaking slowly, let it be known he had "nothing to say about that sexy stereophonic sound and gorgeous technicolor."

It seemed an odd remark, but denied at once to London from the airport, it satisfied The Express in the end. It appeared as a single sentence in a throw-on slip in my office edition.

Time brought Harold Wilson to power, and one night in the British Commons, for reasons still unknown, he was asked about the remark he had made in Ottawa months before, and he denied having said it.

The Express was upset. Cables and overseas calls flooded in with demands for "proof" Wilson had said it.

How to "prove" it? Easy! No good. What else then? It's up to you, just give us proof. Would a call from Canada's very own socialist party leader do it? It would.

But would Tommy Douglas make the call? The situation was outlined to him, and in fairness I must add here that if he confirmed the Wilson quote it might hurt his friend the British Labor leader.

Get your London editor on the phone, said Tommy, and I'll tell him I was there and heard Mr. Wilson say it.

Tommy didn't have to make that call. He could have said he didn't remember, or couldn't be sure.

The call was made. The Express vindicated. Neither The Express nor Wilson ever complained.

But he had to do, as Tommy put it, "the right thing."

Education Parents And The Teachers

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I would like to shed some light on our new Parent-Teacher group at Queen Victoria School called "C.H.E.L.D." and to clear up a few misconceptions people may have about our relationship with the Home and School Association.

We formed the group because in the past few years interest in Home and School has been steadily declining in spite of the strenuous effort made by devoted executives. Sure you still get some people buying the membership cards every year, but when you try to get their ideas, you run into a closed door. The most important things Home and School represents to many people are skate sales and fun fairs. Everyone wants these things to happen, but they can't when only three or four people are willing to work.

Last year, when in the name of Home and School, we suggested that parents people come to the school to discuss with the parents, topics such as drug abuse we got absolutely NO RESPONSE either for or against such an idea.

Therefore, I asked a diversified group of people this summer just what Home and School meant to them. The consensus was that they felt Home and School was an old-fashioned social group that spent too much time and money trying to accomplish a few things.

Home and Schools' goals are admirable but the apathetic attitude of the general school parent population makes it lonely and difficult work.

In the United States, by comparison, compensation rose 32 per cent and output 20 per cent. Controls over U.S. incomes and prices were in effect from 1971 to 1972.

The U.S. anti-inflation approach might not work in Canada, but if the Trudeau approach is to work here, it is essential that Canadians perceive that the government itself is united wholeheartedly behind a comprehensive, credible plan.

Speaking with parents on a one-to-one basis, I am pleased to announce that out of 20 people I telephoned, I have 2 people that will form the nucleus of C.H.E.L.D.

I discussed the possibilities of forming such a group at our Home and School executive meeting early this school year, because last year a handful of us banged our heads against the wall trying to get things done with no volunteer help at all, my idea was approved.

I apologize to Home and School Council, if in my enthusiasm I have stepped on a few toes and hurt some feelings. This is inevitable whenever someone tries to bring about change.

Although I am striving for different things than Home and School has done in the past, many of our goals are the same. The important thing is that I refuse to wait 30 or 30 years for change to be reached.

Some Chemicals Deadly Expert Tells Firefighters

An accidental spill of acetic acid, of which vinegar is composed, can be as deadly as that of the most well-known dangerous chemical, says Jim Head of Canadian Industries Ltd. at Toronto.

Mr. Head outlined some safeguards which can be useful during chemical spill accidents either by truck or rail to a combined meeting of the Thurlow Township Volunteer Fire Department, Corbyville division and the Quinte Rescue Squad this week.

He explained acetic acid is about 90.5 per cent pure while vinegar is about three per cent acetic acid. The former "can be as wild as nitric acid," he commented.

Mr. Head advised that dilution of acetic acid at such a spill will eliminate any problems. Such dilution will produce, in effect, vinegar.

Regarding chlorine leaks, he said water should not be used because the combination will produce a corrosive agent which will only cause a larger leak. He said the combination is hydrochlorous acid "which will chew the bell out of steel.

As for a hydrofluoric acid spill, Mr. Head remarked, "you can't get water on it fast enough to stop it. It creates the worst burn I've ever seen."

"The trouble is, you don't know you're getting burnt right away," he stated. "It works that fast."

However, a commercial liquid bleach will stop any danger during a sodium cyanide spill, Mr. Head explained. "It does a very good job of neutralizing cyanide."

Rescue Work Faster With Jaws Says Official

CORBYVILLE — If the Quinte Rescue Squad had the "jaws of life" as part of its equipment, the driver of a car who died following an accident near Desoronto Oct. 7 would have been extricated in mere minutes rather than in 29 minutes, says squad member Bob Pearce.

The accident involved 19-year-old John Benjamin Brant of Desoronto who died two hours after his rescue at Lennox and Addington County Hospital from injuries suffered in the one-car mishap.

Ontario Provincial Police at Napanee said Brant's car was eastbound on Highway 2 about two miles east of Desoronto at 8 a.m. at a high rate of speed when it went out of control and wrapped itself around a tree on the driver's side.

Mr. Pearce related that the driver's side "was completely caved in" and the squad had to use a wrench to unbolt the door — a process that took 10 minutes.

He noted that the jaws have attachable sheaves which would have cut the hinges in about two minutes.

Rescuers then found the driver's feet were jammed under the dash and had to use a jack and other tools to raise it, he said.

The rescue process lasted 10 minutes more but the jaws,which can open under load in 40 seconds, would have completely beat back the dash and steering column well away from the front seat in about a minute.

Mr. Pearce emphasized even with the jaws, the driver in this particular incident might not have survived due to the extent of injuries. But the savings in time have proved to be a life-saving measure in other accidents where jaws have been used, he added.

He said the jaws, on the market for two years, are in extensive use in the U.S.

Mr. Pearce said the squad has raised about $3,300 in donations towards the $6,500 purchase price of the jaws.

Miller Flexible on New Area Health Councils

Frank S. Miller, provincial minister of health, has released a summary of public reaction and ministry response to the 1974 report of the Health Planning Task Force chaired by Dr. Fraser Mustard.

In addition to ministry staff comments on the Mustard report, 611 responses were reviewed from professionals, organizations, institutions, municipalities, universities, public and voluntary agencies, from other individuals associated with health care delivery as well as from community and church groups and members of the public.

Entitled Report, Reaction, Response — The Health Care System in Ontario, the report groups the 12 recommendations of the Mustard Report into six broad areas: development of primary care sector; rationalization of secondary care; local involvement in health service planning; redefinition of responsibility within the ministry; greater involvement in manpower planning and control and improvement in the delivered quality of medical care.

Broad consensus emerged on the first three areas, primary care, secondary care and continuing involvement and coincides with the ministry's analysis of what is required to improve Ontario's health system.

Mr. Miller says, "although the ministry will be acting on widely supported recommendations, we are prepared to be flexible and not impose rigid solutions. Development of district health councils will continue to be encouraged where communities are ready and anxious to go ahead.

Common Handicap Brings Better Understanding

Jim McDermott knows what it is like to grow up with a handicap. That's why he became a Big Brother.

Mr. McDermott and his little brother, Shawn Bolsoneau, 8, are both deaf. Shawn, a day student at Sir James Whitney School is also moderately handicapped by cerebral palsy.

Leith DeTracy, executive director of Belleville and District Big Brothers, said it wasn't easy finding a match for Shawn, until she realized the best companion for a deaf boy would be a deaf man.

At first, she said, Shawn didn't realize Mr. McDermott was also deaf. But Shawn wouldn't quite understand the concept of Big Brother, Mr. McDermott is his "big friend".

As well as being president this year of the Quinte Club for the Deaf, Mr. McDermott works with deaf and retarded youth at Prince Edward Heights School and teaches sign language and finger spelling at night school.

There are 13 big and little brother matches in Belleville. They meet regularly to share common interests such as bowling, campfire, hiking and model building.

Occasionally they meet for special events such as swimming at Sir James Whitney School.

Mrs. DeTracey said there are 18 Belleville boys waiting for big brothers. After an interview, she said, men and boys are matched according to background, interests, personality and the needs of the boy.

Cause of $40,000 Blaze Still Remains a Mystery

Capt. George Woodhouse of Belleville Fire Department, a 19-year firefighting veteran, was transfered Tuesday from the intensive care unit at Belleville General Hospital to Toronto General Hospital for coronary care.

Capt. Woodhouse has been in serious condition since he suffered a heart attack last Friday during an apartment block fire at 90-92 Victoria Ave.

Fire Chief Leo Culhane said cause of the blaze which extensively damaged the 100-year-old brick structure will probably remain unknown.

He said Insp. Paul Stephenson examined the structure Monday but could not find a clue.

"It's a mystery," he commented, adding that the investigation is officially closed.

The two-alarm blaze caused between $35,000 - $40,000 damage. The building, which includes 11 bachelor units, is insured for $80,000 which includes refrigerators and stoves in each unit.

However, only one tenant is reported to have content insurance.

Capt. Robert Sloss of the Salvation Army said all tenants have been accommodated in the areas of lodging and clothing. "Everybody seems to be set at this point," he said.

Suspect Remanded

A 17-year-old Belleville youth was remanded to Oct. 27 in provincial court here this week for sentencing after he pleaded guilty to 19 charges of break, enter and theft.

The charges against James Bateman of 186 Station St. had been laid in connection with a break-in at Victoria Chrysler Plymouth Ltd. at 290 North Front St., Aug. 17.

Dennis Davis, 17, also of 186 Station St. was charged in connection with the same incident, will also appear in court Oct. 27 for sentencing.

He was remanded Oct. 9 for preparation of a pre-sentence report following his conviction on eight charges of break, enter and theft.

Council Remains Firm On Store Sign Decision

Lights do not always make for brighter shining.

Take the case of Mr. Submarine.

City council this week again refused the new take-out sandwich food centre on East Dundas St. to use a flashing sign to advertise business contrary to city regulations.

The application was originally denied Sept. 8.

Then Monday, a request from Orillia solicitors Clarke, Zwicker and Sparks to reconsider the refusal won no support. Ald. Brian Knudsen said council should abide by its by-law stipulations.

The original application for the sign did not indicate flashing lights, reported city manager Wilbur Purcell. But after reading the city's bylaw, the installer-Anais-Way Signs of Orillia-inquired about special permission for animated signs.

However, "unfortunately the inquiry did not get answered" and the applicant went ahead with the installation-including the flasher.

Then the city's building inspector requested Mr. Submarine's owner not to operate the sign's flashing lights, but apply to city council for permission.

The law firm wrote council its client, since he received no reply to his query, from city hall, went ahead on the basis.

The law firm wrote council its client had been originally told by a city hall employee that it was not proper to erect or building sign after obtaining the permit, he would be contacted.

Since he wasn't he went ahead on the basis he would be permitted to do so-with no intension to "deliberately disregard the bylaw..."

The sign also fits into the "general area where it's located," said the law firm.

Windows Smashed

About $200 worth of damage resulted during the weekend when rock-throwing vandals smashed two windows at Aluminum Star Products Ltd., at 175 West College St. in Belleville.

City Police Deputy Chief Harold Reid said, this week entry in the building was not attempted.

Firms Awarded Contracts

From the Ottawa Bureau of the Intelligencer

OTTAWA — Two Belleville and area firms have been awarded almost $60,000 in federal supply contracts, the department of supply and services has announced.

The largest of the two contracts valued at $47,960, was given to Transways by Richburn Bus Service of Trenton which will provide school bus transportation service at Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

Another defence contract, worth $10,000, was given to Don Jones Ltd. Canadian Tire store in Belleville, which will supply the armed forces with hardware supplies.

Two Cars Looted

Two automobile break-ins in Belleville during the weekend netted thieves $150 in goods.

City Police Deputy Chief Harold Reid said this week 70 eight-track tapes and an electric shaver valued at $75 were taken from a car owned by John Bleys of 228 Victoria Ave. parked in his driveway.

He said entry was gained through an insecure window sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday.

And at 1:45 p.m. Sunday, John Norton of 47 Chichem St. discovered a stereo tape player had been taken from his car parked on the east side lot of the Dairy Queen at 71 East Dundas St.

Mr. Norton had left his car parked for only 15 minutes. Value of the tape player is $75.

WHOLE WHEAT VS. ENRICHED WHITE BREAD

In whole wheat bread really better nutritionally than white? Yes, even better than enriched white bread - provided it's made with all whole wheat flour.

With regard to some nutrients - e.g., protein, iron, niacin - even 60 percent whole wheat bread rates higher than enriched, though a slice of enriched white bread has more calcium, thiamin and riboflavin than an equal weight of 60 percent whole wheat bread.

Whole grains also contain "trace elements" and roughage lacking in enriched products. But if your family doesn't accept dark breads, remember that enriched white bread and flour are good alternatives.

New Bank Says No Gimmicks

TORONTO (CP) — Plans for Canada's 12th chartered bank, the proposed Continental Bank of Canada, do not include gimmicks to attract investors, says Joseph Stephen Land, president of IAC Ltd.

"We don't propose to pay premium rates on deposits just to attract them," he said in an interview.

"Nor do we intend to follow the pattern of some savings banks in the United States and offer gift premiums, lotteries or ... to reward to new depos-...rs."

While the new bank would offer a full range of services the emphasis would be on demand and term loans to small and medium-size businesses.

"Establishing a reputation and name is a slow process," Mr. Land said, "but the only way to gain acceptance."

IAC, Canada's largest sales finance company, announced plans last month to convert the firm into a chartered bank with initial capital of $100 million, half of which will be subscribed by IAC.

A private member's bill to create the bank has been drafted and is expected to be placed before Parliament for approval this year.

If Parliament approves, the bank would begin life as an IAC subsidiary, but amalgamation would take place later, and IAC shareholders would become shareholders of the bank.

Under the bill, there would be a 10-year transition period during which IAC and its subsidiaries would not be permitted to make loans that could be made by the new bank.

Based on IAC's $200 million in equity, the bank would be the sixth largest in Canada, and the eighth largest in terms of assets.

"Our main strength is that the bank will be a going concern from the day it gets its licence," said Mr. Land, 60, a native of Chatham, Ont., who grew up in the Toronto area.

"After all, IAC has been around for 50 years and we do know the business of lending money. Because of the similarity of operation, our people already have banking experience, so we won't be starting from square one."

Leftovers: A Variety of Extra Recipes

Everybody has leftovers. Even newspapers. During the last few months we have published Wednesday food features on salads, vegetables, special desserts and Oktoberfest, to name a few. And in each of those cases a few recipes have been sort of leftover and never used.

To bring you what you've missed — and use up all our leftovers — we're presenting this pot pourri of recipes today.

Vegetable Hash

two cups corn flakes OR ¾ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
¼ cup regular margarine or butter
¼ cup grated parmesan cheese one cup cooked cut green beans one cup cooked cut cauliflower one cup sliced, cooked carrots
one tsp. instant minced onion OR one small onion, chopped one 8-ounce package (1 cup) grated cheddar cheese one 10-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup
one cup sliced, cooked potatoes

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Melt margarine in small saucepan. Remove from heat. Add corn flake crumbs and parmesan cheese; mix well. Set aside for topping.

Place green beans, cauliflower, carrots, onion, Cheddar cheese and cream of mushroom soup in greased 1½ quart baking dish; stir until combined. Arrange potatoes in a layer over vegetable mixture. Sprinkle corn flake crumbs topping evenly over potatoes. Bake in a 350 degree oven about 30 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Makes 8 servings. ¾ cup each.

Chocolate Mousse

4 oz. chocolate chips six eggs, separated
two tsp. vanilla
Melt chocolate chips in the top of a double boiler over hot, not boiling water. Remove from heat, beat in egg yolks and flavoring. Fold in egg whites which have been beaten until stiff but not dry. Spoon into eight to 10 fancy glass dishes. Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate overnight. Top with whipped cream and chocolate.

Apple Slices
Crust

1¼ cups flour
one tbsp sugar
½ tsp salt
one cup butter and-or lard
two-thirds cup milk
one egg, separated

Filling:
one quart sliced apples
one cup sugar
one tsp cinnamon
two tbsp. butter

Cut flour, sugar, salt and butter together as for pie crust. Beat milk and egg yolk together and add to crumbs. Roll out half dough to fit a greased cookie sheet.

Prepare filling by mixing all ingredients except the butter. Spread over bottom crust and dot with butter. Roll out top crust and place on filling. Prick with fork. Brush with egg white and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes.

John Trotter's Gingersnaps

Pie

one package chocolate wafers
one third cup melted butter
20 marshmallows
¾ cup milk
½ pint heavy cream
one tbsp. thick creme de cacao four tbsp. green creme de menthe

Whipped food coloring

Crush the wafers and mix with melted butter. Press all but ¼ cup of this mixture into a nine-inch pie plate. Chill. Melt marshmallows and milk over hot water and cool thoroughly. Whip the cream and add creme de menthe and creme de cacao.

Add food coloring if desired. Fold in cooled marshmallows mixture. Pour into pie shell. Sprinkle with remaining crumb mix and chill several hours.

Cheese Cake

Crust:
two cups graham crumbs
¼ lb. butter
two tbsp. sugar

Filling:
18 oz. cream cheese, softened
¾ cup sugar
three well beaten eggs
one tsp. vanilla

Combine crust ingredients and pat into spring form pan. Mix filling ingredients and pour into shell. Bake until firm-like 325 degree oven. Top with canned or homemade cherry pie filling.

Navy Bean and Egg Salad

1½ cups cooked seasoned navy beans
½ cup sliced radishes
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
two to four hard-cooked eggs one tbsp grated onion
½ cup diced celery
two tbsp diced green pepper
French dressing to moisten one cup shredded lettuce or other greens
salt and pepper to taste

Combine navy beans, sliced radishes, olives, 3 coarsely chopped or sliced eggs, onion, diced green pepper. Add well-seasoned French dressing gradually, tossing salad lightly as you go. Refrigerate until serving time. Before serving garnish with the shredded lettuce. Garnish with extra olives and strips of green pepper and remaining egg, sliced or chopped. Serve with additional salad dressing or mayonnaise if desired. Serves four.

Lime Salad Bowl

two tbsp unflavored gelatin
two cups hot, cooked
½ cup cold water
three cups broth, heated salt
½ cup Canadian red table wine one cup fresh green peas, cooked
Mayonnaise
Mint leaves

Soak gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in hot broth. Add salt to taste. Cool, and add wine. Place in refrigerator and chill until mixture thickens slightly.

Pour ¼ cup of this gelatin mixture into bottom of a ring mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until it begins to congeal. Then arrange a layer of hard cooked and green peas on the gelatin layer. Add remaining bean and pea to remaining gelatin mixture. Pour over first layer. Chill until firm. Unmold, and serve with mayonnaise and a garnish of mint leaves if desired.

Wine French Dressing

one tbsp sugar
one tbsp salt
½ tsp dry mustard
one tsp. Worcestershire sauce four tbsp catsup four tbsp. Canadian Red Table Wine four tbsp wine vinegar ½ cup salad oil
one clove garlic, crushed

Combine all ingredients in order given in a pint or quart jar and shake until thoroughly mixed. This dressing may be kept indefinitely in your refrigerator, but you may wish to remove garlic after a day or two. Always shake well before using.

Pot Roast With Sauerkraut

Two tsp poultry seasoning
½ tsp celery salt
½ tsp paprika
¼ tsp pepper
one bay leaf, crumbled three tbsp cooking oil four lb pot roast of beef
one large onion, sliced
½ cup water
one can (28-oz) sauerkraut
½ tsp caraway seeds
1½ cups diced apples
boiled potatoes

Combine poultry seasoning, celery salt, paprika, pepper, bay leaf and one tablespoon of the oil. Rub all over roast. Heat remaining two tablespoons of oil in a large heavy saucepan or Dutch oven. Add roast and brown well on all sides. Discard fat if desired. Add onion and water. Cover tightly and simmer three hours, turning once or twice during cooking.

Drain sauerkraut shortly before meat is ready, leaving half cup of the liquid. Add sauerkraut, the half cup liquid, and caraway seeds to roast. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Add apples. Cook for 15 minutes. Makes six to eight servings.

Serve roast sliced thin, with sauce, sauerkraut and boiled potatoes.

Applesauce

short dough recipe (below) three green apples, peeled and sliced two tbsp. raisins
two tbsp. slivered almonds
one tbsp. sugar
one tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
four egg whites
one cup powdered sugar

Short dough recipe:

two cups flour, sifted three-quarters cup butter, cold
two egg yolks, cold
½ cup sugar
grated rind of ½ lemon

Quickly, with hands kept cold by running water, work everything together into a smooth dough ball. Roll out two-thirds of the dough ¼-inch thick, and press gently into a 10-inch spring-form pan. Roll remaining dough into a snake about ¼-inch thick, and press around inside pan to form sides.

Bake short dough in pre-heated 375-degree oven for 10 minutes. Arrange half the sliced apples on top. Sprinkle with half the raisins, almonds, sugar and spices. Repeat this process, and put back in oven for half an hour.

Beat the egg whites with half the powdered sugar to a stiff meringue. Lightly stir in the rest of the sugar. Put the meringue in a pastry or icing bag, and decorate over the apples. Put the Apfelkuchen back in the oven until the meringue is lightly browned.

Belleville Business and Professional Women's Bursary winner, Darlene Sager, is introduced to Joy Nichols, charter president and Colombe Heath, serving president, by Charlotte Lockyer, right, at the regular B and P dinner meeting, Monday, held at the Sun Valley Motor Inn. Miss Sager had received the annual Hilda Collier nursing bursary, presented by Mrs. Lockyer, at the Moira Secondary School graduation exercises Saturday, and as a special guest last evening had an opportunity to meet the club members.

B&P Women Learn About Law

The monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held Monday at the Sun Valley Motel. The guest speaker for the evening was Rodney Follwell of Follwell and Follwell Legal Firm. His topic was "Women and the Law" and he discussed such legalities as dower rights, deedswills, taxes, retirement savings plans, and homeowners savings plans.

Among the business discussed was the project for International Women's Year.

Tony Burns of the Success Motivation Institute is going to be the speaker at the November 4 meeting and prospective members will be invited to hear him.

Colombe Both, president, gave a report on the Regional meeting which she attended in Kingston. One of the speakers there was Donna Wheeler, who represented Belleville for the Young Career Women's competition. Ms. Whalen now goes on to Hamilton next May to compete provincially.

A special guest at the meeting was the winner of the B and P scholarship, Darlene Sager. She was the recipient of the Hilda Collier Nursing Bursary of $150.00 which was presented to her by Charlotte Lockyer at the recent graduation ceremony at Moira Secondary School. Ms. Sager is now studying nursing at Loyalist College. She received the IODE scholarship.

The elected Chairwoman for Business Meeting for Week Is November was Barbara Maracle.

DINNER — DANCE

The annual dinner dance of the Hospital Auxiliary of Belleville General Hospital was held on Friday evening at the Four Seasons. A large group of auxiliary members and husbands, doctors, hospital staff and general public attended.

Guests were warmly welcomed by president Selma Bochnek; door prizes were won by Mr. & Mrs. H.W. Lilly and Mr. & Mrs. F.H. Bellsdell; two birthdays were celebrated and three or four spot dances were part of the program. Conveners for this event were Dorothy Locke and Betty Golden.

Jim Cathcart Combo provided music.

The Quinte Old Timers' Club met recently for the election of officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Stefanic

Stefanic — Hopkins

Janice Marsha Hopkins, of Toronto, and Matthew Emil Stefanic, Toronto, were married recently in Eastminster United Church in an afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Lola Hopkins, Trenton, and Marshall Hopkins, Peterboro. The groom is the son of Mate Stefanic, Shumacher, and the late Maria Stefanic.

Rev. Alexander MacDowell officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheer organza gown with high standup neckline with pleated ruffle. The long sleeves had appliques of lace and the cuff featured a matching ruffle trimmed with the lace of the gown. A Juliet cap caught her three-tiered scalloped illusion veil. She carried yellow roses with stephanotis.

The maid of honour, Collen Hoyle, wore a rust gown trimmed with ivory laced and carried a nosegay of rust and yellow baby mums. Melanie and Valerie Hopkins, the bride's sisters wore forest green gowns.

Al Armstrong was best man, assisted by Bert Therrien, both of Toronto, and Grant Hopkins.

A dinner and dance was held at the Belleville Shrine Club.

After a wedding trip to the New England states the couple took up residence in Toronto.

Red-haired Herbalist Follows Family Tradition

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — There's nothing like sticking to family tradition, and Dorothy Banks is a woman who would make her ancestors jump for joy.

The Peterborough resident said that as far back as 1800 any redheads in the family were herbalists and good with their hands. Well, Mrs. Banks is a redhead and she has done everything from making rose hip tea to silversmithing.

"I do everything but arithmetic," she noted.

And indeed she does.

Her oil and fabrage (her own creation) paintings hang on the walls of her home. Her dried flowers decorate the tables. Her numerous live flowers thrive on windowsills. Her small copper dishes sit on the coffee table. Her embroidery stand, complete with partially completed tapestry, takes up a corner of the living room. A suitcase in her basement begins with spoons, table clothes, pillows and numerous other illustrations of her embroidery skills.

And this is to say nothing about her crocheting stuffed toy making, knitting, macrame and pen and ink drawings.

And on top of all this, she's a member of the Peterborough branch of Soroptomist International, a group speaker for other clubs and demonstrates her work occasionally at Lang Century Village, about 12 miles from Peterborough.

Some of her interests bring her financial rewards—at one point in England she used to repair embroidery—but the herbal end of it, in particular, is purely for fun.

Both her grandmother and great-grandmother were village herbalists in their time. Mrs. Banks said in those days often a doctor might be a day's horseback ride away, so the residents would come to the herbalist for remedies.

During the Second World War, Mrs. Banks said, often she gave out home remedies for both neighbors and pets when doctors were not available.

She has an old book of recipes which belonged to her grandmother and offers some directions once vital to making a pioneer's life run smoothly.

For instance, back a few decades when the women of the house often worked hard in the field alongside her man, she couldn't trot down to the corner drugstore for creams to help her complexion—so she would make her own.

Mrs. Banks offered one such recipe which can be easily made from household items. It requires the yolk of an egg, 2 tsp. olive oil, ¼ tsp. vinegar and ½ tsp. honey.

She termed it one of her "by gosh and by golly recipes"—the ingredients are not exact but depend on the size of the egg and even on the humidity. She recommends adding the ingredients until the mixture becomes a white cream and if additions won't blend properly, it's saturated.

The recipe can be transformed into a hair conditioner by adding the juice from sliced nettles a drop at a time until it won't take any more. Apply to the hair after shampooing, leave on for a few minutes, and rinse out.

Laborers

Laborers and maintenance people will wear coveralls in brilliant rainbow colors of polyester and cotton blend at the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal. Olympic messengers (centre and right) will wear a basic uniform of trousers or lightweight shirts, T-shirts and running shoes. Classic patch pockets and soft, pull-on sun hats emphasize the youthful spirit of this uniform category.

Olympic Fashion

Four Montreal designers — Leo Chevalier, Marielle Fleury, Michel Robichaud and John Warden — have worked contemporary chic into comfortable, casual clothes for almost 20,000 people doing 29 different jobs during the Montreal Olympic Games. The official uniform (left) is a single-breasted, two buttoned classic jacket with three patch pockets and a single vent. It will be worn with skirts or trousers with ties or scarves in the official rainbow of colors. Hosts and hostesses will wear unstructured soft jackets (right and centre) with trousers or skirts. Men's jackets are of a shirt cut with open collars and the women's jackets are semi-cardigan style with round necklines.

Better Bed-wetting Answer: Seek Help from a Doctor

Dear Ann: I've read your column for many years and I enjoy it. However, as a nurse, I must say I was surprised to see your response to chronic bed-wetters.

I agree that a chronic bed-wetter should take every precaution against damage (and embarrassment) but that 22-year-old who thinks he's found a solution to his problem by wearing a diaper and rubber pants is mistaken. Wearing a diaper and-or rubber pants solves the problem of embarrassment and damage, but it does nothing to solve the problem of bedwetting.

He needs to see a Doctor. There's a reason (or reasons) for bedwetting and he can find out what it is and correct it. Professional help is available. Inconsideration, humiliation (and diapers) won't be necessary. I'm counting on you! — Mrs. K.

Dear Mrs. K.: Of course you're right. Bedwetting by anyone over three years of age is a symptom of another problem—either organic or emotional. My experts tell me that at least 80 per cent emotionally Therapy is needed for adults who have the problem. Counseling is definitely in order for both the mother and the child who swims ashore every night.

Thank you for hauling me and insisting on a better answer.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teen-age girl who has seen many beauty pageants, Miss America, Miss Universe, etc., always for women. Now I would like to see some of these contests for men.

The world is changing and it's time people realized that females enjoy looking at handsome males just as much as the other way around. I guess in the olden days it wasn't considered decent or respectable for a woman to admire a beautiful male body, but all that is different now. How about letting the world know the game has changed? We'd love you for it. Mother—Future No Shock

Dear Future: "The world" doesn't need to hear it from me. First there was Burt in that nude centerfold. And recently, at a bridal shower in Carmel, Calif., the girl's sorority sisters surprised her at the festivities by having a male hella jump out of a cake!

P.S. I'm not your mother.

3 Cities Enjoy Reduced Costs

OTTAWA (CP) — Residents of three cities enjoyed a slight decline in the cost of living during September while prices in Toronto were essentially unchanged from August, Statistics Canada reported Tuesday.

The consumer price index dropped three-tenths of one per cent in Saint John, N.B., and one-tenth of one per cent in Halifax and Thunder Bay, Ont.

Prices in 10 other cities surveyed increased.

The highest jump was in Regina, where the price index was up 1.3 per cent from August.

The highest jump from the previous year was reported in St. John's, Nfld., where prices were up 12.4 per cent from September, 1974. The lowest 12-month increase was 9.5 per cent in Halifax.

The agency's 14-city survey measures price changes within the cities, but does not show where prices are the highest or lowest.

On a national basis, the September index was up two-tenths of one per cent from August with a 12-month rise of 10.8 per cent. The national figures, released two weeks ago, attributed the moderation in the September rise to lower prices for food, particularly vegetables, and a slower rate of increase in other prices.

Food prices were down in all cities surveyed, and were the main factors in reducing the cost of living in the three cities and holding the line in Toronto.

The increases in other cities were due largely to higher prices for accommodation and, in some cities, higher prices for gasoline, fuel oil, electricity and natural gas.

The September increase in St. John's was two-tenths of one per cent.

The 12-month increase was 10.3 per cent in Toronto, 12 per cent in Saint John, 9.9 per cent in Thunder Bay, and 11.3 per cent in Regina.

The September rise in other cities: Saskatoon, one per cent; Vancouver-, nine-tenths of one per cent; Ottawa, one-half of one per cent; Calgary, four-tenths of one per cent; Winnipeg, three-tenths of one per cent; Edmonton, two-tenths of one per cent; and both Quebec City and Montreal, one-tenth of one per cent.

The 12-month rise in other cities: Winnipeg, 13.3 per cent; Calgary, 13.1 per cent; Saskatoon, 11.6 per cent; Edmonton and Montreal, 11.4 per cent; Vancouver 10.9 per cent; Quebec City, 10.7 per cent; Ottawa, 9.7 per cent.

Offer Turned Down

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau turned down the offer of a ride in the Concorde supersonic jetliner from Ottawa to the recent opening of Mirabel airport, near Montreal. Instead he went in a government plane bought second-hand from the T. Eaton Co.

Doctors Urge New Definition of Abortion

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Warren Allmand was told Tuesday night by Dr. Heather Morris of the Canadian Physicians for Life that the conditions under which a therapeutic abortion may be carried out should be narrowed considerably.

Psychiatrist Myer Sim of the University of Ottawa and neurosurgeon Harley Smyth of Toronto also said abortion should remain in the Criminal Code.

Mr. Allmand was among about 30 members of Parliament, including two other cabinet ministers, who attended a dinner organized by Ursula Appolloni (L.-York South) at which the doctors set out their positions against abortion and answered questions.

The dinner was probably round one in the match between those for and those against abortion as the government shows signs of preparing to modify the 1969 law which has allowed about 220,000 abortions to take place.

Justice Minister Ron Basford, represented at the dinner by an aide, recently gave a special committee its terms of reference for a study into how the 1969 law is working.

GM Has Concerns Over Price Controls

TORONTO (CP) — The new president of General Motors of Canada Ltd. said today he has "great trepidation" about wage and price controls.

"They just never seem to work," Donald McPherson told his first news conference since being appointed to his new position Oct. 6.

However, Mr. McPherson, who took over his new duties Monday, said he didn't have enough information on Canada's economic controls to comment on what effect they will have on the auto industry.

Owen Sound Officer Demoted

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP) — Constable Ron Ross of the Owen Sound police was demoted to third-class from second-class constable until Jan. 1, 1976, after he was found guilty at a statutory tribunal Tuesday on two charges of neglect of duty.

He was also sentenced to 20 days forfeiture of leave on a third charge of lying to a senior officer. The reprimand will be included on his record.

The neglect charges, under the Ontario Police Act, resulted from a fight between two Owen Sound men and two off-duty police officers last July 13.

The tribunal was told that Constable Ross, who was on duty, witnessed the fight but did not try to stop it. He made no report of the fight.

The charge of providing false and misleading statements to a senior officer was laid after an investigation into the incident. The tribunal was told Constable Ross would not cooperate in the investigation.

Constable Gord Gallagher, one of the two off-duty policemen involved in the fight, was found guilty Monday on three charges of discreditable conduct.

MMP Attacks Davis Over Lack of Protest

HAMILTON (CP) — Marion Bryden, New Democratic Party member of the legislature for Toronto Beaches-Woodbine, said Tuesday that Premier William Davis was willing to accept Ottawa's selective wage-and-price restraint proposals because he thinks they will get him off "the rent-control hook."

Speaking to a Hamilton West NDP Association meeting, Mrs. Bryden said the proposals — to pressure from Ottawa — bring in adequate rent controls based on cost increases and including a rollback pegging increases which have already occurred.

She also said that faced with demands from teachers, civil servants and municipal employees for some display of the gap between public-sector employees and business executives, lawyers and doctors, Premier Davis can now feign sympathy but say his hands are tied.

She said the package contains glaring inequities and is really "thinly disguised wage control, under the guise of income control."

NDP Develops Rent Policy

TORONTO (CP) — A caucus of the New Democratic Party spent 3½ hours Tuesday afternoon thrashing out its rent-control policy.

Following the five-hour meeting, party leader Stephen Lewis said it will take at least two more full meetings before the discussions are completed.

He said he felt sure the final policy would be "as carefully drawn a policy as we have ever had."

He said there was no basic change in the party's policy as outlined during the campaign for the Sept. 18 provincial election. Discussions involved percentage increases to be allowed, retroactivity and the question of a rent review board.

All 27 NDP members were assigned jobs as critics of various government departments. Mr. Lewis is the 28th member of the caucus.

When the 30th session of the Ontario legislature opens next week, the NDP will take aim not only at rent policies but policies involving Ontario Hydro and energy.

For the first time the party has designated critics for both hydro and energy.

Elgin Gilgannon, Carleton East, will be the Ontario Hydro critic and Fred Burr, Wentworth-Riverdale, will concentrate on energy.

The New Democrats with 28 seats are now the official Opposition party with Liberals dropping into third spot with 26. The Conservatives have 51.

Welfare Project Planned

TORONTO (CP) — A pilot project designed to encourage welfare recipients to seek employment is planned in three Ontario cities, James Taylor, community and social services minister, said Tuesday.

He said in an interview that agreements and paperwork setting up the project will be completed this month with representatives from Toronto, Peterborough and Ottawa.

The project will allow recipients to hold full-time jobs and still collect full benefits. The province and the municipality will share equally in the cost of the project.

Mr. Taylor said he initiated the project in response to the complaint by welfare recipients that they would make less money working than they receive in benefits.

He said the recipient will be subsidized to bring wages to $300 a month. For example, if a job pays $400 a month, the province and the municipality will provide $100, Mr. Taylor said.

The most received in benefits is $400 a month, he said.

Guelph University Apologizes

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — The University of Guelph has issued an apology to the Canadian meat-packing industry for the manner in which one of its staff members presented results of bacteria counts in cold cuts during a national television show two weeks ago.

The apology was issued by Dr. J. M. DeMan, chairman of the university's food sciences department, to the Meat Packers Council of Canada following the broadcast two weeks ago of a food sciences department study for The Marketplace, a consumer-oriented Sunday night CBC television series.

Dr. DeMan said he is also writing a letter of complaint to the producers of the television show, chiding them for what he called the sensational and misleading manner in which the research results were presented.

The show presented results from two random surveys of cold cuts made by four Canadian meat-packing companies and claimed Burns Foods Ltd. products contained 13,000 times as many bacteria as those made by J. M. Schneider Ltd.

Dr. DeMan said the claims and presentation were "not scientific at all."

He added that the university will not accept future contracts dealing with topics of "a similar controversial nature."

Lorne Anderson, general manager of Burns Foods Ltd., said sales have fallen in the last two weeks, and 20 of the plant's 620 employees have been laid off.

He blamed the sales slump and layoffs directly on the airing of the show.

The objections of the company centre on the harmless nature of the bacteria and the fact that results were based on total bacterial count, rather than on a count of only those dangerous bacteria on which federal health standards are based.

Long Range Patrol Aircraft

Lockheed's candidate for Canada's long-range patrol aircraft (LRPA), shown in artist's concept, introduces a new dimension in patrol aircraft effectiveness. In addition to its military roles as an airborne submarine and a maritime surveillance aircraft, the LRPA has a broad spectrum of civil capabilities which will enable its crews to police fisheries, keep tabs on drifting ice, detect and identify water and air pollutants, fly search and rescue missions, locate natural resources and monitor their exploitation. The plane will be able to fly in excess of 17 hours without refueling. (CP Photo)

Canadian Cooks Take Over Great Escape Restaurant

EDMONTON (CP) — Two Edmonton chefs and a partner trained in the cooking arts in France have taken over operation of The Great Escape, a restaurant described by Canadian magazine as one of the 10 best in Canada.

Claude Bussy, Ron Kannick and George Batt stepped in to who launched the enterprise—prevent the five-year-old restaurant from being converted into a fast-food or specialty operation by other prospective buyers.

The $100,000 purchase price included the land and building with its impressive collection of antiques and paintings, and the unique recipes of the two men in the kitchen, but it is the German-born Batt who usually shops for food and prepares it in the restaurant's four microwave ovens.

Kannick, born in Winnipeg of Polish parents, and Bussy, born Peter Priestly and Alan Blue.

All three of the new owners are capable of taking over in the kitchen, but it is the German-born Batt who usually shops for food and prepares it in the restaurant's four microwave ovens.

Kannick, born in Winnipeg of Polish parents, and Bussy, born in France and trained in food preparation there, wait on the diners or sit tables that accommodate a maximum 40 diners.

The new partners are determined to continue a Great Escape tradition of serving seven or eight fresh vegetables with each main course.

Diners are given a choice of three dishes which are changed weekly and may include beef stroganoff made from filet mignon, fresh baked trout, roast duck or pheasant. A special favorite of regulars is stuffed Bavarian pork ribs.

Under Priestly and Blue The Great Escape charged a flat $18 a plate for 2½ hours of dining and called patrons a day or two prior to their evening out to confirm the reservation.

Cosmopolitan magazine, in its September issue, urged its readers to "... make reservations at one of Canada's 10 best restaurants the small but superb Great Escape. . . ."

The new owners do not approve of serving liquor or beer with their meals but feel wine could be an asset and have applied for a licence. Under Priestly and Blue, no wine was served.

But patrons may have to wait a while for wine. The Alberta Liquor Control Board has insisted on some changes—more lighting and marked fire exits—before issuing a permit.

Batt, who has had seven years experience as a chef in major Canadian hotels, shops for vegetables daily in a neighborhood supermarket. His partner assist in preparing dishes, which are covered and cooked when needed.

Kannick has been in the food business for 17 years. He moved to Edmonton from Winnipeg four years ago. Bussy has been a maitre d'hotel in several city restaurants.

Forest Ranger Claims Campers Pollute More

NORDEGG, Alta. (CP) — Campers do more to pollute forests than big development companies, says forest ranger Patrick Hendrigan.

Hendrigan, 36, who has been with the department of lands and forests for nine years, is one of four men at the Nordegg ranger station in the Rocky Mountains area 95 miles west of Red Deer. They are responsible for 1,000 square miles of mountains and foothills, including two designated wilderness areas.

The area is visited by 40,000 to 50,000 tourists during summer and the rangers do their best to steer them into organized campsites where their garbage and fires can be controlled.

"We have more pollution from individual campers than from big companies," Hendrigan said. "The companies are big enough and have enough money behind them that they are willing to do the work we ask of them."

The rangers are responsible for monitoring logging operations to ensure they don't exceed specified limits and that companies do a proper job of reforesting and restoration. Similarly, oil and gas exploration companies must do their work in a prescribed manner, avoiding damage to trees, leaving the area unlittered and in some cases restoring land they use for roads to a more natural state.

Hendrigan keeps a close eye on wildlife though his chief concern is monitoring land use and not game populations. He says game is scarce and that there should be a five-year moratorium on hunting and stricter controls on fishing in the foothills.

In eight months, he saw one elk. There are few deer left and the moose population, while in better shape, is not high. At least, there are plenty of bears who bother the provincial campgrounds and have to be trapped and transported farther back in the wilds.

The area of responsibility around the station, he said, is a watershed, and damage to the land from too much logging or resource exploration will result in erosion and impair the flow of major rivers into the central part of the province.

There are 19 free government campsites in the area to be supplied with wood and cleaned up. A large part-time staff is kept on hand for that job.

This summer has been too wet to do much scenic travelling in the bush. But on an ordinary summer, with fires to fight and help needed in other forestry areas, rangers spend at least two weeks at a time away from home, Hendrigan said.

Reconstruction of Breast Possible Says Surgeon

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Ralph Millard, a professor of plastic surgery at the University of Miami, Fla., said Tuesday that he has developed a surgical technique that can restore relatively normal appearance to breast cancer patients who have undergone mastectomy.

Dr. Millard told a convention of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery that if women knew that reconstruction of a breast was possible, it might eliminate much of the horror and fear about the operation.

He said he helps the surgeon who performs the mastectomy because "I'm one of the boys who cures but the villain of mutilation."

Dr. Millard said a strip of skin and fat is taken from the abdomen, left attached at one end, and rolled into a tube with the other end attached to the area where the breast was.

When the tube has firmly attached, with its own blood supply, the other end is severed from the abdomen and moved into the front of the armpit, he said.

The required skin and fat are later shaped into the form of a cup to support a plastic implant and a new nipple is created by the surgeon. The other breast is then tailored to match the reconstructed breast, he said.

Dr. Millard said the initial surgery on the abdomen may take five or six days in hospital but during most of the procedure the women may remain at home. He said he has completed two breast reconstructions and has others in progress.

News Leak Prompts Investigation Request

OTTAWA (CP) — The leak to reporters of a confidential immigration document prompted a demand in the Commons Tuesday for a special investigation to find out who was responsible.

The document, first draft of a special Senate-Commons committee report to Parliament, suggests, among other things, that Canada set an annual ceiling on the number of immigrants.

Some reporters obtained copies of the 101-page draft during the last few days and Max O'Connell, co-chairman of the special committee, said "unauthorized publication . . . is expressly prohibited by the rules of this House."

With almost unanimous support of the other parties, the Toronto Liberal MP asked Commons Speaker James Jerome to refer the matter to the privileges and elections committee. Mr. Jerome deferred decision, asked for a day or two to study the issue.

During its evening session, he Senate was presented with a similar request to refer the matter to a Senate committee by Senator Maurice Riel (L—Quebec). Senate Speaker Riegasole Lapointe deferred a decision on the question.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) and Jake Epp (PC — Provencher), both members of the joint committee, said they hoped the leak would not compromise the work of the committee.

Lionel Beaudoin (SC—Richmond) said any investigation would be practically useless because up to 400 copies of the report had been distributed.

"We wouldn't want to have a witch-hunt . . . with respect to what was only a draft report," he said.

Cullen to Define Canadian Magazine

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says federal Revenue Minister J. E. G. (Bud) Cullen will present a new and tougher definition of what constitutes a Canadian magazine to the federal cabinet Thursday.

The newspaper says in an Ottawa dispatch that the definition, if accepted, should clarify some of the uncertainty surrounding a bill before Parliament to end the special income-tax privileges accorded to Time and Reader's Digest magazines.

The new definition probably will require that for a period-ical to qualify as Canadian for tax purposes, it cannot have more than 20 to 30 per cent of its material similar to a related magazine published elsewhere.

Chretien Defends Economic Restraints

OTTAWA (CP) — Treasury Board President Jean Chretien said Tuesday the government could not have imposed selected wage and price controls before now without doing an injustice to workers.

Speaking in the Commons debate on legislation to administer the federal anti-inflation program, he said workers wanted to be allowed to catch up with inflation.

In the 1973-74 period, corporate profits were strong, but "wages had not had time to catch up with galloping inflation, Mr. Chretien said.

So the government argued strongly for the controls program the Progressive Conservatives campaigned unsuccessfully on in the 1974 election.

"At no time in 1974 did we say controls were a solution that should never be used, but we said they would have been disastrous for workers in 1974," Mr. Chretien said.

Opposition MPs, particularly the Conservatives, have attacked the government regularly since debate started last Friday, claiming the government had completely reversed itself from its election platform opposing controls.

The Progressive Conservatives had advocated a 90-day wage and price freeze, followed by 18 months to two years of wage controls.

Paul Yewchuk (PC—Athabasca) said the current selected controls "are the same in principle" as the plan advocated by the Conservatives last year. But he added it is a year too late to be effective.

Mr. Chretien said the Conservatives were a year too early.

He criticized Conservative MPs for taking conflicting economic positions on government programs.

President Francisco da Costa Gomes summoned leaders of the leading Socialist and Communist parties to a reconciliation meeting in an attempt to ease the tensions which increasingly have divided Portugal's two main left-wing parties.

The Centrist Popular Democrats (PPD), who form the shaky government coalition with the Socialists, Communists and moderate officers, were not invited to the meeting.

But security forces said not one weapon has been surrendered yet in response to the four-day appeal.

Medical Tests Now Questioned

OTTAWA (CP) — Next time you roll up your sleeve so the doctor can take some blood for tests to find out what's making you sick, keep in mind that between 25 and 50 per cent of the tests are inaccurate.

In fact, Health Minister Marc Lalonde told 430 experts at a conference here on medical devices, some of these tests are "potentially hazardous."

The in vitro test kits—so called because in vitro is Latin for glass and much of the work is done in test tubes—have been around since 1962 but the government has not set special regulations or standards for them.

But now, with the realization that only 108 of 219 kits tested between 1962 and 1975 have acceptable performance, the government has decided to step in—some time.

Unfortunately, the electromedical equipment information service that would have assessed the kits has been the victim of a spending cutback.

Canadians need not worry unduly said Dr. J. E. Logan of the Laboratory Centre for Disease Control, because the U.S. has decided to crack down on their manufacturers of in vitro test kits.

Close to 90 per cent of the kits used in Canada come from the U.S., he said.

What is wrong with the kits and who takes the blame?

Part of the blame should go to manufacturers, says Dr. D. J. Campbell, head of the clinical chemistry division of Vancouver General Hospital.

He said many kits do not have sufficient instructions, and warnings about their limitations. are designed poorly, and come from laboratories with poor quality control.

Ottawa Rejects Joint Service

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democrat Lex Benjamin accused the government Tuesday of not considering seriously a proposal by the two major railways to provide joint passenger service.

Mr. Benjamin (Regina Lake Centre) said the proposal was outlined 11 months ago in a letter to then Transport Minister Jean Marchand from F. S. Burbidge and Robert Bandeen, the respective presidents of CP Rail and Canadian National Railways.

When he raised the issue with the Transport Minister Otto Lang in the Commons Tuesday, Mr. Lang said he would have to check his co-respondence files to find out whether there was a reply.

A copy of the letter, dated Dec. 30, 1974, said the railways wanted a prompt government response so that they could make plans.

The letter was in answer to a request by Mr. Marchand that the railways come up with suggestions on how to improve passenger service.

CN and CP Rail said they were prepared to accept responsibility for service between pairs of cities with as little duplication as possible. There also would be co-operation on ticketing, timetables and the improved service would be provided under contract with the government.

The railways said in their letter they hoped to implement the first phase of their program in March, 1975.

Postal Sub-stations Still Open, But No Mail Moving as Strike Continues

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

City residents can still hand their letters to a select number of postal clerks in Belleville, but such mail will get no further than the city's main post office.

In an unusual sidelight to the postal strike that has ended mail movement in Canada, nine sub-post offices scattered across Belleville remain open. Clerks will sell stamps, money orders, and register letter. But such letters will remain unsent, if indeed, they get to the main post office.

Belleville post master Roy Wainwright said Tuesday the "subs" will continue to operate. Mail and parcels collected in such post offices will be picked up and taken to the main post office for storage. However, how and when this will be done is unclear today.

The post master said today that the "subs will be told to try not to accept mail."

Mail cannot be legally handled by post office supervisory staff while the 31 members of the Belleville — Brighton local of the Postal Union of Postal Workers are on strike.

Inside workers have closed down the post office carry Tuesday as the country's 22,000 CUPW members walked out in a nation-wide strike.

Clerks in "subs" said Mr. Wainwright, are not members of the striking union but are directly employed by the post master.

As such, the clerks do not fall under union jurisdiction, he said.

A contractor, hired by the city post office to pick up mail from the sub-post office, cleared street letter boxes Tuesday. The post master said the local union officials have agreed to the arrangement "for security reasons only."

However, today he said that the pickup service — along with rural and city delivery services have been suspended.

Mr. Wainwright said he will be talking to local union officials to iron out the pick-up-of-mail situation.

Belleville union president Walter Yelemme said today an executive meeting is planned for today at which time the pick-up service will be discussed.

"We allowed item to clean the boxes yesterday," he said. But it was a "one-time run".

"We haven't made any deal with them," Mr. Yelemen said. But the executive might consider it if there was enough mail in the "sub" to pose a security problem.

When inside workers walked out Tuesday, numerous bags of mail — mostly addressed to businesses — were left unsorted, and undelivered by letter carriers.

In Belleville, carriers delivered all mail that had been sorted overnight Tuesday.

Today letter carriers are working around the office, but in the letter carriers section only, Mr. Wainwright emphasized.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1975

Commission Hears Arguments Against Federal Riding Changes

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

There is no interest how Quinte communities will be organized for voting in the next federal election.

But the official group assigned to recommend such organization left Belleville Tuesday with a diverse group of local feelings.

It came as politicians and political spokesmen went before the Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario.

That's the group charged with drafting proposals for redistributing the political representation in the constituencies — re-aligning riding in keeping with population.

It was the fifth of eight meetings of the commission, under Mr. Justice Campbell Grant, in holding across the province to collect local suggestions and reactions to proposals for new voting districts announced in August.

And the need to appreciate local ties and traditions was graphically stated all the day by one politician-William Scott, Conservative MP for Victoria—Haliburton — whose riding includes six Hastings County townships and now faces possible absorption into two separate districts.

He pleaded for consideration of a concept frequently repeated at the hearing in Hastings County administration building — concepts of interest, the common traditional ties to orient local people and population centres.

He told the commission that "the electorate of the becoming very confused an dideeply concerned with constant changes at all levels of government and are beginning to distrust the entire system.

"Trust, regardless of political persuasion, I beg your commission to take into consideration the traditional communities of interest" involved in any changes in voting districts.

Similar reminders came from Jack Ellis, MP Hastings, who faces abridgment of his Hastings County territory to Belleville, Thurlow and Tyendinaga townships into Prince Edward County. The new constituency would also include the Lennox and Addington townships of North Frederickburgh, Frederickburgh and Adolphustown.

Mr. Ellis suggested then communities be exchanged for Deseronto, Huntingdon and Hungerford in Hastings, which has strong ties with the south end of the county.

Douglas Alkenbrack, MP Frontenac—Lennox and Addington also asked for return of the Lennox and Addington townships because they were historically selected to that region.

Redistribution suggests a new riding of Hastings-Frontenac—from east of Kingston to northwest of Peterborough. Mr. Alkenbrack when faced what a rural zone of Pittsburgh Township neighboring Frontenac also he retained in his new riding.

Robert Kennedy, spokesman for Flora Macdonald, MP Kingston and the Islands, suggested a small strip od neighboring Pittsburgh Township, be kept in with the riding including the large military installation and Kingston's outskirts and extend to the city.

One area politician absent from the meeting was George Hees, MP Durham—Northumberland. It took more than two and one-half hours to hear the various suggestions and briefs offered from spokesmen or rid'ings involved—and the importance of such input was stressed at the outset by Mr. Justice Grant.

"As a commission cannot possibly be aware of all the local situations that might be present to assist us in forming a local riding," said the chairman.

The decision follows a survey of accommodation in house athletes in the Quinte area by Mr. Belch.

Staging of the games in Belleville depended on finding accommodation for about 2,000 athletes.

Mr. Belch contacted 28 hotel-motel operators, Alberta College, Sir James Whitney School for the Deaf and Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

If favorable consideration is received from all agencies surveyed some 1,750 beds will be available-1,250 from hotels and motels, he reported to the recreation-arena committee.

But Albert College, he said, would consider the request only if the Tam O'Shanter hockey school did not operate in 1976. The school for the deaf to date had not responded and CFB Trenton's facilities are all base housing.

"Finalization of our survey leaves no doubt that the Quinte Area cannot satisfy accommodation for the '76 Ontario Games athletes," said Mr. Belch in the committee, "..therefore, unless immediate hotel-motel construction is undertaken, Belleville is not in the position to entertain the Ontario Games."

Possibility of having the games — either winter or summer — was first raised at the beginning of the year by then Mayor Robin Jeffrey.

At that time it was indicated the ministry's major concern on scheduling the games in Belleville depended on finding the estimated 2,000 athletes.

Faulkner Pays Visit

Canadian secretary of state Hugh Faulkner will visit Belleville Friday morning while travelling from Toronto to Kingston.

Mr. Faulkner will be available for comment on the federal anti-inflation measures, said a spokesmen for his office.

He will be at the Four Seasons Hotel from 9:30 to 11 a.m. before leaving for Kingston.

A spokesman would only say that his business in Kingston is both personal and governmental would not comment in detail.

Paquet Begins Systems Study

Ed Paquet, superintendent of business for the Hastings Prince Edward Separate School Board, is doing some trouble — shooting for the ministry of education.

Director of education Ed Neville informed trustees Tuesday night that Mr. Paquet has been asked by the ministry of education to work on a system evaluation project for the Durham Region Separate School Board.

Mr. Neville assured trustees that these added duties would not interfere with Mr. Paquet's own duties at the separate school board. Mr. Neville said the board "feels fortunate that the ministry selected Mr. Paquet to work on the projects."

Mr. Paquet also serves as a trustee on the Hastings County Board of Education.

Footings Poured

According to on-site spokesmen, the toughest part of the job is complete at the Belleville Plaza now that footings are poured. The footings — poured Tuesday — will give support to the massive beams that will form the plaza's new roof in place. The roof is expected to be complete by November.

Truck Snarls Downtown Traffic

A large transport trailer jack-knifed on Front Street Tuesday, backing up downtown traffic for more than half an hour while crews worked to move the trailer. The truck was finally dragged sideways giving the driver clearance to manoeuvre out of the parking lot near the downtown bus-loading stop.

Murder Trial Enters Second Day

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Defence counsel for Jeremiah James Arthur Meneely said Tuesday his client admitted he carried out the physical act of shooting and killing his seven-old father, James Meneely of RR 4, Madoc in Rawdon Township, Aug. 1, 1974.

Ronald Thomas of Toronto made the statement in his opening remarks to the jury during the first day of the Supreme Court trial at the Hastings County Courthouse here.

However, he added, intent to perform the act was not included in the admission.

Meneely has pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder not punishable by death in the shooting death of his father at their farm at the township's 12th concession.

The elder Meneely died after he was shot in the chest by a 12-gauge shotgun. A widower, he and his son resided together at the farm.

Detailed evidence was given Tuesday as to the layout of a portion of the farmhouse where the shooting is alleged to have occured before a 13-member jury composed of six men and six women.

A total of 26 exhibits were entered including a shotgun discovered on a kitchen table, a spent shell removed from the shotgun, a door connecting the kitchen and a laundry room and 23 photographs and diagrams during testimony by Cpl. James Dennis Ryan, an identification officer with Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville.

Cpl. Ryan was scheduled for cross-examination by Mr. Thomas when the trial resumed today at 10 a.m.

Two other admissions were also entered by the defence — that the elder Meneely had no alcohol in his system at the time of the incident and that Coroner Dr. D.W. Burgess pronounced the man dead at the scene between 2:10 — 2:30 p.m.

Ontario Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Pennell of Toronto requested that the news media refrain from reporting the opening remarks by Crown Attorney Glenn Define. He apologized to Mr. Define for having to make the request.

Justice Pennell had interrupted Mr. Define twice during the opening, questioning the content of the remarks and once said it was the most detailed opening he has heard during his years on the bench.

Meneely was arrested by provincial police at Healey Falls north of Campbellford in August, 1974. He was 18 years of age at the time of the arrest.

The arrest was made by Insp. Casey Kotwa, former provincial police detective sergeant at Belleville, now with the force's criminal investigation branch and Cpl. B.L. Burchat, of Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc.

Meneely was employed at General Motors in Oshawa at the time of his arrest. Police said at the time of his father's death, he was a student at Campbellford High School.

MP Says Commission Using Outdated Figures

The realism of using four-year-old statistics as a population basis for changing federal electoral boundaries was questioned Tuesday by Allan Lawrence, MP Northumberland — Durham.

The figures are "ridiculous" said Mr. Lawrence, one of several politicians appearing before a meeting here of the federal Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario.

The commission has to base its proposals for creating new constituency boundaries on 1971 census figures.

Its terms of reference also were excluded by parliament from considering growth factors. Mr. Justice Campbell Grant, commission chairman said later.

But, intimated Mr. Lawrence, results for redistribution proposals could have been more realistic if electoral census statistics from recent federal and provincial elections had been used.

Mr. Lawrence asked the commission to review its proposals to change boundaries of his ridings in the Quinte — Oshawa corridor.

A proposed new Durham district surrounds Oshawa but the areas east and west of that city have no community of interest, he said.

He also suggested the present ridings of Prince Edward-Hastings Northumberland — Durham and Peterborough remain intact.

As ridings, they now are "perfectly acceptable," he suggested, and need no further dislocation confusion and tears.

On Friday, targets should be at the course by 4 p.m. and by 9 a.m. Saturday, said Mr. Lewars.

Homer Does It in 12th

Fisk Blasts Red Sox Back on Even Terms

CARLTON FISK

One Swing Ends It

BOSTON (AP) — "I don't think I've ever been in a more emotional game," catcher Carlton Fisk said early this morning after belting the lasting homer which lifted Boston Red Sox to a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati Reds.

"I don't think anybody in the world could ask for a better game," the big catcher said after his dramatic blast which forced a seventh and deciding game in the World Series tonight.

Fisk took off against Pat Darcy, the eighth Cincinnati pitcher, in the 12th for the Boston 12th.

"The pitch was a sinker down and in," Fisk said. "When I hit it, I knew it was going to be foul or a home run.

"I wasn't trying to hit it to homer, but I got a good ou on the ball. I thought it was going to hook around the foul pole. Instead, the ball hit the pole. The wind must have pushed it 15 or 20 feet closer to the line."

Fans swarmed on the field as Fisk circled the bases. But he said there was no danger that he would miss seeing.

"I made sure I touched every base," he said. "I touched every little white thing I saw on the way around. In fact, I was ready to straight arm or push anybody out of my way."

FILES PETITION

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Rubin (Hurricane) Carter's lawyer filed a petition Tuesday with Gov. Brendan T. Byrne seeking executive clemency for his client. Lewis Steel, lawyer for John Artis, the ex-middleweight boxing contenders convicted-of-a-ast, said he would file a similar petition Wednesday. Lawyer Byron Baldock said Bryne now is free to pardon Carter and Artis or commute their life sentences to time already served. They were convicted of murdering three men during a 1966 tavern holdup in Paterson and have maintained they were innocent and sent to prison be-cause of racial prejudice.

Tiger-Cats' Tom Pate Dead

CALGARY (CP) — Tom Pate, 23, who came to Canada from Omaha, Neb., this year to play professional football, died Tuesday from 79 hours after collapsing during a Canadian Football League game.

The Hamilton Tiger-Cats linebacker lapsed into a coma after falling to the artificial turf of McMahon Stadium during his team's 35-23 victory over Calgary Stampeders Saturday night and was in critical condition up to his death Tuesday evening.

Dr. Jack Barlass, a neurosurgeon who treated Pate at Foothills Hospital, said an autopsy will be necessary to determine the exact cause of death.

There has been no medical evidence made public directly linking Pate's collapse and death to the clean hard block he took from Calgary's Rick Gelbaba and Dick Wesolowski seconds ahead of collapsing.

Barlass told reporters Tuesday night that Pate had a brain hemorrhage. "But whether this was the cause of death or whether this was the result of injuries he received in the football game, we don't know." A decision on an inquest would be made after the autopsy.

Hamilton team doctor Jim Charters said prior to the game Pate had been suffering from severe headaches and Calgary general manager Cary Hobson said a doctor who examined Pate in hospital indicated Pate had a weakness in a blood vessel, technically known as an aneurysm.

Pate, who graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1975 as a business administration major, recovered from a childhood attack of spinal meningitis. He said early in the season that the attack at age 13 sent him into a coma for four days, caused him to lose 10 pounds and confined him to hospital for 11 days.

Pate is the second player to die following a game in the history of the CFL and there has been no reported death among American professionals.

Defensive end Dick Suderman of Edmonton Eskimos died in 1972 the day after a game. An autopsy showed he had an aneurysm. Flanker Chuck Hughes of Detroit Lions collapsed on the turf during a game several seasons ago and later died in hospital of an apparent heart attack.

Teammates described Pate, a husky six-foot-three and 220 pounds, as quiet and serious. A friend, Cindy Drullinger of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Pate, his parents, had been at his bedside since Sunday.

Pate started his Canadian football career as a free agent with Saskatchewan Roughriders and appeared to have won a starting job but was cut the day before the season opened when the team picked up veteran Roger Goree from Calgary.

He found a job with knits and played intermittently defence, putting them in a battle for the third-string and final playoff position in the Eastern Conference.

Al Sanagustin, Roughriders president and president of the Western Football Conference, called Pate's death a "tremendous tragedy."

"It's a terrible loss of a very fine football player and a very fine gentleman."

DWIGHT EVANS

BOSTON (AP) — After three days of rain at Fenway Park, they finally played the sixth game of baseball's World Series on Tuesday night.

It was a game that was worth waiting for.

With all the drama of Broadway and the wallop of a lightweight prize fight, Boston Red Sox defeated Cincinnati Reds 7-6 in 12 innings and set the stage for tonight's seventh game.

"They will be talking about that game for years to come," said Cincinnati's Pete Rose, after the Red Sox tied the best-of-seven series at three games apiece. "This game was the best advertisement for baseball you could have."

Rose, who never enjoys losing a game, nevertheless enjoyed playing in the "Green Monster" ballpark.

"When he came up to bat in the 10th, Rose leaned over and said to me, 'Wow, this is some kind of game,'" said Boston co-er Carlton Fisk. "I agreed with him.

"You couldn't ask for a better game."

Fisk ended the game with a leadoff home run in the 12th. The ball jumped off the bat and sailed into the left-field foul pole, bringing the roaring crowd at Fenway to its feet and the Red Sox players streaming on to the soggy field.

It was a sinker down and in," said Fisk of the home run pitch from Cincinnati reliever Pat Darcy, the eighth Reds' pitcher of the game. "I knew it was a home run or going to be foul or be a home run.

"Since the wind was blowing out, I was afraid the ball might be caught in the park. In fact, I bet the wind took the thing down in front closer to the line than it should have been and it wound up hitting the pole just inside fair ground it."

Fisk's blow was the most dramatic of the night because it was the final shot fired at Fenway. But there were many other moments of high tension.

Washed out of three successive starts by a storm, the Reds had last were poised for a knockout punch of the Red Sox in game. But a combination that left in the first punches, scoring three quick runs on Fred Lynn's homer into the right-centre field seats in the first inning.

It seemed that it would be enough for Luis Tiant, the way Boston's ace was pitching for the first four innings. He gave up no runs and only two hits and appeared to be well on his way toward a third victory.

It wasn't to be, however. Tiant showed he was only human in the fifth when he gave up three runs, two on a triple by Ken Griffey.

His imperfection became more obvious when George Foster unloaded a two-run double in the Cincinnati seventh and Cesar Geronimo laced a home run into the right-field seats in the eighth.

Geronimo's wallop finished Tiant and gave the Reds a 6-3 lead. With Pedro Borbon pitching overpowering baseball in relief, the Reds seemed to have you wish you were as strong a hitter, and he just laughed because we were real good friends when I was with the Reds. I wasn't trying to insult him or anything. I just was too excited. I was terribly thrilled."

With the cheers of the Red Sox faithful still ringing in the air, Boston came back with more fireworks in the ninth. They loaded the bases with none out. The noise level reached new heights.

But the Boston rally fizzled. Lynn lofted a fly ball to Foster along the left field line and the Cincinnati outfielder gunned down Denny Doyle at home for a double play. Then Petrocelli grounded out and the game went into extra innings.

The Reds had the opportunity to put the Red Sox away but they failed to back by an almost unbelievable play by Evans in right in the 11th.

With a man on first, Joe Morgan hit a drive that appeared almost certainly headed for home run territory but the young outfielder speared the ball near the seats and fired back into the infield to complete a double play.

"It was the best catch I've ever seen," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

That catch saved Boston for the Fisk delivered his homer.

It was a fitting climax to a game that had everything—even a violent collision with the centre field wall by Lynn that temporarily knocked the outfielder in the fifth inning.

Lynn, one of the best rookies to come along in the American League for many years, was hurt when he went back in an attempt to catch Griffey's triple.

The ABA dropped its Baltimore franchise Monday and moved to have the remaining nine franchises join the established NBA.

An NBA spokesman said concerning the third official that "although the owners recognized the improved coverage that three officials bring to the game, the overriding factors were the existing operation costs for the NBA and member clubs, especially litigation expenses.

The board approved a motion limiting the jump ball for the 1978-79 season which opens Thursday. All games will begin with a jump ball. The team winning the jump will have possession of the ball starting the fourth quarter by inbounding the ball under its own basket.

No Action on Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Basketball Association adopted a new rule at a league board of governors meeting Tuesday limiting the jump ball and tabled a recommendation of hiring a third official to work league games.

The meeting, presided over by O'Brien, took no action on the American Basketball Association's desire to merge with the NBA.

Habs Halt Penguins' Streak

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens, played the spoiler role Tuesday night, whipping Pittsburgh Penguins 7-1 in National Hockey League game and ending a four-game winning streak for th. Penguins.

The Pittsburgh club had run up a record of 23 wins and eight ties against one loss on their home ice since dropping a 3-2 decision to the Canadiens last Nov. 27.

But the Canadiens handed the Penguins their first loss in five games this season and jumped into first place in the Norris Di-61.

Pete Mahovlich punked his goal total to seven, with two first-period goals for Montreal. Guy Lafleur, who had two assists, scored his seventh and eighth goals of the year, both on power plays, and Yvon Lambert and defenceman Guy Lapointe added man-advantage scores. Dutt had Penguin's other goal.

Pierre Larouche set up Jean Pronovost for Pittsburgh's only goal against Montreal netminder Ken Dryden, who turned in 26 saves. Gary Inness faced 37 shots for Pittsburgh.

At Uniondale, N.Y., Don Lever beat Islanders' goalie Billy Smith at 18:28 of the third period to give Vancouver its tie.

Rookie Rick Blight with two goals, Chris Oddleifson and Dennis Ververgaert were Vancouver's other marksmen. Clarke Gillies and defencemen Denis Potvin had two goals each for New York, and Billy Harris one.

Vancouver coach Phil Maloney was happy with the result, considering three of his top penalty killers—Garry Monahan, Gerry O'Flaherty and John Grisdale—were back home nursing injuries.

At St. Louis, the Blues picked up their second win against three losses and a tie as Garry Unger, playing in his 500th straight game, scored his fifth and ninth goals of the year, and Bob MacMillan, Brian Ogilvie, Wayne Merrick and Chuck Lefley had the other St. Louis goals, while Bob Nevin beat Yves Belanger with 5:01 to play for the only Kings goal in 74 shots.

Racers Having Problems

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Indianapolis Racers are having their problems, and coaching may not be the problem.

The second-year World Hockey Association team started the season with a victory over the expansion Denver Spurs, but have lost five consecutive games, the most recent a 3-1 loss Tuesday night to Minnesota Fighting Saints.

The game marked the 1st left winger Jack Carlson scored Alamgolds coaching debut of Jacques Demers, who until Gerry Meure was fired after a Saturday night, was director of players' personnel for the Racers.

The game was tied 1-1 until his first goal of the season at 4:38 to give the Fighting Saints the victory.

In other WHA games Tuesday night, Winnipeg Jets shut out Cincinnati Stingers 7-0 and Quebec Nordiques beat New England Whalers 6-4.

Dave Keon picked up his sec. ond goal of the season to give the Fighting Saints a 1-0 lead at 4:31 of the first period, but defenceman Pat Stapleton tied it for the Racers seven minutes later.

The victory moved Minnesota into a first-place tie with Phoenix for the West Division lead.

The Jets scored three power play goals in the first period to defeat the first-year Stingers.

Anders Hedberg scored two goals to pace the Jets at their home opener before 8,823 fans.

Veteran goaltender Joe Daley kicked out 22 shots to record his second shutout of the season.

Reinan Houle scored his fourth goal of the season and set up two others as the Nordiques won their fourth game in five starts.

Voyageurs Whip Indians

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nova Scotia Voyageurs pumped in five goals in the first period and never looked back as they dumped Springfield Indians 10-3 in an American Hockey league game Tuesday night.

In the only other scheduled game, Sorel Lakeuneus slipped a shot past Baltimore goalie Dunc Wilson on a power play with 1:08 remaining to give Richmond Robbins a 3-2 victory over the Clippers.

In Sydney, the Voyageur attack was led by Ron Andruff with three goals, Guy Chouinard with two goals and Kelly Greenbank, Jim Cahoon, Pierre Mondou, Paul Woods and Mike Polich added one goal each.

Springfield's goals came in the third period from Norm Dube and Don Calvin.

It was the second game between the two teams in Capt. Evelin this week while the Italian forward after the Vees as Chouinard scored an agricultural show. The Voyageurs won 3-2 on Sunday.

Nova Scotia came on strong in the first with Cahoon rifling a shot past the unsuspecting Rocky Farr from a sharp angle at the 44-second mark. Mondou scored on a power play from John Shanahan and Chouinard at 2:05.

Farr was replaced by Bob Taylor in the Springfield net when Andruff sank a low backhand shot at 4:46.

The Yorker was unable to stop the Vees as Chouinard scored twice with almost identical 40-foot shots from the right of the Springfield net.

Springfield got on the scoreboard at 6:32 of the third period when Dube took a pass from Billy Inglis and Dennis Patterson and flipped in a backhand shot from in front of the net.

Marlies, Canadians Tie

Fincups Rip Generals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Fincups had their second most productive game of the season Tuesday, defeating Oshawa Generals 8-3 in Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A action.

In other games, Toronto Marlboros and Kingston Canadians fought to a 4-4 draw at Kingston and London Knights tied St. Catharines Black Hawks 5-5 at St. Catharines.

League play resumes Thursday with Kitchener at Peterborough, Sault Ste. Marie at Windsor and Sudbury at St. Catharines.

Two goals each from Dale McCourt and Archie King led Hamilton to the win before 1,200 spectators. Rick Selling, Joe Contini, Jack Anderson and Mike Keeling got the other goals for the Fincups.

Glen Kirkham, Brian Dillon and Bill Lismore scored for Oshawa. The Generals continually were frustrated by Hamilton goalie Al Jensen, who blocked 39 of the 42 Oshawa shots. The Fincups fired 28 shots at the Oshawa goal.

Hamilton led 3-0 after the first period and stretched the lead to 6-0 before the Generals scored their first goal.

John Sarsky's goal with less than five minutes remaining gave Toronto the tie in a game played before a crowd of 3,654 Kingston fans.

The Marlboros, who trailed 3-1 going into the final 30 minutes of play, got their other goals from Gary Ehlers, Mike McEwen and Bruce O'Grady.

Brad Rhiness, Ken Linseman, Tim Stiller and Brad Tamblyn scored for the Canadians, who led 3-1 at one point in the first period.

The de gave Kingston a two-way tie with Sudbury Wolves for first place in the Leyden division.

The Marlboros outshot the Canadians 30-20.

In St. Catharines, it was centre Doug Calner's third goal of the game that salvaged a tie for the Black Hawks.

The game was watched by 386 spectators, believed the smallest crowd in the 33-year history of Junior A hockey in St. Catharines.

The Hawks led 3-0 in the first period but were tied 3-3 going into the second.

London scored the only goal of the second period and then led 5-3 in the third before Calner scored at 10:47 and 18:37.

Other St. Catharines scorers were Kevin Lamars and Ken Campbell.

Brad Marsh scored his first two goals of the season for London and Tom Rowe, Rick Green and Vern Stenlund each got one.

The Hawks outshot London 36-28.

Injunctions Denied Gretzky and Rorabeck

TORONTO (CP) — Two minor league hockey players were denied interim injunctions Tuesday that would have permitted them to play for a team in the Toronto area.

Wayne Gretzky, 14, and Brian Rorabeck, 13 were denied the injunctions by Mr. Justice James Southey of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice Southey said he did not think the boys were suing to prevent the violation of legal rights pelmessed by them, and that they had not exhausted the appeal procedures available to them in hockey channels, before coming to court.

The two boys, whose families live outside Toronto, had released from their Ontario Minor Hockey Association teams before moving to Toronto this fall under legal guardianship.

Gretzky, of Brantford, Ont., and Rorabeck, of Brighton, Ont., have enrolled in Toronto schools and had hoped to play for the Toronto Nationals Hockey Club.

REQUEST APPROVED

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP) — A judge has approved a request from executors of the estate of Robert J. Schmertz to sell his interest in the Celtics to two Los Angeles businessmen for $3 million. The move, if approved by the National Basketball Association's board of governors, will give Irving Levin and Harold Lipton total control of the team. Schmertz, who died in July, bought the Celtics in 1972 for $4.5 million. He later sold half interest in the team to Levin and Lipton.

Belleville Lions Midget goaltender, Terry Thompson, did everything but stand on his head to make a save against Kingston's Kevin Taylor in the third period of Tuesday's game at the Memorial Arena. The Gurnsey Midget forward had taken a pass from teammate Matt Murray on a two-on-one situation, against Belleville defenceman Curt Lang. (staff feature) and harkhanied the puck over the sprawling Thompson. Taylor's goal started a third period onslaught that culminated in Kingston's 8-4 win.

Kingston Trips Lions Midgets

Kingston Gurnsey Major Midgets made perseverance pay Tuesday night at the Memorial Arena as they came came from behind to outlast Belleville Lions 8-4. The two Ontario Minor Hockey Association squads were matched up in the second game of first elimination series for the right to represent Ontario at the Wrigley National Midget Tournament in Calgary.

Belleville had won the opening match up of the best-of-three series in weekend play in Kingston. However, the Gurnsey's just kept plucking away at the local all-star with positional heads up hockey and took advantage of Lions' errors to earn the win.

The Belleville squad came out of the first period with a 3-1 lead, Bell's teams leading and neither made a move about scuffling over the puck. Some keen passing and tight positional play by the Lions led to goals by Gary Cooper and Bob Bunton, Randy Hutchinson and Howie Coons drew helpers on the opening goal and Cooper and John Jannopoulos assisted on the second. Matt Murray got the only Kingston marker of the period.

The visitors came out flying in the second frame and simply outplayed the locals. Too many cooks spoil the broth and sometime during the second period everyone of the Belleville team became a puck carrier. Defencemen were caught up the ice and forwards were checked at centre ice before they could head man the puck. That's when the tide turned and Kingston tallied three consecutive goals within a two minute span. Murray, Brian Cole and Joe Monahan got these.

Belleville regained a certain degree of composure and made the score 4-3 at the end of the second on Bunton's second goal of the game from Bob Crawford and Jim Spence. Kingston continued to move the puck when, after three minutes of the third, Murray scored again. Bunton replied two minutes later, with helpers going to Jannopoulos and Curt Langstaff, to keep Belleville within one goal.

Then the roof fell in. Two minutes after Bunton's goal, Kingston was in front 5-4. Kevin Taylor, John Derrys and Cole fired those three.

The Lions dug in and came back with singles from Coons and Crawford, but two goals was as less as they could cut the margin. Randy Smith earned the assist on Coon's goal and Jannopoulos and Bunton got the helpers on Smith's.

The deciding game in the series will be played in Kingston later this week. The winner of this will have four remaining series to win before qualifying for the Wrigley Tournament.

Chuckwagon Takes Over

Bob's Sports had hardly gotten the feel of first place when Chuckwagon Foods bumped them back into second. Both clubs are undefeated and Bob's had won their third game of the season Monday night to earn a share of the top spot. However, Tuesday night in Gas House Hockey League action, Chuckwagon ran their unbeaten streak to four games and moved two points up on Bob's with a decisive 7-1 victory over Procter and Gamble.

In two other GHDL games Tuesday, Bayview Orchards shut-out a stubborn Constellation Carpet club 9-0 and Bitcrop Heating downed Kelly's Esso 5-1.

Wally Dalnard scored twice for Chuckwagon and Fred Bedard, Tom Pierce, Grant Sage, Fred Silcide and Terry Casselman fired the others.

Mark Bradshaw replied for Procter and Gamble.

Ken Genereaux displayed some of the form that made him one of the top goalies during the 1974-75 season Tuesday night when he earned Bayview's shutout. Steve Truelove and Dave Skelton provided him with all the firepower he needed.

John Pipsea scored twice and Charlie Nastvoski collected three assists in Bitcrop's win. Vic Peralla, Tony Lemini and Bill Lynch added one goal each.

Warren Rushlow was the low marksman for Kelly's.

Radiator Service In Front

Belleville Radiator Service remains the only team with a perfect record in the Belleville Broomball League, following Friday night play at Dick Ellis Rink.

Backed by strong goaltending from Joel Trudeau, the team made it two wins in as many starts by tarnling back Golden Mile Restaurant 4-1. In other games, A & J restaurant of Trenton tasted defeat for the first time since joining the league in 1974 when Northern Electric won 3-1, and Bancroft Sports Centre nipped Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund 1-0.

The Radiator Service team got a three-goal effort from Bob Mcleod in 20 with Trudeau's steady netminding. Jim Parks had the other goal for the winners. Alec Reich and Andy Prudden each earned two assists. Loss marksman for Golden Mile was Joe Louis.

Northern Elected evened its record at 1-1 with the upset of A & J. Joe Romano fired two goals and Bob McFarlane added one. Jacklin took care of the A & J goal.

In a battle of the new entries in the league, the Sports Centre squeezed past BYBP on Steve Rushkevi' goal. Tom Rogers record the shutout to edge Yvon Lamer in the goalie's duel.

Saints Finish With a Rush

Demonstrating a high-geared, diversified attack and a stout defence, Sorry Turpin's Quinte Secondary School Saints closed out their Bay of Quinte High School Football League regular schedule, Tuesday, whipping Napanee and District Secondary School 27-0.

The win in Napanee was the fourth in seven starts for the Junior Saints who climbed into a points tie for third place in the standings with Moira Secondary School Trojans who close out their regular season today against Prince Edward Collegiate Institute. Napanee finished at 2-5.

Roaring into a 22-0 lead in the first half, Saints continued to apply the pressure and outscored Napanee 20-6 after the interval.

Quarterback Duff Porteous hit flanker Gary Frederick for a pair of touchdowns and running back Ken Bevoy put in another strong effort for the Saints, accounting for two majors and add'ng a pair of two-point conversions.

Paul Bandeljoinis and Don Buck, running from the full-back position, took care of the other Saints' majors. Bandeljoinis also clicked for a two-point conversion.

Napanee's points came on a third quarter touchdown by quarterback Greg Mills.

QFL May Expand to 12 Teams

The Quinte Football League operated in the face of impending doom Thursday night as 1975 campaign plan support fell off at a rapid rate over the past few years, but never more abruptly than during the past season.

It was even difficult to get together a complete executive without falling back on the old faithfuls.

However, QFL officials decided to hold their organization meeting in the fall rather than the spring of '76 and by doing so came up with their most promising results in several years.

The consensus is that the league will expand to a 12-team loop from its 82-days situation of past seasons. Represented at the meeting on the weekend were Deseronto Mohawks, Howard & Robert Printing, Augur Men's Wear, Bardon Supplies and Rorabeck Real Estate, all members of the league during the past year, Cobourg, Cold Springs, Brighton, Napanee and Peterborough Beck Transport.

Also throwing their names in the QFL hat were Madoc Campbellford and possibly Belleville this week-end though without representation at the meeting.

Should the league double to a full 12 squads it will be divided into an East and West Division. Another added twist would be institution of travelling among teams. In previous years all games were played at Belleville's Alemite Park, but with the distances involved, it was considered unfair to have teams constantly coming to Belleville. Instead, some games will be played in Napanee and Peterborough, and possibly Madoc, Cobourg and Trenton.

The only factor still constandy up in the air is the election of the '76 executive. George Rutledge, Harold Bawden Bill Shaw and Vern Whalen, the workhorses of the executive for the past several years, all declined to serve for another term.

In order to find an executive a temporary screening committee has been established. Members of it are Jack O'Donnell, from Trenton; Doug Murray and Bill Morrow, from Belleville, and Tom Matthews, from Cobourg.

The next meeting of the group will take place on Sunday, November 30, 2 p.m. at the Recreation Centre on Pinnacle Street, Belleville.

Nova Scotian Schools Under Heavy Attack

WINDSOR (CP) — "After Nova Scotia established a province's school system is producing illiterates and semi-illiterate students who have little or no background in the humanities.

Dr. H. G. Schwarz of the Dalhousie University German studies department says, "Education is my year in this province that within a few years the only teachers served by the department of manpower will be to recruit unskilled labor for Upper Canada."

Dr. Schwarz says the underlying problem is the heavily endowed education system run by the provincial government.

The Graham commission report, a comprehensive examination of the province's school system, recommends major curriculum changes.

"That'll really be the end of quality education if they do it," Dr. Schwarz says. "If they turn curriculum decisions over to local areas they'll end up with rural areas with less sophisticated standards than those in urban settings.

"The problem, as I see it, is that high school education in the province is not geared to produce any educated elite but produces persons with mediocre skills through an education system which reduces its content to the lowest common denominator."

Dr. Schwarz says one of the major tragedies of this system is that it not only denies the average student a chance to improve but also deprives gifted students.

"It's the most anti-social education system in the world."

Another spin-off of government education regulations that Dr. Schwarz says needs to be removed is that they tend to force universities in the province to lower entrance standards in order to enlarge the student body.

"The bigger that gets the bigger the per-student grant gets."

He says English is the course in need of overhaul in provincial schools, and it is a subject that is worst in need of change.

"If senior high school, English is the only compulsory subject and even it has been reduced to a banal communications art which neglects written English and grammar," he says.

The effect is that Dr. Schwarz has freshmen who have never written an essay in their entire high school experience "and some are unable to string words together to form a single comprehensible or grammatically correct sentence."

Is the problem only in Nova Scotia?

"No, the American system is totally corrupt educationally apart from a handful of universities who have decent standards. The Canadian, and especially the Nova Scotian, system of education is on the same track."

Small Bridge Builder Now Champion Logger in BC

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—The real ball of the Canadian woods is the 300-pound logger — in fact; he's an introspective wallywaigh who stands a lot less than six feet tall and tips the scales at a mere 150 pounds.

Soft-spoken Alan Boyko is a bridgebuilder during the week at MacMillan Bloedel's Taylor logging division on Vancouver Island. On weekends, he's the world champion in two logging sports and he became the titleholder in a fistful of others. He's won as many championships in 18 years of competitive logging events that he's lost track of some of them.

Boyko may not be a towering giant, but he packs a wallop that would break Paul Bunyan's kneecap. His shakes hands like a freight train coupler and the tattoo on his right forearm has grown from garter snake to python proportions thanks to a muscle-building program that has turned his arms into tanned pistons.

Born and raised in Port Alberni, Boyko is a thoughtful quiet man who collects antique bottles and pottery around a basement cluttered with tools and a pinball machine, making coffee tables from log burls for family and friends. But put him on his favorite battlefield, a logging sports park, and he bears little a true "bull of the woods" — loggers' slang for top hand — and possibly the best all-around competitive logger this country has ever produced.

Size, he insists, is no substitute for skill. Boyko is one of the smallest but most successful competitors on the Canadian Loggers Sports Association's 13-meet British Columbia circuit, which covers Vancouver Island, the lower mainland and Fraser Valley.

"I've been in quite a number of logging sports events where there are guys a lot bigger than I am, over six feet and 200 pounds or more," said the 40-year-old bridgeman, a regular on the circuit since 1965. "If you can get mean enough and you've practised enough, a smaller man can come out on top."

Boyko specializes in two events that involve at sagth and dexterity with steel cabled used in actual logging operations — eye splicing and the Mady Hogan race. He's the recognized world champion in both categories and utilizes skills he acquired on the two acres behind MacMillan Bloedel at Franklin River in 1953 at 18 years of age.

"In eye splicing, you take a piece of three-quarter-inch cable and tie an eye loop by weaving the strands together," Boyko explained. "In a logging camp you use an eye-spliced loop to pull the rigging back out of the bush."

He said the Mady Hogan race consists of taking two pieces of cable together by inserting a nine-foot-length of line between the ends — a grueling task that you even together in competitive circumstances.

"You call it the poor man's shackle."

Medicine Showman Tells Old Tales

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Ernie West's memories are filled with 50-year-old tales of travelling medicine shows. He can spend hours talking about bottles of tonic, cakes of skin, food and vaudeville routines.

Between his youth and his 70th birthday, Mr. West followed the vaudeville circuit and hawked countless cases of medicine to the gullible crowds throughout Ontario and the northern United States.

Mr. West was born in this city and lives here now. His father operated a livery service and it was from here he embarked on his travelling show career.

"After father died in 1919, I ran away to the minstrel shows," he said in an interview. "I guess I thought I was Frank Sinatra."

But the minstrel shows did not hold him for long and in 1927 he joined Doc Baylor's Travelling Indian Medicine Show.

Mr. West said he and his brother-in-law, Mel Forbes, are the last surviving members of the real travelling medicine shows.

"It's really a phenomenon with a medicine man; you are an actor, a salesman and a publicity man as well as yourself," he said.

"And the doctor, he was a genius—and he was a real doctor, not like a lot of the rest of them," said Mr. West about his employer.

"He spoke five languages and two of them were native Indian languages."

"Wherever the travelling medicine show stopped in Ontario, whether it was Stratford or Ingersoll or Tillsonburg, it began 18 days of hawking medicine and doing skits.

Mr. West said the show put on three acts a night and only five persons did everything.

"If you repeated an act or sang the same song twice, you were fined five bucks by the Doc," Mr. West said.

"And you got a $5 fine for mentioning the word soap—it was always skin food—and if you were caught swearing or smoking around a tent it was another $5."

Mr. West said he was paid $25 a week and traveling expenses with Doc Baylor's show and that was "pretty big money" in those days.

As well as the skits and songs, there were the now-legendary medicines that would cure anything from stomach aches to heart attacks.

"We had this one medicine; it was Epsom salts and iron and boiled tea for coloring and we hawked it as a way to stop stomach gripes," he said. "The ingredients cost about cents and we sold it for $1."

Then there was the castor oil which was supposed to be so strong one drop would eat through any leather in one minute.

"We'd get one man from the audience and put a drop of oil on this piece of leather and tell him to cut through it with a knife before the oil got through," he said.

"Well the leather was really soft belly leather that we hammered on an old railway track to look like shoe leather and the oil just soaked right through."

If such demonstrations were not enough to convince the people of the value of the medicines, there was always a display of bottles on stage to win over the skeptical.

"One jar was supposed to contain a tape worm passed by someone who drank our tonic and it was 285 feet long," Mr. West said. "It really came out of a sheep."

Report Hits Hard at TV

CANBERRA (CP) — Regular television viewing may be socially and physically dangerous, a report released here contends.

Researchers who prepared the study claim the result may be social breakdown, alienation of the individual from society and himself, and a state resembling severe brain damage in the viewer.

The report, entitled A Choice of Futures: To Enlighten or Inform, is a computer-wave summary of international work on the effects of television on the human brain.

A team of 12 researchers carrying on the study for the Australian Post Office drew on unpublished material and in various parts of the world including the United States, Canada, Britain and Europe.

Dr. Paul Emery, a senior research fellow in the centre for continuing education at Australian National University here, headed the team.

The researchers claim that under the stimulus of television, the function of the left cortex of the brain—the centre of visual, optical and calculating precision—is effectively reduced in tracking changes on the television screen.

Their work suggests that the continuous insensible flicker of the television viewer is not "purposeful attention" but diffuse.

Effects of color television may be more dangerous than black and white as the right cortex of the brain becomes occupied with processing the color signal. This cuts down the time it has for checking and cross-checking information, and reduces communication between both cortices or brain sections.

The researchers say television is used mainly by people wishing to escape from their own psychological problems and who are the least concerned with the outside world. Television isolates them from the real world and may result in the viewer being out of touch with reality for some time after the television set is switched off.

In Memoriam

HILL — In loving memory of a dear mother, Blanche Hill who passed away Oct. 22, 1962.
No one knows our heartaches,
Only those who have had can tell,
How we miss her smile and voice,
For the mother we loved so well.
—Always remembered by daughter Kathryne, son-in-law Austin and family.

CARD OF THANKS

Words fail to express our sincere appreciation of the many kindnesses shown us on the occasion of our golden wedding anniversary. Thank you for the cards, telegrams, gifts. To relatives, friends, neighbours and especially gifts, cards, flowers, the cards and telegrams presented to us, and all who in any way helped to make the occasion such an enjoyable one. Also thanks to the choir of Trinity United Church and Rev. Ross Mitchell for the lovely hymns presented. It is being remembered by all present and we will always treasure the memory of the happy occasion.

Your Horoscope

For Thursday, October 23

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is not a good day to try to accomplish things alone. Other people's thinking will help you to avoid mistakes.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to be extra-practical today. You could kid yourself that you have more resources than you have thus causing much wastefulness.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're in a happy-go-lucky mood. If home problems should interfere with your social desires take it in stride.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're more content at home today. Things sunny you at work. You'll even get uplight it you have to leave the house to run an errand.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you try to have things all your own way with friends today, it's going to cost you far more than you bargained for.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You might get away with playing the big shot with strangers today but don't try it at home. They'll burst your bubble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Keep everything out in the open today. Hidden motives will accentuate a lot of fast talking to cover up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Keep your thoughts and ideas to yourself today. Other people's opinions will be wrong for you and could prove expensive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Continue to try to think in terms of helping others. You tend to be too self-centred. This could put you in a bad light.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep your nose to the grindstone. Don't try any new-fangled ideas. Things get done better by tried-and-true methods today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're lucky as you're dealing with a few friends today. Large groups or gatherings could bore you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be prepared to be flexible and able to change your thinking today, or you'll find yourself locking horns with those at home.

Thoracic Syndrome Affects Chest Area

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please write a column about thoracic syndrome, what causes it, what are the symptoms, and what can be done to relieve the pain?—Mrs. N.M.

These are chest area pains caused by abnormal pressure on certain spinal nerves as they pass from the lower spine through the neck. The particular nerves involved are those entering the upper chest (thoracic) space. Pressure may result, for example, from what is called a "cervical rib," an abnormal projection from one of the lower neck vertebrae. The nerve pressure can also result from a tightening of a muscle running from the back of the skull to the collar bone (sternomastoid).

Because of the complexity of nerve and muscle systems involved in the cervical (neck) portion of the spine, an absolutely accurate diagnosis usually can produce a variety of complications. Certain positions or movements can exert pressure on nerve trunks or nerves, producing pain and numbness as far distant as the fingers.

An X-ray of the lower neck spine would disclose the cervical rib, which, if present, can be corrected surgically. Like the wrist, the taut muscle problem can be relieved with surgery.

Short of this there is little else to be done. The person must learn to avoid the positions or movements that provoke pressure and the pain. A neurologist can often determine the precise source of pressure and pain from the patient's symptoms.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you answer some questions about trichomoniasis? How is it contracted? How is it eradicated without a doctor's care, if at all? What happens if it is left untreated?—Mrs. M.A.

This form of vaginitis is usually due to infection from a sexual partner. I don't know how you would treat the problem without the supervision of a physician. The trichomonas parasite must first be identified from appropriate tests before a specific medication can be prescribed to combat it. Also, it is important for the sexual partner to be treated at the same time to avoid cyclic infection and reinfection.

If left untreated, the progress would be the same as in any infection, with increased discomfort and vaginal discharge. Tip: women who become discomfort and vaginal discharge should look to their toilet habits. Toilet tissue should be used in a forward to back wiping motion. Readers will excuse the explicitness of this rather basic bit of information, which can be the answer in a great many of the causes of vaginitis, whether trichomonas as well as of other, similar vaginal disturbances.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Some time ago you had an article in which you described a man whose urine was red after he ate red beets. My husband seems to have the same problem, but his urine turns red. He beets do the same thing to the bowels?

He is a heart patient and is using a blood thinner. Could this have something to do with it?—Mrs. N.B.

After eating heavily-pigmented food such as beets, the urine may be discolored for a day.

However, use of blood thinner, especially in high dose, can cause subtle bleeding which can appear in the stool, urine or vomit. If your husband notices blood, it should be reported immediately to his doctor. If it is only a red coloring that occurs after eating beets, then there is no problem.

Seaport Hostel End of the World

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Smack in the centre of this old seaport capital stands a three-storey building with a sign that says "End Of The World Hostel."

The hostel, formerly a United Church children's home, opened last July and by the time it closed its doors for the summer season it had provided accommodation for 1,600 visitors from many parts of the world.

About 70 per cent of the visitors were Canadian, 20 per cent were American and the rest were from England, Europe, Mexico and Japan.

A member of the staff said the hostel, once considered exclusive accommodation for the young, was first this year to cater to travellers in their 30s and 40s.

The United Church donated use of the building when suitable accommodation could not be found elsewhere. It was the hostel's fifth location in as many years.

The hostel operated with a staff of seven people assisting from the department of the secretary of state.

The building was cancelled as a children's home a few months ago when the provincial government refused to continue subsidizing its operation. The last 10 children to occupy it were placed in foster and boarding houses.

This summer was also profitable for hospitality homes in the province.

These are private dwellings in rural areas where homeowners provide room and, in most cases, meals for tourists at rates ranging from $5 to $10 a night for singles.

The provincial government has been encouraging hospitality homes since 1972 and about 60 of them now are registered in the province.

The tourism department provides no funds for people wanting to set up such homes, but it can recommend individual operations to the rural development agency for interest-free loans which are repayable over five years.

There is no association in the province for hospitality homes operators so detailed statistics on the number of visitors are not available.

An experimental mini-hostel project started this summer and although it drew fewer visitors than had been anticipated it is being termed a success.

Five mini-hostels were set up by private persons around the province with funding provided by the recreation department. Owners were given $400 grants and permitted to charge $1 a night for rooms.

The mini-hostels were set up to encourage travellers, especially out-of-province tourists, to leave the Trans-Canada Highway and venture into small outports where they would be in closer contact with native people.

"We were late getting approval for the project and too late for any good publicity," said a recreation department spokesman.

"However, if the project is renewed next year there will be more visitors staying in the houses."

He said participants in the program were satisfied with the experience and are encouraging its renewal next year.

To Work In Space

MAINZ, West Germany (Reuter) — West German scientists and engineers will be operating in space by the early 1980s, Dom's Research and Technology Minister Hans Matthofer, has forecast. But he said he did not see any "obvious advantage" in West Germany cooperating with the Soviet Union in space research as it does with the United States.

Opening lead — 3 ♣

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The utility one club opening is usually made with a three-card hand that is too weak for one notrump, two, with six high-card points. North opened one club. His jump rebid to two spades showed this exact hand.

With 11 high-card points of his own, South merely bid to three notrump. North had been hoping for the spade game all the time and proceeded to bid four spades to announce specifically that he had 19 or maybe 20 points with four spades and three cards in each other suit.

South revalued his hand and decided to invite a slam by going to five spades. North's values were exactly in accord, so a good trumpe and he went on to the slam.

Mathematically, the slam is not a really good one. The ace of clubs must be lost. With all four trumps in one hand there is a sure trump loser and in any event the diamond queen must be located.

South started out by playing three rounds of trumps. East's first discard was the three big diamonds and next one the five of clubs.

This diamond discard gave South all the help he needed. He won the diamond king right away, but when he got around to the jack he finessed against East and made his slam.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader wants to know what you should respond to partner's forcing two-club bid with this hand:

♠ KJ 4 ♥ 9 7 6 5 ♦ K 3 2 ♣ 7 4.

We recommend a mere raise to three spades to set the suit. Later on you plan to take further action to show that you really have a tremendous hand opposite a forcing bid.

News Briefs

CUPE Continues Protest

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) continued Wednesday to lay solid groundwork for an all out attack on the federal government's new anti-inflation program. Grace Hartman, CUPE's new president, told about 1,000 delegates in the union's national convention that they should be prepared to take part, if necessary, in "our own demonstrations, lobbies and other forms of political action."

Workers Back on Jobs

MONTREAL (CP) — Construction workers began returning to their jobs today at the main Olympic site and union officials said a solution is imminent in the dispute which had halted work on the mammoth project since Wednesday. The 2,000 workers walked out in protest against the existence of what they described as a police blacklist, designed to keep troublesome workmen from the project. As a result, all work was stopped at the Velodrome, swimming pools and the 70,000-seat main Olympic stadium.

Committee Studies Hike

TORONTO (CP) — An all-party committee of the Ontario legislature likely will begin discussing Ontario Hydro's 25 per cent increase within a few days, Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell said Wednesday.

Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Eugenio Montale, poet of love, solitude and the Mediterranean who drew on the language of Dante in developing a unique style in modern Italian poetry, was awarded the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize for Literature today.

British Consul Kidnapped

LONDON (AP) — Two men armed with guns kidnapped a British honorary consul in Asmara, Ethiopia, the foreign office said. The consul's name was identified as Basil Burwood Taylor, 58, a British businessman who has been living in Asmara for a number of years.

Will Not Waive Interests

TORONTO (CP) — Charges and Master Charge said Wednesday that they have no intention at present of waiving interest charges on bills which are not paid as a result of the current Canada-wide postal strike. The Canadian Press reported erroneously Wednesday that the interest charges would be waived.

Translation Is Expensive

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department is faced with what a spokesman calls a monumental problem of translating about one million pages of technical documents into French. The spokesman said Wednesday the cost could be about $250 million over an indefinite period of years.

Rochdale Now A Mess

TORONTO (CP) — Most of the $1 million scheduled for the renovation of the former Rochdale College will be used to rid the 18-storey downtown building of garbage, bugs and human enrichment, a spokesman for the owners said Wednesday.

Postal Strife

Criticism Mounts Against Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — Political criticism of the government handling of the postal dispute mounted Wednesday as the national strike by the Canadian Union of Postal Workers continued through its second day.

While Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey said the postal workers should be realistic and settle on a wage package offered by the government, progressive Conservative and NDP spokesmen criticized him for negotiating through the media.

The union, representing 22,000 postal clerks and mail handlers, wants to settle non-wage issues before agreeing to any wage settlement. But Mr. Mackasey says he wants the wage question agreed to first.

Speaking to reporters outside the Commons, Mr. Mackasey said the post office was willing to discuss non-monetary issues as late as it was understood that more other questions are settled wages would be as proposed in a conciliation report.

The report, prepared by Judge Jean Moliam of the Quebec Superior Court, recommends pay increases totalling $1,38 in four stages over 18 months, an average hourly pay now is $4.50.

The proposal was accepted by Mr. Mackasey but the postal workers now are asking for pay raises totalling $2.73 over 27 months dating back to October, 1974.

The union also wants the issue of the use of casual non-union labor, seniority, hours of work and other issues resolved before wages are discussed.

Mr. Mackasey said in the Commons that the union should resume negotiations and ask its members to return to work after talks begin again. Negotiations failed Monday night.

But Mr. Mackasey faced attacks in the House from opposition MPs, especially from Cyril Symes (NDP—Sault Ste. Marie) who said the federal treasury board should take over negotiations.

Saskatchewan Balks Economic Controls

REGINA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau failed Wednesday to convince the Saskatchewan Federation of Labor to abide by his government's recently-announced wage and price guidelines.

Federation president George Semeniuk emerged from a meeting with the prime minister to declare the labor group's firm opposition to the controls. He said protest strikes are one possible tactic labor groups may decide to use to fight the legislation.

Mr. Semeniuk said wages are already controlled by the collective bargaining process and the controls on profits will be ineffective.

The controls would limit salary increases to 10 per cent generally and limit price increases to the amount needed to cover increased costs.

The prime minister, however, did have some success, winning support at a private meeting with businessmen, being warmly received at speeches here and in Assiniboia, Sask., and easily deflecting critical questions at a news conference.

In his speeches, Mr. Trudeau elaborated on the controls, which Saskatchewan Premier Allan Blakeney described as vague and potentially unfair to many groups.

Mr. Trudeau rebutted various criticisms made by opponents of the controls, saying they may not have worked in other countries but in those cases the controls were universal.

He noted that in some cases, governments attempted to prevent any wage or price increases.

Police Wait Out Siege

MONASTEREVIN., Ireland (AP) — Police say they are going to wait out a besieged Irish Republican Army terrorist holding kidnapped Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema as negotiations flood for a row house.

"We hope now we can persuade him to see he has nothing to gain by killing Herrema," one detective said early today as the siege went into the third day.

Searchlights illuminated the house where terrorist Eddie Gallagher and a young woman were holding Herrema upstairs while police and troops occupied the ground floor.

Besieging troops pitched tents for shelter, and occupants of neighboring houses sold tea and sandwiches from front-door counters.

Pending Abolition Bill

Allmand Delays Three Hangings

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Warren Allmand indicated Wednesday that none of the nine death sentences imposed by the courts will be carried out or commuted before Parliament deals with a bill to abolish capital punishment.

Three stays of execution until next July 1 were issued Wednesday to give Parliament time to debate an abolition bill expected to be introduced before the end of the year.

Mr. Allmand indicated that judges may be empowered to impose longer mandatory sentences, without parole, for murder and that murder may be categorized in a different way.

Since 1967, the death sentence has been automatic for killing policemen or prison employees and has been imposed 14 times with the cabinet commuting five sentences to life in prison and staying three sentences. The other six are under appeal before the courts.

In all other convictions for murder the sentence has been life in prison.

Life has meant a minimum term of 10 years in prison, since the law was amended in 1972, and a maximum of 20 years. The rest of the life sentence is to be decided by the National Parole Board, to which prisoners released on parole are supposed to report for the rest of their lives.

Mr. Allmand told the Ontario Association of Police during a meeting here Wednesday that judges may be empowered to impose a term of incarceration longer than 20 years.

Although minimum terms must be served before parole is granted, the National Parole Board may release such prisoners on day parole and penitentiary officers may release them on what are called "temporary absences" — leaves of several days for various reasons.

Real Chartrand, whose death sentence was stayed by July 13, was on a temporary absence from a prison psychiatric centre when he shot Constable Gabriel Labelle to death during a bank robbery in Ste. Therese, Que., two years ago.

Chartrand and Rene Vaillancourt, who shot down a Toronto policeman after a 1972 bank robbery, were to be hanged Oct. 21. Vaillancourt was out on bail when he shot the policeman.

John Francis Connearney, who had escaped from a Rhode Island prison, was trying to get rid of a gun when stopped by police in Lasalle, a suburb of Montreal. A constable was killed during the ensuing gunfight.

Connearney was to be hanged Friday. His death sentence also was stayed until July 13.

Mr. Allmand told the police that harsh penalties are not the key to a more stable society. Canadian adults have the provide a better example to children at home, in school and in the community, he said.

Each delegation of about 15 Metropolitan Toronto policemen worked out when Mr. Allmand arrived at the meeting and several policemen from Waterloo, Ont., walked out later as Mr. Allmand, answering questions, said a life sentence does not mean life in prison.

Basic Wage Jump Urged by Ministers

OTTAWA (CP) — Lower-income workers may be eligible for more than the $600 first-year ·pay increase originally provided for under the federal anti-inflation program.

An unspecified boost will be included in proposed changes going to cabinet after a two-day federal-provincial conference of finance and labor ministers ends today.

The provincial ministers generally agreed Wednesday that the $600 jump — or $12 a week — before percentage controls apply — should be more than $600. They declined to mention specific figures.

Federal Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said he is "particularly sympathetic" to such an increase. However, the decision on this and other recommend changes will have to be made by cabinet.

The provinces proposed an array of amendments during the 5½-hour closed session Wednesday.

But Mr. Macdonald told reporters the program has won general support, despite some bedging by Alberta.

Merv Leitch, Alberta's finance minister, said he will hold a commitment to the program for two weeks because it may adversely affect investment in the wealthy, but oc dustry-short province.

Delegates from several provinces said they want the federal program adopted more strictly than indicated so there are a minimum of "exemptions and loopholes" which could destroy its credibility with the public.

Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough said a special surtax would restrain the income of professionals more effectively. Mr. Macdonald said this will be given serious consideration.

Today, the ministers were to discuss the specific federal requests for controls on rents and professional incomes, both under provincial jurisdiction. The labor ministers were to meet separately this afternoon.

The program basically limits wage increases to 10 per cent in the first year and restricts price increases to that amount needed to cover increased costs. Dividends also have been frozen for a year at the level paid in the company's last fiscal year, even if it means a roll-back in dividends now being paid.

Preview of progress in readying Bancroft-area Madawaska Mine for production was given group of visiting financiers, mining professionals and politicians Wednesday. Bancroft Uranium Mine May Employ 300 People

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

BANCROFT — By 1977, reactivation of this area's known major uranium deposit could be under way.

That's the latest estimate given by Madawaska Mines Ltd. as it tries to get the scale of its preparations for re-opening the site to a select group of professional viewers Wednesday.

The visitors included representatives of financial houses, the mining industry, politicians and business people.

The group was called in by Madawaska to view its progress in developing the mine for production —to be sold to the Bancroft area's energy agency, AGIP.

Information sheets handed the group — as it toured the mine were a 40-man workforce now at rehabilitation installations closed more than a decade ago — included these estimates:

— Production startup is scheduled for July 1976.

— By 1977 Madawaska will be producing 1,500 tons of ore daily, employing about 300.

— Proven and probably reserves are 1,022,000 tons with another "inferred" 1,500,000 tons possible. Overall production a total of 8 million pounds of uranium.

— Exploration programs to develop further resources will be carried out as production goes on.

"There is no mine in this country that knows its ultimate reserves, said John Donnelly, assistant vice-president of the Madawaska Joint company formed United States and Canadian corporations to mine the uranium after the Italian contract was approved earlier this year by the federal government.

But federal requirements also include doubling the mine's conservation capacity.

Re-opening of the mine has been hailed with expectancy in an area that was economically lull in the early 1960s, when world demand forced its closing.

As Pat Faraday Uranium Mine it boasted the title of the Bancroft area when it opened in 1957.

Precosts for a renewal gathered momentum last year when it was learned that Federal Resources Corp. of Salt Lake City, and Consolidated Canadian Faraday were seeking approval for the Madawaska project.

The U.S. corporation owns 51 per cent of the Madawaska operation.

Any influx of workers generated by the mine 180 mile project no problems in nearby Bancroft, said Reeve Russell Hawley, as he toured the facilities with the visiting group.

The village now has municipal water and sewage, subdivisions are being planned.

He also figures much of the estimated 300 — man peak workforce are already in the region — from the time Faraday closed — and now live within working distance.

This community of 2,300 — where provincial government area agencies are now an industrial staple — also looks forwards to the economic boost he estimated.

"You can't put a payroll of the size that mines will generate into a small centre like Bancroft and not feel the effects of it," said Reeve Hawley.

Brighton Hockey Shifts to Colborne

BY JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

BRIGHTON — Minor Hockey has been salvaged by the efforts of the parents, officials from the village and townships councils and Wednesday night.

On Tuesday, the Ministry of Labor ordered the Brighton arena closed because the roof could collapse under a heavy snowfall and was unsafe. The entire minor hockey program and all other scheduled programs had to be cancelled. More than 2,000 people were affected by the closing including the figure skating program which has been cancelled for the year.

The village and township are waiting for the results of a survey of Murray township residents to see if they will join with the two Brightons in a cooperative effort to build a new arena in Brighton. The plan has many opposition in Murray because of the proposed location of the arena in Brighton Village.

The program will be shifted to Colborne, if most of the parents agree to provide transportation in a telephone survey being done today, and will be held in non-prime time, Mike Hornibrook, a parks department official.

"We have worked a time arrangement with Colborne so there will only be a limited time said Wednesday night. "But we hope to have this remedied soon, because the ice from the old arena can be removed we will begin breaking practices there," Mr. Hornibrook said.

The organizers were worried because a non-resident minor child to use the Colborne facility but Mr. Hornibrook said this may have been solved.

Both the village and Township councils met this evening and representatives of the Brighton Minor Hockey will be monies available to pay for the extra fees," he said. "It will probably come from the maintenance and repair money set aside in the budget which is no longer needed," Mr. Hornibrook said.

"It is really great to see what can happen when people back it against the wall and so many people work together," Mr. Hornibrook said.

Hikers Down

HALIFAX (CP) — An official of the YMCA hostel here says hitch-hiking is becoming a passing fad, and this is reflecting itself in fewer guests at youth hostels. "There were hundreds of them on the roads around 1970," said Al MacNeill, but now the numbers have dwindled. However, there has been an increase in the number of girls staying at the hostel because they come in bicycle groups from the United States.

Set A Record

LONDON (CP) — More than 500 companies face compulsory liquidation in the first weeks of the court session in October. An official said the level is a record and bankruptcies have averaged about 70 a week.

Plays Seaborne

LONDON (CP) — The Royal Shakespeare Company will present two plays aboard the Queen Elizabeth 2 sailing from Southampton to New York Sept. 24. A cast of five will be seen in Pleasure and Repentance and The Hollow Crown before an eight-week tour of 37 United States universities.

Mini-rolls Build

LONDON (CP) — Retired chauffeurs Bert and Bob Pauling have built their own mini-Rolls-Royce. Using the back part of two old Austin Minis, they fitted it with a scaled-down Rolls-Royce radiator. It was finished in royal blue, carpeted throughout in a thick grey rug and rust-proofed.

Many Residents Favor Shopping Mall Near Picton

PICTON — Prince Edward County planner Hazelton Mahood recently told a public meeting here that small towns like Picton are "crippled" when shopping plazas are constructed on the outskirts of town.

A poll of Picton shoppers Wednesday indicated that travelled a piece on the fringe of this town.

JAMES CORY

James Cory, a Picton public works employee says he would like to see a mall constructed near Picton as he would then be spared the drive to Belleville. He added he prefers to shop in a mall because all stores are under one roof for convenience.

GLORIA FERGUSON

Gloria Ferguson of Picton says she does not regularly patronize the shopping plazas in neighboring communities but she would shop in a mall, if it were built in the outskirts of Picton. She said any new shopping development should be at the east end of Picton.

"It would be a good thing, I think," she observed.

NANCY CHARLTON

Nancy Charlton, an employee at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital, says if there were a plaza near Picton she could stop driving to the malls in other communities. She said she now is a regular shopper at the Quinte Mall, Nappanee Mall, the Belleville Plaza and Frontenac Mall.

GERALD COURTNEY

Gerald Courtney, a Picton Public Works employee, says he is in favor of a mall near Picton for added shopper convenience. He says he now visits the Quinte Mall and noted that a plaza here would make this unnecessary.

GERRY VELTHUIS

A Picton housewife, Gerry Velthuis, said she would like to see Picton's Main Street transformed into a plaza mall with traffic re-routed to bypass the downtown area. She suggested off-street parking and a new route for through traffic.

"These are modern times and you have to do something," she asserted.

MARTY REYNARD

Marty Reynard of the Paradox Boutique, says he would not be concerned if a mall were constructed outside town.

If your merchandise is good and it is known a mall won't hurt you," he commented.

Mr. Reynard added that he dislikes "gimmicks" in business such as the Gold Cup shoppers festival promoted by Picton merchants.

District at a Glance

Study Input Sought

Members of Quinte Art Council agreed this week to draw up plans for facilities in a proposed art centre at Loyalist College.

The second phase of planning for the centre, now under way will result in a preliminary plan to be released December said council secretary Mary-Lynne Morgan.

She said specifications from each guild member in the council will be incorporated in to one large plan.

School Open to Parents

PICTON — A Parents' Night will be held at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute on Wednesday, Oct. 29 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Principal Paul Bord this week observed some parents have been concerned by possible introduction of the semester system at PECI.

He observed that during Parents' Night a special room will be set up for persons wishing to inquire about the semester system. Mr. Bord added that he will be present to discuss the system with all interested parents.

On the Telephone

A travelling variety show being sponsored by the Canadian Legion Branch 110 has hired local students to do telephone canvassing to sell tickets for the Nov. 12 event and some of the workers have earned no money for their labor because they are being paid on a commission basis, said Michael DeDrie, Advance man for I.M. Garden Shows of Toronto.

"Some of the kids have not earned anything yet because ticket sales are going slowly," Mr. DeDrie said Wednesday. "I have hired 10 local students and they are working on a rotating basis until I discover which are the best salespeople and then I will let the rest go," he said.

"The students between the ages of 1417 work four hours nightly contacting listings in the Trenton telephone directory, reading a prepared presentation provided by Mr. DeDrie and the company.

"They are just kids and that is part of the problem when complaints that the ticket sellers have been calling for donations if they cannot sell tickets.

Organizers Defend Ticket Sales Method

TRENTON — A variety show being sponsored by the Canadian Legion Branch 110 has hired local students to do telephone canvassing to sell tickets for the Nov. 12 event and some of the workers have earned no money for their labor because they are being paid on a commission basis, said Michael DeDrie, Advance man for I.M. Garden Shows of Toronto.

"Some of the kids have not earned anything yet because ticket sales are going slowly," Mr. DeDrie said Wednesday. "I have hired 10 local students and they are working on a rotating basis until I discover which are the best salespeople and then I will let the rest go," he said.

"The students between the ages of 1417 work four hours nightly, contacting listings in the Trenton telephone directory, reading a prepared presentation provided by Mr. DeDrie and the company.

"They are just kids and that is part of the problem when complaints that the ticket sellers have been calling for donations if they cannot sell tickets.

"... possibly you could help out in a very important way. We are inviting a large number of less fortunate persons to attend this fine show absolutely free," and then the prospective customer is asked to sponsor some of these free tickets at the regular prices.

Mr. DeDrie said he has already called five local charitable homes are offered them the tickets, but that he would not release their names. Paul Dempsky, manager of I.M. Garden shows said the tickets are just issued to the institutions, saying this had probably already been done, and the company took the chance on whether or not it would recover the funds.

Some of the people say they will mail the money in for tickets but Mr. DeDrie says if he receives 40 per cent of them he is lucky.

"It is surprising how many people will say yes to anything just to get one of the kids off the phone but they usually purchase the tickets after we do followup calls and visit," he said.

Mr. DeDrie and Mr. Dempsky are going to meet with the legion executive on Friday night to straighten out any problems at the request of the local association.

Urban Guerrilla Violence is a Possibility in Canadian Cities by 1980s

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst,
Thurgood News Service

The other evening I watched the movie Topaz. Topaz is in a downtown Toronto theatre specializing in avant-garde, revolutionary, and New Left films.

It was a crudely-done, but, nevertheless in its own way, effective film report on Uruguay's urban guerilla movement named after an obscure film, called Z, about recent Greek politics.

In the Tupamaros you are being shown in the same week in which a Metropolitan Toronto government study showing that the chaos had been published, another study of possible future urban guerrilla could function in Canadian cities.

Indeed a good part of my motive in seeing Tupamaros other than general curiosity about the film is a nagging fear that it will persist in Western democracies with the societal unrest and the chronic fragmentation of our societies, that the Tupomaro experience will be repeated here.

And it is a frightening expose of how easily a relatively small well-organized small cadre of revolutionaries can bring about nearly total upheaval in an urban community.

The Tupamaros' style for a long time was not left or bourgeois, but rich, the victims being easily identifiable members of established society and thus instinctive, hardly sad cases.

Navy League Tradition Part of UCS Community

Tradition and responsibility are the two key words behind the Belleville Sea Cadets Chapter of the Navy League of Canada.

More than 40 boys and two girls, between the ages of 12 and 18 combine fellowship and skill while learning the traditional ways of the navy.

Skills such as survival in the winter, boating, navigation, life saving and even driver education are part of the League's program.

And, says president Reg Morry, one of the most important part is the Navy League Band, a regular at many parades in Belleville.

One of the 15 United Community Service organizations, the Sea Cadets operate on $3,800 yearly grant from the United Way drive, while supplementing their budget with fund drives for special projects such as the purchase of boats.

"The assistance UCS provides allows us to put more time and effort into the training," said Mr. Morry.

The Navy League of Canada, a national association with committees such as the Sea Cadets operating under their banner has operated in Belleville for almost 30 years.

Barry Bevnan, commanding officer of the local cadets, said the league is also sponsored by the Armed Forces and Navy League of Canada which is a source for special courses and speakers.

There are at least 30 groups of cadets in Ontario and all now are open to girls. Branches stage competitions regularly with each other.

Most summers, senior members spend working with the Coast Guard in British Columbia while camping trips even in the winter, aren't uncommon. And, says Mr. Morry, this is all just part of the training.

"Anyone that's willing to accept discipline is welcome," he said.

The barracks, located on Front St. near the harbor are open seven days a week and are becoming a centre for jam sessions and discussion groups. "They can relax there and participate," said Mr. Morry.

Developer and Hydro At Odds Over Power

BY AL EABAS
Staff Reporter

Kensington Gardens developer Reg Breault and Ontario Hydro don't see eye to eye in the provision of power to "executive style" homes the builder says he will soon begin just outside Belleville city limits.

Mr. Breault said Wednesday he wants, at best, useable underground power distribution, but added he will compromise his conception of a "quality subdivision" with use of concrete poles, and a single strand of overhead line.

He said he wants an "aesthetically pleasing" 16-acre, 71-home subdivision just north of Harbor Dr. in Sidney township.

"I take pride in my work. I want people to say 'you did a good job'", he said Wednesday.

On the other hand, Ontario Hydro spokesmen said policy dictates no concrete poles for rural power distribution. Two options are offered. Underground wiring, but with transformers on front lawns in special boxes that Mr. Breault calls ugly, and overhead wires with lines strung on wooden poles.

Mr. Breault said he is not pleased with either option nor with other available alternative.

Ontario Hydro spokesmen said the provincial utility cannot fit Mr. Breault's preference-for which the developer said he is willing to pay any extra costs. Hydro says it wants to provide what it considers optimum service, and the availability of equipment to service concrete poles.

If a transformer on a concrete pole needs repair, the repairman couldn't climb the pole using spurs. A special truck-equipped with a bucket (a "cherry picker")-would be required, said hydro.

Hydro says only one such truck exists in the Frankford based area that extends as far as Campbellford.

A spokesman in the regional office in Belleville said it's not a case of ignoring aesthetics. Norm Manning said Wednesday appearances are considered "more so now than we have in the past."

"We are certainly thinking aesthetically as much as its economically possible. Hydro tries to provide the best service for all customers at the lowest rates.

To make an exception for a subdivision in "urban suburbia" outside a city's limits would mean another customer in the true rural area (and calls to effect subdivision homeowners), he said.

Hydro provides its underground and wooden pole overhead distribution without charge. All exceptions must be paid for by a homeowner or a developer.

Currently, said Mr. Breault, he is uncertain what he will be told on the date for power distribution system.

Art Work On Display

By SUSAN MCCONNELL
Staff Reporter

The Eastern Ontario Art Association has just unveiled their 17th annual juried exhibition with 46 pieces of paintings, sculptures and crafts — by both professionals and amateurs.

The display at Corby Public Library until Oct. 31 before moving to Picton, Port Hope and Whitby, is the final selection by jurors from the 133 pieces originally entered.

The art works were judged by Francis Smith, curator of a Kingston gallery and Dorothy Farr, a member of the department of art at Queen's University.

This year new purchase awards were made by the Belleville Art Association, hosts of the show in Belleville and Belleville Transit Commission. Carol Reynolds with River Rocks was the art association's choice while Helen Graham with Harbour at Port-Aux-Basques and Dorothy Brown with A New Gyre, were the Transit Commission awards.

Gravel Pit Draws More Objections

BRIGHTON — Confusion and controversy about council's recent decision to approve the opening of a commercial gravel pit in the village continues as councillors have tested a statement to the ministry of natural resources objecting to the pit as an environmental threat.

The resolution, made public Wednesday, says council was "objecting to the environmental damage that may or could occur with the opening of the pit."

Shirley Patterson, village clerk said council had never had the final say on the matter but it had just ruled whether the pit was legal under in the towns official plan as a nonconforming use.

The past two council meetings have been the scene of angry confrontations between homeowners living on the road that will be used by the trucks servicing the proposed pit and the principals involved it the removal operation of the aggregate.

Any groups with objections must present them to the ministry office in Napanee and they will be forwarded to Toronto where a decision will be made on the date for a hearing.

Juried Show Opens

Bea Williamson, exhibition co-ordinator for the annual Eastern Ontario Association Juried Art Show, shows two different types of art displayed at Corby Library. Her sculpture The Struggle, enhances the Rose Baker award winning painting Long Ago Butterflies by Marjorie Bloomron.

Frankford Water Tank To be Ready by 1976

FRANKFORD — Construction of a new 200,000-gallon building tank to streamline distribution of this village's water supply is expected to start next week.

Hugh O'Neil, MPP, Quinte, has announced that the province's environment ministry has awarded a contract for construction of the elevated tank and a water pumping station.

The contract — of Maple Engineering and Construction Ltd. — is for $234,400.

The project is to be completed by December, 1976, said Mr. O'Neil.

The new tank will replace an existing facility and is required to meet demands of village growth, said Reeve Carmen Mikel.

Higher elevation of the new tank will also permit higher pumping pressure to village homes on the east side of the Trent River, he said.

Students Form Theatre Group for Children

Teen-agers forming a theatre group is not a new idea, but Larry Taylor, theatre arts instructor at Picton Secondary School, has organized a group of 10 from his Grade 11 and 12 students into a theatre performing only children's plays and only those written by Canadian authors or about Canadian subjects.

Mr. Taylor, a performer for Belleville Theatre Guild in its latest production Around About 1825-34, said the theatre was the students' idea and he's backing them.

Their first production-Pigtails 'n Dragons, a takeoff of the Studio Lab Theatre, Toronto — will be performed Dec. 6 in Picton United Church Hall for children of the Lake Ontario Cement Ltd. employees.

Dangerous People Hard to Predict

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

Walk down any city street. Look at the faces. Who is disturbed? Who is dangerous?

What of the man on the elevator with the sullen face? What of the woman, mumbling to herself? What of the young man pushing through the crowd fairly trembling with rage? Which person walking by carries a gun? Which suitcase loaded on a plane carries a bomb?

Who is disturbed? Who is dangerous?

Look at the montages of faces. Pick the assassin.

The psychiatrists who talk of the concept of "dangerousness" may look at the subject from differing perspectives, but they agree on the overwhelming difficulty of predicting dangerous behavior. Listen:

"It's difficult to know simply on the basis of a study of the personality or area of a person's fantasies. You don't know whether the person will act out those fantasies."

"The most important point to realize about personality traits of the mentally ill is it is not possible to characterize him by one single, pervading trait. Contradictory cases can exist side by side in the same person."

"The more bland people are, the more dangerous they are, not the opposite."

And in the newest study of what is known about the subject: "There is no valid method for predicting dangerousness."

So this is where the people of the United States are, with the Secret Service agents protecting a president looking not at the faces in the crowd, but at hands — pulling for the flash of steel, the glimpse of the bulge or the gun, waiting this last time until the shot was fired. Not a sophisticated defence.

Americans are at a time when they must empty their pockets and walk through the electronic arch at the airport before they can be allowed on the airplane. At the midtown tower of a multinational corporation one must check in, get a pass, be approved and stamped before being allowed onto the elevator to the 40th floor.

They live in the shadow of the gunman.

It is a disease of the times. The disease is contagious, can be fatal, can't be predicted.

To an official of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency the identification of dangerous persons is "the greatest unresolved problem our criminal justice system faces."

Prediction is of vital importance because it is at the heart of any system of preventive confinement or detention that might be devised.

And the entire subject is so delicate that a spokesman for the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), a government agency, said researchers there did not wish to discuss it.

A leading authority in the field is Dr. Alan A. Stone, professor of law and psychiatry at Harvard University, who referred to his new monograph, Mental Health and Law: A System in Transition, in which he finds no valid method for prediction, as dangerous, like beauty, is to some extent in the eye of the beholder," Dr. Stone writes.

While the general public probably associates dangerousness with mental illness, Dr. Stone says, the American Psychiatric Association has indicated that no more than 10 per cent of the mentally ill in hospitals are dangerous, a committee "generous" he finds greatly inflated.

Teeth Filling Material Commercially Made

LONDON (CP) — A filling material for teeth, invented at the laboratory of the British Government Chemist, which has many advantages over material used up to now has gone into commercial production. Known as ASPA, it sticks to tooth enamel and to dentine, the layer underneath enamel.

Development of the material has been backed by the National Research Development Corp. It is based on a powder and a liquid. The liquid is a polymer, closely related to that used in dental cements. The powder has been formulated to react with the liquid and the mixture makes a tooth-colored filling. Its main characteristic is strong adhesion and it makes dental repair simpler and quicker. No separate lovelining lining is needed in a cavity.

The material has been undergoing clinical trials for some time and its commercial approval underlines the excellent results obtained with it.

Children especially should welcome the development, even if they will not care that they are being treated with a "glass loonomer cement." They suffer decay mostly in back teeth and repair normally means a drilling into a healthy part of the tooth to provide the anchorage to hold conventional cements. With ASPA all that is necessary is to remove decayed tooth tissue and then put the filling in. It will hold firmly in place.

With adults, a distinct advantage is that the material makes it possible to repair the grooves on the teeth that appear when the gums recede with age. This often causes trouble because brushing can wear away the softer part of the tooth thus exposed. The grooves now can be filled with this tough abrasion-resistant, natural colored material.

Women Taking Men's Jobs Not Considered a Trend

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Employers' Council says the trickle of women into traditionally male jobs involving heavy work is exceptional and does not indicate a trend.

The council recently conducted a study and said a sample of managers and female workers agreed that women can do blue-collar work, but they were not enthusiastic about women performing these jobs.

John G. Fricks, the council's industrial relations research manager who conducted the study, said the sample included 103 managers, most of them men, and 117 working women.

The study disclosed that traditional values in the employment of women continue to prevail, with 78 per cent of the managers and nearly 50 per cent of the women not convinced that some women would be just as capable of doing certain jobs as some men.

The managers and women agreed that white-collar jobs are more suited to women than blue-collar jobs. The managers felt that non-supervisory jobs were more appropriate for they were suited for managerial jobs, the study indicated.

Large percentages of managers in selected industries — construction, forestry, electrical manufacturing, mining and shipbuilding — said they were willing to hire women for white-collar jobs, including managerial positions, once their minds are made up that women can handle the jobs.

Some of the reasons given for not wanting to hire women for certain jobs were:

—"I am not convinced that some women are just as capable of doing the job as a man would be;"

—"Women may not have the necessary command as supervisors over a group which includes men."

The study said these same reasons were most frequently cited by women in explaining why they would not want to be hired for certain jobs. Another frequent reason was difficulty in obtaining promotions in male-dominated industries.

There must be full employment and continued economic growth if women are to expand into non-typical work areas in B.C., the study said. It also said faced that periods of recession and declining markets are not ideal practices to achieve the objectives of:

—Making a strong commitment to involve women in positions of responsibility and in non-traditional areas;

—Conduct appraisals of personnel policy;

—Delineate the major problems, both personnel and corporate, with which the company is faced;

—Adopt new policies and practices to achieve the objectives.

TV Stations Seek Border Agreement

TORONTO (CP)—Managers of three Buffalo television stations said Wednesday they will drop plans to jam reception of their signals in the Toronto area if Canadian federal authorities negotiate an acceptable border trade agreement for television.

Otherwise, the stations will continue to seek permission to install jamming equipment in retaliation for what they consider a ripoff of their services by Canadian cable companies, a news conference here was told by Leslie Arries of WBEN-TV.

Some Canadian cable companies have been advised by Ottawa to delete some commercials from the U.S. signals they pick up for transmission to Canadian customers.

Thomas Wright, an engineer from Dallas, Tex., said a tower must be built on the south shore of Lake Ontario near the Canadian border to transmit a highly directional signal toward Toronto. The signal would create horizontal lines to appear here on the screens of televisions tuned to Channels 2, 4 or 7, the Buffalo stations.

Mr. Wright said additional towers could be built south of Buffalo and along the Niagara River to spoil reception of their signals in the Niagara peninsula. This might be done if Toronto cable companies were to build new master antennas in that area to pick up clear signals.

NDP Determined to Get Income Program for Farmers

CALEDON, Ont. (CP) — The New Democratic Party is determined to force the Conservative government to implement an income protection program for Ontario farmers, Donald MacDonald, NDP member for York South said Wednesday.

Mr. MacDonald, a former Ontario NDP leader and now film critic on agriculture and food, told a meeting sponsored by the Wellington-Dufferin-Peel riding association that the basic problem facing farmers is the uncertainly and inadequacy of farm income.

He said the NDP government of British Columbia has provided Canada with a working model for a provincial farm income protection program.

Mr. MacDonald said Ontario farm organizations have launched campaigns demanding a B.C.-style program for Ontario.

"Let me assure you," he said, "the NDP is all-out in its support of their demands."

Caledon is just north of Toronto.

Foxboro Community Fashion Show Held

Children at the new Foxboro School, members of the village community and several local businesses have been working together since the school opened in September to present a fashion show for school children and the general public.

The show, which features clothes made from McCalls patterns, was presented Wednesday afternoon in the school for all county home economics classes in Foxboro senior citizens. It will be presented again tonight beginning at 7:30 p.m. There is no admission charge. The general public is welcome.

More than 40 outfits, made from materials from Foxboro Fabrics, were made for the show by Ch Ilsca and the women at Foxboro Fabrics, who cut the patterns from measurements supplied by Foxboro home economics teacher Fran Prokopp.

Co-ordinating the show were Ellis Sessions, Foxboro Fabrics, Mrs. Prokopp and Carolyn Emerson. Models included Mrs. Emerson, school principal John Emerson, Kelly Lott, Patti Revoy, Pat Saunders, Susan Clark, Brenda Weeks, Kay Ewing, Joan Jessop, Sonia Desgine, Jane Cox, Carol Michelle, Jane Ogden, Melanie Stratton, Sandra Watson, Tara Andrews, Jackie Conley, Melody Kerk, Bernadette Beaudre and Sonja Trafford.

Carolyn Emerson makes adjustments for model Melody Kerk during a dress rehearsal for Foxboro School's fashion show.

Home economics teacher Fran Prokopp keeps tabs on the show's progress while Kay Ewing waits her turn to model fashions.

Jane Cox, of Foxboro Fabrics, models a pant suit.

Doctor's Total Examination Gives Woman Peace of Mind

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a message to all M.D.s who read the letter from "Slightly Suspicious." (She didn't think her doctor had any right to give her a breast examination when she had come in for a check-up before plastic surgery on her face.)

Eight years ago I had an operation to remove a breast tumor which luckily turned out to be benign. Since that time I have gone back every year for a yap smear. I went to a physician's group instead of to my regular doctor. No breast examination was given.

I actually wanted the doctor to perform the breast examination but I was ashamed to ask him to. The next time I went I did ask. The doctor gave me a very cold look and said, "once ever lightly."

I decided that very day to change back to my regular doctor. It was a very wise move. Now, even if I come in for a sore throat he checks my breasts, also my blood pressure and my blood sugar, which is slightly on the high side.

Whenever I walk out of his office I say to myself, "Thank God for that wonderful man. Now I can live happily for another year." Please don't print my name. — Ann Arbor, Just sign me — Check Out And Grateful

Dear C.D. and G.: A diamond-studded cadaver is a conscientious doc. And a bowl of skunk cabbage to those other doctors who won't take the time. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I need someone else to tell my husband he is wrong. I hope you will be the one. He thinks you have a good head on your shoulders.

Whenever we go to a church wedding I try to arrive early so we can get side seats. Most of the enjoyment of a wedding is being able to see what is going on.

Invariably some latecomers will trail in and my husband moves over to the middle of the row and drags me with him. Of course, we lose our side seats. This really burns me up. The folks who come late don't expect to get side seats and they don't deserve them.

My husband insists it's bad manners to stand there as if your feet were nailed to the floor and expect the latecomers to step over you. Who is right? — Finders Keepers

Dear Finders: You are. And I hope this convinces, him. Next time, just to make sure you get to your side seat, why don't YOU sit on the end? The person who has THAT spot can call the shots.

Dear Ann Landers: Twice in your column during the past two years you for a correspondent have referred to a certain species of dog as a "Boston terrier."

For your edification, Madame, there is no such animal. I believe what was meant was a Boston Terrier. Please, Ann, take the time to check the Canine Registry. You will discover there is no Bull or Boston — Tea Party Descendant

Dear T.P.: No bull in Boston? I'll pass the word but I'm willing to bet that a large number of people will hasten to disagree with you. Thanks for one man's opinion.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young reader of your column. I even learn something from it once in a while.

What I would like to ask you is this: When we traveled all over the country last summer we bought newspapers in every city. The same column appeared in several different papers.

Would it be possible for you to write a different column for each of your papers? You must get a lot of mail and I'll bet you could do it if you worked a little harder. — 13-Year-Old Fan

Dear Fan: My column now appears in 813 papers. Multiply that by three letters per column—then take THAT number and multiply it by seven days per week. What do you get? My figure is 17,052.

All you want me to do is prepare 17,052 answers a week for publication. Thanks a heap. Where should I send the bodp?

UNIVERSITY WOMEN

Marlene Castellano spoke about aboriginal rights and the new native identity at an open meeting of the Canadian Federation of University Women. After receiving her B.A. at Queen's, a CFUW professional fellowship enabled Mrs. Castellano to obtain a masters degree in social work from the University of Toronto. A Belleville she worked for the Children's Aid Society. She spent a year teaching adult education at Sir Sandford Fleming College. For the past four years she has been with the department of native affairs.

Mrs. Castellano defined id... you are. This is achieved from the inside, a person's feelings and experiences, and from the outside, what a person sees in the eyes of those around.

Native students from all parts of the country, from large cities and reserves alike are enrolled in Native Studies courses. She gave the same reasons for being there — to find out about their heritage and, that of other native peoples, and to prepare themselves for service to native people.

The change in the consciousness of the native people has resulted in an explosion of concerns about aboriginal rights, Mrs. Castellano said.

Land rights of natives were recognized in 1763, the first time in statute law. The status of Indians as a specific group was recognized by the British North America Act. In 1969 the Federal Government rejected the idea that aboriginal rights existed. But after a 1972 action on land claims brought before the Supreme Court resulted in a split decision, Prime Minister Trudeau announced that land claims would be considered.

Among the young natives there is now a sense of unity and pride which did not exist a few years ago. But the results of their new activities are not all positive. Once Indian land claims become a threat, whites find it harder to be tolerant, she said.

A New Look At Gibbs

Gibbs and Son Vacuum Specialists are on the move. Now don't worry, you'll still find them at 27 Ashley St. Their shop is being renovated and they're making it into a showroom where you'll be able to buy a new vacuum or any of their complete line of Procter-Lewyt appliances. They are constructing with a sale on all Procter-Lewyt irons, kettles and toasters. Toasters and irons start at $13.00 during the sale and even the fantastic solid steam iron is on at sale prices. But Gibbs aren't giving up their expert repair service. Any minor repairs will still be done at Ashley St., but however they'll take any major repairs over to their new shop at 33 Byron St. They're expanding to give you better service.

Here's An Invitation For You

At last, if you've been putting off buying a new Datsun until the 1976 models arrived, your wait is over. Today is the day that the new models are scheduled to arrive at Vader's Car Sales, 21 College St. W. The friendly staff at Vader's invite you to come in and look over the new Datsuns. Take a test drive. They'll be pleased to answer all your questions and will give you a good deal on your old car. If you're interested in the Datsun 710, its new improved suspension will impress you. It will give you a softer, more comfortable ride. Trade your Datsun for the nimble gas-guzzler on your drive, to the sporty new economical Datsun. See them at Vaders.

Restoration Of Rings

W. Wonnacott and Son Jewellers, 247 Front St., have a special service for their customers. Mr. Wonnacott has a special interest in the restoration or remodelling of old rings. They will replace the stones in your prized heirloom if the stone is chipped, cracked or lost. Or in some cases the old ring is worn, unfortunately, beyond repair, in which case the stones can be remounted in a ring of your choice or they can be put into a brooch, earrings or tie tack. If you are uncertain of cost, bring your treasured ring in to them and they'll be pleased to give you a free estimate. You'll be delighted with the results . . . They replaced the stone in an old ring for me recently and the ring looked new when they were finished. You'll really be pleased with the friendly personal service.

Meet The Manager Sale

Visit Warkentine Carpet Sales this week and meet their new manager, Harry Wilson. Mr. Wilson has had many years of experience in retail carpet sales and has the expertise to help you with your carpet problems. He invites old friends and new to the carpet showroom 301 Pinnacle St. to see the great carpet values. In an introduction to Mr. Wilson as the new manager, they are having a special "new manager's sale". You'll find great values like this 100% polyester commercial carpet at $11.95 a sq. yd. Underpad is extra but installation is free. Take advantage of this offer until Nov. 1.

Treat The Goblins And Ghosts

Next week end your children will be bubbling over with the excitement of Hallowe'en. Now would be a great time to start your preparations. The Sidney Inn at 283 W. Moira St. have a good selection for the Hallowe'en shopper. You'll find a large number of pumpkins in varying shapes and sizes that range in price from 60c to $1.50. There is also a wide range of treats for the kiddies. The Sidney Inn has stocked a great variety of candy especially for the young witches and goblins, however if you prefer sugarless treats, you'll be able to buy peanuts in the shell or juicy apples. Shop for all your Hallowe'en treats at the Sidney Inn.

Antiques And Atmosphere

There are many people in the area that enjoy antique furniture and are fascinated by the period homes from which this furniture has come. If you are one of these people, give yourself a real treat and enjoy a delicious meal at the Inn on the Bay Tavern in Picton. You'll be welcome to wander through the tavern and ballroom where you'll be intrigued by interior decor from the mid 19th years old and fascinated by a few select antique furnishings. The main house was built around 1800 and the transformation that took place until around 1860 when four towers of French Gothic style were added. Let your imagination run back a hundred years, then come back to the present and enjoy the delightful cuisine at the Inn on the Bay. You'll want to return again and again.

Clean The ServiceMaster Way

You have read about the services ServiceMaster offers you, if you need some help in cleaning your home. They also carry ServiceMaster products in their store that will help you do the cleaning yourself. Three particularly good products to ask about are: Steamex, Steamex Plus, which cleans off gum, oil, tar and paint, Urin-X which removes stains from your carpeting if your pet has an accident and Fiber Fresh shampoo for carpets and furniture. They also carry the Emergency Kit which is useful in removing most stains. In addition they carry cleaning solutions for nearly every household chore. Pick up your cleaning products from ServiceMaster at the rear of 179 Pinnacle St. or call 967-1672 for information.

Be A Contented Customer

The easiest way to pay your oil bills is to pay in equal monthly payments. This helps to ease the shock of the larger winter bills. At Moira-Schuster Fuels there is no extra charge to their customers for their extra service. Their Parts Replacement Plan is also good value at $39.50 a year and it also can be paid in monthly payments over the twelve months period. So just remember, you really afford not to pay an extra $3.50 a month for the insurance their Parts Replacent Plan gives you! It included a furnace cleaning once a year, plus service calls, labor costs and the replacement of parts on the oil burner should something go wrong. Call 968-4504 and make arrangements to join Moira-Schuster's contented customers.

Custom Decorating Ideas

Decor Studios is one stop shopping for all your decorating needs. If you haven't visited Decor Studios yet, visit them today and you'll be amazed at the number of decorating aids to be found in one store. You'll find many decorating ideas that aren't available in other stores in Belleville. For home consultation, call 962-2646 and have an expert help you with your decorating problems. Have your draperies custom made by Decor Studios using exciting new fabrics. And if you want to be really creative, you can even have your carpets and wallcoverings custom made. You'll find their shop in the Belleville Plaza. They'll help you decorate any room in your home.

Keep Warm This Winter

Baddy Electric Consumer Division are the exclusive dealers for Kalor Electric Furnace in Belleville. These home style units are basically portable. They measure about 30 inches high and 30 inches wide and won't take up any more space than your portable humidifier. For people with different needs they come with either 6000 watts or 9000 watts. Should you need heat in your rec. room or cottage, you'll save on labor costs over installing regular baseboard heaters. You just need an 8 amp duty circuit at the spot where you want your electric furnace connected. Stop at 291 Coleman St. and discuss the benefits of a Kalor Electric furnace.

Take Care Of Your Child's Eyes

Parents should remember that they are responsible for the health and safety of their children's eyes. A single instant of carelessness can rob a child of the miracle of sight at home, at school or at play. Choose toys carefully, remembering that such things as BB guns, bows-and-arrows and slingshots in the hand of young children are really weapons, and not toys at all. Never leave knives, scissors or sharp tools in reach around the house. Above all, teach children the wisdom of playing safely! These weekly hints on eye-care are brought to you by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and Optiks Optical, 84 Bridge St. E.

Instead of Turning Clocks Back, Why Not Double Daylight Time?

It's such a gradual thing, we barely notice it happening.

And then, around the middle of October, we're struck by how much night has fallen over. Winter's coming, we say. It's reading our thoughts to throw the ghostly prospect of earlier darkness and shorter days.

Ironically, however, here we realized ourselves in fewer hours of afternoon, when we're dealing another blow, the last weekend of October brings a return to Eastern Standard Time. Saturday night, given us chance, we'll turn our clocks back and there we'll be, standing in the dark at 4 p.m. instead of 7.

Nonsense, I say. The bureaucrats who order our lives for us have got it all backwards — considerately wise, so to speak. In winter, when we could really do with more day light, they shorten the afternoons. And in summer, when the days are naturally long, they've made even longer.

Daylight (Saving) Time was begun during the First World War, in order to lengthen the period of food production. The reasoning was that farmers needed clocks turned ahead so that they could stay in the fields longer before nightfall.

Now I'm not going to argue against Daylight Time. It's obviously a successful idea — and I adore long, lazy summer twilights like everybody else.

But I also love the end of day in wintertime, when the hovering sun makes long false shadows, when the snowbanks reflect the rosy glow of the western sky. Annoyingly, most of this happens while we're all still at work or at school; by the time we're out in the streets, dusk has settled into the cold blackness of northern night. Depressing, isn't it?

So — if Daylight Time is good for us in the summer, wouldn't it be twice as good in the winter? Why not Double Daylight Time? Let's turn our clocks ahead this Saturday night, just as we do in the spring.

Instead of the sun closing down at 4.30 p.m. as it does now, or at 5.30 p.m. as it will next week, we'd have sunset at 7.30 p.m., a far more pleasant time for the day to end.

What we'd have, obviously, is an extended recreation period after work or school, much more time to spend outside. Children could play in their yards, or on their ice rinks after supper, without parents worrying about them coming home through dark streets. Adults would be far more likely to go for healthful, refreshing walks if it were still light in early evening.

Just think how much more cheerful you'd feel if night wasn't falling about your shoulders so soon each day!

Then, you say, we'd get brighter afternoons. But what about the dark mornings? Instead of the sun rising at 7.30 a.m. as it does now, or at 6.30 a.m. as it will next week, it'd be coming up at 8.30.

Well, generally speaking, we don't mind that, morning for snack. We're getting up and dressed, sleepy-eyed and grumpy, and we do very little appreciating of that "extra" light.

Children who must take school buses are already getting up in the dark since they're very early risers anyway, City children would at least have the pleasure of breaking ice as they trudged to school, enough light for safety, and a beautiful time of day.

A further note in favor of this sun rise, is that it would make us think we were getting up earlier, and that's a most valiently virtuous feeling!

It seems to me, that if we were able to change the natural order of hours in February to Greenwich - Mean Time, that we can do it again. Why not?

(Many thanks to reader Nick Klitis for sending us the idea for this column.)

Teachers Ratify Contract

PEMBROKE (CP) — Level B, C and D teachers Wednesday ratified their contracts with the Renfrew County board of education.

The three levels represent 63 per cent of the 438 teachers in the county. Those in the A to A-4 categories—those with university degrees—negotiate their contracts with the county secondary teachers who still have not reached agreement with the board.

Under the new agreement, the three levels will receive 22-to-25 per cent annual increases in a one-year contract terminating Aug. 31.

Level D teachers last year received a minimum $8,000 annually and a maximum $9,700; level C $8,900 minimum and $10,950 maximum and level B $7,200 maximum and $13,150 maximum.

Because of the proposed federal wage guides, both groups issued a joint statement agreeing to submit their contract to either federal or provincial review agencies if required by law.

Cat Food Under Investigation

TORONTO (CP) — A Globe and Mail survey of two Dominion stores indicates that buyers of Purina Cat Chow are getting 16 per cent less for their money when they buy the one-kilogram box.

The cat food now comes in a one-kilogram box, about 50 ounces less than the old package, but the two boxes are selling for the smaller metric package at the same price of $1.23 as the old one; the survey by the newspaper says.

However, a spokesman for Dominion Stores Ltd. said Wednesday that the one-kilogram box should be priced $1.02, not $1.23.

If buyers were charged more it was a simple case of human error, he said.

Terry Pursival, product manager for Ralston Purina, said supermarket managers are probably mixing up the new package with the old one.

The Dominion spokesman said that the company is considering a cash refund for customers who have paid the extra 21 cents.

Gets Contract

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The National Audubon Society announced Wednesday that Maurice Strong, the outgoing Canadian executive of the UN environment program, will receive the society's top award, Society president Elvis Stahr said Strong will be awarded the Audubon medal as "the man who has made the environment an international concern" at the Society's annual dinner in New York Nov. 12, with Strong as featured speaker.

Princess Bored

SYDNEY (Reuter) — A Sydney newspaper said Wednesday that Princess Margret snubbed government officials and looked drawn, pale and bored Tuesday at the start of her two-week tour of Australia. The Daily Telegraph said the princess threw royal tour officials in the capital into a panic by disregarding her schedule, which she cut by half. It said officials believe her behavior was caused by a tiring flight from Singapore.

Appoints Canadian

GENEVA (Reuter) — A Canadian has been appointed special envoy by Kurt Waldheim, United Nations secretary-general, for a visit to Chad in a bid to win the release of French archeologist Francoise Claustre, the UN office here announced Wednesday. Charles-Edouard Bouchaindon, 48, a six-year veteran of the UN who is director of the European office's information department, also will go to Paris for talks with the French government, the announcement said.

Calls for Cards

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada and the United States formally asked the International Joint Commission (IJC) Wednesday to investigate the environmental dangers of the Garrison Irrigation Project in North Dakota and to report as soon as possible, U.S. sources say.

Supports Controls

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP) — Dr. Dennis Slaton, president of the St. Thomas-Elgin Medical Association, said Wednesday his association supports the federal government's effective wage-and-price controls and intends to abide by them. Dr. Slaton made the statement at the annual meeting of District Two of the Ontario Medical Association.

To Hear Charges

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — A Haldiman county man will at Monday, Dec. 8 in Whitby to hear charges laid under the Police Act against 11 Durham region police officers. The charges were laid following a stag party Tru of the officers are charged with neglect of duty and discreditable conduct and the other with damaging equipment.

Welfare Spending Cuts Proposed by MP

OTTAWA (CP) — Major welfare spending cuts are essential to stop inflation, Progressive Conservative MP Jack Murta argued Wednesday as the Commons continued debate on the government's new anti-inflation program.

The Manitoba farmer said the combined impact of medical benefits, development grants and other social measures have placed an unbearable burden on the economy.

"We'll continue to have inflation until these programs which the government calls the cornerstone of its social policy are brought within our means," he said.

"All forms of welfare program have to be looked at," he said.

Gilbert Rondeau (GC—Shefford) said Prime Minister Trudeau has always been a radical socialist at heart.

The Eastern Townships MP said Mr. Trudeau, before he entered politics, "greatly admired" socialist and communist dictatorships on his foreign travels.

"He would like to see the same thing in Canada, a socialist society such as Mao Tse-tung has" in China, Mr. Rondeau said.

He told MPs that the program as a whole would spell the death of free enterprise.

Mr. Murta said Canada would be wind up with the worst social unrest in its history if the government does not cut down its spending.

Stanley Knowles, New Democratic Party House Leader, said:

Wants TV Executions

HOFFMAN ESTATES, Ill. (AP) — A Toronto-born minister concerned about increasing crime advocates public execution of convicted murderers on prime-time television. "Nothing much else has helpe' stop crime and I think public executions of convicted killers would be an unbeatable deterrent method," says Rev. Paul Tinlin, 41, pastor of the Evangel Assembly of God church.

He said the minister put on a "despicable performance" when he spoke on the Watergate affair. But this was not surprising because he used the same tactics when he was energy minister later.

"How do people know the minister is telling the truth this time?"

Alberta Town Completely New

GRANDE CACHE, Alta. (CP) — This community of 4,000 on the edge of the Rocky Mountains 225 miles west of Edmonton has something most towns lack: It's all new.

There are no old buildings, old streets or old anything else here. It was an instant town—just upon a coal mine, add people and services and stir.

McIntyre Porcupine Mines Ltd. wanted to extract coal in the area, so in 1966 the Alberta government created the town on paper. Ken Bergo, 61, who has been in municipal administration since 1958, came up in 1969 when there was nothing here but forest, mountains and a dirt track.

It now has a large, covered shopping mall, paved residential areas and 900 mobile homes.

Housing in town is scarce at present. Mr. Bergo said it would be a bi scarcer if the town could convince the province to build a highway from Grand Cache to Grande Prairie, about 190 miles north.

The town is dependent upon the mine for its life. When the mine laid off about 225 workers in 1973, the town faced an actual population drop of about 800, throwing it into financial straits that the province had to help sort out. The crisis hammered home the need for the community to widen its economic base.

"We've tried to improve upon the government that this would make a wonderful vacation area," Mr. Bergo said.

"We have promised the government to complete the highway from Grande Cache to Grande Prairie. It's a natural."

"All the people in the Peace River block would come down through Grande Cache to Edmonton if—the next road Yellowhead Route linking Edmonton with Jasper National Park and northern Yellowknife."

"I'm sure that the minute the government made an announcement that the highway is to be completed, private capital would be in looking around at golf courses, ski hills and so on. Those are things we can't afford to build."

With coal returning to the forefront of the mining industry and numerous other minerals in the area, the future looks bright, provided the conflict between mining and recreational use in the foothills and eastern slopes of the Rockies can be resolved.

"There's billions of tons of coal at our feet. It's just a matter of the government of Alberta and the environmentalists giving the nod to the next company that wants to come in, and we're away."

Harking back to the early days when the town's administrators had their office in an old bank trailer instead of the centre they now use, Mr. Bergo said he couldn't see where any mistakes had been made.

"We had an opportunity to do a good job. There was nothing to hinder us."

The only hitch came when the mine cut operations.

"This hurt us and, because we felt we had been hurt, we approached the provincial government for some assistance."

P.E.I. Ferry Service Faces Crowding Problems

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — One of three reports being prepared by the Prince Edward Island tourism department concludes that ferry service to the province is deteriorating because of crowding and deficiencies in the design of vessels.

The report concludes that if automobile tourist traffic continues to grow as forecast, waiting periods will increase in 1978 and a serious delay problem will exist by 1977 or 1978.

Tourism Minister Gilbert Clements is particularly harsh in his remarks on the two newest vessels on the CNR Northumberland Strait ferry service.

"The Vacationland and the Holiday Island although efficient from an operational viewpoint," are the worst possible design for carrying people," he said. "They are characterized by inconvenient arrangements and insufficient space for all passenger facilities, without exception."

Mr. Clements has been a frequent critic of the CNR ferry system, which has gone through several large ... [illegible]

"Getting hauled across the strait quickly and safely is the critical part," said Mr. Clements. "But the quality of the ferry experience is also important, particularly to people on vacation.

"Clearly some middle ground is to be sought between treating people as cargo and providing them with luxury service."

CANADIAN SCHENLEY DISTILLERIES, LTD.

You need 6" of insulation in your attic.

You can do it yourself, this weekend.

Tonight, go up to the attic and measure the thickness of your insulation.

If you don't have 6", you don't have enough.

If you don't have 6", you should add more insulation this weekend.

1 The high cost of heating is getting higher. In the past year or so, your fuel bill has gone up substantially. And it'll go up more. The only way around the situation is to use less fuel. And that means more insulation.

2 Insulation is an investment. Building codes are being changed and 6" of insulation in the attic will probably be the new minimum for all new housing. Make your insulation conform to the new standards and you'll be increasing the real value of your home and saving on the cost of heating too.

3 What kind of insulation should you get? Fiberglas. It's easy to install, readily available and inexpensive. It's also extremely efficient, rot and mildew proof, fire retardant and recognized everywhere as the best form of insulation.

If you already have some insulation in the attic you'll probably need Fiberglas friction fit batts.

They install without so much as a nail. Just stuff them between the floor joists in the attic, right over the insulation you have. Get your Fiberglas friction fit batts thick enough to make 6" when you add the depth of your present insulation.

Since you'll be adding to existing insulation, do not use insulation with a backing or a vapour barrier. (You could be creating condensation problems.) All you need is plain, unbacked insulation–Fiberglas friction fit batts.

4 If you have no insulation at all. You need Fiberglas kraft faced batts with a built in vapour barrier. You'll need it 6" thick (that's called R-20) and you apply it the same way–laying it between the joists in the attic floor. The vapour barrier (the paper side) always goes next to the warm side. So in the attic, it's paper side down.

5 The Fiberglas booklet. It tells all. Your building supply dealer has a free copy of the Fiberglas booklet for you. It's called "HOW TO FIGHT THE RISING COST OF FUEL BY IMPROVING YOUR HOME'S INSULATION". Ask for it and read it. It'll tell you everything you need to know about insulating your attic, rec room, cottage and give you other tips on conserving energy.

To do the average house should take the weekend. But it's an investment that pays dividends on every fuel bill you'll ever receive.

Alberta's Growth Held to 11 Per Cent

EDMONTON (CP)—The September announcement from the Alberta treasurer's office had unusual impact coming from a government awash in resource revenues and with every sign there was more where that came from.

Albertans said Provincial Treasurer Merv Leitch, "disappointed" that the federal government failed to take bold new initiatives to combat inflation, had decided to set a good example. Growth of the 1975 budget day by hundredth down to February would be held limited to 11 per cent—half the annual increase of the last four years.

"We believe governments must provide leadership in assisting in the reduction of the alarming inflationary rates in the nation," said Mr. Leitch.

"It is well recognized that the causes of inflation are primarily international and national, and that a provincial government is only capable of taking very limited action."

That Alberta was willing to lead the way in taking such action was affirmed a week later as Premier Peter Lougheed called on all Canadians to cease their bella a nebula and be ready to make personal sacrifices to fight inflation.

Speaking to a joint meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade and Men's Canadian Club in Vancouver, the premier said the problem had reached the stage where "noose and talk" had to be replaced by concerted action. Business, labor, and professional groups should be prepared to defer their expectations, he said, and every individual recognize the part he must play.

"The answer lies in a combined effort — governments must take the lead, but governments cannot do it alone," said Premier Lougheed. "They must temper expectations and tell it like it is."

The administration's sentiments, like the move to limit spending, was greeted with polite applause from the business community and the editorial writers. Back home, meanwhile, the call for self-sacrifice rallied little enthusiasm among the groups the budget ceiling would fall on hardest.

As well as direct provincial spending, the limit would also apply to the almost 50 per cent of the budget reserved for grants to schools, hospitals and municipalities.

Aside from municipalities, which have recourse to property taxation, these sectors depend heavily on provincial largesse as a source of operating funds. As well, each was rounding out a year of exhaustive penny pinching to make salary demands, inflation and growth of programs fit under a 15-per-cent limit on provincial grants imposed for the current budget year.

Provincial contributions to the school foundation program, which shoves up Alberta's Grade 1 to 12 school system, increased to $402 million this year from $338 million in 1974. Under a straight 11-per-cent guideline, grants would come to $446 million in 1975.

The reaction from school boards and teacher association representatives alike was one of dismay, accompanied by warnings the quality of education is almost sure to suffer.

"It is reasonable to expect education to be the sacrificial lamb to inflation," complained Jim Weaver, president of the Red Deer local of the Alberta Teachers' Association.

Ed Paszek, a teacher representative in Edmonton, said the profession has a right to salaries in perspective with those of society in general and would be unlikely to moderate its wage demands despite the ceiling.

The grant restriction comes at a time when local school boards are under great pressure to provide new facilities for growing populations and maintain a high standard of education, said Jim Falconer, chairman of the Edmonton public school board.

"We hesitate in view of this to cut back essential programs, particularly successful ones recently established, or to increase class loads," he said.

"Restrictive financing of this kind could make the supplementary requirements on local taxpayers intolerable."

Similar responses came from the heads of the province's colleges, which would receive a $3-million increase in grants next year compared with $4 million the year before, and universities, which would receive $159 million in the next budget year compared with $135 million this year and $129 million in 1974.

Some of the small centres stated cries of dismay came from the provincial hospitals, which this year experienced a staggering 23-per-cent increase in costs, to $202 million, and which look forward to the start shortly of a new round of labor negotiations. Bargaining last year resulted in wage increases often exceeding the 30-per-cent mark and salaries may account for up as much as 75 per cent of an institution's budget.

The municipalities, whose grants under the limit would rise to $90 million from $48 million, had a more forthright assessment of how they would cope — it can't be done without turning to the taxpayer.

Ald. Lawrence Decore, chairman of Edmonton's economic affairs committee, said he was irked that the province would impose the limit and expect a regressive tax like the property tax to make up the difference.

Noting the effects of inflation and that union wage settlements have been running at increases of 15 and 16 per cent, the city needed a 13-per-cent budget increase this year just to maintain the same level of services as 1974, said Ald. Decore.

The situation underlines the need for a more rational financing arrangement between municipalities and the province, said Ald. Decore, pointing to Manitoba's decision to cost cities in lieu of a share of provincial income tax and British Columbia's plan to split some of its oil revenues. the government that proposed the guideline may be among the first to regret it.

This fall, an independent commission headed by Mr. Justice Clifton Prowse of Calgary is expected to hand down its report on the first per cent increase members of the legislature have had since 1972.

The 75 members of the house now earn $13,500 a year, $4,500 of that tax-free. Cabinet ministers earn an extra $22,000 and the premier $27 000 above the base rate.

It's generally agreed an increase is in order but when the report comes down members of the house will have a difficult choice to make — eating their words and accepting a full increase or proving they're out to set an example in fighting inflation.

New Look To Phone Kiosks

TORONTO (CP) — A new look may be given telephone kiosks across the country because of the efforts of a Mississauga, Ont., firm, winners of the North American aluminum industry's highest design excellence award.

King Electrics Ltd. took top honors in the Aluminum Extruders Council 1975 Design Competition with its Series 540 telephone booth, a free-standing housing for coin-operated telephones. The unit employs a wide lamp to illuminate the symbols and dial, a back-plate to support the telephone and a locking bass that both conceals the anchoring devices and serves to reject debris that could obstruct coin slots.

The kiosk is made from aluminum extrusions detailed at Alcan Canada Products Ltd.'s plant in Fergus, Ont.

Entries in the competition are judged on design, versatility, cost savings and practicality of application.

Only Telephoning

The only telephone available to residents of a Stouffville subdivision, near Toronto, is the pay phone installed Wednesday. Lana Reiter makes a call on the phone while her son, Danny, 7, waits. Bell Canada has no cable for 3,222 new homes in the Toronto area. Even the sales manager for Bell's manufacturing subsidiary can't get a telephone in his home. (CP Photo)

Ancient Monastery Popular in Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria (CP)—The most popular tourist attraction in this eastern European country busy with various five-year plans is an ancient monastery.

Considering that the location of the monastery is off the beaten track, its popularity is surprising. It lies 75 miles southwest of Sofia, up a rocky mountain fold, off the highway to Athens.

The Rila, as the monastery is known, is only one of 150 such institutions preserved in Bulgaria but it is the richest, most distinctive architecturally, the most beautiful and in the past was the most influential. In the five centuries of Turkish domination and suppression of Bulgarian religion and culture, Rila, like other monasteries, fostered literature, developed art in the form of icons, kept patriotism for Bulgaria and hatred of the enemy alive, and was a refuge for freedom fighters.

Today Rila is a museum which transposes outsiders and is a repository of Bulgarian architecture and culture. It sits in a beautiful setting in the Rila forest which rises to more than 9,000 feet above sea level.

Sightseeing buses make the trip out of Sofia but on a sunny, mellow autumn day it makes a pleasant detour on a drive to the Black Sea. A few miles out of Sofia the countryside changes to apple and cherry orchards, rolling hills, tobacco fields and vineyards.

Even on Sunday men and women can be seen picking plums, grapes and corn; working in vegetable plots and drying tobacco leaves and peppers. Along the route there traffic lines formed and donkeys pulling carts of straw, silage or vegetables. Cattle, sheep and horses graze under poplars and birch. Village homes appear well looked after, many topped with storks' nests.

The Rila Mountains rise ahead and at Kochaievtsa the turn-off leads into a valley forested with beech and pine.

The monastery looks like a grim stone fortress with corner towers. All about is quiet except for mountain streams and rustling trees. Inside the main gate is like a world all its other.

The monastery is three storeys of red and white stone. Above the ground floor colonnades the arches continue to form open galleries and the top floor is a roofed balcony.

Now Possible to Build Small House in 1 Week

VANCOUVER (CP) — How many times has a couple said they could build a 1-bedroom, 1100 square foot home within a week or two?

Community planner Bruce Fairbairn and architect Charles Haynes say it's possible—and for only about $15,000.

They say the key is to use manufactured components, bolted together with bolts and other fasteners. It's similar to a giant Meccano set and Mr. Fairbairn says the builder can arrange components as he wants, add or subtract components at a later date or even dismantle the building and move it to a different site.

"Technology today is perfectly adequate to allow people to build their own houses," says Mr. Fairbairn. "What is needed is a demystification of the building system."

That's what he told a British Columbia federal Liberal caucus meeting as part of a bid to get a $50,000 grant from the federal urban affairs department to build some demonstration houses for the international Habitat conference here next

CP News Roundup

Bell Announces Earnings

MONTREAL (CP) — Bell Canada announced Wednesday its net earnings for the nine-month period ending Sept. 30 were $187.7 million or $4.58 a share compared with $171.5 million or $4.59 a share for the corresponding period last year. The earnings reported for 1978 have been restated to reflect a temporary ten-per-cent federal surtax imposed last year on non-manufacturing profits.

Calls for Study

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians should be issued identification cards with their photographs on them because of the increase in the theft of government cheques, the Retail Merchants Association of Canada said Wednesday. George Crompton, association general manager, said the association will ask the federal government to consider issuing social insurance cards with photographs on them. He suggested these could be renewed with new photographs every five years.

Holds Conference

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg has been chosen as the site of the sixth International Cereal and Bread Congress in September, 1978, members of the organizing committee announced Wednesday. The conference, expected to attract about 1,000 experts in cereal science and technology, will be the first ever held outside Europe.

Delivers Bills

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — A spokesman for the Peterborough Utilities Commission said Wednesday the Junior Civitans, a service club composed of high school students, has been contracted to deliver water and hydro bills during the postal strike.

Gets Top Award

CHESLEY, Ont. (CP) — The Bruce County board of education has ratified a contract to give a 30-per-cent salary increase over one year to 290 secondary-school teachers in this area about 30 miles southwest of Owen Sound, a board spokesman said. The teachers, without a contract since Aug. 31, now will be paid between $10,800 and $22,800 a year. Annual salaries previously ranged from $7,900 to $18,000. The new agreement also will give teachers a $250 cost-of-living bonus next June if the April 1978 consumer price index exceeds last August's index by eight or more points. Office and clerical staff were given a 17-per-cent wage increase over one year, the spokesman said.

Will Expand

OTTAWA (CP) — Regional Expansion Minister Marcel Lessard says he expects regional expansion efforts will continue during the next four months despite the federal anti-inflation program.

Voices Views

OTTAWA (CP) — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker clashed with Commons Speaker James Jerome Wednesday during the Commons question period when he tried to present what the Speaker said was a statement. Mr. Jerome twice called Mr. Diefenbaker to order and tried to give another MP the floor before Mr. Diefenbaker finally prevailed. He questioned the legality of the government's anti-inflation program.

Still Holds Job

OTTAWA (CP) — Ten days after being defeated in a Montreal by-election, Pierre Juneau still is communications minister, Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp said in the Commons Wednesday that Prime Minister Trudeau may decide on a replacement soon.

Betty Hagerman Takes Affidavits from Hillcrest Residents

Lost Documents Hampering Solution To Hillcrest Sewer Costs Says Mayor

...Hillcrest property owners Wednesday night formally took out affidavits to back up a reserve protest against high taxes blamed on sanitary sewer installation.

The statements will support a brief to Ontario Ombudsman Arthur Maloney a move by the Hillcrest Ratepayers Association (HRA) is contemplating should other gimmicks to gain relief fail.

The statements outline cost ...of-householders' taxes before and after the sewers were installed.

"The statements were taken in recent days in a door-to-door canvass by HRA members.

Earlier this week they were typed onto stickers at home by neighborhood teen-agers — on typewriters loaned by industries in the city's northeast industrial flanking Hillcrest, said HRA president Ken Brooks.

Wednesday night they were notarized by a city lawyer's secretary — Betty Hagerman — a commissioner of oaths.

Ald. Sid Meeks, also a commissioner of oaths as a city councillor also took affidavits after he turned up at a meeting of the HRA.

Mayor Ben Corke said students Wednesday City hall communications switchboard at Queen's Park may be one reason for lack of provincial government ministry responses to the continuing controversy.

Correspondence on the issue specifically a three-month old city hall indication of a solution to high Hillcrest sewer costs through provincial aid — have not been traced by senior government authorities, he said.

The mayor said he mustn't tell the situation when he began probing the Hillcrest issue in Wednesday's Park three weeks ago.

And, a repeat attempt to get the correspondence in the environment ministry Monday also apparently failed.

So, the mayor said, he now has sent the documents by couriers.

As a result, the mayor said the Hillcrest ratepayer he says is hopeful the provincial government might reach a "favorable" decision next on aiding Hillcrest with the sanitary sewer costs.

He said he had been assured by a ministry official the issue would be dealt with as soon as the city's letter arrived.

"It seems to me they will treat this matter with considerable urgency when they have this letter in the morning," said the mayor.

But the recent discussions and deadlock in tracing the puzzle of missing correspondence has "been for me — and I'm sure for you — a very frustrating three weeks" said the mayor.

The city's argument to the ministry is not that is neighboring Thurlow Township charges for installation — a 60-foot frontage will be no higher than $136 a year.

There's no difference of jurisdiction: The Thurlow installation will be the ministry's while the Hillcrest project is the city's.

Corke he added, "I don't believe they will hide behind that issue and I do believe there'll be a favorable decision."

Frankford Going to Dogs

The Belleville and District Kennel Club's annual all-breed dog shows the third largest in Canada will be held this weekend starting noon Friday at Frankford Arena. Competitors from Canada and the United States will be taking their dogs through conformation and obedience judging. Club officials said today 1,200 entries have been received. Admission is $1.50 for spectators.

Bylaw Before Public

Belleville's planning committee will hold a public meeting at Nov. 12 to hear arguments concerning the proposed Belleville Maintenance bylaw.

On the urgings of Mayor Ben Corke, the committee is to have the public meeting and make any necessary modifications to the bylaw in time for a Nov. 17 council decision.

The 13-page draft of the bylaw has come under considerable scrutiny during the past year after an initial outcry from city residents who feared the document would go overboard spelling out how each homeowner would have to maintain his property.

The draft has been circulated through a wide range of civic departments and has been thoroughly screened by the subdivider's liaison committee in recent weeks.

Because so much time and energy has already been spent on the bylaw Mayor Corke urged the subordinate planning advisory committee to approve the document Wednesday night.

But fearing "talk" from the public, committee chairman Ald. Joe Cox urged a public meeting where residents have a forum to discuss the document.

Jolson?

Al Jolson made a comeback Wednesday night at Centennial High School in the person of Ron Reynolds, a 68-year-old member of the Stratford Festival City Rhythm Band.

Before the performance the band entertained students of the school.

Mail Not Needed

Strike Won't Stop Monthly Billings

BY CLIFF KENTON
Staff Reporter

If the current postal strike has any bright side its the absence of bills in the mail box.

But just because the postal system has ground to a halt doesn't necessarily means they won't arrive and don't have to be paid.

Most private and public companies are working out contingency plans, or are crossing their fingers and hoping consumers take it upon themselves to pay up.

Public Utilities Commission bills to customers within Belleville will be delivered by PUC employees, manager Neil Britton said Wednesday.

"We're going to have to ensure our collection continues as we have accounts to pay and must have money coming in," said Mr. Britton.

The postal strike, said Mr. Britton, will give PUC an opportunity to re-evaluate use of the postal system to deliver accounts.

Notices, will be placed in newspapers to remind customers to check mailboxes for bills as due dates for accounts approach.

The five-per-cent penalty for payment after the due date will still be in effect, said Mr. Britton.

Accounts, he said, are being investigated to determine if customer's cheques are stuck in the mail system. If so, said Mr.Britton, customers will be asked to cancel the cheque and issue another.

Accounts can be paid at PUC office at 195 College St. W. or at any bank.

No method has as yet been devised for billing customers outside on the city, he said.

Spokesmen for Mastercharge and Chargex have indicated accounts can be paid at the respective banks and interest charges for overdue accounts will not be waived.

Bell Canada will be delivering bills to only the "very largest" customers, manager George Thompson said Thursday. Only about 100 commercial customers out of about 28,000 commercial and residential in the district will be billed.

"We'll take the same stance as in previous strikes and assume we're going until the strike is over."

He said it has not as yet been determined whether interest charged on overdue bills will be in effect.

As in previous strikes unemployment insurance recipients must attend at local offices to submit report cards and pick up cheques.

A survey of local stores with their own charge account schemes indicates plans for billing customers and receiving payment have not as yet been determined.

Bus, Rail and Couriers Say Business Booming

Just because there is a postal strike doesn't mean you have to invest in a flock of carrier pigeons.

If you still want to get that overdue birthday gift to your grandmother in Toronto there are ways, but they're more expensive than dropping it in the mail box.

If she's spry enough to get to the nearest terminal -- bus is about the cheapest methods.

Bus delivery from Belleville to Toronto for parcels weighing less than ten pounds is $2.80.

Brian McDonnell, manager of Voyageur Bus Terminal in Belleville, said the rapid increase in the express load is causing some confusion in terminals and he expects the express load in Belleville to increase by four times over what it was before the mail strike.

"I'm gaining customers who have never shipped by bus before," said Mr. McDonnell.

Almost every business in Belleville, he said, is shipping by bus and he expects the load to remain steady.

But if you or your grandmother can't get to the bus terminal, don't give up hope, there are other ways.

Canadian National Railways will not only take your parcel to Toronto but they'll pick it up and deliver it for short $5.50 providing it weighs less than 50 pounds.

Leslie Taylor, Belleville CN Express, said Wednesday he has noticed an increase in the number of parcels, particularly small packages.

Courier Service is probably the quickest way to ship a parcel, and legally it is the only way to get a letter delivered from your door to your grandmother's door. Neither the bus companies nor the railways are licensed to do it.

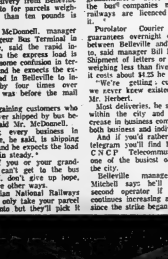
Purolator Courier Ltd., guarantees overnight delivery between Belleville and Toronto, said manager Bill Herbert. Shipment of letters or parcels weighing less than five pounds it costs about $4.25 he said.

"We're getting customers we never knew existed," said Mr. Herbert.

Most deliveries, he said, are within the city and the increase in business comes from both business and individuals.

And if you'd rather send a telegram you'll find Belleville CNCP Telecommunications one of the busiest offices in the city.

Belleville manager Bill Mitchell says he'll need a second operator if business continues increasing as it has since the strike began.



Pampers in Production

The Procter and Gamble plant — employing 200 workers in the production of Pampers disposable diapers — officially went into operation Wednesday following a ribbon-cutting ceremony with Mayor Ben Corke (left), plant manager Pete Wickemeyer and city economic development commissioner Fred Bemis.

Inquest Opens Into Death of Two Workers

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

The first day of testimony at an inquest into the death of two workers at Constellation Carpets was clouded with faulty memories and contradictory statements Wednesday while a coroner's jury wadded through the gory headings up to the Feb. 21 explosion.

On the day of the explosion, a number of Constellation employees and two electricians from a Belleville firm were working in the main power supply room at the carpet plant.

Testimony at Wednesday's hearing showed the explosion occurred when one of the private contractors attempted to remove a high voltage fuse from the fuse panel.

The contractor and a Constellation employee died later in a Kingston hospital from severe burns. One man also had his condition complicated with pneumonia.

Carole Chaplain, plant electrician, was present in the room when the explosion occurred. After a preliminary to meet for burns, Mr. Chapman is considered a key witness at the inquiry.

When Mr. Chapman's testimony under cross examination by a number lawyers began relating statements made on the stand earlier, Coroner Dr. Clifford Leyser of Kingston interrupted the proceedings.

"I believe during this inquest there will be some divergent testimony," said the coroner. "That's why some witnesses have been excluded from the court room while others are testifying."

Dr. Meyer told the court Mr. Chapman is giving evidence in the case under both the Ontario and Canada Evidence Acts which guards his testimony from being used against him.

It is expected approximately six more witnesses will be called before the inquest today before hearings conclude.

Headstones Damaged

Damage is estimated at about $100 after vandals knocked down headstones at Lons Memorials, 100 Everett St.

One of the headstones was chipped in damage done sometime overnight, said police.

Tapes, Player Stolen

Belleville police are looking for tapes and a tape players stolen from two Uarl Trow vehicles.

Tapes valued at about $150 were stolen from a vehicle owned by Steven Ray of Napanee, Ont. while it was parked at a Belleville hotel. The tapes, the property of the car, were taken Tuesday.

Terry Sparks of RR 2 Frankford lost a tape player and two tapes while his car was parked Wednesday at Northern Electric. The items are valued at about $84, said police.

Procter and Gamble Plant Begins Production

BY COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Procter and Gamble Specialties Ltd. officially put its production line into motion this week -- highlighted by a ribbon-cutting ceremony Wednesday formally beginning operation.

Procter and Gamble Specialties Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Procter and Gamble Ltd. of United States is producing Pampers disposable diapers at the Belleville plant.

Company spokesmen said the local plant will be catering to only the Canadian market. Until the plant reaches full production, company products bound for Canadian markets are being shipped through the Belleville plant.

The plant measures nearly four acres in area and has been under construction since May, 1974. It is anticipated the plant will hire about 200 area workers.

Approximately 100 have already completed a sophisticated training courses to enable them to work in the highly-mechanized plant and another 100 are currently taking the training program.

Company officials said Wednesday they expect it will be another year to 18 months before the plant will be operating in high gear.

During the plant tour for civic dignitaries, Mayor Ben Corke said "of course we're delighted to have your firm in Belleville — and not just because of the tax. $81."

Company spokesmen said the training programs and production systems are "shaping up very well ... due largely to a labor force that is composed of fast learners and enthusiasm."

New Community Centre Welcome Town Addition

DESERONTO — A heap of high hopes ended up on ice here Wednesday.

For this community of 1,800 it was a happy ending.

Town officials opened the community centre it had been planning for years.

The event was the ceremonial seal on an operation which has taken a decade and, indicated town officials.

It's a project "that the town has wanted for a long, long time," Mayor Peter Dickinson declared from the centre's hockey rink — already iced for use — to the citizen and official spokesmen who joined the event.

The contemporary stucture stands in contrast to its predecessor — an outdoor rink around which youngsters often stood to see whether while awaiting their turn to play hockey or skate.

And Clarke Rollins, MPP Hastings — Peterborough, applauded the significance of the project to a rural community.

He said attention to the needs of rural municipalities is "long overdue" by government.

The centre not only is being used by Deseronto. It's proved a recreation facility for neighboring municipalities, said town recreation director Jack Layfield.

The centre makes reality of civic hopes stretching back to the late 1930s, noted the mayor.

It was the results of financing — ranging from negotiating of big senior government grants to community-run walkathons, dances, bakesales.

Another hurdle was passed with approval of the project for a winter capital works project. The federal government earmarked up $150,000 — much of it spent on winter labor and therefore need not be paid back. There were community recreation centre grants from the province. The town provided funds from the sale of property, and will also issue a debenture. A special fund-raising campaign to date has brought in another $40,000.

Construction started a year ago on the project — which has $40-to-100 first child and second along with a community hall.

Murder Trial Enters Third Day of Testimony

A firearms examiner testified Wednesday at the murder trial of Jeremiah James Arthur Meeseky that a gunpowder residue found on the scene of the shooting death of Sylvester James Rideout could not be discharged during accidental firing tests.

Meeseky, 24, is charged with murder not punishable by death in connection with his father's death at their farmhouse on RR4, Madoc — Rawdon Township Aug. 1, 1973. The trial was adjourned following a year-long investigation.

Meeseky has admitted through his lawyer, Ronald Thomas of Belleville, that he had the gun in his physical possession when it discharged, killing his father. However, he has pleaded not guilty to be not to perform the act.

Robert George Monument of the centre of forensic science in Toronto told the 13-member jury during the trial's second day that he received a single 12-gauge, 2¾ - gauge shotgun from Ontario Provincial Police Aug. 7, 1973 which was "found in firing condition with a tendency to accidental discharge."

Mr. Monument also said the muzzle of the gun was over four feet away from the elder Meeseky's chest when it discharged.

He explained this was determined by test firing the weapon.

However, Mr. Thomas contended in Mr. Monument's cross examination on the four-foot distance by pointing out the test firing was based on approximate measurements of the elder Meeseky's body and not as it had been excised from the body.

Dr. Jerome Brooks, a provincial forensic pathologist, testified that he examined both the victim and the weapon at the excised tissue being the body of Meeseky, 19, Aug. 1, 1973.

Dr. said he formed the opinion that "a massive shot had entered the body from the front at a close approximate angle of 25-30 degrees at the point where the victim's left arm body from above downwards at a 45 degrees to the skin's surface."

However, he said he was unable to determine either the distance from the gun at the time of the shot or the location of the gun.

In another development on behalf his clients, Mr. Thomas asked for a mistrial motion entered Tuesday. He had said the eldest Meeseky's wound was caused by a shot from a shotgun while it was in the possession of the accused."

The extension read that " the accused was in the attic of the Meeseky home at the time the shotgun was discharged."

But Mr. Thomas commented that the extension "in no way alters my position that he (Meeseky) denies the allegations of the crown that he intended to fire the gun."

Ontario Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Pennell elaborated for the jury that the extension meant that there was no intention to fire the weapon, no intention to cause a death and no intention to cause bodily harm that one might result in death."

The trial continues today at the Hastings County Courthouse.

Hank Snow In Town

Hank Snow, popular country and western singer,will perform at Centennial High school at 8:30 p.m. tonight.

The show sponsored by Belleville Jaycees, is part of Mr. Snow's tour through the United States, England, New Zealand and Canada.

Also appearing will be the Rainbow Ranch Boys.

Seats for the 8:30 p.m. performance are $5.00.

Though only two production lines are working now on the plant's assembly floor, four more are underway -- where the 100 currently in training will be stationed.

Company officials said an open house where members of the general public will be invited to tour the factory is anticipated for the spring.

Reds Finally Prove They're the Best

BOSTON (AP) — For the last four years, Cincinnati Reds have been thinking like champions.

Now they finally have a championship to prove they're the best.

After a fistful of frustrations, the Reds beat Boston Red Sox 4-3 Wednesday night in the final game of the 1976 World Series.

"We went to the Series in 1972 and thought we were the best team and were beaten by Oakland. It's said then we lost in the playoffs to New York Mets in 1973 and thought we were the best then," said Joe Morgan, who got the game-winning hit with two outs in the ninth inning Wednesday night.

"Until we prove it on the field, we're nothing," Morgan added. "Now I can go home and say, 'We're the best.'"

Before winning the tense seventh game in the hectic climax of Boston's colorful old Fenway Park, Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson had been criticized for not winning big enough. His disappointments went back to the 1970 World Series, when the Reds were steamrollered by Baltimore Orioles in five games.

Then, after running away with the National League pennant in 1972, the Reds were defeated by the A's in seven games. In 1973, the Reds won the league's West Division but were upset in the playoffs by the Mets.

TONY PEREZ

The Red Sox took the series opener at Fenway, 6-3, behind the five-hit pitching of Luis Tiant, but the Reds won the second game 3-2 with two runs in the ninth.

Switching to Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium for the third game, the Reds won 6-5 in 10 innings on a controversial bunt. Boston catcher Carlton Fisk claimed pinch-hitter Ed Armbrister, who had laid down a sacrifice bunt, interfered with his attempt to make a play.

Fisk collided with Armbrister and his throw to second went awry, putting runners on first and third and setting up the winning run.

The infamous "collision bunt" became the cause celebre of this series and Larry Bartett, the home plate umpire who was involved in the play, eventually had his life threatened and needed protection from the FBI.

Tiant came back to salvage a fourth game for the Red Sox, winning 5-4 but the Reds were easy, 6-3 winners in the fifth game.

With the Reds in the driver's seat, leading in games 3-2, the teams came back to Boston for the last weekend.

But it turned into a lost weekend as rain washed out not only Saturday's and Sunday's games but Monday night's rescheduled one as well.

When they finally got back to action for the sixth game, it was well worth the wait. The teams played a game that will probably be remembered for years to come. Carlton Fisk's home run leading off the 12th inning saved the Red Sox from elimination, giving Boston a thrilling 7-6 win.

That set the stage for the finale. But before the curtain came down for the Red Sox, they took the spotlight.

Boston scored three runs off Gullett with the help of the left-hander's misplays in the third inning.

It was real concerned, down three runs," Anderson said. "I wanted to stay with Gullett because he's my best, but he was in danger and was overthrowing the ball.

"When he gets away from all those friendly Kentucky folks and fans at Riverfront, sometimes Don gets too keyed up and tends to overthrow which makes his ball straighten out like tonight."

Lee kept the Reds from scoring through the first five innings. But in the sixth an error by second baseman Denny Doyle opened the door for the Reds. Perez hit a long home run over the left-center field screen and the Reds were suddenly back in business, behind only 3-2.

"Tony started it," Morgan said. "He gave us life when we needed it."

Cincinnati tied it on Pete Rose's run-scoring single in the seventh. The noisy Boston crowd of 35,205 became less overbearing at this point, and even quieter when the Reds bolted ahead in the ninth.

Ken Griffey walked to start the winning rally. He was sacrificed to second by Cesar Geronimo, a defensive star for the Reds all through the Series.

Dan Driessen batted for winner Clay Carroll and grounded out, sending Griffey to third. Rose then walked before Morgan hit loser Jim Burton a 1-2 pitch to centre for the game-winning single.

"It was something low and outside," said Morgan. "To be honest, I probably would have struck out on a pitch like that two years ago.

"But now I'm a better hitter. He made a great pitch. I just stayed with it and flipped it into center field. Everybody's gonna say it was a bloop but I'll take it.

"I waited 31 years for that hit."

Joe Will Take the 'Blooper'

BOSTON (AP) — "It was something low ans outside.

"To be honest I probably would have struck out on a pitch like that two years ago," said Joe Morgan in the Cincinnati Reds locker room Wednesday night.

"Everybody's gonna say it was a bloop, but I'll take it," said the Cincinnati second baseman, whose ninth-inning two-out single produced the Reds' first World Series title in 35 years.

Morgan, who led Cincinnati during the season with a .327 batting mark but was struggling at the plate during the seven-game series, paid homage to team-mates Tony Perez and Pete Rose.

With the Reds trailing 3-0 in the sixth, Perez hit his third home run of the series, a two-run drive that sparked the quiet Cincinnati bench.

"Tony started it," said Morgan, who admitted he was hoping to redeem himself for a poor Series. " He gave us life when we needed it."

Reds catcher Johnny Bench called the Cincinnati victory the ultimate thrill of his career.

"I don't know if anything will matter as much as this moment right now," said the 27-year-old slugger.

Reds manager Sparky Anderson, who described the dramatic struggle as "the greatest class Series ever held," lauded Morgan for his crucial hit, saying "That's the kind of spot Joe likes."

"It boiled down to total desire. These guys never thought they were going to lose."

Will McEnaney the reliever for the Reds who got the final three outs and was credited with a save, said he gave himself a pep talk to fight off the pressure.

"I had waited all my life for this, I said 'Here it is. Let's go get it."

Shortstop Dave Concepcion couldn't control his emotions. He cried.

"I've been d'eaming of this," said Bench. "I kept thinking the third time would be the charm.

"But after last night's game, I didn't know who had the charm," he said of Boston's 12-inning, 7-6 victory in the sixth game.

"To see that last fly ball with Cesar Geronimo under it was a mercy! I'll never forget."

Bench said.

Picked Perfect Pitch

BOSTON (AP) — "I don't think I could throw a better pitch. It was just where I wanted it."

That's how rookie left-hander Jim Burton described the pitch which Cincinnati's Joe Morgan bloooped into centre field in the ninth inning Wednesday night, lifting the Reds to a 4-3 victory over Boston Red Sox and baseball's World Series championship.

Used little this season after being called up from Pawtucket Red Sox of the International League, Burton became the fourth Boston pitcher with the score tied 3-3 in the seventh and deciding game of the Series.

It all at walks put Cincinnati runners on first and second. The count ran to one ball and two strikes on the Reds' second baseman. Then he fouled off a pitch.

"We decided to throw him a slider on the next pitch," Burton said, "It was just about as perfect a pitch that you can make, exactly where I wanted to put it.

"He just reached out and got the end of the bat on it, poking the ball into centre."

CFL Looks at 'Buyer's Market

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Several players from the World Football League may be appearing in Canadian Football League uniforms in the near future.

John Barrow, Toronto Argonauts managing director, said Wednesday that the Argos have the CFL negotiating rights to running back Anthony Davis and quarterback Danny White, two WFL stars who received free-agent status when the league folded Wednesday.

Davis, former University of Southern California running back who was the WFL's leading rusher, signed with the Southern California Sun for a contract set at $2 million, a deal that included a $40,000 Rolls Royce registered in his name.

"I don't want to say anything about Anthony Davis," Barrow said. "I don't know yet. Davis and White might have contracts which prohibit us from touching them."

However, Davis' agent, Mike Trope, said the Argonauts have offered to match his Sun contract.

Meanwhile in Edmonton, CFL Commissioner Jake Gaudaur said Wednesday night he does not know what WFL players have been put on negotiation lists of CFL teams.

"I'm not sure I'd tell you if I knew, but no commissioner of any league gets involved with that," Gaudaur said.

Running back John Musso of Birmingham Vulcans, waived through the Canadian Football League in June, said in a telephone interview from Birmingham, Ala., that he is "going to play somewhere."

Musso said he plans to talk to Chicago Bears, who hold his NFL contract, and to some teams in the CFL.

Gary Hobson, Calgary Stampeders general manager, feels the situation has changed with the demise of the league.

"I think its changed from a seller's to a buyer's market," Hobson said. "I'm leaving tomorrow (Thursday) to talk to a few players. We made the arrangements to go last Monday anticipating this would happen."

Death Knell Sounds for WFL

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Football League (WFL) became terminally ill in the fall of 1974 as some teams falsified attendance figures and lied to the public. Most defaulted on player payrolls.

A year later, the WFL is dead.

With its revenues weak, with $10 million already lost, with predictions that it might take $40 million and two years more to make any progress, there was really nothing else for the WFL to do.

And so the WFL folded Wednesday, beginning what many believe will be a trend away from the rampant sports expansion boom of the late '60s and early '70s.

Chris Hemmeter, the Hawaiian millionaire who single-handedly rescued the WFL from the ashes of its first disastrous season, reorganizing with new owners and a new financing concept, made the announcement.

"Our decision not to proceed is due primarily to our collective inability to penetrate markets in WFL franchise cities," he said.

Translated, that means the WFL's dismal average crowds of 13,278—its only source of income—was sinking every club deep in red ink.

Looking around him at hockey, basketball and tennis leagues which also are losing millions, Hemmeter said:

"We will not be the last. The bubble of the professional sports' boom is in for a bust."

Predictably, a number of clubs say they want to continue. An official of the San Antonio team says his club and three others are working to form yet another league next year.

Hemmeter was not so optimistic. He said sentiment was overwhelming against continuing and doubted any version of the WFL will spring up again soon.

The decision to end the WFL in the 12th week of its second year means that $30 million—$20 million of it in 1974—has been lost. And $15 million is still owed to players, businesses and season ticket holders from 1974. Those people will never see their money. Hemmeter's people, however, have remained current in their payments.

The decision also sent National Football League (NFL) clubs into late-night meetings. Under a bylaw passed a month ago to recommodate the return of Mike Gilliam from the WFL, NFL clubs have until next Tuesday to sign any player who becomes a free agent because his team or league has folded.

Thus, the NFL suddenly has about 380 free agents from the WFL on its hands. The big question is whether such high-salaried players as Larry Csonka, Jim Klick and Paul Warfield, former with Miami Dolphins, are free agents, or whether they are still bound to their contracts.

John Bassett, the WFL Memphis owner who gave the three former Dolphins a $3.5 million package deal, refused to discuss the status of their contracts.

The players' agent, Ed Keating, said they have received about a million of the total and now are free agents. However, Csonka, Klick and Warfield have previous contracts with Bassett, while the vast majority of WFL players were on week-to-week contracts pegged to a percentage of ticket sales.

If those three are free of Bassett, any NFL team could sign them since they played out their option in Miami. But any other NFL team would have to compensate the Dolphins for signing any of the three.

Look at all the places where heat can escape. Wasted money and energy! Read how to keep the heat in and the cold out.

Are you heating your home or the great Canadian outdoors?

Heat sneaks out through the ceiling, through windows and doors and tiny cracks. So you end up paying a lot more than you should for fuel. Here are some ideas to help you hold onto your heat—and your money.

CANADA'S ENERGY problems haven't reached the crisis stage, but why wait for that? Let's avoid that possibility by making some savings now.

Start by turning down the thermostat. Check that your furnace is working well. Have a furnace tune-up at least once a year.

Here are 5 more easy ways to save on home heating by keeping the heat in and the cold out.

Insulation pays for itself several times over.

A great many Canadian homes don't have enough insulation. On a dull day, does snow melt on your roof? Does snow disappear from around the walls of your house? Both are warning signs of excessive heat loss.

A thorough reinsulation job can cut your annual fuel bill by up to 50%. Even a modest improvement can save you 20%–$80 on an annual heating bill of $400.

Ceilings should have 6" or more of mineral wool or glass fibre insulation. Wall cavities should be completely filled and basement walls protected to 2 feet below grade level. (To avoid fire hazards, don't use foamed plastic insulation in exposed applications.)

Insulation comes in many forms, but the standard measure of the insulating properties of a product is the resistance value—the "R" value—marked on most products. The higher the "R" value, the better the insulation. Materials are light and easy to handle, so you may be able to do the job yourself.

Bonus: To encourage us to keep the heat in, the Federal Government has dropped the federal sales tax on all insulation and weather-stripping materials, double-pane windows, storm windows and storm doors.

For some free advice, see pages 45 to 74 in 100 Ways to Save Energy and Money in the Home. It contains a step-by-step guide to types of insulation, recommended levels for different locations in the home and installation tips.

Use storm windows and doors.

As much as 25% of your heat loss is through windows and doors. Tighten them up.

When you're putting in new windows, install double glazing.

Put on storm windows; they'll cut window loss by 50%. And if you don't want a room with a view, tack plastic sheeting over your windows.

That ¼" crack is big trouble.

If you think that weather-stripping and caulking are too much trouble, remember that a ¼" crack along the bottom of a door is exactly the same as a 3" x 3" hole in your living room wall. You wouldn't ignore that!

How tightly should you seal your house? Stop when you find that in cold weather a light fog or mist develops on windows on the downwind side. Most homes have a long way to go to reach this point.

Weather-strip all doors and windows. Seal cracks around ceiling fans, electrical fixtures, plumbing and air ducts.

Use a caulking compound on the outside to seal cracks around windows, doors and vents.

Again, see the 100 Ways book for plenty of help. Pages 73 to 84.

Use solar energy.

It makes sense to use the sun's energy. It's free.

Through the winter, open curtains and drapes during the bright part of the day to let the sun in and close them at night for their insulating value.

Check the escape routes.

Keep your garage door closed. Shut your basement door so the cooler air stays down below. Take a look at your milk chute and mail slot to be sure they're not letting heat sneak out.

Saving energy can save us all.

It's a fact of life that we face possible shortages and soaring prices in just a few years. We must stop wasting energy.

Moderated consumption now, plus planned development of our resources, can protect our way of life far into the future. But we must start now!

Hockey Great Calls It Quits

EDMONTON (CP) — Controversial Jacques Plante, one of the greatest goaltenders in hockey history, announced Wednesday he has retired after a professional career which spanned 26 years, most of them in the National Hockey League.

In a joint statement, Plante and general manager Bill Hunter said the retirement is effective immediately and Edmonton Oilers of the World Hockey Association will depend on goaltenders Chris Worthy and Dave Dryden this season.

Plante, 46, was signed to a rich, two-year contract last season for $150,000 a year. No announcement was made on what terms Plante received in the retirement agreement. He has not played a game this season.

"After a long and serious study of my personal position as a player, I decided that I wanted to retire while I was still on top," said Plante, who began with Montreal Royals of the now-defunct Quebec Senior Hockey League in 1951 and graduated to Montreal Canadiens of the NHL as a part-time player the next season.

He became Montreal's regular netminder in 1954 and was traded to New York Rangers in 1963. After retiring in 1965, he returned in 1968 to share goaltending duties with Glenn Hall for an NHL expansion franchise, St. Louis Blues.

St. Louis traded him to Toronto Maple Leafs in 1970 and the Leafs then shipped him to Boston Bruins where, three seasons ago, he made his last playoff performance.

He left the Bruins on short notice to become coach and general manager of Quebec Nordiques of the WHA. Boston general manager Harry Sinden was so angry he refused to let Plante take his netminding equipment along.

Sabres Answer Their Critics

By SCOTT ABBOTT
The Canadian Press

Rick Martin must not take kindly to the chief rap against Buffalo Sabres—sure, they've got firepower, but can they stay the pace?

Martin could have answered the question almost single-handedly Wednesday night, rifling three goals in a stretch of less than eight minutes in the first period as Buffalo trounced New York Rangers 9-1 in one of seven National Hockey League games.

In other action, Toronto Maple Leafs stopped Pittsburgh Penguins 5-3, Montreal Canadiens downed Detroit Red Wings 4-1, Los Angeles Kings overcame Chicago Black Hawks 5-4, Kansas City Scouts dumped Washington Capitals 6-3, St. Louis Blues and Atlanta Flames tied 3-3, and California Seals defeated Minnesota North Stars 4-2.

The Sabres surrendered six goals in 80 games last year, an average of three per outing, and still won the Adams Division title with ease. But one fence, second only to the Canadiens.

But when the Sabres lost the Stanley Cup final to Philadelphia Flyers, the cry went up again—the goaltending is not adequate to carry them all the way.

In this young season, the Sabres have given up just 13 goals in their six games, all-wins and representing the best record in the league. And if they continue the pace that has seen them score 39 goals in six games, the goaltending gaffe now and then can hardly prevent them from repeating as division champions.

While Martin pushed his goal total to nine, Don Luce contributed two goals and Jim Schoenfeld, Rene Robert, Danny Gare and Jacques Richard added singles to put goalie Gerry Desjardins at ease at home. Rick Gruechow scored the only Rangers goal with an assist from netminder John Davidson, who certainly would have fended his offensive rarely for a better showing between the pipes.

Errol Thompson's goal at 16:12 of the third period snapped a 2-2 tie and gave the Leafs their win at Toronto. Blaine Stoughton and Darryl Sittler had scored second-period goals for the winners after rookie Rick Blight and Don Lever put the Canucks ahead 2-0 with power-play goals in the first period.

Yvan Cournoyer of the Canadiens and Detroit's Walt McKechnie exchanged first-period goals at Detroit before Murray Wilson, Yvon Lambert and Doug Risebrough put it away for Montreal in the second. Bunny Larocque saw his first action of the year for the Canadiens nets when starter Ken Dryden pulled a hamstring late in the first period and did not return after the latter's mistake.

Butch Goring scored three goals and Gene Carr two to pace the Kings at Chicago. Phil Russell, Pit Martin and Ivan Boldirev were enough to give the Hawks a 3-3 tie before Carr and Goring each scored his final goal of the game against Tony Esposito in the final four minutes.

Wilf Paiement's goal at 12:03 of the second period broke a 2-2 tie and Gary Croteau added an insurance goal on his second at this game, in the third as the Scouts won at Washington in a meeting of second-year clubs. Dave Hudson had Kansas City's other goal while Tommy Williams scored twice for the Caps.

Bert Wilson's goal at 2:19 of the third period carried the Blues a tie at Atlanta. Curt Bennett's fourth goal of the year had put the Flames in front at 13:01 of the second.

Dave Gardner, Al MacAdam, Gary Sabourin and Mike Christie lifted the Seals over the North Stars at Oakland. John French and Bruce Affleck hit for Minnesota.

In games tonight, Philadelphia Flyers visit the Islanders at Uniondale, N.Y., and Boston Bruins entertain the Scouts.

Pate Funeral Monday

Cause of Death Still Not Clear

CALGARY (CP)—The body of the 23-year-old Tom Pate, the Hamilton Tiger-Cat football player who died Tuesday night after collapsing during Saturday's Canadian Football League game, will be sent to his home town of Omaha, Neb., today for funeral services and burial.

An autopsy Wednesday on the body of the 230-pound rookie produced no clear reason for the cause of death, although the chief pathologist coroner said the cause will be known in about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pate, the player's parents, said that funeral services will be held at Morning Star Lutheran Church in Omaha, on Monday. Burial will take place the same day.

More than 1,800 fans attended the Edmonton Eskimos' 8100-a-plate dinner Wednesday night stood in a moment of silence for Pate.

The athlete's parents and his fiancee, Cindy Devilliger, rushed to Calgary following his collapse.

The coroner's report said "certain tissue" had been retained by the medical team that performed the autopsy and further examination should determine the cause of death.

A statement from the coroner's office said Pate's history of spinal meningitis, which he contracted at age 13 and which left him in a coma for four days, "is not at this time felt to have contributed directly to his death."

Pate went into convulsions on the field immediately after being hooked high by Calgary fullback Rick Galbos in the second quarter and died four days later.

Wednesday's autopsy was conducted by Dr. Mahon Hamilton, chief pathologist coroner.

"The coroner's office accentuated that Mr. Pate was grade 4 of 10 upon entering hospital and that his condition deteriorated even further after various sites of his being seen by a neurological consultant," the coroner's statement said.

The decision on whether to hold a public inquest will be delayed until the complete pathologist's report is received in November.

Dr. Jack Barnes, a Calgary neurosurgeon, said Pate had a brain hemorrhage, but whether that was the cause of death or whether this was the result of injuries he received in the football game, we don't know.

BORG BEATEN

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Ilie Nastase defeated Bjorn Borg 6-3 7-5, 6-4 Wednesday in a men's singles semi-final match in the $125,000 world invitational tennis tournament. Rod Laver and Borg defeated Arthur Ashe and Nastase 6-3, 6-4 in the men's doubles final Wednesday. Nastase and Laver will meet today for the men's singles title. Laver led in points after Wednesday with three. Nastase had two.

Lack of Production Hurting the Cowboys

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Cowboys are having their troubles in the first few weeks of the World Hockey Association and coach Joe Crozier put his finger on the problem Wednesday night.

"We have good scorers who just aren't scoring," he said before the Cowboys entertained their third loss in four home games, on a goal by rookie Steve Hull, but Daryl Maggs put the Spurs over on a deflection.

Rick Kierans scored the Denver winner on a short-handed goal with team-mate Bob Liddington off for tripping. With the Cowboys trying to capitalize on their man advantage, defenceman Jim Odrowski took the puck and Merrin fired a 25-footer to the short side of goalie Don McLeod.

Calgary remained in the basement of the Canadian Division, while the surprising Spurs, on their fourth consecutive win and 3-2 record, moved into a first-place tie in the Western Division with the Phoenix Roadrunners and Minnesota Fighting Saints.

The Calgary-Denver game was the only one scheduled Wednesday night. Action resumes tonight with Edmonton Oilers travelling to Cincinnati to meet the Stingers, Houston Aeros venturing to Indianapolis to take on the Racers and Minnesota Fighting Saints moving east to the West Coast to tackle San Diego.

In all-the-ice news Wednesday, Jacques Plante, one of the most controversial and talented goalies in hockey history, announced his retirement from Edmonton Oilers.

Plante, whose professional career covered 26 years, signed a two-year contract last season for $150,000 a season. There was no announcement from either Plante or the Oilers about how the final year of the deal will be settled.

The 46-year-old netminder played in the National Hockey League with Montreal Canadiens, New York Rangers, St. Louis Blues, Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins.

He left Boston on short notice to become coach and general manager of Quebec Nordiques of the WHA, but decided to take one last shot at playing and was signed by Edmonton last season by his active contract.

He played well early in the 1974-75 season, had injuries and the better of him and his comeback attempt was ruined.

Plante did not play a game this season as the Oilers went with Dave Dryden and Chris Worthy in the net.

Habs Forced Down

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Quebec Air charter aircraft carrying Montreal Canadiens was forced to land at London Airport when the port engine on Wednesday night shortly after takeoff from Detroit following the Canadiens 4-1 National Hockey League victory over the Red Wings.

A Quebec Air spokesman said the twin-engined plane was capable of flying on one engine but the aircraft made the forced landing as a precaution.

Coach Scotty Bowman said the Canadiens decided to stay overnight at a local hotel because of the long wait required for another aircraft.

Cindy Makes Mark

DAMASCUS (CP) — Cindy Ervin, a 15-year-old from Damascus swimmer who swam Lake Ontario and the English Channel, won the women's section of the 16-mile Jabla to Lebanon section on the Mediterranean coast.

Miss Nicholas, 18, also finished fourth over-all with a time of 7:21.45.

Officials estimated that about 150,000 people from neighboring towns watched the 5-foot, 90-lb ol-the race Sunday featuring swimmers from Spain, Canada, Saudi Arabia, Britain, Bulgaria, Argentina and Palestine.

Miss Ervin, from Spring Mount, Pa., won the $4,000 first prize with a time of 7:21.30.

Earlier this month, the Egyptian entrant cancelled her proposed 12-mile Suez canal swim in which Miss Nicholas was to have competed.

Coach Fired

QUEBEC (CP) — Coach Ghislain Dolegar of Sherbrooke Beavers was suspended for two games and fined $200 Wednesday by the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League.

The decision was announced following a league investigation of a game Sunday night in Sherbrooke between the Beavers and Trois-Rivieres Dynamos in which Benoit Plouffe of the Dynamos left participation from a cross-check by Peter Marsh of the Beavers.

League President Raymond Lagace said in a statement that while the league could not withhold a Dynamos' claim that Dolegar ordered his players to use excessive roughness, it appears the Sherbrooke coach lacked control over his players.

Concerning the Plouffe, injury, Lagace said that after consultation with referee Guy Rochefort, he did not feel Marsh's check was a deliberate attempt to injure.

Meanwhile the condition of Plouffe, paralyzed from the waist down, was unchanged Wednesday. Plouffe broke his fifth and sixth vertebras in his back.

BAYES RELEASED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Hayes was released Wednesday by San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League. He was put on waivers to make room for veteran wide receiver Terry Beasley.

PUT ON WAIVERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Happy Hairston, 33, a 6-foot-7, 11-year veteran, who became one of the most prolific rebounders in the National Basketball Association, has been put on waivers by Los Angeles Lakers.

Six Prospects Join Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers of baseball's American League have given veteran infielder Gene Michael his unconditional release and have assigned four young pitchers to the farm system to make room for six prospects from the minors.

Righthander Ike Brookens and lefthander Tom Makowski, both of whom pitched for three games with the Tigers this past season, and Guy Sularz, shortstop another southpaw who spent spring training with the club, were assigned to Evansville on Wednesday.

Gary Ignasiak, a lefthander, was released to Montgomery.

Catcher Bob Adams, outfielder Dan Gonzales and infielder Phil Mankowski were purchased from Evansville. Pitcher Mark Lemongello, pitchers Steve Trella and George Cappuzzello were sent from Clinton of the Midwest League.

DATSUN STILL THE CARS TO MILEAGE
INTRODUCING DATSUN FOR 76
The new Datsuns have arrived. And for 1976, as always, they're an ideal combination of economy and driving pleasure. Economy at a time when economy is important. Datsun's high gas mileage is a matter of public record by now. But we know there's a lot more to economy than just high gas mileage. That's why every Datsun is specifically engineered to let you get the benefit from its traditionally high resale value. And why easy-to-get-at service costs down big. Our electrical and transmission checks can be done easily and quickly through special inspection areas, so time is spent fixing the trouble rather than finding it. When you buy a Datsun, you're buying overall economy, not just high gas mileage.
Datsuns feel great to drive. Because we've put over forty years of engineering expertise into every one. That's why the "Z," 710 and Sportruck feature power-efficient overhead cam engines. And that's why all our cars have rack and pinion steering. At Datsun, we haven't forgotten that cars are meant to be driven and enjoyed. Performance and feeling are as important to us as economy. The 1976 Datsuns are solid, exciting, comfortable, responsive and, most of all fun to drive. Drive one, and feel the Datsun Spirit at your Datsun dealer, today.
*The Datsun B210, with a manual transmission gets 35 MPG in the city and 43 MPG on the highway, according to latest U.S. E.P.A. test results. Your gas mileage will depend on the kind of driving you do, the condition of your car, and its optional equipment.
Buy one for the economy, drive it for the feeling!
The Datsun Spirit... feel it.
DATSUN SAFETY WEEK, November 3 to November 8. FREE SAFETY CHECK FOR ALL DATSUNS. Call your Datsun Dealer for an appointment today

Moira Trojans Beat off Challenge From Stubborn Prince Edward Team

Price Edward Collegiate Institute completed its Bay of Quinte High School Football League season, Wednesday, and as usual, the team was on the short end of the score.

But the Jon Scott-coached team made its final appearance of the season an impressive one, beating Moira Secondary School Trojans by just two touchdowns in the end zone in junior action at Moira.

It was the fifth loss of the season for Trjans who needed a strong effort from the defence in order to get the determined Prince Edward squad.

"We still have a shot at second place," offered Moira coach Ken Smith. "And it depends on how the Trenton — Centennial game turns out, Thursday (today)".

Centennial carries a 5-1 record into today's game with the Trenton High School Tigers who have six wins in as many starts.

"A Trentes win will give us a second place," explained Smith.

"Our offence couldn't really get rolling, Wednesday," said Smith "but Prince Edward's defence played extremely well.

"Both teams were strong defensively" he added.

Dave Bennett, moved from the quarterback position to fullback, counted Trojans' first major after halfback Jeff Dennison had run the ball in the Picton three-yard line. Runcinan's point covered 30 yards.

pleted the scoring in the game, taking a pass from Bennett on the option play. The score came late in the match and wrapped it up for Moira.

Prince Edward's lone point came in the first quarter on a punt through the end zone.

Next week, Prince Edward plays host to Moira in a Bayed competition opens next week.

Conservation Area In Planning Stage

The Belleville and District Fish and Game Club, with a new executive elected has announced an ambitious project for 1977.

Under newly elected president Dick Parker, the club will put the emphasis on conservation by involvement by purchasing and developing a conservation area in the Quinte region.

It is planned to include a duck pond, stocked with pheasant and picnic spaces in the proposed conservation area.

The area will be open to the public, at no charge.

Rounding out the club's three-man executive are Mike Flanegan, vice-president and Tom Hein, secretary-treasurer.

The club meets the second Tuesday of each month at the Oddfellows Hall on Bay Drive. New members are welcome.

Unblinking Eye of Camera Catches Damsel in Distress

MEXICO CITY (CP) — It was team-mate James Hutter of Toronto who won Canada's first medal in the Pan-American Games platform diving competition Wednesday, but the Montreal spectator audience cherishes fond memories of bronze medallist Linda Cuthbert.

The 19-year-old platform specialist from Peterborough, Ont., was performing one of her optional dives when the strap of her bra broke as she hit the water. The suit slipped to her waist, but she repaired the damage before she surfaced.

Linda's mishap was witnessed by an underwater television camera which beamed it throughout the country. Unfortunately, the network showed two reruns of the incident, the second while she was doing live commentary without being aware of what was being shown on the screen.

"I really wanted to do well," Miss Cuthbert said afterwards. "I thought I was diving well right up to that point and then things seemed to kind of come apart."

Things were also coming apart for the Canadian swimming team. His predecessor in Cali, Colombia, four years ago had won six gold medals, but the current edition has only one gold in 31 events completed to date.

Both the United States and Canadian teams had left some of their top swimmers at home but the Americans, with five victories in as many days Wednesday, continued to show their mastery of the pool.

The times, while slow by current world standards in most races, almost invariably broke Games records.

Canadians won medals in all five races. Lisa Clennard of Quebec City and Cheryl Gibson of Edmonton claiming both the silver and bronze in the women's 200-metre backstroke behind Donna Wennerstrom of the U.S. Miss Clenard had won the 100-metre backstroke two days earlier.

Joann Baker of Thunder Bay, Ont., won another silver in the women's 200 breaststroke and the Canadian team of Steve Hardy of Vancouver; Mike Biondal of Brownfield, Daryl Skilling of Thunder Bay, Ont., and Bruce Robertson of Vancouver was second in the men's 800 freestyle relay.

Other bronze medallists were Michelle Oliver of Agincourt, Ont., in the women's 400 freestyle and Bill Savelski of Thunder Bay in the men's 200 individual medley.

Canada won its third silver medal in synchronized swimming as the Calgary Aquabelles finished behind the U.S. in the eight-girl team event.

Jamie and Hugh Kidd of Brantford, Ont., gave Canada another silver and bronze completed the seven-day yachting program in second place in the Flying Dutchman class.

Canadian officials expressed satisfaction with the Canadian showing, which included fourth place finishes in two of the other three classes. Four years ago, the only Canadian yachting medal was a bronze.

Friday was another day of U.S. domination at the Games. The American crowd all the individual medals in women's gymnastics, claiming two extra golds as well as their contestants tried for first place in the all-round. The competition was won three of the four yachting classes.

The Cubans gave them an argument in men's gymnastics, claiming six of the seven individual competitions although they finished second in the Americans in both men's and women's team events.

Brazil, in the Flying Dutchman class of yachting, was the only other country to reach the gold-medal table.

Halifax featherweight Chris Clarke savaged himself of no worse than a silver medal by outpointing a Venezuelan opponent in his semi-final bout. He meets Aaron Pryor of the U.S. in the final Saturday, the day after his 19th birthday.

The only other Canadian boxer to reach the semi-finals is Michel Prevost of Montreal in the light middleweight division.

In team sports, the Canadian women's volleyball team kept its medal chances alive with a victory over the United States and the baseball and women's basketball teams, both out of the running, defeated teams from El Salvador. The men's basketball team lost to Brazil.

Miss Hutter, who moved to Toronto from Winnipeg last May, fought an ear infection and a determined challenge from world champion Janet Emery of the U.S. to win the platform diving.

Miss Exley, who finished the compulsory portion of the competition in fourth place, 25 points behind Miss Emery, performed more difficult optional dives than the Canadian did and narrowed the margin steadily. But Miss Hutter held on to win by less than five points.

The second American, Melissa Briley, who had been second after the compositories, had a bad day and dropped behind Miss Cuthbert in her final dive.

Both Canadian medallists were at the Games only because the top-ranked lower divers, Tari Teck of Vancouver and Rep Boyd of Montreal, chose to stay home to prepare for the Olympics next year.

Miss Hutter, who graduated from the University of Manitoba last spring, is taking the next year off to concentrate on diving.

"I can hope for gold, work for it, but you never know," she said of her prospects for Montreal.

JUDO CHAMPS MEET

VIENNA (Reuter) — More than 300 competitors from about 35 countries will take part in World Judo championships starting today, including four Soviet defenders from the 1972 championships. The meet will be the last major test before the 1976 Olympic games in Montreal.

SCORE VICTORIES

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Americans Cliff Richey and Harold Solomon scored straight set victories Wednesday and moved into the quarter-finals of the $40,000 Perth tournament. Richey beat India's Anand Amritraj 6-2, 6-3 in less than one hour and Solomon beat Australia's Rod Thang 7-5, 6-1.

Shaver Takes Aim at Cranston

EDMONTON (CP) — Twenty-five-year-old Ron Shaver of Cambridge, Ont., is number two and trying harder than ever before.

The slim 125-pounder has made a career of trying to take the Canadian men's skating championship from Toller Cranston of Toronto—so far without success.

He gets another chance during the Skate Canada 75 competition, an annual invitational event opening here today.

The former national junior champion makes no secret of his admiration for Cranston's innovative skating style, "but I know I can beat him. Otherwise I wouldn't be here."

Shaver is the defending champion who won last year in Kitchener, Ont., and was a close second to Cranston in Calgary the previous year, in Skate Canada inaugural. He has been preparing at Denver, Colo., for several weeks.

Men's compulsory figures kick off the event. Both Canadians have been criticized for their lack of technical excellence, but a reduction in the marking value of compulsory figures is expected to work to their advantage.

The reigning world champion in free skating, American Terry Kubicka who won the free skating competition at Denver this year, also is here for the four-day invitational event.

Cranston had turned in a poor free skating performance that left him fourth over-all, while Shaver, nursing a groin injury, was eighth. The other Canadian in the top-level men's event is former champion Kevin Hicks of Windsor, Ont.

Compulsory figures, once worth 80 per cent of the total marks, have been downgraded to 30 per cent with a compulsory short program worth 20 per cent. Free skating makes up the difference.

When the short program was first introduced, free skating and figures were worth 40 per cent each. Skate Canada officials told a news conference the further reduction indicates a serious attempt to increase the emphasis on the brilliance of free skating.

After the day's men's and women's compulsory figures, compulsory dances and exhibition skating highlight the evening program.

The dance program will feature David Porter of Port Perry, Ont., and Barbara Berezowski, of Toronto. Canada's pairs skaters, which finished ninth this year in the world championships.

Berezowski, 21, is the reigning Miss Toronto and will compete Nov. 7 in the Miss Canada Pageant. And she is concerned that winning the pageant could interfere with her preparation for the winter Olympics in Austria in February and the world championships in Sweden in March.

"Being Miss Canada is practically a full-time job for a year," she said in an interview.

The rapidly-improving Canadians, joined by Susan Carscallen and Eric Gillies of Willowdale, Ont., and Lorna Wighton of Don Mill, Ont., and John Dowding of Oakville, Ont., as Canada's dance representatives, are especially anxious to compete in the Olympics, where dancing is new to the competition.

Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hoskin, Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hoskin, Thomasburg. Special thanks to Dr. Erasmus, Dr. Albers and nurses on 3rd floor.

McGRATH — Eugene and Elaine (nee Riley) are pleased to announce the arrival of their daughter Megan Gene, on Thursday, October 16th, 1975 at the Belleville General Hospital. A sister for Blair and Shannon.

In Memoriam

ROBLIN — In loving memory of a dear son and beloved Grandson, who passed away two years ago today, October 23rd, 1973.
Time rolls on and the sorrow
Of a day my heart must bear
Long since you left us, oh, so quickly,
And we all do miss you dear.
In the bloom of life death claimed you,
In the prime of manhood days.
But I hope some day to meet you
In a world of endless praise.
—Ever loved by Mother and Dad, brothers David and Paul, John, Bill and Mary and friends.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Eva MacDonald wish to express their most sincere thanks for the many cards of sympathy, flowers, and expressions of sympathy received during their recent bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. Dr. Sanderson and Rev. Dr. Clarke, also to the friends and neighbors who helped with a social hour in the Reverend Utley for his comforting words.

I would like to thank neighbors, friends and relatives for their visits, cards and gifts. All the nice things they did for Anna and I. Also for the pies, nurses and staff on 3rd floor, Dr. Ross, Dr. Albers, Rev. Schortinghuis, Dr. Cook and Dr. Dodds. Thank you one and all.

It has standing pulpwood, pine, spruce, tamarac, elm, soft maple and cedar estimated by the owner as being worth up to the total land cost. Do build your own lodge off the land. This holding is a favorite with Al.

EDITOR'S NOTE

It is my considered opinion that land values will continue to rise as they have since the U.E.L. "discovered" the Quinte area. The foregoing listings are well worth considering. I'll be around to answer your queries.

HANOVER, West Germany (AFP) — Soviet jazz composer Raivo Tamnik has asked for political asylum in West Germany, a spokesman for the interior ministry of Lower Saxony said Wednesday.

Tamnik, who has written the scores for a number of films and who is one of the Soviet Union's top jazz musicians, has been visiting his mother-in-law in Lueneburg near here with his wife Christ, who has also asked for asylum.

Tamnik made an earlier request for asylum in June. No decision has yet been taken on whether he will be allowed to stay in West Germany.

PARIS (AP) — Jacques Charron, one of France's foremost actors, died Wednesday at his Paris home after a heart attack. He was 53.

Charron had been a member of the Comedie Francaise repertory group, which specializes in French classic plays, for 34 years and was considered one of the most talented actors and directors of the French theatre.

NEW YORK (CP) — The American Broadcasting Corp. (ABC), enjoying its best season ever, has finished No. 1 in weekly ratings averages for the first time since last January, the latest A. C. Nielsen ratings show.

Nielsen figures released Tuesday for the week ending Oct. 12 estimated that ABC's prime-time viewing audience was 13 million homes each night compared with 12.5 million for the National Broadcasting Corp. (NBC) and about 12 million for the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS).

In addition, seven of ABC's shows were in the top 20, although CBS captured the top spot with perennial favorite All in the Family.

CBS traditionally has been the front-runner in weekly averages for the last 20 years and ABC a consistent third behind NBC.

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Toronto-born John Colicos will return to the Stratford Festival next season to play Antony opposite Maggie Smith in Shakespeare's Antony and Cleopatra, it was announced Wednesday.

The production will be directed by the festival's artistic director Robin Phillips.

Mr. Colicos appeared in festival productions from 1961 to 1964, and has appeared in both television and motion-picture productions.

Headline performers announced previously by the festival include Miss Smith, William Hutt, Nuzee Crosyn, Jessica Tandy, Douglas Rain, Mia Anderson, Tony van Bridge, Marti Henry, Tom Kneebone, Alan Scarfe and Denise Ferguson.

In addition to Cleopatra, Miss Smith will play Millamant in William Congreve's The Way of the World and Masha in Chekhov's Three Sisters.

Congreve's comedy will be directed by British director William Gaskill to Stratford.

Bill Glasson, artistic director of Toronto's Tarragon Theatre, and associate director of the festival, will direct The Merchant of Venice. It will feature Mr. Crosyn as Shylock, Tom Kneebone as Launcelot Gobbo and Denise Fergusson as Melissa.

Besides appearing in The Merchant of Venice, Mr. Crosyn will play Bottom in Mid-summer-Night's Dream under the direction of Mr. Phillips.

His wife, Jessica Tandy, will be seen as Titania-Hippolyta in Midsummer Night's Dream, as Lady Wishfort in Way of the World and in the title role of Book of Eve—a new Canadian play being written by Larry Fineberg from the novel by Constance Beresford-Howe.

Generous Death Note

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Japanese banker Yoshiro Kadono left a suicide note urging a debtor who owed him $42,000 to pay the debt step by step and not to be concerned, because "I'm not dying to embarrass you."

Ballet Troupe Unusual Group

TORONTO (CP)—It's operate on $421,000.

In a former way, says Betty Eldred, general manager of the National Ballet of Canada.

Unlike normal corporate entities, it has no assets and loses money at every performance.

Yet the company continues to grow and flourish. Next year, it will observe its 25th anniversary.

And it is a non-profit charitable organization, it pays no taxes and is heavily subsidized by the taxpayer.

This year, government subsidies of more than $1.3 million will help keep the dancers performing.

The 1975-76 operating budget is a record $3.3 million for a 12-month year.

But the company has been hurt a great deal by inflation, even with higher government grants.

In 1972-73, "we have to earn about 50 per cent of our money at the box office," Eldred said.

Government grants, nearly tripled since 1968, account for 43 per cent of the company's budget. They are split this way: Canada Council, $985,000; Ontario Arts Council, $275,000, and Metro Toronto, $75,000.

The other 15 per cent must come from fund-raising.

"We have to raise it with all the begging, borrowing and stealing we can," Eldred said.

"Campaigning, projects, what ever we can do. This year it comes close to $200,000. And that's a damn hard thing to do."

More than one-half the donations come from corporations.

"Five years ago companies used to think that a $100 donation was fine," Eldred said. "Now we go to them and we say we need $10,000, and we're getting that kind of money. IBM, Imperial Oil and Ford Motor Co. are shelling out that kind of money which really makes that $200,000 possible.

The National always has had an seething deficit, since the government grants have helped alleviate the deficits to the time that is hard to make in very many theatres," Eldred said.

The National has 48 dancers and 42 musicians, as well as stagehands, administration and public relations staff, all needed for a performance.

Currently on tour in Western Canada, the National completes the program in Winnipeg Oct. 30. It returns East for performances in Hamilton, Windsor and London, Ont., ending the tour Nov. 6.

As budgets for the National go on as do the dancers' wages. Under a contract with Actors Equity, first-year dancers in the corps de ballet earn a minimum of $180 a week while rehearsing and performing in Canada. A fourth-year dancer in the corps earns a minimum of $280 a week.

Soloists can earn around $25,000 a year. The minimum wage for a principal dancer is $600 on a 52-week basis.

But Eldred said principals usually find their own contracts and earn more than $30,000 a year, while rehearsing and performing in Canada. A fourth-year dancer is the equivalent

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, Oct. 24

ARIES (March 21-April 19) is excellent day to develop your plans and ideas through frank and open discussions with friends or people "in the know."

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your perception is extra-keen today. You can afford to follow your hunches or pursue that dream, that yesterday seemed so daring.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You can satisfy your urge to be gregarious today by getting into a large group and enjoying the social whirl.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Without lifting a finger today or voicing any idea or witty statement, you'll be looked upon as outstanding by those around you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't even think about being a loner today. Get out, mix and enjoy yourself...You'll be a big hit with the young crowd.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A change is status is in store for you today. It could bring a promotion, a raise, move request from your mate or kind words from the boss.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's a day to evoke discussions to exchange ideas and philosophies. It will broaden the horizons for all.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You are very desirable in your field of endeavor today. You will receive more than your usual. Rewards come to you from two sources.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't sitting on your shoulder today. Take your own or special person out for a good time. Dining is the way to go.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Your happiness is in the family circle today. You don't need any cheering crowds—just the cozy surroundings of hearth and home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Romantic calls you today. The more places you go and the more people you meet, the better your chances of finding it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A sum of money could come to you today. You'll immediately want the family to share in a rousing celebration.

Water Essential To Exercise

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are you supposed to have water at all after physical exercise or after sports activities? None of my PE teachers has ever let us have water afterwards. I've noticed the same goes for horses and dogs.—J.S.

This is an incorrect notion.

A recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association deals with ways to kill athletes. One is to deny them water.

There can be considerable water loss in great physical exertion, and this must be replaced. Water is important during and after the exertion, and thirst dictates the need in individual cases.

If you have watched professional football games, you undoubtedly have seen the man who has just returned to the bench after a particularly vigorous period of play insist on the water bottle.

I can't speak for horses or dogs, but I assume the same biological rules apply for them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm a 16-year-old girl who gains weight very easily. When it comes to dieting I'm no "extremist." One day I'm eating food that's fattening, and the next day I'm on a crash diet. It seems senseless. I only gain and weak.

Could you suggest a diet that's healthy and can make me lose weight fast?—D.N.

Rule No. 1. Check the weight-height chart to see if you really should be dieting at all. This would help you to control not only the volume of mail I get on this subject from young girls that much of the teen-age dieting on is essentially unnecessary. And is young growing girls this can be dangerous.

You don't give me any statistics, so I can't tell whether this is so in your case.

If you are fat, you're adopting a pretty poor method of reducing. I refer to your on-and-off, all-or-nothing program. You are weak and dizzy (on your "on" days) because of inadequate food. On your "off" days, you are gorging on fattening foods.

A long-term diet, one that will allow you to eat regularly three meals a day), is possible and desirable. You are smart enough to suspect that what you are doing is senseless. You should go a step further and try a sensible program.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has the problem of ingrown hairs on his face. It drives me crazy because he is constantly in the washroom trying to get relief. But this doesn't help much. They always grow back.

I've heard that it is best for him to have ingrown hairs to grow a beard. Is this the only solution? What causes them?—Mrs. J.S.

Ingrown hairs are the fault of the hair follicles themselves. Even if no pus or infection is present, the hairs grow out of the follicle and then shortened again, burying themselves into adjacent tissue. There is not much to be done about it except what you've been doing: Frequent and close shaving in the early months I know of.

The beard idea sounds logical, but I wouldn't guarantee long range results. What would happen when the next large ingrown hairs emerge while the beard is full-grown? Would it be necessary to cut off the beard to get at them?

Police Revolvers Cited as Inadequate

VANCOUVER (CP) — If the data of an RCMP corporal with the city crime laboratory is correct, the revolvers and ammunition issued to most Canadian policemen are inadequate.

Since 1971, Cpl. Doug Bateman, 35, has been studying the effectiveness of the RCMP's issue sidearms and their ammunition. He has made two reports to RCMP headquarters in Ottawa, but no changes in sidearms regulations have been made.

"The handgun as applied for police use has traditionally been used of as a defensive weapon to be used only when that officer's life or a civilian's life is in immediate danger," said Cpl. Bateman.

"As a defensive weapon it has to induce enough shock in his (the target's) body that it literally stops him from doing what he was doing. He must be stopped and he must be stopped immediately before he kills someone."

Cpl. Bateman has measured the effectiveness of many calibres and loads by what he calls the police tactical factor (PTF). It takes into account not only a bullet's ability to stop a criminal, but also whether it is likely to penetrate a body with enough energy to cause serious casualty—perhaps in a bystander.

It also takes into account how easily the bullet is deflected from its path on contact with a body.

The RCMP issue handgun is a Smith and Wesson revolver, a .38-calibre special with a five-inch barrel for service use and a two-inch barrel for plainclothes use. The issue ammunition has a 158-grain round lead bullet.

"Round-nosed bullets tended to be inefficient and dangerous," Cpl. Bateman said. He said they are easily deflected and may become "an aerodynamic obscenity," dangerous to bystanders.

He thinks a hollow point or a half-jacketed flat-nosed bullet is better suited for a weapon where they hit flesh and tend to stay in the body and deliver all their energy there.

The best PTF was registered by a .44 magnum, but Cpl. Bateman said its excessive recoil makes it impractical for police use.

Research also has been done in the United States, particularly by Allen Bristow, a professor in police science at California State College in Los Angeles.

Mr. Bristow studied more than 100 cases of police being shot on duty. Writing in 1971 he states:

"In repeated instances, both criminals and officers who were shot with the .38 special have been able to carry on the fight or flee. In a number of cases the shooting of the officer was accomplished by a criminal who had been shot several times by the officer."

Cpl. Bateman, who conducted his research by firing bullets into gelatin and plasticine blocks, said the emotional issue involving the use of expanding bullets by police is something lawyers try to make the most of, using examples such as "dum-dum bullets."

He said this explosive effect cannot be produced with hollow-point bullets because of the velocities attained by most pistol bullets.

"As far as the moral question is concerned," said one police officer, "I'd rather a person who has to worry about going to court for justice with hollow-point bullets—or anything else—is the guy who's shooting at me, and he has access to soft-nosed hunting ammunition, shotguns, the lot."

The head of police sidearms and their ammunition has been belatedly debated. Chief Frank Ramage, Seattle, Wash., police switched over to the hollow point bullet in their .38 specials.

This was initially opposed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), but after public hearings the opposition ceased.

David Moser, ACLU spokesman, said the organization dropped its opposition when a lower velocity hollow-point bullet than originally suggested was agreed upon.

Opening lead — Q ♠

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

If you want an explanation of the bidding of today's hand we must go back to King Arthur's court. Galahad the Pure, in spirit, sat South and decided to play bridge tournament every hundred's one hart. He did have good hearts as a good part of his minimum opening.

Bleadus, the worst player at the table, bid a spade and responded 1 N.T. to Galahad's jump to three hearts and Lancelot closed the bidding at three notrump.

Bleadus opened the queen of spades and continued with the ace and jack after Galahad held back dummy's king.

Galahad was in dummy and promptly led the jack of clubs. The wicked Mordred ducked smoothly, but Galahad rose with his ace, returned to dummy with the ace of hearts, led the nine of clubs, finessed successfully and wound up with one spade, three hearts, five clubs, and one rubber.

The second-round club finesse was not based on inspiration. West had shown five good spades and four bad hearts. With only a doubleton diamond he would have overcalled, instead of doubling.

A Maryland reader wants to know the value of "the end of a deal," as in "When in doubt, end it."

It is worth very little. A better one is: "When not in doubt, lead trumps."

British Customs Hurt By Inflation

LONDON (AP) — That pre-eminently unmilked symbol of British well-being, the Sunday joint of beef, is seriously threatened by this nation's 36.8-per-cent inflation rate, at present the highest in the industrial world.

So are the traditional family holidays at the seaside and the British-bargain custom of sending out Christmas cards, which even the firm of Scrooge and Marley managed in the darkest Dickensian days.

Afternoon tea in the High Street has been elevated almost to a reckless extravagance, and dining out as a family is an event reserved only for grandmothers, important anniversaries and, as a submarine housewife put it: "Milestone occasions like coming back from a funeral."

These are some of the everyday sacrifices and concessions that British homemakers, wage-earners and merchants confess, in an informal sampling, to making to the soaring prices that attack the family budget and the shopkeeper's balance sheet from almost every corner of the economy.

The Sunday joint isn't the institution it used to be. We've been known to have sausage on a Sunday," admitted Julie Hannon, a fireman's wife in the London suburb of Kingston-Upon-Thames and the mother of two children, who makes ends meet by eating less herself and "cannoullaging it under the gravy so the children won't notice."

An recently as last spring, food bills for the Hannon family averaged $30 a week. Now she budgets $40 and spends "a good deal more, than that, but won't admit it to myself. The crunch has really come in the past two months. Everything has gone up: food, the gas, electricity, the rates (taxes), telephones, the mail.

"We don't own a car and it's been more than a year since we've eaten out as a family."

The figures Mrs. Hannon cites: the Sunday roast she bought at $2.40 a pound last year now sells for $3.30 a pound; the monthly phone bill was $8 a year ago; it now is $24; the electricity bill has doubled to $50 a month; and a Christmas card that cost 15 cents last year now is 30 cents.

To cut fuel costs, Mrs. Hannon is determined not to turn the oil furnace on until the end of November, so the children, a boy, 7, and a girl, 6, "go to bed with hot water bottles and bed socks on cold nights."

The $13-weekly raise recently given to all London municipal workers brings Terence Hannon's annual wage to just below $8,848. But, as his wife confided, he has, to moonlight. "His extra after London firemen or policeman, fixing up homes and doing odd jobs" and she works as a secretary to pay off the mortgage on their $28,000 three-bedroom home.

"Mortgages are not fixed. Ours has gone up five times since we moved in," said Julie Hannon.

For their vacation this summer, the Hannons shared a cottage in Cornwall with some neighbors for a week. "Something we never had to do before. Usually, final if I had my way, we wouldn't have gone at all. The money was needed for the children's schooling."

The Hannons spend more than $1,000 a year sending their children to private schools because they have no confidence in the local comprehensive consolidated schools that are a fixture of the Labor government's education policy.

"It's what we want all God's boys for," she said with some emotion. Otherwise, what would be the point? We seldom see our father. We never go out anywhere as a family, maybe to an afternoon see the river, that's about it. I plain. We're keeping our heads above water."

In nearby Malden, another London suburb, Sylvia Abelson, a lawyer's wife, understands goes about their comfortable red brick house switching off lights, doesn't turn the heat on in the stairs rooms until an hour before bedtime and only lets showers be friends after 6 p.m. when rates are lower.

The Abelsons have dates out only once since Christmas and thank their new "American-style" freezer for enabling them to buy in bulk quantities and keep up a reasonable way of eating."

Centre Of Welcome

MAPLE CREEK, Sask. (CP) — A new $200,000 visitor reception centre in nearby Fort Walsh National Historical Park is expected to be open next summer. The centre is part of a five-year development program costing $3.3 million.

Polish Families May Emigrate

KATOWICE, Poland (Reuter) — Thousands of families scattered throughout the Silesian coal basin—home of Poland's chief export industry—are trying to decide whether to emigrate to West Germany or remain here.

"Almost everyone here has some connection with a family in Germany," remarked a mining engineer, discussing the latest Polish-West German negotiation on emigration.

For centuries Silesia has had a mixed Polish-German population, although the fully German population dwindled to a small proportion after the Second World War.

What gives rise to the present dilemma for many on whether to emigrate or stay is a Polish offer to allow up to 125,000 people to emigrate to West Germany in the coming four years.

And for many families it appears the decisive factor is how long the West German recession will go on. If there are clear signs of an uplift in the West German economy in 1978 then probably thousands of families will opt for the move.

But if the recession shows signs of biting deeper or if the West German economy stagnates, than those already in their 40s and 50s probably will resign themselves to remaining here.

The dominating criterion for many people is an economic one.

"People here are disappointed with the economic progress and general conditions," one Silesian miner said. This view came from a man who by Polish standards is relatively wealthy, earning at least $630 a month—much more at the coal face than most of his countrymen.

There are families where the debate—to stay or to go—is anguished one, causing tensions and unhappiness inside the family, arousing old national loyalties.

For example, the mother might feel herself 100-per-cent Polish and the children speak only Polish, but the father—a German speaker with perhaps 25 per cent German blood—might yearn to move to West Germany for financial reasons.

Silesians say the problem really became acute after the 1970 agreement among West Germany, Poland and the Soviet Union over frontiers and general East-West relations.

This agreement opened the doors to floods of West German tourists. The visitors revealed their friends and relatives with exciting tale of the rich, easy life compared with conditions in Poland.

In turn many Silesians were able to visit their relatives in West Germany with greater ease and see life there for themselves.

Now the issue is alive again after three years of political stagnation, with Poland's offer to permit emigration.

Canada Faces Newsprint Drain

EAST CHESTER, N.S. (CP)— Canada is being "skinned alive" to provide newsprint for the United States, says Dr. Richard St. Barbe Baker, an internationally known silviculturist.

Dr. Baker, founder of Men of The Trees and the Sahara Felication Project, says trees are being cut at times beyond their growth increment and in a way to make the land "feverish."

Dr. Eaker also condemns clear cutting and monocultures of conifers, urging instead that selective sustained yield cutting take place to provide a healthy perpetual forest which will maintain the watertable and equitable climate.

He is convinced that tree planting will halt the advance of deserts like the Sahara and return them to useful production. Dr. Baker says that what is needed to prove his theory is manpower and he urged that the world's armies be used to "fight the deserts instead of each other."

He also says the steady destruction of the Amazon forests, "the world's last great oxygen bank", will create consequences that will affect higher life all over the world.

The Amazon forests are being cleared to provide fields on which to raise beef for export to industrial countries, "not to provide food for hungry Brazilians."

Egg Producers Vote To Retain Marketing Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario egg producers have voted overwhelmingly to retain their organized marketing program rather than return to a traditional competition in the open market, it was announced Wednesday by Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said in an interview he had received a report to this effect from Paul Rodwey, chairman of the national farm products marketing council.

Of 1,881 ballots cast, 898 were in favor of keeping the board and 116 were opposed. There were seven spoiled ballots.

"They want to stay in the market; they want some kind of security in their livelihood," Mr. Whelan said.

"It's much better than the hurly-burly system in the open market when the biggest dog get the biggest bite and the little one starved to death.

Mr. Whelan saw the Ontario vote as a reflection of the opinion of egg producers in all provinces.

Civil Servant Wages Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Salary scales of about 1,100 senior public servants were raised between $2,000 and $4,000 a year Sept. 4 retroactive to last April 1, a treasury board spokesman said Tuesday. This was a little more than a month before the government announced its wage and price control program.

Most of the increases were to the lower end of the range, he said, involving about 600 senior executives in the first or lowest category. Also affected were about 230 in level 2, the next highest group, 180 in level 3 and about 10 executives in level 4 at the top of the pay scale.

The increases, authorized last July, were not automatic. Some executives got none at all, the spokesman said. They were based on individual performance records and ranged above and below a 10 per cent average in each federal department.

FLQ Terrorists Will Still Face Prosecution

OTTAWA (CP) — Acting Prime Minister Mitchell Sharp Canada.

Mr. Sharp told the Commons said Wednesday that FLQ terrorists who participated in Quebec kidnappings during the 1970 October Crisis still will face prosecution if they return to that the situation is the same as has been for the last five years.

Companies May Roll Back Dividend Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Wednesday the federal anti-inflation program may require some companies to roll back current dividend rates or refrain from paying a fourth-quarter dividend.

Mr. Macdonald said the government remains firm in its stated intention to freeze, for a year, the dollar level of dividends at the level paid during a company's last completed fiscal year.

If a company completed its last fiscal year on Dec. 31, 1974, or early this year and has since increased its dividend rate, Mr. Macdonald said the policy could mean a rollback in dividends in order that the company's 1975 dividends remain the same as its last fiscal year.

Mr. Macdonald was speaking to reporters after the first day of the federal-provincial cabinet session on the selective wage and price controls with guides.

Guidelines May Stop Oil Price Freeze

OTTAWA (CP) — Regulations under the federal anti-inflation bill might head off any future provincial action to freeze retail petroleum prices, Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Wednesday.

Emerging from a discussion on the anti-inflation program with provincial finance ministers, Mr. Macdonald said a freeze on retail gasoline prices imposed by four provinces were discussed.

He said that if Ottawa brings in regulations to cover retail petroleum prices, such individual action by the provincial governments might be precluded.

A decision on whether to bring in such regulations will be made after federal Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie meets with his provincial counterparts to discuss the price freeze.

When Ottawa and Alberta agreed last spring to a $1.80 increase in the price of crude oil, bringing it to $8 a barrel, oil companies were asked not to pass the higher prices on to consumers for 23 days, allowing supplies of lower-priced oil to be used up.

But Ontario, opposed to an oil price increase because of its inflationary effect, ordered a further freeze until Sept. 30, later extending it until Nov. 15.

Manitoba later froze the price until Nov. 15, while other provinces—British Columbia and Nova Scotia—delayed retail price increases until they were approved by provincial utilities boards, but higher prices now are in effect in these provinces.

Mr. Macdonald said that although retail pricing is concerned, the federal government feels the oil industry will be closely regulated "from the wellhead to the pump" once the government's anti-inflation program is in effect.

Attorney Generals Want To Be Consulted More

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada's provincial attorneys-general urged Wednesday that the federal government pay a greater share of the cost of administering the law and consult the provinces more on justice matters.

The provincial ministers, at their annual meeting, unanimously adopted a resolution "to demand that the federal government pay its share of the law bill."

Justice Minister Alex Hickman of Newfoundland, chairman, said that "we sense . . . a lack of interest on the part of the federal government in the working of law and order in Canada."

The federal government has the sole right to pass amendments to the Criminal Code, he said, but the provinces bear the burden of administering them, even when the amendments are expensive or ill advised.

Disparities in the ability of each province to pay, he said, had led to "a great deal of disparity" in the rights of citizens to obtain justice.

Mr. Hickman called for more consultation with the provinces before Criminal Code amendments are put into law.

The attorneys-general meet Justice Minister Ron Basford today and with federal Solicitor-General Warren Allmand Friday.

Olympic Construction Resumes, Workers Obey Court Order

MONTREAL (CP) — Construction at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games site resumed today after workers decided to obey a Quebec Superior Court injunction ordering them to end an illegal walkout which halted work on the mammoth project since Monday.

About 3,000 workers walked off the job to protest the use of a police blacklist of "undesirable" workers who are banned from the site.

The walkout halted all work on the Velodrome, swimming pool and the 70,000-seat main stadium.

A Quebec Federation of Labor (QFL) spokesman said early today the injunction had still not been delivered. Nonetheless, he said, the union was asking the workers to return to work.

QFL construction leaders issued a formal statement following announcement of the injunction Thursday, calling on the workers to return to work in an orderly fashion. However, the leaders said they fear some workers might resort to violence to demonstrate their disfavor at being forced to return to work with the dispute as yet unresolved.

"Nothing is being solved by forcing the workers back on the job," said Fernand Daoust, QFL secretary-general.

The workers will only feel more resentment and suppressed violence when they see how their grievances are treated by those in authority, backed up by a scandalous police system," he said.

QFL leaders said the blacklist, drawn up after nine days of illegal work stoppages at the site last May, contains the names of about 400 workers police have labelled "undesirable".

The secret list was apparently compiled from police reports, court records, police photographs of union demonstrations and newspaper clippings, as well as verbal reports from employers.

The injunction, issued by Justice Anatole Leyk at the request of the City of Montreal and two general contractors, also required workers not to refuse to perform duties required by their employers and the labor code.

60,000 Icelandic Women Strike

REYKJAVIK (Reuter) — The women of Iceland went on strike today, leaving their menfolk wondering how to run the country without them.

Housewives, women teachers, clerks, industrial workers and even newsmaids all over the island said they were taking the day off, bringing day Iceland almost to a standstill.

The militant women—there are about 60,000 of them over the age of 18, said latest census figures—staged their token stoppage to show just how indispensable they are.

And the men, who treated all the strike threats as a huge joke, began to get the point.

Most shops planned to stay closed for the day, telephone exchanges were left unattended and even radio and television broadcasters were expected to be blacked out because the women refused to take part in the programs.

The government, determined to keep the affairs of state going despite the walkout, said it was impossible to conduct official business by telephone.

The ladies had the same problem, although they tried to stay in operation by sending department heads the sexiest men they could replace missing female cash-iers.

Postal Strike Continues

Negotiators Ask Talks Re-opened

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Negotiators for inside postal workers delivered notice to Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey late Thursday asking for a resumption of contract negotiations, in an attempt to end their strike, now in is fourth day.

Earlier, Jean-Claude Parrot, chief negotiator for the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said in a news release that talks could resume when Mr. Mackasey lifted an ultimatum that the union accept the government's wage offer before other issues are discussed.

There was no word from Mr. Mackasey as to whether talks would in fact resume.

The 22,000 inside workers—who sort, load and unload mail—went on strike Tuesday after negotiations broke down Monday night.

Mr. Mackasey said in an interview that the government is firm in its offer of $1.70 an hour over 30 months—the same as has been accepted earlier this year by letter carriers.

However, the government is willing to discuss shift premiums, holidays, compensation for injuries and other issues, he said.

Average hourly pay now is $4.38. The union is asking for $5 hourly increases of $2.75 over 27 months, retroactive to October, 1972, and wants to discuss the use of casual non-union labor, seniority and hours of work.

Meanwhile, regional post-office managers told the 18,000 members of the Letter Carriers Union of Canada not to report back to work after the end of their shifts Thursday.

A spokesman said the letter carriers and mail couriers are not being laid off but sent home because there is no work. They will be paid up to the end of their shift, and then will be eligible to draw unemployment insurance benefits after a two-week period.

If they were laid off, they would not be eligible for the benefits for at least six weeks and could be recalled on short notice. Spokesman say the current mail backlog in most major urban centres would take one day to clear up if the strike ended.

Mr. Mackasey has said a system for distributing family allowance and old-age pension cheques four months in advance will be set up, but did not give details.

In Vancouver, two CUPW members were charged with common assault Thursday after two post-office employees—a public relations officer and a postal clerk—said they were prevented from crossing a picket line.

A CUPW spokesman said police have said the charges will be dropped.

Courier mail services say they are doing brisk business throughout the country, but a government spokesman says about 18,000 students taking courses through a provincial mail-correspondence school will be seriously affected if the strike is a long one.

And the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses is trying unsuccessfully to distribute final-exam results and registration forms to 600 newly-graduated nurses who will work for student wages until the registration procedure is complete.

Spanish Cabinet Moves To Retire Ailing Franco

MADRID (AP) — The Spanish cabinet was expected to take its first step today in the legal process to retire ailing dictator Francisco Franco and install Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon as chief of state and Spain's first king in 44 years.

The imminence of a transfer of power was indicated Thursday night when the 21 physicians attending Franco announced that the 83-year-old generalissimo, who had been improving after a heart attack Monday night, suffered a relapse.

Incipient heart failure has appeared in the medical bulletin said.

Juan Carlos, named six years ago by Franco as his successor, and premier Carlos Arias Navarro rushed to their leader's Pardo Palace in the north of Madrid along with the president of the Cortes, the Spanish parliament, and a group of ministers. Later they went home to bed, and there was no death watch in evidence at the palace.

Bars and restaurants in Madrid closed early, and a few groups of youths roamed the streets, chanting: "Franco, Franco, Franco."

Meanwhile, a spokesman at the palace said Franco was "recovering". A report in Lisbon said the consistently optimistic tone taken by the generalissimo's personal staff throughout his illness. This indicated that he was not going to expedite his departure from the scene by abdicating.

The first step in the elevation of 37-year-old Juan Carlos would be for the cabinet to inform the 19-member Council of the Realm that Franco was no longer able to serve as head of state. The council by a majority vote would pass the information on to the Cortes and the Cortes would have eight days to declare Juan Carlos king.

The medical bulletin was issued Thursday night less than an hour after the cabinet concluded an extraordinary nine-hour meeting. Informed sources said one reason for the length of the meeting was that Premier Arias was trying to get the cabinet's regular weekly meeting scheduled from Franco's palace to downtown Madrid so that the generalissimo could not carry out his decision, announced earlier Thursday, of attending.

Police Fear Leaders Now IRA Targets

LONDON (Reuter) — Scotland Yard fears that a climate of explosion Thursday that killed a leading cancer expert may make the start of a campaign of terror against British politicians.

Police guarded Cabinet today to be on their guard against bomb attacks like the one at the home of Conservative MP Hugh Fraser.

The blast killed Prof. Gordon Hamilton-Fairley, one of Britain's leading cancer experts who was walking past the house when the bomb went off.

Police fear the bomb may signal the start of a campaign against politicians and prominent figures replacing terror attacks on crowded meeting places.

Police suspect the bomb was planted by Irish Republican guerrillas and was meant for Fraser, who has advocated the firing squad for bombers.

However, the 57-year-old member of Parliament also is a strong supporter of Israel in the Middle East dispute and police do not rule out the possibility that the attack may be connected with his pro-Zionist views.

Medical experts said that Prof. Hamilton Fairley's death was an incalculable loss to the fight against cancer as he was regarded as one of the world's top researchers.

Car Sales Strong

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto companies said Thursday that domestic car sales during Oct. 11-20 were the strongest for a mid-month period since May, 1973, topping year earlier levels by 27 per cent. However, as company officials were hailing the figures as further evidence of the industry's recovery from a two-year slump, all three of the firms announced plans to trim assembly operations next week because of mounting supplies of unsold models.

Carriers Out of Work

TORONTO (CP) — A post office spokesman said today that regional managers informed mail carriers this morning that letter carrier service is being suspended due to the national strike by inside postal workers.

CLC May Develop Fund

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) executive council was meeting today to map out strategy in its battle against the federal anti-inflation program. CLC president Joe Morris said Thursday night that the powerful 30-member executive council will consider establishing a fund to help its affiliates lobby against the program.

Hartman to Head CUPE

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) ended its national convention today with a new president, Grace Hartman, and a determined stand against federal selective wage and price controls. The 1,000 delegates passed a resolution Thursday condemning the anti-inflation program as "unfair, unworkable and undemocratic."

Heavy Fighting Reported

LUANDA (CP) — Heavy fighting was reported across much of Angola today, after the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA) called a general mobilization and said "there will be blood shed and misery for the people on the eve of independence."

Turkey Ambassador Shot

PARIS (CP) — Ismael Erez, Turkey's ambassador to France, and the chauffeur of his car were killed while travelling on a Paris street today. There were conflicting reports as to how they died. The Associated Press quoted an embassy officer as saying the two were shot and killed by gunmen on Quai Kennedy near the Turkish Embassy. Reuters news agency quoted police as saying they died when their car exploded. The deaths occurred two days after the Turkish ambassador to Austria was killed by gunmen in his embassy in Vienna.

Spain May Give Up Sahara to Morocco

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP) — Moroccan sources say Spain has agreed tentatively to turn over the disputed Spanish Sahara to Morocco, and Morocco in turn will cede part of the territory to Mauritania.

No official confirmation of the report was immediately available.

There was also no immediate reaction from Algeria, which opposes the claims of Morocco and Mauritania and backed a Spanish proposal for a self-determination referendum.

The Algerians, who defeated Morocco in one desert war over another part of the Sahara, are reported to have about 3,000 troops along Algeria's 18-mile border with the Spanish Sahara.

The sources said the tentative agreement was worked out this week by King Hassan II and Jose Solis Ruiz, a special envoy from Madrid, and that Foreign Minister Ahmed Laraki went to Madrid today or Saturday to complete the agreement for transfer of sovereignty.

However, the negotiations may be delayed because of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's failing health and moves to replace him as the Spanish chief state, the sources said.

The agreement will not halt King Hassan's march of conquest into the territory, the sources said. However, only a "symbolic contingent" from the 50,000 Moroccan civilian marchers will go all the way to 82 kilometres from the capital of Spanish Sahara.

Thousands of volunteers for the march continued to move south in trains, trucks and buses toward Tarfaya, the staging point on Morocco's southern border with the Spanish Sahara border.

Spain announced its intention to pull out of its 105,000-square-mile province on Africa's Atlantic west coast some time ago and ordered a referendum to determine the wishes of the area's 80,000 mostly nomadic people.

Morocco, already the world's biggest phosphate exporter, claimed the northern part of the territory, which contains one of the world's largest phosphate deposits. Mauritania, the neighbor of the Spanish Sahara on the east and south, claimed the area adjacent to it.

Hastings Small Towns Operate Postal Offices

BY AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Post offices in small towns and villages in Hastings County are open for business today but the mail handling and deliveries are taking place, according to postal officials.

One of several small post office postmasters, John Lye, of Tweed, said today, "most people are not mailing now because they know there's a strike on so they're doing little business."

The Tweed office is classed as a semi-staff office-like Stirling, Bancroft, Marmora and Madoc—and does not fall under the same postal classification as the office in Belleville.

City postmaster Ray Wainwright said as far as he knows, only Belleville in Hastings County is closed today by the strike of inside workers, now moving into its fourth day.

The 31-member Belleville-Brighton local of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers local mail sorters and handlers, as well as clerks in a half-day walkout early Thursday.

Mr. Lye said, "there's no business, but we're open."

Clerks, four full-time at Tweed, are selling stamps and money orders and handling only mail destined for other addresses in Tweed or the immediate rural vicinity.

City postmaster Wainwright said the smaller post offices are open because they are members of the Canadian Postmaster Association, and do not fall under the same class as the city post office.

Small offices in eastern Northumberland County—in Warkworth, Castleton, Colborne and Grafton—are also open.

An Ottawa post office spokesman could not indicate today how many non-staff post offices were open in Canada. However, he said 138 offices are affected by striking inside workers.

The city postmaster said at one time the city had two and two part-time letter carriers will be laid off — a move taken because no work now exists in the Belleville post office.

Carriers delivered sorted mail Tuesday this week, and Wednesday and Thursday worked in the post office in the carrier section.

Mr. Wainwright said that the general layoff is the first ordered in about 30 years.

Parent Charged In Child's Act

BALTIMORE (AP)— Eleven-year-old Stefan Redd — known on the street as "Stinky" — died July 31 from a 15-year-old Hinton Stith — known on the street as "Joe Frazier" — stabbed him in the heart.

They had a grudge and squared off in the black brick street.

It was a hot summer day. A kid fight. A fist fight. It happens all the time.

This time, it was a cock fight.

Their parents cheered.

Hinton was losing. He ran into a market, grabbed a knife, and stabbed.

Stefan died on a street corner with a soft cry: "Mama. I'm hurt."

Because of that fight, three parents are in jail Stefan's mother and stepfather, Ella and Robert Newton, are charged with child abuse. Hinton's mother, Patty Stith, is charged with murder, a sort of murder by proxy, using her child as a weapon. She never touched the knife.

Prosecutors say it is the first time in Baltimore that a parent has been charged with murder in connection with a child's act.

"We've got to keep up with these kids and the end of juvenile crime" says E. Nicholson Gault, chief juvenile prosecutor. "We are not going to solve parents in cases where we feel we can hold them criminally responsible."

"I thought if they fought it out fair, the best man would win," said Mrs. Newton, 32, unemployed and a mother of six.

"My son didn't kill that boy," said Mrs. Stith, 48, unemployed and a mother of three. "He put a knife in him, but his mother and stepfather killed him. They forced him to fight."

Hinton Stith was charged with murder, found delinquent and sent to a reformatory in a cottage setting.

"I meant to stab him in the arm. I didn't mean to stab him nowhere else," Hinton said tearfully in court.

Stefan Redd was buried in an unmarked grave as a gwen billiake, far from the streets he knew all his life.

"It was a great sadness," said Rev. W. S. Chambers at the funeral. "Yet a young man not yet hardened by life."

Two months before his death, Stefan had been ordered removed from what a court called an unfit home. He had been sent there for stealing $1 from a parking lot cash box.

He was still living at home when he died.

"It was like a cock fight, like chicken fighting," said William McKinsey, owner of a sandwich shop, who saw Stefan die at his front door.

"It was an ego trip for the parents," he said. "They were to blame. They were jumping up and down and laughing like it was a wrestling match."

"Stefan Redd and Hinton Stith are victims," said Barbara Daly, head of the state's attorney's juvenile division. "It could have been two children kids who grow up fighting."

"Maybe because Stefan Redd died, people will realize they must pay attention to these children. Because Stefan died, maybe in the years some other kid won't be killed on the streets."

Maybe, she added, because Hinton Stith killed a boy, he will get a chance because he's away from those streets and now somebody will give a damn."

Cuba Develops Merchant Marine

HAVANA (Reuter)—Cuba is building up a merchant navy to gain greater independence from foreign shipping companies.

Since Prime Minister Fidel Castro came to power 16 years ago, its merchant fleet has increased nine-fold, according to official figures.

The island depends heavily on maritime trade. It is a leading sugar-exporting country but has to import large quantities of manufactured goods, machinery, oil and foodstuffs.

Before 1959 Cuba traded almost exclusively with the United States. The picture has changed dramatically after Castro's takeover. By 1962 all relations between Washington and Havana were severed.

Cuba now has concluded trade agreements with Eastern and Western Europe and Japan, the latter a major sugar importer.

The Cuban merchant fleet was not equipped for long-distance trading and advertising shipe meant payment in foreign currency, which Cuba could ill afford. Building up an efficient merchant fleet became a primary aim of the Castro government.

This year the total tonnage of Cuba's merchant fleet is expected to reach 600,000 tons, making it the fourth largest merchant navy in Latin American.

These figures do not include a fishing fleet, which has increased seven-fold over 16 years.

Plans for the future are ambitious. By 1980 the capacity of the merchant fleet is to be doubled. This includes tripling the long-distance shipping capacity, renewing the auxiliary port fleet and completely replacing the coasting fleet.

Coasting is a method of transporting goods by sea along Cuba's 2,300-mile coastline instead of by road.

Orders for 35 ships have already been placed with 18 countries, including Argentina, Britain, Yugoslavia, Denmark and Canada.

Japan has already built Cuba's largest ship, the 27,000-ton bulk carrier Salvador Allende, which made her first trip to the island three months ago.

Cuba's dependence on foreign shipping will be increased further by its membership in the newly-created multinational Caribbean Shipping Co.

The company's aim is to set up a regional fleet to boost trade between Central American and Carribean countries, while reducing their shipping bill to foreign companies.

Board Recommends Trapping In Two Wildlife Areas

BY RON HUISKEN
Staff Correspondent

FRANKFORD — The fish and wildlife advisory board of the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority will recommend to the executive that trapping be allowed in designated areas of the Authority's property. The decision was reached at the board's meeting held Thursday night here.

The trapping areas recommended by the board will be the Hoard's Wildlife Area and the Keating Acquisition Area, both approximately six miles west of Stirling. These areas total approximately 90 acres.

The board recommends the trapping be supervised, and controlled, and also recommends a report submitted by the trappers at the end of the season listing the catches.

Bryan Boyce, resources manager for the agency, said muskrat should be the only animal trapped, that they would be too hard to enforce.

To allow control over the number of trappers and to avoid cross-over of the trap lines, the board, in its recommendation urges a limit to the number of trappers. The selection of trappers, the report says, would be decided by the authority depending on the number of applications, and knowledge of the areas.

"If the area is not trapped, it will result in a lower quality of muskrats," said Burton Morton, chairman of the board.

The Trapping Association will be notified, of the policy, said the board. This will allow only professional trappers to apply for permits.

Hunting on conservation property, however, will not be allowed if a resolution passed by the board, is accepted by the executive.

The resolution states that no hunting, on conservation land will be permitted unless given permission by the conservation authority. This would allow the hunting of over-populated animals, the board states.

The area has an educational purpose said a board member.

The only problem enforcing the resolution would be in the land-locked areas controlled by the authority, said Bill Lawson, board member.

The recommendations will go to the executive meeting of the authority Tuesday, Oct. 28.

Nursery School Unique

BY MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Opened to assist development of the pre-school mentally retarded child the Little Learners Nursery School this year has been integrated with the enrolment of more than 60 normal youngsters.

A spokesman for the nursery school observed Thursday, "The main reason for starting it was the need to assist the pre-school mentally retarded child in his development regardless of where he goes when he leaves the program."

The nursery school, operated in the basement of Picton United Church, has an enrollment of 75 pupils. Of these young students approximately 14 are mentally or physically handicapped.

The school is staffed by four qualified teachers, two hired to work with the handicapped and two to teach the remainder of the pupils.

At all sessions in the school's programs the teacher-pupil ratio is one to five for handicapped students and one to 10 for other pupils.

Mrs. Phyllis Shilhorne of Picton is the nursery school's director and is in charge of both of its units.

In addition to regular staff the nursery has the numerous parent volunteers co-ordinated by Mrs. Earl Weibanks. A student from Loyalist College in Belleville also makes regular visits to the nursery school classes this fall.

Later this year students from the Family Studies course at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute will attend the nursery school to observe and assist. It is expected this will afford the PCEI students a greater insight in their Family Studies program.

Trapping Recommended

Trapping will be allowed in some of the Lower Trent Region Conservation area if a recommendation of the Fish and Wildlife Advisory Board is accepted by the authority's executive. Bryan Boyce, resources manager for the agency, points to the Hoard's Wildlife Area and the Keating Acquisition Area, where trapping may be allowed. The recommendations were passed by the advisory board at their meeting Thursday, in Frankford.

Testimony Deals with Events Which Lead to Shooting

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Four witnesses testified in Ontario Supreme Court here Thursday that 19-year-old Jeremiah James Arthur Meneely stated he tripped over the lip of a doorway, causing the shotgun he was carrying to be discharged and killing his 40-year-old father, James Meneely, at their Rit 4, Madoc farmhouse in Rawdon Township Aug. 1, 1972.

Meneely is charged with murder not punishable by death in the shooting death of his father. The trial was to resume today for the fourth day before Justice Lawrence Pennell of Toronto and a 12-member-jury.

Crown attorney Glenn Deline indicated at the close of Thursday's session that the "own's case will probably continue into Monday" at the Hastings County Courthouse.

Earlier in the trial, Meneely admitted through his lawyer, Ronald Thomas of Toronto, that he had the shotgun in his physical possession when it discharged, hitting his father in the chest and also admitted he was in the aisle of the house at the time.

Cpl. Ernest Steacy of Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) at Sault Ste. Marie, who was a constable with OPP at Campbellford at the time of the shooting, was the first officer at the scene and testified Meneely told him the following:

"We were down by the barn and Dad told me to see if there were any woodchucks in the field. I looked and seen five or seven. He told me to get the gun. I went in the house and made myself a cup of coffee and drank it. Then I got the gun and loaded it and I cocked it as I went through the kitchen. I tripped and the gun went off and Dad was coming towards the door. It hit him and he fell and ran outside and fell where he is now."

Cpl. Steacy said Meneely made a similar statement, but with the addition of the lip of the doorway between a kitchen and a laundry room, about 15 minutes later in the presence of Coroner Dr. D.W. Burgess and himself.

Cpl. Steacy gave his testimony of the quotes from memory and said he has reviewed his notes several times. He said he made his notes from memory about two hours after the statements were made.

Mr. Thomas said there were discrepancies between Cpl. Steacy's memorized quotes and those which he later read from his notes at an earlier preliminary hearing. He noted the interchange of the words "woodchuck" and "groundhog" and of the phrase "through the kitchen" and "through the house."

Cpl. Steacy agreed when Mr. Thomas asked, "you clearly acknowledge that even today you can't remember clearly?"

Mr. Deline objected several times as Mr. Thomas questioned the discrepancies. At one point, he told Justice Pennell that Mr. Thomas was "walking all over the witness."

Justice Pennell said he could not find fault with Mr. Thomas' questioning and at the conclusion of Cpl. Steacy's testimony, he advised the officer to read from his notes in future.

Cpl. Steacy added in his testimony that Meneely showed no reluctance in relating what occured. "He seemed anxious to talk," he said.

Cpl. Steacy said Meneely also told him, "do you know what I've done? I've shot my own father. The only son he had left. He took my number in December and now my father. He could've shot me one of them. I don't believe in him and I'm not wearing this anymore," whereupon he said Meneely attempted to pull a link chain with a religious medal off his neck.

Investigating Constable Gerald Howard Rollins of OPP at Madoc said when he arrived at the farmhouse, he observed a large quantity of dried red stain in the laundry room with smaller red smudges on a doorjam between the room and the rear yard and on some wall-hanging woodshed tools. The red trail led outside to where the elder Meneely lay face down, he said.

His account of a Meneely statement made to him was similar to the one recounted by Cpl. Steacy.

Constable Rollins said he returned to the Meneely residence two days later to request the accused visit the detachment office the next day. Sergeant Det. Don Graham of OPP at Belleville wanted a further statement.

He testified that Meneely said, at the time of the statement, "imagine shooting your own father. God should have left one of them."

Under questioning by Mr. Thomas, Constable Rollins admitted neither he nor Det. Sgt. Graham cautioned Meneely that any statements might be used as evidence in future.

Constable Rollins explained it was clear in their minds at the time that they were investigating an accidental shooting. He said Meneely was not charged until Aug. 21, 1974.

Cpl. George Widdows of OPP at Madoc, now retired, who accompanied Constable Rollins on the day of the shooting, testified that Meneely was very hesitant in taking his time — looking up at the ceiling ... either being very careful or seriously thinking about what he was saying" to Constable Rollins.

Constable Rollins had said Meneely spoke coherently, naturally and at a medium speed while he took notes on the spot although Mr. Widdows said, to his knowledge, he did not observe his fellow officer take notes.

Part of the preliminary hearing transcript was read into the trial containing evidence given by Joseph Pecock, an ambulance driver attendant at Campbellford Memorial Hospital who was first on the scene of the shooting.

Mr. Peacock is too ill to attend the trial but his evidence showed Meneely was within suitably the same description of the occurrence as was given to Constable Rollins and Cpl. Steacy and overheard by Mr. Widdows.

Witness testimony has revealed the elder Meneely was in the laundry room when shot. The lips, to which the younger Meneely has admitted being at when the gun discharged, is reached by a ladder in the laundry room. In addition, there is a large hole in the laundry room ceiling which opens into the attic.

Firefighters Rescue Man From Smoke-filled Room

PICTON — Firefighters rescued a Picton man from the smoke-filled bedroom of his King Street home early today after a fire alarm was turned in by patrolling police officers.

David Rough, 34, of 5 King St., is reported resting comfortably at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital where he was treated for smoke inhalation.

A spokesman for the Picton Police department said a fire alarm was turned in by Sgt. Scott Hole and Constable Harry Sisky when they spotted flames coming from the Rough residence while on patrol.

Firefighters remained at the scene for approximately two hours battling a blaze that ignited a bedroom in the home. Firefighters said they believe the fire was caused by smoking in bed.

Mr. Rough, alone in the house when the blaze broke out shortly before 3 a.m., was found on the bedroom floor by firemen.

No estimate of fire damage is yet available.

Authority Questions Island Home Sites

FRANKFORD — The Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority has questioned the feasibility of a request to develop 120 lots for full-time residential and recreational purposes on Napanee Island, approximately two miles west north of Campbellford.

Bryan Boyce, resources manager for the agency, said Thursday, the impact of the development would harm the nature environment of the area.

Mr. Boyce said that 80 per cent of the island is marsh land or marsh land; and the three feet depth of the water surrounding the island extends several hundred feet from the shore. "There would be a lot of dredgeing needed for the boats," he said.

Septic tanks for the development have been refused by the area's board of health and holding tanks would not work, said Mr. Boyce.

An Ontario Municipal Board hearing will be held the week of Nov. 24, in the Canadian Legion in Campbellford to hear arguments on the request, said Mr. Boyce.

Napoen Island is part of the Trent Canal System.

Equipment Stolen

WELLINGTON — Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police is investigating a theft of oxygen tanks and torches valued at $425 from a storage shed at the Consumers Quinte Milk Plant here. The main plant building now is under demolition.

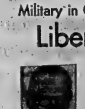
Liberal Committee Members Briefed on Defence by the General Staff



By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Confronting the government on the Commons Order Paper is a "Motion for Production of Papers" that could rock the already unsteady Defence Department.

It is the work of Allan McKinnon, two-term Conservative MP for Victoria, graduate of the Canadian Army Staff College, officer veteran of the Armed Forces and his party's Parliamentary Defence Critic.

With credentials like that, Allan McKinnon is no armchair defence strategist, but a serving officer with field experience, so when he speaks — as he did in the Commons recently Extracted from Hansard, he reads.

On the Order Paper he has written this motion:

That the Commons order production of copies of the letters written by the Chief of the Defence Staff (General J.A. Dextraze) to certain staff officers of the Canadian Armed Forces concerning assistance they rendered to Liberal Members of Parliament in preparing for participation in the debate on the Defence Estimates.

Now here is the story behind it.

The Commons Defence Committee has been reporting, reporting all parties, but with the leading Liberals in the majority.

Its job is to examine the spending of the current $1.8 billion defence budget; to try determining what kind of protective hang the taxpayer gets out of his Armed Forces buck.

Allan McKinnon, as his party's defence critic, leads the Conservative team, Leonard Hopkins, Liberal MP for Renfrew North-Nipissing, and for three years Parliamentary Secretary to Defence Minister Richardson, headed the government group.

"Well, you know the Liberals and their attitude to defence," says Allan McKinnon. "The thing it's the one department of government where spending can be cut. So the Forces are slashed and we scramp on our NATO, North American and even our own local defence obligations.

"It's been the trend for years, and under Prime Minister Trudeau with his pledge to start to cancel his distaste for the Armed Forces it's become established practice.

So the Liberals in the Defence Committee not only don't care," says Allan McKinnon, but aren't interested.

"They doped through most of the committee hearings. I realize, "indicative of their attitude was the question asked by a bearded young Toronto freshman Liberal.

"His only contribution has been to get how the Army kept its vehicles in operation for 30 years. He said he drove a 1964 Dodge Epic and wanted in on the secret.

There was a laugh from the Liberals and he was told to ask the Army mechanics.

Then, after weeks of broad probing in the Committee, the Liberals suddenly came wide awake and sharply, full of facts and figures, in the Commons Defence debate.

What had happened? Why the astounding switch?

Allan McKinnon, baffled if pleased by the sudden Liberal interest in defence, dug around through his Headquarters contacts and discovered the Defence Minister Richardson had suggested to his Parliamentary Secretary, Len Hopkins, who passed it along to M.P. Whiting, Director of Defence Parliamentary Affairs, who relayed it to General Dextraze's office, that it would be a good idea if a team of staff officers briefed the Liberals in the Committee to sharpen them up for the defence debate.

So a team of between eight and 10 officers from the Defence Staff gave the Liberals a crash course.

Questioned about it, Defence Parliamentary Affairs Director Whiting admitted it was so and what was wrong with it?

Allan McKinnon called General Dextraze to confirm it. The Chief of the General Staff obliged: yes, his office had assisted a special officer task force to fill in the previously one-sided Liberals on defence matters.

Would the Department do the same for the Opposition?

It would answer any question asked by an MP, Director Whiting told Allan McKinnon.

But would the Chief of Staff provide officers-on-call for the Conservatives to assist them in their critical examinations of the Defence Department?

"You wouldn't expect us to do that," was the suspended General Dextraze.

Perhaps you agree Allan "Clinton, Nor would he expect Armed Forces officers "who are supposed to be the ultimate in political neutrals" to do the parliamentary homework for Liberal politicians.

So not only is he demanding production of the letters, but is making an issue in Parliament of the political subversion of National Defence Headquarters.

Centennial Project

T-shirts and beer steins and a day at the Canadian National Exhibition are all well and good, but surely somebody out there can think of something more memorable to commemorate Belleville's 1978 centennial!

Thanks to city council, Belleville Centennial '78 Incorporated, as the steering committee for the event is known, has $300,000 of local tax dollars with which to work. They have a good cross-section of membership, and an able chairman in Lawrence Kells.

All they need is a project.

In past months, everything from a widows' retirement home to an addition to Glanmore House has been proposed by local residents as potential projects, but we've still only seen those t-shirts and beer mugs to indicate the organizing committee is keeping their date with '78.

As alderman Jean Smith told fellow councillors, time is running short. Even though three years seems like a long time, plenty of planning still waits doing.

The Indian Fact Today

Wounded Knee . . . Broken Elbow . . . I heard the Owl Call My Name.

Titles evocative of Indian lore: the first the name of the site of a confrontation in the Dakotas between Indians and the authorities; the last the name of a poignant CBC television production from the novel by Margaret Craven, to be screened again at the Corby library shortly.

They are titles evocative of the Indian — at best their awareness of the pathos and fractured nature of life, and of some form of life hereafter, and reflected by Indian poetry. At worst, of the hopelessness and degradation to which many Indians have been reduced, caught as they are between two very different cultures.

The middle title — Broken Elbow — is one drawn to our attention by Moira secondary school librarian Albert Branscombe. He is seeking a copy of the book, which is about the Indians of Northwestern Ontario, but surprisingly is not in wide circulation. Published privately by its woman author, the book, which is illustrated, deals with the unhappier side of Indian life — the drunkenness, poor housing et al.

This is one side of Indian life, but there is a positive side, and it is reflected by the enviable collection of books on the subject at Moira. The school has a sizeable number of students from Tyendinaga, and the Indian segment of the library has been growing with the assistance of Indian liaison officer Mike Brant. The latter took over the post on the retirement of Leslie Claus.

Mr. Branscombe considers the Indian collection possibly the finest in Eastern Ontario, and certainly in these parts. It is appropriate that a people of such long lineage should be enshrined in this way, with Moira secondary giving a lead.

Diefenbaker Draws Fans

One of the crowd waiting to see John Diefenbaker and hopefully obtain his autograph at the launching of the first volume of his memoirs was a 15-year-old boy.

Why had he come, he was asked. Well . . . because Mr. Diefenbaker " is a great man," came the reply.

Who would deny we still need our heroes. Mr. Diefenbaker has known triumph and disaster and, as Kipling observed, treated those two imposters just the same.

Globe and Mail book reviewer William French sees "The Crusading Years" as a truly romantic story — of the young boy travelling west to the frontier, sleeping on the floor of a wooden bunk of a colonist car, walking through prairie blizzards to school, talking with veterans of the Riel rebellion, and telling his mother he would be Prime Minister one day.

The ambition achieved, that same man finds himself the leader of the Canadian political scene — one whom some believe might lead the country again one day.

Ottawa Has Hot Seat on Wages

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau
Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Shafts are being launched more and frequently at the premier for leaving the responsibility to administer wage controls with Ottawa.

School teachers and labor generally (and today, from their actions, I guess we class teachers as "labor") are growing that Davis has, quite inadvertently, got himself off the hook by leaving wage settlements in the lap of the federal government.

(Indications are that it doesn't like what Ottawa has done either, but it may be much.)

If one wants to view the Davis position from a completely cynical outlook you can believe that his decision was entirely political.

For it certainly is politically comfortable to have Ottawa laying down the rules and getting into the year-can't-win fights over wage settlements with teachers, civil servants or others.

But still, whether political or not, I think the people of Ontario probably will be better off, and have a better old, with Ottawa handling the negotiations.

This applies particularly in the province's dozen employees and teachers which you would think, at least as well-government employees.

With these groups it is impossible for the government here to achieve a good arm's length position in bargaining. It can't carry out satisfactory bargaining.

It can't for two reasons.

One is that it is a political agency and must be super-sensitive and overly-careful about political reaction.

The second is that it is dealing with public moneys not its own money. And it thereby loses the most wealthy bargaining factor of the private sector, the argument that there is only so much money available.

Having a federal agency handle the final negotiations at least gets them one step removed and should result in more objective and rational conclusions.

Then there is the argument put forward by the government that a province-wide agency should establish another layer of bureaucracy.

This is scorned by the NDP, but citizens with more concern for the public purse, and with a little better memory for bureaucracy, should be impressed.

Aside from the money involved, it would be considerable, and another web of red tape, Lord knows that the last thing we need around here is another batch of bureaucrats.

John Diefenbaker Memoirs And Other Political Works

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

TORONTO — The big political books keep coming on this fall: The much-publicized Volume One of the Diefenbaker memoirs is out and more anecdotal than historical apparently. Next week the 25th anniversary of Louis St. Laurent as Canada's best prime minister ever he claims, in My Years with St. Laurent will be released.

Much, much further downstream are the biographies of C. D. Howe, the super-czar of government-industrial relations during the Second World War, and of the late Vincent Massey, former governor-general.

The Howe biography is well in tandem with young Toronto historian Robert Bothwell as the official Howe biographer and Claude Bissell moving very slowly on the Vincent Massey story. We won't see them until perhaps the end of this decade.

In the meantime, a fine history of the wartime politics at the Mackenzie King Government, 1939-1945 has been on the market for several months now, not sharing in the inevitable ballyhoo accorded the Diefenbaker book, but based on the newest and the richest sources.

It is a first-class history, using much new material and putting into new contexts the domestic developments in Canada at war.

The international associations of Canada, ever dwindling role with Britain and alarmingly close to the United States as the author sees it, are just as thoroughly documented and reported.

The book is Canada's War: The Politics of the Mackenzie King Government, published by Prof. Jack L. Granatstein and published by Oxford University Press.

And it is on the market at a good time, for it is one because there are so many other political memoirs and memoirs around including two others on the book Granatstein and Bothwell have cited studies in depth like this one on conscription.

To the reviewer, the analysis of the motives of King are less interesting than the detail of events they either inspired or in which he played a major role.

This was chiefly true in reading the book in search of the Financing the War at Home, and Canada's Role in Peace Part and After.

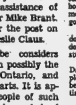
The first outlines the immense competence shown by senior civil servants in mobilizing Canada's limited resources for setting up war financing, handling wage and price controls, and rationing work amenably.

The second reveals a Mackenzie King who was not, contrary to popular belief, the dilettante house wherry his relations with the late U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

According to Granatstein, King was lacked in all of the perfect of the personalities with the American president. Granatstein sees this as the major historical reason for the heavy police officials and consulates of the surrounding districts.

Traumatic Changes Influence the Auto Industry

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service



Not so long ago, Ralph Nader and his raiders were the biggest challenge facing the North American auto industry.

Those were the good old days. Now, the car-makers are facing new challenges that are much more fundamental than the problem of what to do about the occasional lemon. Here are a few:

—Higher fuel prices. Gasoline costs twice as much as it did just two or three years ago, and some consultants are weighing the increased cost of car operation against the alternative of public transportation.

A leaky economy, sputtering along like an old car on a cold morning. Inflation has driven up the price of cars, and recession has driven down the disposable incomes of a good many potential car-buyers.

—A revolution in the marketplace. Some consumers have abandoned their life-long love affair with big cars, and are thinking small instead. If that kind of thinking becomes general, car manufacturers might be forced to make a far-reaching conversion of their assembly techniques and operations.

It's at this juncture that Donald M. McPherson has taken over the top spot at General Motors of Canada Ltd., this country's biggest manufacturing operation.

The new president, general manager and chief executive officer was born in Alberta, but his training in engineering and his career with GM have been centred in Detroit.

There, he was instrumental in GM's history-making decision to enter a field—the production of small cars weighing less than a ton—that had previously been the exclusive domain of overseas manufacturers.

The result of that decision is the new Chevrolet Chevette and its Pontiac equivalent in Canada, the Acadian), introduced early this month.

So far, sales of the new sub-compact have been brisk, and dealers have staked a claim on each unit to be produced between now and January.

"I've never seen such enthusiasm for a car," says Mr. McPherson. The company has received 30,000 Chevettes and Acadians in Canada during the 1978 model year.

The new head of GM Canada said he was confident that his company's assembly lines at Oshawa, Ont., Cellarines and Windsor, Ont., could be converted to the manufacture of smaller cars at reasonable expense, when and if sales were to dictate such a move.

"It isn't that big a cost-ave size," he said.

The adjustment required of the North American auto industry could go deeper than that, however.

The trend that is emerging in the United States is in the direction not only of smaller cars but also of fewer options and a longer period of ownership.

The situation is further complicated in Ontario, which represents one-third of the Canadian car market.

To Ontario's fiscal economy, the province removed the sales tax on cars earlier this year, but will re-instate it, even per cent tax next Jan. 1.

General Motors expects that Ontario sales will be brisk until the end of 1973, then go into a slump—greater, probably, than the usual mid-winter decline—until spring.

By then, the auto industry may will be faced with a major change in consumer thinking, influenced by price-and-income restraints, still higher gasoline prices—and the chances of keeping the old clunker going for another year.

Correction

Mrs. Cherrie Liddle draws attention to a statistical error in her letter to Wednesday's issue regarding the Parents-Teacher group, Citizens Helping Individual Learning Development.

The paragraph regarding membership should have read:

"Speaking with parents on a one-to-one basis, I am happy to report that of 20 people I telephoned I have 17 people that will form the nucleus of C.H.I.L.D."

Bellevillians in the next municipal election will vote on a proposed by-law to spend an estimated $113,000 to provide off-street parking facilities for 324 cars in the downtown area on property back of the city Hall.

The proposal calls for construction of a 11 foot high retaining wall, reconstruction of the footbridges and extending some 600 feet of sewer. The area would be filled in and improved, and parking meters installed.

A district branch of the Ontario Provincial Police was formed in the city recently. The new organization will be known as the Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington Police Officers' Association. Sergeant Douglas Ellis, of the Belleville police force was elected the first president of the association when officers attended a meeting of police officials and constables of the surrounding districts.
